Special Elections Slated for Friday

Special elections for members of all classes except Upper '61 will be held Friday in Lounge C from 9-4. A total of twenty-five petitions have been received in a contest of twenty-nine vacant seats.

Running for the position of Student Council representative from the Class of '57 is Ann Donofrio. The vice presidential candidate for the Lower Senior, Upper Senior '58, Class is Evans Tilles. Lower '58ers are opposed in two races. Barbara Hoberman, Jill Lipton and Paul Mitchell are competing for the presidency. Fred Harap is opposing Frank Cricione for the vice-presidential seat. Robert Lage, Fred Harap is opposing Nancy De Luca are racing for the Treasurer's position. Rose Ely for the Lower Senior, Upper Senior '58ers are opposed in the race for the presidential ticket.

Elections

Elective cards for the fall semester will be available Friday in 315 and will be returned by March 15. Students who do not file these cards before the deadline will register last. announced Agnes C. Mulligan, the Baruch School's registrar.

Lexicon Fee Due Monday;
Classes Plan Gala Events

Audrey Weiner, editor of Lexicon '57, the senior yearbook, has announced that any person who has not paid the full price of $8.50 for the yearbook by Monday will forfeit his deposit.

Upper seniors are also planning a Numerals Lights Dance to be held in June. Numerals Lights is a free dance held in Wingate Gym, Uptown, in conjunction with the Uptown Senior Class. A Dinner Dance is also being scheduled for May. Anyone who wants to help arrange the Senior program should contact Larry Block, class president.

The Class of '58 has announced the Center From will be held at the Park Sheraton Hotel November 8.

The lower juniors and upper sophs are planning a May Day May 27 at Clove Lake, Staten Island. The date was chosen to coincide with April 1 and cost $2.50 per couple.

There will be a dance in Lounge C for the Class of '61 Thursday. The Retailing Society will have a Frosh-Soph luncheon Thursday from 11-2.

Activity Fees Decline
Its Student Budgets

The Fees Committee distributed a total of $2,868.34, approved budgets to the colleges, the Intramural, Student Council, THE TICKER and various Department of Student Life agencies.

The total of unappropriated funds is $4,068.44. The total of estimated receipts is $7,945.78.

The Spring fee, $166.51, is the highest in recent years.

The fee for the yearbook is $8.50. The full price of $8.50 for the yearbook by Monday will forfeit his deposit.

Gallagher Cites Future
CCNY Tourney Policy;
Blasts "Commercialism"

Dr. Buet C. Gallagher, president of City College, stated Wednesday that the College's athletic policy would permit acceptance of a National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament bid, if the basketball team were offered such an invitation.

The President's optimism stemmed from the fact that this year's team, coached by Dave Polansky, had recorded an 11-4 record prior to Saturday night's game against Rutgers University.

The NCAA sponsors two tournaments, one for the "university" division and one for the "college" class. City College was placed in the college class when it "de-emphasized" basketball as a result of the scandal of the 1950-51 season.

Late last night, Dr. Gallagher stated that he had received no bid from the NCAA. There is still one opening in the metropolitan area for a team in the "at-large" division of the NCAA tournament.

Exclusive:
Reveal Nazi Flight from Hungary

An Uptown Hungarian student revealed to THE TICKER Wednesday how a number of Nazis managed to cross the Hungarian border during the revolutions and disguise themselves as Hungarian citizens.

Disregarding the conflicting reports in the metropolitan newspapers that the Nazis had played a part in initiating the struggle, the twenty-one-year-old Hungarian who for security reasons is still waiting to come to America, stated that a "number of the Nazis succeeded in arriving in the United States with the first group of entering Hungarians. At Camp Kilmer in New Jersey where the refugees are quartered, the escapes distributed Nazi propaganda. The worst part," Andrew stated, "is that these multitudes got the best breaks by coming to this country, depriving many others who are still waiting to come here."

