Saxe Awaits Council Resolution On Proposed Lengthening of Day

The next move in lengthening the School day will not be officially for a while. Dean Emanuel Saxe is awaiting the exact wording of the Student Council proposal, and has petitioned the Class of '61 containing 650 names opposed to the proposal.

After he receives the proposal, the Dean will objectively study the pros and cons of the proposal.

No action will be taken for next term. The proposal must be studied at length and much of the study shall take place during next term, said Dr. Saxe. There are many methods lengthening the day that must be looked into, it can be lengthened for the entire School, or for part of the School, or for the entering freshmen.

The Faculty's views on the problem will have to be studied along with the student's views. Dean Saxe is planning to consult with other administration members and the faculty before the decision is made.

Dean Saxe has assured often, prior to the passage of the SC proposal, that a student cannot benefit fully from college if he works after school. The School day will have to be lengthened or the students should be allowed to work if they are forced to hold a full-time job, then they should attend the even- ing sessions.

With the increasing number of students in colleges during the last few years, it is necessary to study this effect this will have on the Baruch School. The increased student number and home life, is not necessary for studying work. If they are forced to hold a full-time job, then they should attend the evening sessions.

President Harold Stoke made no comment on the situation. Dean of Students Spitz requested that the editors of the magazine discontinue the sale until the Board reaches a decision. Allan Schwartz, editor of "New Poems," believes that the poet should have complete freedom of expression; he should be able to say whatever he believes.

"I have respect for Dean Spitz's request to hold back sales pending discussion of the Publications Board in regard to Miss Goldberg's and Dr. Wolfe's poems. I do not think that anything will be accomplished by the delay. I do not think that the poem is in bad taste nor is it blasphemous and a Consider it to be a matter of taste. "Bad taste is not a criterion for a poem."

English Professor Charles Walcutt has discussed the poem with Miss Goldberg. He states that it is possible to say that this poem is blasphemous for three reasons.

The subject is so ambiguous and complex as to defy exact paraphrase. The subject is so ambiguous and complex as to defy exact paraphrase.

(Continued on Page 2)

LIU Edges CCNY
In 69-68 Victory; Marcot Scores 19

By Eddie Perlman

Before a wildly cheering throng at Wingate Gym, Long Island University beat the Beavers, 69-68, in overtime, last night. This was a heartbreaker for City as they rallied in the final minutes of the second half, coming from six points behind, and they seemed assured of victory in the overtime.

The Beavers tied the score on clutch baskets by Guy Marcot, 23 22 68.

HECTOR LEWIS goes up for a rebound against an unidentified LIU player at last night's 64-64 overtime victory at Wingate Gym.

(The next day's)
The Ticker

QC Ban...

(Continued from Page 1)

No, the only thing that troubled me was that that’s...—No. If you think there is... or... that isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, that isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to... in your estimate, this isn’t good enough, to...
The Psychological Significance of the Welfare State

By Irwin Felker '39

"It is much easier to have resources..."
By Professor Bernard H. Bamberger

Constitutional systems in Anglo-Saxon nations are characterized by a common concern for the rule of law. This principle is embodied in the concept of constitutional government, whereby the Constitution is regarded as the supreme law of the land, binding upon all public officials and citizens. The Constitution is thus the source of all governmental authority, and it is held to be superior to any other law. The Constitution is also the repository of the fundamental rights and liberties of the people, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to petition the government for a redress of grievances. This right is secured by the Due Process Clause of the Constitution, which prevents any act of government that deprives any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law. The Constitution also guarantees the right of the people to participate in the political process, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to freedom of speech, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to freedom of religion, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to bear arms, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to habeas corpus, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to due process of law, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to equal protection of the laws, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to privacy, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to freedom of the press, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to freedom of assembly, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to freedom of association, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to petition the government for a redress of grievances, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to vote, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to a speedy and public trial, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to a fair trial, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to a fair trial, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to a fair trial, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to a fair trial, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.

The Constitution is also the source of the right to a fair trial, and it is held to be the basis of all governmental action.
Curiosity and Literature

By Professor William Turner Levy

I do not recall when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.

