GF to Vote on 'Lists' At November Meeting

An extension of the voluntary membership system, approved by the General Faculty for a one year trial period last year, will be voted on at the next General Faculty meeting, November 20.

The voluntary membership system was at first voted down by the faculty. However, it was approved a week later because of an increase in the attendance of faculty members and the presentation of a "compromise amendment" which protected the legal rights of clubs declining to submit membership lists. The vote was 25-14.

The compromise amendment, which was presented by William L. Finkel of the Speech Department, contained two sections:

1. Only those organizations which submit membership lists will be considered chartered student organizations at the College.

2. A Board of Higher Education ruling states that only chartered organizations can receive money from fees.

At the meeting which voted down a system of voluntary membership lists only 84 faculty members were present. The vote was 36 to 36. Twelve additional members were present at the meeting which established the one-year trial period.

After the reversal, one member of the General Faculty said "lobbying" centered on the group's change of position. Professor Mark Brunswick, chairman of the Department of Music, stated: "We lobbied last week, just as the conservatives lobbied the week before."

President Beul G. Gallagher

At his press conference after the reversal, President Gallagher seemed satisfied with the General Faculty's decision. Dr. Gallagher stated that only the "very conservative" and the "very radical" could not be satisfied with the outcome.

Under the present set-up, each club, by a majority vote, decides whether or not to submit a membership list. If the organization declines to register its roster, the faculty advisor must certify that it has 12 members.

If an individual in an organization which has not handed in a list desires to record his name, he may do so. An individual who is a member of a group which submits a list must resign if he declines to be recorded as a member.

SC Hears Curriculum Views Of Top Scholastic Students

More than 20 of the "best Baruch School students scholastically" attended the first of a three part study of the curriculum held under the auspices of Student Council.

The other two parts of this study will be held this week with a Student-Faculty Workshop, Thursday and an SC meeting devoted to this subject, Friday.

The meeting, which lasted three hours, was in two parts—general discussion of the Baruch School curriculum and a more specific debate on such areas as required courses, specialization, seminars, honors courses, etc.

In the general discussion, there was prevalent an unsatisfied disapproval of the curriculum. The most frequent comment was more "liberalization" of the School's curriculum. However, most of the students who attended were Economics and Psychology: a few in Accounting and Accounting Majors.

A Statistics major declared: "In this School even the liberal arts courses are geared toward business. I'm told they have practical applications to business. I see this severely limits liberal arts courses. Except for some few courses, the School is unchallenging."

An Accounting major stated, "I'm quite satisfied with the Accounting Department. I do not like the liberal Arts courses. I'd like to see more challenging electives. The required courses are taught on an elementary school level. I blame this on the teachers' attitude and the limited textbooks."

Continuing along these lines, an Economics major, who switched from Accounting, stated: "I would like to see more challenging courses taught on the required level. My complaint is that the courses descend to the students' level."

Student-Faculty Workshop Slated by Student Council

The Student Council Faculty Workshop will be held Thursday in the Faculty-Council Lounge. The meeting is part of Council's investigation into the Baruch School curriculum.

The Workshop will be composed of Faculty members and Council representatives divided into groups consisting of three instructors and three representatives.

The basic aim of the Workshop is to elicit from the members of the Faculty their opinions and comments as to the content of the curriculum and their views of the Baruch School as a college.

The Workshop is only one-third of the Council's investigation into the curriculum. Friday's meeting-time was given over to hearing the opinions of Baruch School students who are in the upper percentages of their classes.

The third portion of Council's curriculum investigation will be Friday's meeting. At this meeting, members of Council will offer their opinions of the curriculum.

Larry Schiff

These three meetings are the culmination of Council's research into the curriculum of the Baruch School. The meetings are the result of the Baruch School's curriculum. The Workshop was presented by William L. Finkel of the Speech Department. The Workshop was presented by William L. Finkel of the Speech Department.

The Workshop will be held November 27, Thanksgiving night, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-third Street.

All schools of the College are participating in the event.

A semi-formal event, tickets will cost $5 per couple. Various students throughout the School will sell tickets this week. They may also be obtained in the Student Council office, room 925.

It is expected that Kenny Sheldon and Jack E. Leonard will be the entertainers featured at the prom. Sheldon, a renowned band leader, has appeared in many of the top spots throughout the nation. Last year he appeared at the Baruch School for its Easter Dance.

Jack E. Leonard, one of the most popular personalities of the present day, has appeared on such shows as Steve Allen, Ed Sullivan, Dinah Shore, and other vaudeville shows.

All-City College Prom Set for Thanksgiving

The first All-City College Prom will be held November 27, Thanksgiving night, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-third Street.