When asked to clarify varied newspaper stories as to how the flights actually began, Andrew replied that it was started by university students who were encouraged by the revolutionists to escape to Poland at the time. They were striving for a higher standard of living for the Hungarian people at first, but after the Russians began to retaliate with tanks and other military equipment, the government independent of the Soviet Union. Andrew considered the matter of leaving the land of his birth for five weeks before actually going through with the plan. Finally, on December 8th, Andrew and...
Kuatler's Korner
A Strange Fascination

By Richard Kuatler

It is a strange fascination, to see a person, even a business person, who has been in public life for many years, become suddenly enamored of a new hobby. Yet, this is precisely what happened to an old-time friend of mine, who is now a practicing attorney and who has spent much of his life involved in the CPA and its various activities, which he has been known to describe as "the most boring profession in the world." But, as he has recently told me, he has discovered a new passion, one that fills him with excitement and enthusiasm.

The fascination begins with the CPA's annual conference, held in New York City each year. This year's conference was no exception, with over 10,000 registered attendees. As I entered the convention center, I was immediately struck by the energy and enthusiasm of the attendees. People were everywhere, engaged in conversation, taking photos, and enjoying the various activities available.

One of the highlights of the conference this year was a keynote address by a well-known expert in the field of business ethics. The audience was captivated by his insights and ideas, and I couldn't help but wonder how much the CPA is changing over time and how it is adapting to the new challenges facing the profession.

I have always been fascinated by the CPA, and for good reason. It is a profession that is dedicated to helping others, and I have always admired those who dedicate their lives to serving others. The CPA is a group of professionals who are committed to excellence in the field of accounting, and I have always been impressed by their dedication and commitment.

The CPA is also a profession that is constantly evolving and changing. As technology advances, so do the demands on the CPA. They must stay current with new developments and be able to adapt to changing circumstances. It is a profession that requires a high level of skill and expertise, and the CPA is constantly working to ensure that its members are up to date with the latest developments.

As I left the conference, I couldn't help but think about how much the CPA has contributed to the world of business. They are a group of professionals who are dedicated to excellence, and I have always been impressed by their commitment and dedication.

The CPA is an important profession, and one that is constantly evolving. As I continue to learn more about the CPA, I am constantly amazed by the dedication and commitment of its members. I am grateful to be a part of such a dedicated and talented group of professionals.
Members of Faculty Give
Brotherhood, Israeli Views

Time Table

Stew's Views

Here They Come—
Female Fencers!

Swordsman Close Season

Grapplers Romp, 27-3:

Swordsmen Win, 57-29

Clings to the road like a stripe of paint!

Directions

By Stewart Kampelmacher

When you want a basketball team developing over the span of a year, you can't help but take notice of a team that has grown and matured this season. Fordham and St. Francis have been the teams to beat in the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference.

City College played what was probably its worst game of the season against Wagner College last week. The team played poorly in the second half and was outscored by the Seahawks.

The speech will take place at 11 a.m. today in the Student Center.

By Steve Schrieber

Baruchian Leon "Pappy" Entfn, Bernie Stolls and Pat Woods led the City College wrestling team to a 27-3 win Saturday over East Stroudsburg at Govthul's Gym, Uplawn. It was a win that could have been the makings of the most spectacular comeback in the team's history.

The Lavender was completely victorious in the Intercollegiate Athletic Association tournament. This was achieved by recording 7-2, foil 6-3, and epee by a close margin in the first two matches, and Steve Kesten won the third event.

The Lavender was completely victorious in the Intercollegiate Athletic Association tournament. This was achieved by recording 7-2, foil 6-3, and epee by a close margin in the first two matches, and Steve Kesten won the third event.

Other winners for the Lavender club were Ron Chaves and Mike McGuire in the individual events. The only loss for the matmen by loss was in the 100-yard freestyle.

The Lavender was completely victorious in the Intercollegiate Athletic Association tournament. This was achieved by recording 7-2, foil 6-3, and epee by a close margin in the first two matches, and Steve Kesten won the third event.

Other winners for the Lavender club were Ron Chaves and Mike McGuire in the individual events. The only loss for the matmen by loss was in the 100-yard freestyle.

Swordsmen Close Season
With 18-9 Loss to NYU

Baruchian Leon "Pappy" Entfn, Bernie Stolls and Pat Woods led the City College wrestling team to a 27-3 win Saturday over East Stroudsburg at Govthul's Gym, Uplawn. It was a win that could have been the makings of the most spectacular comeback in the team's history.

The speech will take place at 11 a.m. today in the Student Center.

