Austin Trial Hearing Resumes at Two Today

The departmental trial of a City College English professor charged with conduct unbecoming a faculty member will continue today at 2.

The trial of Dr. Warren B. Austin was postponed Monday, when it was announced that four former CCNY staff members would take the Fifth Amendment at the hearing.

Previously, Michael Cashin, special investigating-committee chairman, had planned to question Dr. Austin about his relationship with Austin at a college picnic in 1941.

The four men had been scheduled to appear because they were photographed with Austin at a college picnic in 1941. The picnic was allegedly organized by the New York City unit of the Communist Party. Austin claims the affair was arranged for the benefit of fellow members of the Spanish Civil War veterans.

Chancellor Post Approved; BHE Unit Seeks Candidate

Despite the strong protests of the City College Alumni Association, the Board of Estimate has appropriated $100,000 for the post of Chancellor of the city colleges.

Of the total sum appropriated, $25,000 is the salary to be paid to the chancellor, when he is selected. The name most mentioned in connection with the post was that of John J. Theobald, deputy mayor of New York, now on leave from the presidency of Queens College, but he is believed to be favored for the position of Superintendent of Schools, which will be vacated this year.

A recommendation will be made by the Administrative Council, consisting of the five city college presidents, to the Board of Higher Education, which is still looking for a person to fill the post.

The chancellor will be the commanding officer of the college system and will be the principal educational officer of the system.

Discussion Since 1932

A further duty of the chancellor will be to administer the various policies of the university, the colleges, and the board of higher education. The chancellor will also be responsible for the educational administration, and disciplinary affairs of his several colleges will not be abroaded.

Guthrie later re-installed him to the payroll.

Death-Mourned

Dr. Cavallaro’s death was mourned by many officers in the city school system. The Board of Estimate adjourned its meeting in his honor, and the Board on Higher Education issued a statement of tribute to his head.

Dr. Cavallaro was a Knight of the Holy Sepulchre in 1949, and believed religion was part of a well-rounded education.

A City College graduate, he was active in various church organizations and served as sports editor in the Fall ’56 and Spring ‘57 terms.

A Baruch School alternate delegate to the Tenth National Student Congress at the University of Michigan, Kampelmacher also was the winner of the City Col-lege Alumni Association Journal Award for this reporting on two Baruch School bomb scares.

College Boards Replace Frosst-Entering Exams

Full applicants to the College will receive a text in place of the one presently in use. A Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) will be given instead of the old exam of Dr. Joseph F. Wallach, chairman of the College of Arts and Sciences, and Dr. Samuel P. Fetter, chairman of the College of Commerce and Industry, will administer the exam.

The test will be given in December for the College of Arts and Sciences and in January for the College of Commerce and Industry.

The new policy was approved at the May meeting of the Board of Higher Education.

The College of Arts and Sciences Examination Board was formed to conduct the exam.

Dr. Samuel P. Fetter, chairman of the College of Commerce and Industry, and Dr. William E. Greenwald, chairman of the College of Arts and Sciences, will administer the exam.

dr. William E. Greenwald has written an article on the future of higher education in the United States. His article appeared in the May issue of the Journal of Higher Education.

The article is titled "The Future of Higher Education in the United States: A Personal View," and it discusses the trends and challenges facing higher education in the coming years.

Dr. Greenwald notes that the future of higher education is uncertain, but he believes that the future is bright.

He argues that higher education is essential for the development of a strong society, and that it is important to continue to support it.

He also notes that the future of higher education is influenced by many factors, including funding, technology, and the economy.

In conclusion, Dr. Greenwald writes that "higher education is an essential component of our society, and we must work to ensure that it remains viable for the future."

Apparenting before student editors at the Tenth National Student Congress at the University of Michigan, Dr. Buell G. Gallagher admitted that he did not agree with the ruling of the Daily Worker's editors banning partisan control of the student press.

"I do not understand us," he said.

"If you guys from the Student Association have the unusual opportunity to develop an organization other than it's owned by the student press is owned by the student press and the student press is owned by the student press and the student press is owned by the student press, then you should not be in business together."

Gallagher Could Have Lost Job If Gates Were Allowed to Speak

The Tenth National Student Congress in Ann Arbor this past summer had many moments, some stemming from the long hours of work and others in the lighter vein.

