Buckley, Wechsler Debate Slated for Thursday 12
By Jay Derris

In conjunction with Academic Freedom Week, the National Student Association of Columbia University is sponsoring a debate between James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, and William F. Buckley, Jr., editor of National Review.

The topic of the debate, which will be held Thursday, April 4 at 12 in Lounge C, will be "Is the Academic Community Fostering or Discouraging Liberal Thought on the Campus?"

While a student at Morning- stime Heights, Wechsler edited the Columbia University undergraduate newspaper, the Spectator. In contrast, Buckley, co-founder of the modern intercollegiate conservative movement, is known for his writings in The New York Post, The New York Times, and his book "McCarthyism," which explains why he became associated with the movement at Columbia and how he became disillusioned and repudiated the movement.

James A. Wechsler

The Catholic World. He has appeared on radio and television many times and is in demand as a speaker.

Fought McCarthyism

As editor of the New York Post, Wechsler has fought against "McCarthyism" and has been an outspoken proponent for civil rights legislation.

Last year, in celebration of Academic Freedom Week, Dr. Lewis Mayers of the Law Department debated with Ambrose K. Frankel, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, on the Fifth Amendment.

Blood Donation Center Planned for Ninth Floor

The semi-annual drive for blood to replenish the Baruch School's Blood Bank will be held tomorrow in the Ninth Floor.

Any student or member of the faculty between the ages of 18 and 59 is eligible to donate blood. Students who are not supply will also be welcomed by their parents.

Applications may be made at the Ninth Floor.

The blood is collected by the American Red Cross and stored in the Baruch Bank until it is needed.

Any student or member of the faculty body, or any student, who has not been tested, in order to determine the blood type, has been tested.

A seminar's co-chairmen, Rosemary Mirabile, Steve Harris and Bob Geftman, have set a goal of 350 pints.

In order to withdraw blood from the bank, one must submit the name of the patient, the hospital and attending physician to Donna Mann of the Department of Student Life, OR 2-7700, Extension 34.

Lehman Talks Today in PET

Today at 10:30 in Pauline Edwards Theater, Herbert H. Lehman, former Governor and Senator from New York State will speak on "The Plight of the Individual in a Big-Business Economy." The program will be preceded by a light lunch at 12:30 in theagainst the increase. He stated that the price of the tickets was supported by the Student Council. The price increase would next semester with $1500 less than last term's. The price increase on the tickets for the boatride is $500 in additional revenue.

On negri, SC's vice-president, spoke against the increase. He stated that the Baruch Ball had to be cut out of the Council's reserve account.

NEW YORK ASSOCIATION

Petitions Available in 921

Nominating petitions for class and Student Council elections are now available in 921, it was announced by Elections Committee Co-chairman Ed Kerrigan at the Student Council meeting. Petitions will be held tomorrow in the Ninth Floor.

"This is what reserves are for," he explained.

Uptown Dances

Tickets are available for thirty male students to attend the free weekly Friday night dances held at the Uptown Center. The dances may be obtained in 921. Up to this time, Baruch School males were not permitted to attend the dances.

The forms may be obtained in 921.

Business Magazine

A committee was established by the Business Magazine, on a motion by Treasurer Joel Isaacson, to investigate the possibility of publishing a Baruch School business magazine. The magazine, Isaacson stated, might publish the works of outstanding students. The committee will meet next week.

The Distinguished Lecture series was initiated in 1954 by former Dean Thomas L. Norton and Bernard Schiff. It delivered the first three lectures in the series.

At Uptown Center:

Dr. Gallagher will preside at a meeting of the Students Council on Academic Freedom Week, which begins April 4 and continues through April 11. Dr. Gallagher, explaining his participation in the debate, stated that "student groups can invite any and every point of view to be expressed on the campus." This concurs with his statement on the Gates issue, when he pointed out that any person who was not convicted or under indictment under the Smith Act could express his views and speak at the College.