By Steve Schrieber

Baruchian Leon "Pappy" Entfn, Bernie Stolls and Pat Woods led the City College wrestling team to a 27-3 win Saturday over East Stroudsburg at Govthul's Gym, Uplawn. It was a win that could have been the makings of the most spectacular comeback in the team's history.

The speech will take place at 11 a.m. today in the Student Center.

By Steve Schrieber

Baruchian Leon "Pappy" Entfn, Bernie Stolls and Pat Woods led the City College wrestling team to a 27-3 win Saturday over East Stroudsburg at Govthul's Gym, Uplawn. It was a win that could have been the makings of the most spectacular comeback in the team's history.

The speech will take place at 11 a.m. today in the Student Center.

By Steve Schrieber

Baruchian Leon "Pappy" Entfn, Bernie Stolls and Pat Woods led the City College wrestling team to a 27-3 win Saturday over East Stroudsburg at Govthul's Gym, Uplawn. It was a win that could have been the makings of the most spectacular comeback in the team's history.

The speech will take place at 11 a.m. today in the Student Center.
Redmen, Violet Tilts Close CCNY Slate

By Richie Gurian and Lou Pohoryles

This week City College will close its basketball season with two of its most important games.

The St. Johns University of Brooklyn at the Martin Van Buren High School court. This will be the squad's final tune-up for the New York University clash. The game, originally scheduled for Decatur Gym, the Redmen's home court, was switched to the Queens floor because of the added seating capacity available.

St. Johns, sporting a 12-7 record, is well-versed in City college, led by a 5-10 sophomore, Allen Seiden, averaging 12.6 points per game. His back court mate, who shared with Dick Dukett, a 19.3 per game scorer. Ronnie Pappel, 6-6 forward, follows the flashy Seiden in scoring with a 12.2 average. Mike Pangman, 6-7 center, and Bill Chrysalis are averaging 11.3 per game.

Levy Main Hope

Slender Syd Levy, 6-6, will be the Beaver's best hope for victory over the rampaging Johnnies. Levy has averaged 15.4 points per game in the last seven games, the hardest part of the Lavender schedule.

St. John's won last year's game, 77-70, and holds a 21-14 edge in the rivalry which started in 1914. City's last win came in 1954, when Merv Shorr led the Beavers to a 64-60 upset victory.

When the Beavers meet the New York University Violets. Tuesday night at the Fordham Gym, they will have a lot in common with the man who has experienced sitting on a dynamite keg smoking a lit cigarette.

The power-packed Violets at any time may explode into one of the most lethal destructive powers in basketball. They possess good height, fine ball handling, kills, dead-eye shooting, a strong defense, and a man named Cal Ramsey.

With 6-4 Bob Brown and 6-4 "Mickey Mouse" Ramset at forwards, 6-7 Don Knapp at center, six-footers Nidds and Johnny Burch at the guards, the Violets have five starters that could start on any team. The sophomore, Ramsey, seems destined to break all existing NYU scoring and rebouding records and is a sure fire bet for All-American honors in 1958 and 1959.

Nidds is the defensive ace who has bottled up such All-American stars as Rod Hundley, Lenny Rosenbluth, and Guy Rodgers. Burch takes a backseat to no one as an outsider shooter, and driver Knapp, a transfer from North Carolina, and Brown who was out last season with a bad leg, provides inside scoring power and strong rebounding.

Cagers Upset by Rutgers, Manhattan Edges Beavers

"I am worried about Rutgers," Beaver Coach Dave Polansky said before Saturday's game at New Brunswick. He had good reason too, as a capacity crowd saw Scarlet forward Dick Hirschfeld toss in a fifteen-foot basket shot with two seconds left in an overtime period to give Rutgers its first victory over City since 1929, 64-62.

Marv Rose, who saw very little action, tried a desperation shot in the remaining second, but it rimmed the basket.

City, ahead by twelve points at one time, saw the lead rapidly diminish during the second half. Hustling all the time, the Jerseyites drew even on two foils by Ralph Bayard, who was high scorer, with 24 points, with 40 seconds left in regulation time. Jim Mazzaferrro had previously missed a foul that would have sewn up the game, and with two seconds left in regulation time, Rose missed a jump.

Almost. But Not Quite

In the overtime, Dutch Merritt canned four points before Hirschfeld's shot.

