Isaacs Supports Aid For Higher Education

By Dave Podoff

City Council Minority Leader Stanley Isaacs voted approval of various proposals for State aid to higher education, in a special interview with THE TICKER, Thursday.

Councillman Isaacs said, "I am strongly in favor of a grant of $5 million dollars, in State aid for construction of new buildings for teacher colleges, both at City College and Brooklyn College. He also said that the current State aid to teacher education should be continued.

Mr. Isaacs stated that he was of the opinion that the State should pay one-third, one-third by the student, and one-third by the school district. But, he said, the Board of Higher Education opposed this. The student would pay one-third, the school district would pay the remaining two-thirds.

He felt that the municipal colleges were unique in the fact that they are free and he hoped it would be continued.

Mr. Isaacs thought that unless everyone fights for the various proposals of State aid, nothing will get done. Isaacs also said that past of the State bond issue for school construction should be spent for new buildings for teacher education. He also approved of State aid to study in social work and other fields that could supply the city with more qualified people.

In the past week, several influential people, including President Dr. Gallagher, have spoken on the subject.

President's March for Integration

The Administrative Council last week denied the Marxist Discussion Club's appeal to let Benjamin Davis, who was convicted under the Smith Act, speak on campus.

President Buel G. Gallagher said that, "The Council found no basis for making an exception of Mr. Davis as they had in the case of Mr. Gates."

Dr. Gallagher, who took the MDC's appeal before the Council, would make no further comment.

The Council passed a ruling in 1957 banning speakers convicted under the Smith Act, Davis, New York State chairman of the Communist party, and a candidate for the State Senate from the 16th Senatorial District, was invited to speak by the MDC last Thursday.

Paul McGowan, president of the MDC said, "We can no longer accept this restriction on free speech. The students shall have an opportunity to hear Mr. Davis regardless of the ostrich-like behavior of the Administrative Council."

Davis spoke Thursday from a sound truck at 133rd Street and Amsterdam Avenue. The site is just outside the College grounds.

Davis stated that the Big Council's decision was a "complete attack on academic freedom. Further it is a continuation of the McCarthy witch-hunt atmosphere which is evident in the municipal colleges."

Davis stated that the section of the Smith Act under which he had been convicted was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. The MDC also brought up this point in its appeal.

"The Council was really straining against the decision," Davis remarked.

Davis stated that the Smith Act ban went into effect when John Gates was denied permission to speak at the College. The decision has been made.

Some additional shorter items are included in the paper for the benefit of those who are interested in reading about current events and developments.
The Veil of Secrecy

The Academic Council has once again proven itself as a body of individuals who do not believe in the Freedom of Speech. This is a matter of such importance that we cannot remain silent. The issue at hand is not whether Mr. Davis was right in his protest, but that students have the right to have their demands considered and heard.

Unfortunately, we cannot completely appreciate the College's position. Mr. Davis claims that the Academic Council has no basis for making an exception of Mr. Davis. However, we do not agree. The Academic Council has always been concerned with the maintenance of academic freedom. The decision to grant Mr. Davis an exception is not an indication of a lack of concern for academic freedom, but rather a reflection of the Council's desire to maintain a balance between academic freedom and the needs of the students.

Letters

To the Editor of THE TICKER:

The issue of academic freedom is one that deserves our attention and discussion. It is a fundamental right that ensures the ability of students to receive an education free from censorship and political influence. The Academic Council's decision to grant Mr. Davis an exception is a step in the right direction, as it acknowledges the importance of academic freedom.

Sincerely,

City's Three-Year Winning Streak in Metropolitan League Competition Snapped By A Fired-Up Pratt Institute Soccer Team, 2-2

By Eddie Perlman

City College's three-year winning streak in Metropolitan League competition was snapped Saturday in Lewisohn Stadium by a fired-up Pratt Institute soccer team, 2-2. The City College team was tied by the "best team in Pratt history" according to Pratt coach George M. Dietz.

The tie marked the first time since 1955 that City hasn't won a League game. In that year, they were tied by Queens College. The opinions of the spectators were supplemented by Coach Harry Karlin when he said, "I guess we didn't play up to our standards today."

The two City goals were scored by Billy Sund and Heiniz Mipner, Sund has 12 goals on the season, while Minner has three.

After the opening 15 minutes, which saw both goalies keep fairly busy as the two teams exchanged downfield marches, City put up an offensive drive. The drive, tying in the first quarter period Minner's goal. The black was credited with the assist. One minute later, City took a 2-0 lead as Billy Sund booted one through the goalie, with assist by Manfredi. Sund now needs only four more goals to tie the season record of 16, which is held jointly by Minnepols and Novak Maslennikoff.

Both teams' sweeper by Pratt goalie Will Berensmann held the Beavers scoreless for the remainder of the afternoon.

The second half of play began like the first half in that both teams exchanged drives. Late in the third quarter, the Pratt squad, led by forward Ivan R. H. Leroy, was fouled into the scoring effort. His tally was followed by another one by Chris Malakas, to gain the 2-1 tie.

This outburst resulted in goalie Heinz Minner saving the day for the Beavers.