"I do not understand us," he said.

The workshops and special sessions at the Tenth National Student Congress at the University of Michigan were considered by many to be "the most significant aspect of the conference." A recent report circulated at the Congress revealed that the delegates were "in accord with the University of Michigan's policy of academic freedom." The report concluded that the delegates had "the right to hear all views and opinions, no matter how unpopular, and to express them in any way they choose."

Holman Leaving for Japan; Polansky Heading Five Again

Nat Holman, City College basketball coach, has announced that he has taken a six-month leave of absence. Holman stated that he was leaving for Japan to set up a basketball program for Japanese youngsters. Holman, who feels that the job is "a real challenge," will leave at the end of September, and work under the auspices of the State Department's exchange program.

Polansky Has No Comment

"Queried about his plans upon his return," Holman said that "I do not like to change horses in midstream. The coach who will start the season will finish it, so far as I am concerned."

Dave Polansky, who will continue for another season as the coach of the Beaver hoop squad, felt that no comment could be made "until the boys report and a good look could be taken at the veterans who are returning and the freshmen who are trying to elevate themselves to the varsity."

Aided Turkish Team

This is the second overseas trip for Holman in two years. Last year he took a year's sabbatical leave and travelled around the world. One stop on his tour of the globe was Turkey, where he helped train the Turkish national team that represented the country in the Olympic Games.

He also helped with the basketball program in Hawaii, as well as in Japan. His impression of Japan at that time was what caused him to be so eager to return this year. Holman thought that although they have a great height deficit when they play other nations, the Japanese "make up for it with spirit and speed."

Holman, known as Mr. Basketball, began coaching at CCNY in 1919, after a brilliant career with the Original Celtics. Holman feels that "my biggest responsibility is character building," and this goes for Japan as well as CCNY or any other place in the world.

Sports

The Ticker is now accepting applications of anyone interested in writing or photographic sports. All Baruchians are invited to the Ticker office, 911B, any time during the day or after classes. No experience is necessary.

The Ticker is also holding a reception for students interested in writing for the paper. The reception will be held Friday, September 20. All students entering freshmen and upper classmen are invited to attend the affair, to be held in 911B.

Uptown Student Captures Junior Chess Tournament

William Lombardy, a junior at the Uptown Center, was declared World Junior Chess Champion, at the International Junior Chess Tournament, held in Atlantic City. Lombardy scored an eleven-game sweep, the first such victory to be recorded in an international tournament.

Lombardy said his most interesting match was with Max Gerusel of West Germany, the runner up, who scored nine points to Lombardy's eleven.

Confidence, manpower and a tough schedule are the key words of City College's defending Metropolitan Soccer League champions.

Coach Harry Karlin, starting his fourth season as soccer maestro, calls his '57 team "as good as I've ever had." His past teams have won three Met League titles, topped off by a New York State title last year.

Well, Thorne Gone

At least two deep at each position, Karlin expects to tackle the men lost through the graduation route. The top candidate to replace Wolfgang Westl, last year's high scoring re-capain, is Heinz Minnerot, a standout on last season's junior varsity squad.

Departing goalie Charlie Thomas has been taken over by Leon Mandref, whom Karlin considers to have "an excellent knowledge of the game."

There are as yet no favorites to fill the gaps left by high scorers Novak Masanovich and All-Met selection Bob Lemestre, but Karlin has enough men to choose from and not encounter any difficulty in filling their places.

Paramos, Send Return

Among the returning lettermen are such players as Johnny "Bud" Paran, who set a new league record for defensemen, Billy Send, All-Met pick last year, and Freddy Munter, also an All-Met choice. Other returnees include Percy Bonnet and Baruchian Danny McElrath.

According to Karlin, the junior varsity graduates expected to give the most help are Les Son, Dave Polansky, who went to West Point, and Tommy Popov, who played service basketball. Holman feels that the Beavers will come away unscathed from these frays, basing his belief at two factors. One is that the Laverender faced strong competition when they played Springfield College, for the Eastern crown, last year. Last month was that the Beavers have the players to win. The top team "the best I've ever seen," is the Yard creature, calls his "57 American champion.

Other returnees include Free Thorne, also an All-Met choice.