Continuing, Gallagher said that "the College need not, and often does not, approve the opinions expressed by visiting speakers. My own clear condemnation of communism will be reiterated in the forthcoming debate. Nevertheless, we must permit the expression of opinions which may depugn with the spirit and substance of free and democratic education is to destroy democracy."
The Baruch Ball, the School's major social event of the year, will take place in the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Commodore on May 5. Table tickets, priced at $5 per person, can be purchased from any student wearing a pin at any time in the coming weeks.

Baruch School's Place has announced that it will begin accepting applications for its second annual Mardi Gras Ball to be held Friday, April 29. Applications, which must be submitted to the school's Office of Student Affairs, can be obtained at the Mardi Gras Ball office located in the basement of the school. The deadline for applications is April 11.

On Campus, the traditional Ugly Man Key will be awarded to the student wearing the most unattractive costume. The contest will begin April 24 and run until April 29. The winner will be awarded a $100 prize. The contest is open to all students, regardless of their appearance.

The City Council and presently the Board of Student Agencies will be chosen at 12:30, all members of the Alumni Association of the United Nations will be present at the annual Dinner. November 4, 1957.

Baruch's annual Dinner will be held at the City College of New York. The dinner will be open to all members of the Alumni Association, including students, faculty, and staff. The dinner will include a keynote address by an distinguished alumnum and a buffet dinner.

The 1957-1958 semester of the City College of New York will be opened by a press conference for the fall classes. The conference will be held at 11:00 a.m. on September 10, 1957, in the auditorium of the school. All members of the press are invited to attend.

The first Baruch Ball, held last year, was a huge success. The event was attended by over 1,000 guests, including many members of the alumni association. The ball included a variety of activities, including a dance, a fashion show, and a silent auction. The proceeds from the ball were used to support the school's Textbook Fund.

The Student Council will hold its annual meeting on April 29. The meeting will be held at 12:30 in the Student Center. All members of the Student Council are encouraged to attend.

The NAACP will sponsor a Freedom Fund Show on April 29. The show will be held at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the school. The show will include a variety of entertainment, including music, dance, and drama. The proceeds from the show will be used to support the NAACP's national program.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of THE TICKER:

Miss Schulman's article, "The Cost of Peace," taken from the May 11th issue of the "New York Times," was not completely representative of the Catholic Church's position on peace. It is true that the Catholic Church believes in the value of peace, but their efforts are focused on achieving peace through social justice and understanding, rather than through the means advocated by Miss Schulman.

We, as Catholics, believe that peace can only be achieved through the elimination of poverty, discrimination, and exploitation. The Catholic Church has always been a strong advocate for social justice, and we believe that this is the key to creating lasting peace in the world.

The Church has been involved in various peace initiatives, such as the establishment of the Vatican Council II, which aimed to promote understanding and cooperation among all people of good will. The Church has also supported various organizations and movements that work towards peace and justice, such as the Jesuit Volunteer Program and the Catholic Peace Corps.

We, as Catholics, believe that peace is not merely the absence of war, but the establishment of a just and equitable society where all people are treated with dignity and respect. We are committed to working towards this goal, and we believe that it is the responsibility of all people to contribute to the creation of a more peaceful world.

Sincerely yours,

Sophomores May Prove Key to Success For City College’s 1957 Baseball Team

By Richie Gurian

Despite a tough schedule, City College baseball coach John LaPlace says that "we will definitely do better, than our 3-9 record and last place finish in the Metropolitan Baseball League last year. We may even move up more than one notch. It depends on how the other teams look." His optimistic attitude for the season is due to the large number of promising sophomores who have come out for the squad.

Among the returnees are four pitchers, Al DiBernardo, Stu Weiss, Fred Fred and Steve Swenson, who "serve as the nucleus of an eight man staff," LaPlace said. Other members of the mound crew include Lube Mylnar and Lester Rubinstein.

The only man sure of an outfield berth is Leon Memoli, who hit .300 last season. Other promising newcomers include Pete Trotz, one of the co-captains, Bob Jacobi and Bob Adler.

"Anchoring the infield defense will be co-captains at second base, John Whelan, a shortstop, Bob Demus and Bob Adler and slugging it out with Bob Adler. We have the right edge on experience," LaPlace said.