The desire to know more than I do not remember when I first sought books deliberately for the purpose of acquiring facts, but I do recall when I first sought them deliberately to satisfy a curiosity. In the early days, curiosity was most often satisfied by means of stories. Then it was the sensation of the unknown. Then it was the sensation of the possible. Then it was the sensation of the surprising. Then it was the sensation of the pleasurable. Then it was the sensation of the dangerous. Then it was the sensation of the beautiful. Then it was the sensation of the sublime.
Ethics and Business Decisions

By Professor Henry Elblit

Concern with the ethical aspects of business activity has been mounting steadily in recent years. The social and legal mandate is not only to demonstrate the moral soundness of behavior. It is also to be concerned with the ethical doctrines and the implications of political, social, and religious values that are reflected in the ethical behavior of business.

One of the most recent cases of a moral dilemma is the decision of a government official to sell certain property at a price that would result in a substantial profit for himself. The official has been accused of unethical behavior, even if we cannot always agree that the profit was obtained at the expense of others. But we can all see that the action was not only unethical but also irrational, for it would have resulted in a loss to the government.

In our time, too, more people display a marked interest in the conduct of business. Today, there is a greater awareness of the ethical implications of business behavior, even though there is no simple easy release from our involvement. Unfortunately, ethical and religious principles are not always in consonance with each other. It is not easy to determine whether a given action is right or wrong, for there are so many factors to consider. Even if we can agree that the decision was unethical, we may still question whether it was the best course of action to follow.

The ethical dilemmas are not always so clear-cut. For example, a company may have to decide whether to continue making a product that is no longer profitable or to discontinue it. This decision is not always easy, for it involves consideration of the effects on employees, customers, and the company itself.

The problem is complex, and the decision must be made on the basis of a careful analysis of all the factors involved. In some cases, the decision may be easy, but in others, it may be difficult. In any case, it is important to consider the ethical implications of the decision before making it.
Hoopsters to Play Powerful Dickinson

A strong Fairleigh Dickinson team will invade Wingate Gymnasium, Saturday night, in an attempt to drop a lowly starting City College basketball team. Game time is 8:30.

Last year City suffered a 68-50 defeat at the hands of the Jerseyites. Two of the Dickin" men, Charlie Potratz, who scored 25 points against the Beavers last season, will be back in there to spark Dickinson.

In its last outing, January 4, Fairleigh Dickinson took an easy 73-62 victory over Pratt.

Fairleigh Dickinson, which scored previous victories over Wagner and Adelphi also, has a strong squad and will be a tough opponent for City.

Led by brawny six-footers, Fairleigh Dickinson has proved to be one of the top teams in the Tri-State League. CCNY will enter the League next season and will be one of Dickinson's early scheduled opponents in the '59-'60 campaign.

Champions

The Beavers, Municipal League champions for the past three seasons, have not been riding on top thus far this year. Although City registered victories over Hunter, and Queens, Brooklyn College, which tripped the Beavers, 65-55, is still holding the pack.

Thus far, City has lost to Columbia, Lehigh, and Adelphi, while registering wins over Hunter and Queens.

Lewix

City's offense will be led by Hector Lewis. The 6-5 center, who is the leading scorer and rebounder on the team, will be backed by Marty Groveman, the sharp-shooting Baruchian who was an outside jump and set shots.

Julio Delatorre, Sheiley Bender and Gary Marcus will round out the CCNY staff.

Matmen Victorious Twice; Foolsmen Drop Two Meets

Coach Joe Sapor's wrestlers are riding on the crest of a 2-1 record by virtue of victories over Temple and Brooklyn Poly. Their only loss was to the Long Island Argies. The matmen crushed Brooklyn Poly, 32-8. The entire lineup, except for Myron-Wollin, scored wins.

Ronald Alter took the 130-pound decision; Ronald Riee won in the 157-pound class; 147-pounder Jack Towner took his match and Full Rodman took the 175-pound decision; George Chudzinski won in the 167-pound category; Jerry Langen won 4-0 against Dick Gittlemen both took their respective matches.

In the 24-10 win over Temple, Alter, Lewis, Riee, Rose, Rodman, Lew­ 108 East 23rd St., N. Y. Open till 12 P.M.

WESTLEY MENS SHOP

10 WEST 23 St., N. Y. C. * Near 5th Ave.

THE COLLEGE MAN'S STYLIST -

Featuring Strictly IVY and CONTINENTAL Fashions in

- Sport Coats & Slacks
- Underwear
- Sweaters
- Shirts & Neckwear
- Sport & Leisure Accessories

At DISCOUNTED Prices

ATTENTION: C.C.N.Y. Students Only —

Present Your Bursar Card to us and Get a 10% Discount

Off Our Already Discounted Prices at Any Time

ALADIN COFFEE SHOP

(NEXT DOOR TO CCNY)

Welcomes

All City College Students