The banquet will be held November 19, Baruch Ball, Wednesday, November 5, 1958. The All-City College Prom will be held November 27, Thanksgiving night, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel at Seventh Avenue and Thirty-third Street.

The All-City College Prom will replace the Baruch Ball, which was formerly a major event at the Baruch School. The Baruch Ball was discontinued three years ago.

Mike Horowitz, president of the Uptown Student Government and Larry Schiff, president of the Baruch School Student Council, announced that they are looking forward to this unique event, and are hoping for an enthusiastic turnout.

Both Councils are sponsoring the prom. It was felt that a joint effort by both the Uptown and Downtown centers would yield greater success.
Government Professor Talks
On U.S. Constitutional System

"There is no room in our constitutional system for two kinds of citizens," said Professor Bernard D. Atkinson, a special assistant to Mayor John Lindsay, to a group of students and faculty members at City College Monday night.

"Our constitutional system, as it is conceived by the framers of the country, is nothing more than the democratic principle in political terms," he explained.

"It is not a question of whether or not we should have a democracy, but rather a question of how we should have a democracy."

Michigan Student Editor Exposes Gambling Ring

A University of Michigan student editor has exposed a "sniper" gambling ring in the athletic department of the university.

The editor, who is also a member of the Michigan football team, said he had been informed that the ring was operating at the university.

"The university is very slogan about these things," he said. "But I think it is important to publicize the fact that this kind of thing is going on at the university."

The editor also said that he had been told that the ring was being run by some of the football players.

"I have evidence that some of the football players are involved in this ring," he said. "I think it is important to bring this to the attention of the authorities."

Black Day at Baruch

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time.

We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.

The name of the Baruch School was blackened Thursday, only five Baruchians showed enough interest in the problems of our time to show up at 4:45 and hear a political candidate speak. What a drastic change from two years ago, when a thousand strong thronged into the room at the same time. We can only hope that this sad admission made upon Mr. Alger when he was greeted by the speakers of his talk—but no students to listen. We could also wish that he had not made his way up to the ninth floor and saw only 20 or 30 students, sitting among non students who formerly attended the now closed school. We have long said that political interest is at an all-time low, but even we were not prepared to see so little interest in the problem of college education.
Frosh Camp Called Success
By Lamport Leaders Society

The Frosh Camp, which was held the weekend before the start of this semester, was attended by a large number of freshmen by Lamport Leaders Society. After a very successful weekend, the leaders were ready to announce the results of questionnaires and surveys that were handed out to the participants.

Several freshmen worked at Camp Frosh, in connection with the expectations and activities of the new freshmen. An emergency call was issued by Mr. Frank Fein to all students who wished to participate in the freshmen activities.

The Frosh Camp would be held at Camp Frosh, in Connecticut, attended almost by 100 freshmen. A variety of Frosh activities was held, such as the Frosh tug-of-war and the Frosh basketball game.

Miss Peach

The deadline for applications for the "Miss Peach" contest has been extended until Friday, because of the great demand for students. It was announced by Mr. Frank Fein, director of Student Organization.

Female students from the University, who have attended the Frosh Camp, will be eligible for the contest. The deadline for applications will be extended until Friday.

The finalist will be judged on the following point system: Academic standing, 6 points personalities, and 6 points in activities and participation in student activities.

The Frosh Camp would be held at Camp Frosh, in Connecticut, attended almost by 100 freshmen. A variety of Frosh activities was held, such as the Frosh tug-of-war and the Frosh basketball game.

The Frosh Camp would be held at Camp Frosh, in Connecticut, attended almost by 100 freshmen. A variety of Frosh activities was held, such as the Frosh tug-of-war and the Frosh basketball game.

The Frosh Camp would be held at Camp Frosh, in Connecticut, attended almost by 100 freshmen. A variety of Frosh activities was held, such as the Frosh tug-of-war and the Frosh basketball game.
Beavers Down Temple, 4-1, As Minnerop Tallies Twice

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., November 1—Heinz Minnerop's two fourth period goals broke up a closely fought contest between the Beavers and the Temple Owls today, and gave the Lavender a 4-1 win.

The Beavers were forced to come from behind in gaining their sixth win of the season, against one tie.

The game's opening tally came at 6:20 of the opening period, on an assist by the Beavers' Owl high scorer Skippy Kellogg. The shot was kicked the ball into an open net.

The first quarter was evenly played, with neither squad gaining a decisive advantage. Although they had more shots on goal.

With little more than three minutes remaining in the half, outside-left Les Solney scored an unassisted, as his shot bounced out of the Temple goalie's hands and into the cage, giving the Lavender a tie at the half-time intermission.

In the second half, the Beavers dominated the game. They seemed worn down by the first half's hot pace. When only three minutes had passed, Marco Wachtler scored as his shot bounced off the side post, and into the net. His shot caused an outside leftbound of Billy Sund's, which had been deflected by the Temple goalie.