Two Catchers

In the catching department, there are two men left from last year, Stan Rothstein and Mike Steuerman. Pete Trotz, one of the co-captains, will have his job sewn up, also. At shortstop, Bob Demus and Bob Adler are competing it out. Mike Demus is batting .350, having the slight edge on experience.

Same Old Story:

Track Coach’s Problem: Manpower

By Lou Pohoryles

With the opening meet of the outdoor track season eight days away, coach Harry deGirolamo is faced with the problem of mustering enough manpower to make sure that the team is well represented in all events. The lack of manpower, especially in the sprint and field events, will force him to use many men in two or more spots.

The three sprinters deGirolamo will be counting on most are newcomers Anthony Osborne, Charlie Barone and Len Turner. In the field events, Len Olson, a performer at home with the discus, the hammer, shot put and in the high hurdles, will be supported by a hard working newcomer, Jack Kushner.

Big Question Mark

The big question mark this season will be Jack Kushner, the strong boy who holds the College records in the shot put and discus and is a consistent scorer in the other weight events. If his bad knee holds up, he is expected to surpass his shot put record of 50-3 by as much as six feet. Kushner, in his second season, is not sure whether his knee will be able to beat the weight of competition.

"It’s up to his doctor," deGirolamo said of Kushner’s "but he could mean a lot to us.

Stan Dawkins, a high jumper, hurdler, broad jumper and pole vaulter, will be lost to the team because of a leg injury he sustained during the soccer season.

Stickmen Open Season

By Beating Alumni, 8-2

By Mel Winer

Scoring six times in the second half, City College’s lacrosse team beat its Alumni, 8-2, Saturday at Lewishohn Stadium to open the season.

Leon “Chief” Miller’s Beavers were constantly on the attack throughout the first half, but managed to score only twice. Their shooting was off and their accurate shots were blocked by Alumni goalie. Ronnie Krieller, who did a good job in the nets.

The Lavender finally scored in the opening minutes of the second quarter, when Captain Lenny Fagen connected with his first goal of the afternoon. Minutes later Ronnie Rose tallied to give the Beavers a 2-0 lead.

The final stanza saw the Lavender break the game wide open by scoring four times. Marc Rosenberg connected twice in this period to lead the Beavers. The other goals were scored by Lenny Fagen, his second marker for the afternoon, and Mike Volpe.

IMB Strongest Man Contest

Highlights Week’s Events

The Intra-Mural Board’s activities will be greatly mainly for male students this week.

A strong man contest will highlight Thursday’s action in Hansen Hall at 11:30. Some events as bowling, tennis and track will be held, and the winning contests and weight lifting will test the participants’ strength.

Beginning at 12, the final round of the basketball tournament will be conducted. Phi Alpha’s freshman will meet the Red Devils while Lloyd will play the Boulevard in the semifinals for a sophomore championship.

Thursday, IMB sponsored men’s swimming meet in the East River at the Red Devils while Lloyd will play the Boulevard in the semifinals for a sophomore championship.

Friday, the team still has Cicilia, lovely Miss Winner, and Harvey Rothstein have graduated and Dick Woodley has transferred to Syracuse University, the only team to beat the nett last year and the New York University team who lost to City for the first time in its history last season.

Netmen to Play Pratt Saturday

Harry Karlin’s tennis team will get its first test of the season Saturday when the netmen meet Pratt Institute at the Metropolitan and Tennis Club in the Bronx.

Last year’s team was the metropolitan titlists, posting a 11-1 record. However, and the team will be missing in year. Allan Jong, Mel Drinian and Harvey Rosenthal have graduated and Dick Woodley is transferred to Syracuse University.

But the team still has six Ferrars, captain, who is underclassman in two years of college competition.

Walter Ritter and playing manager Roy Fleishman are sure of spots on the club, in the rest of the positions are up for grabs.

Karlin still hasn’t found a doubles combination which the players will work together often enough.

Foremost opponents for Beavers this season will be Hofstra University, the only team to beat the nett last year and the New York University team who lost to City for the first time in its history last season.