Tuesday night, the Beaver's almost the highly rated Manhattan College Jaspers, as a last minute drive fell short. They lost 65-63.

The Beavers were down seven points at the half. 40-33. They fought the forward As far drew to within five points. When Sy Levy fouled out, and Marv Rose injured his leg the Lavender continued to battle, but were hard hit by a last minute "freeze" by the Jaspers.

IMB Basketball Tourney Set for Thursday in Gym

The Intramural Board will again sponsor an intramural basketball tournament this semester. The first game will be played Thursday in Hansen Hall at 12.

Last semester's tournament Leon Attman, who was named the Most Valuable Player in the tournament.

This term will be a class tourney. Each team comprised of members of one class will play for a class championship. The four winners will play off to determine the champion.

Applications are still available in 610A for all class divisions.

In the Soph-Soph battles, the experience of the sophomores proved superior to the enthusiasm of the neophytes. Sid Dvoretzky and Andy Liebstein, while the upper-classmen were led by Dave Rosenthal.

The first round, a tug-of-war, was won by the freshmen. The seniors took two tugs in a row to take a quick lead.

A "King of the Mountain" contest followed the tug. This was a rough game, played with eleven men on each side and a football. After hard struggle, the experience of the sophomores proved to be the outstanding factor, as they triumphed to earn up the battles.

The last of the three tests was a combination basketball-football game. The idea of the game was to score a basket with a basketball using football rules. The sophomores won this contest for the final tally.

Cagers Upset by Rutgers, Manhattan Edges Beavers

"I am worried about Rutgers," Beaver Coach Dave Polansky said before Saturday's game at New Brunswick. He had good reason too, as a capacity crowd saw Scarlet forward Dick Hirschfeld toss in a fifteen-foot basket shot with two seconds left in an overtime period to give Rutgers its first victory over City since 1929, 64-62.

Marv Rose, who saw very little action, tried a desperation shot in the remaining second, but it rimmed the basket.

City, ahead by twelve points at one time, saw the lead rapidly diminish during the second half. Hustling all the time, the Jerseyites drew even on two foils by Ralph Bayard, who was high scorer, with 24 points, with 40 seconds left in regulation time. Jim Mazzaferrro had previously missed a foul that would have sewn up the game, and with two seconds left in regulation time, Rose missed a jump.

Almost. But Not Quite

In the overtime, Dutch Merritt canned four points before Hirschfeld's shot.

Tuesday night, the Beaver's almost the highly rated Manhattan College Jaspers, as a last minute drive fell short. They lost 65-63.

The Beavers were down seven points at the half. 40-33. They fought the forward As far drew to within five points. When Sy Levy fouled out, and Marv Rose injured his leg the Lavender continued to battle, but were hard hit by a last minute "freeze" by the Jaspers.

Silver has been a dynamo for the Beavers on the boards though averaging only six points per game, the 6-5 outsider shooter, and driver Knapp, a transfer from North Carolina, and Brown who was out last season with a bad leg, provides inside scoring power and strong rebounding.

Lewis Two-Pointer Give Baruch Team 73-72 Win

"I am worried about Rutgers," Beaver Coach Dave Polansky said before Saturday's game at New Brunswick. He had good reason too, as a capacity crowd saw Scarlet forward Dick Hirschfeld toss in a fifteen-foot basket shot with two seconds left in an overtime period to give Rutgers its first victory over City since 1929, 64-62.

Marv Rose, who saw very little action, tried a desperation shot in the remaining second, but it rimmed the basket.

City, ahead by twelve points at one time, saw the lead rapidly diminish during the second half. Hustling all the time, the Jerseyites drew even on two foils by Ralph Bayard, who was high scorer, with 24 points, with 40 seconds left in regulation time. Jim Mazzaferrro had previously missed a foul that would have sewn up the game, and with two seconds left in regulation time, Rose missed a jump.

Almost. But Not Quite

In the overtime, Dutch Merritt canned four points before Hirschfeld's shot.

Tuesday night, the Beaver's almost the highly rated Manhattan College Jaspers, as a last minute drive fell short. They lost 65-63.

The Beavers were down seven points at the half. 40-33. They fought the forward As far drew to within five points. When Sy Levy fouled out, and Marv Rose injured his leg the Lavender continued to battle, but were hard hit by a last minute "freeze" by the Jaspers.