In the fourth quarter, the Beavers were constantly on offense and only some sterling defensive play by the Owl fullbacks prevented the score being higher than it was.

Both of Minnerop's fourth quarter goals were driven cleanly into the upper left hand corner of the net, out of reach of the Temple goalie.

During the period the pressure was constantly applied by Solney, Leon Manfredi, Billy Sund, Gabe Schlisser, Leon Manfredi, in an effort to run the score up.

The loss was only Temple's second of the year. They had been undefeated until Wednesday, when they lost a tight game to Bucknell.

Four Teams Win: IMB Hoop Tourney Progresses

By Bob Signer

Four teams gained victories in the Intra-Mural Board's basketball tournament quarter-finals, Thursday, in the gymnasium. The Panic Merchants paced by Charley Forman's 17 points, rode over the Homeysmen, 47-37. Larry Oringle, also with 17 points, led Saxe '61 to a 50-29 rout over the Merchants. In an effort to run the score up.

Scoring the highest team of the afternoon, the Gunners routed the Beavers, 63-21. They were headed by Buzz Osborne, who registered 10 points for his team.

Carl de Pasquilla registering the highest individual score of the day, 24 points.

Modern Dance

The IMB announced that there will be a new group of girls being formed today — A Modern Dance Club — at 3 in 613. All girls are welcome who are interested in the new field of modern dance.

Winners of the IMB bowling tournament are Herb Schwartz, Art Schoenwald, Ricky Haddad and George Fravacky. They scored the most pins in the tourney. Toby Markvitz won the girls division of the bowling tournament.

Team bowling tournaments will begin Friday, 2-4, at the Grammar Lanes, 3rd Avenue and 23rd Street.

Handball and Ping-Pong contests will be conducted Thursday by IMB. The handballers will meet in 611 while the ping-pong enthusiasts are urged to go to 614.

To be featured later on in the month will be a semi-annual "grudge" match in basketball between THE TICKER and IMB. Last term, THE TICKER romped, 72-50, with Mike Moscovich contributing 28 points for the victorious team.

If the shower room alterations are completed, the semi-annual co-ed, dip will take place. Scheduled for December 11 in the Faculty Student basketball gymnasium.

Baruch 'Five' Coach Wolfe Faced with Many Problems

George "Red" Wolf, coach of the Baruch School basketball team, has many problems. Besides the fact that Wolf is replacing Jerry Gold, he is faced with the unsolvable situation of rebuilding a whole new team. Only one member of last year's team came down to the preliminary practice sessions.

Wolf thinks that this year's team is "green, very green." Most of the students who came down to the gym for the tryouts have had no previous college experience in basketball. The coach is impressed with the way that the boys have handled themselves in the few scrimmages that they have had.

"Green"

"Even though they are green in the sense of some players they have court 'savvy' which is almost as valuable," said Wolfe.

The coach wouldn't name any

City Booters to Face Tough Brockport '11'

In what will prove to be one of the toughest games for the national soccer co-champions, the Beavers will take on Brockport State Teachers College Saturday in the gymnasium. Last year, the City '11 traveled to Brockport, New York, and came home with a 5-1 victory.

The Golden Eagles are coached by Hundy Parker, the president of the National Soccor Coaches Association and Chairman of the All-American Selection Committee.

He has led the Brockport teams since 1946 and has had a winning season every year, winning a total of 75 games during the 12 seasons.

The team this year is headed by co-captains Fred Taub and Roland Sandburg, both seniors.

Brockport lost its All-American from last year's squad, Bill Hughes, via the graduation road. However, Ray Woodward, a member of the All-New York State team, will be playing outside left in the contest.

Brockport will field a total of seven lettermen, including Frank Brinton, Barry Milner, Frank Wilhelm and the above mentioned players.

William Van Dyke, a transfer from Kenyon College, will also be on the varsity squad this year.

The Brockporters will also be bolstered by five players from last year's squad and 13 players from the JV.

Tri-run Lost By Harriers

"It looks like we'll have to win next week," said Coach Harry de-Girolamo, after the City College cross-country team lost a triple meet to Iona and Kings Point. The Beavers lost to Iona, 20-37, and to Kings Point, 27-28.

The losses bring their record on the season to 2-3. The team lost more meets this season than they did in the last four years.

In the Kings Point loss, Ralph Taylor and Phil Phillips came in first and second, respectively. Taylor's time was 22 minutes while Phillips ran the five mile course in 23:08, which tied his best ever.

On the Iona side, Phillips did all season.

The City College field was filled out by Dennis Corr, in ninth place. He finished ninth with 31:23 and Tony Kings tied a 31:36 fifth place mark.