Faculty Delays ‘Lists’ Reconsideration; Baruch Interpretation Requires Rosters

A motion to reconsider the recently adopted General Faculty membership lists plan failed Thursday, because of a lack of a quorum. There were only 60 faculty members present at the meeting; 70 are needed for a quorum.

At the same time, President Buell G. Gallagher announced that a special faculty meeting would be held in 220, which was held in 220, and that the meeting, which had been adjourned for a quorum was made after a division of the hour produced a tie vote, 30-30, on the question of reconsideration. The meeting, which was held in 220, was then adjourned.

During debate on reconsideration, a faculty member raised the question of whether a motion to reconsider required a majority or a two-thirds vote. Dr. Gallagher ruled that two-thirds was necessary.

(However, according to page 2 of the Baruch School of Administration—City College of New York Vol. XII—No. 22 Tuesday, March 3, 1959 By Subscription Only, a reconsideration requires only a majority vote.) The General Faculty meetings are run under Roberts Rules.)

Ramsey Scores 34: Groveman Tally 22

By Bob Signer

Cal Ramsey and Tony Sanders led New York University to a 80-66 victory over the Beavers at the Fordham gym last night.

Ramsey, at his amazing best, scored 34 points, 21 of which came in the fifth half. Sanders, who played little in the first half, scored the Violets’ first 11 points in the second half.

He wound up with 17 points for the game.

The leading scorer for City was Marty Groveman, who scored 22 points. Joel Archer had 10, while Julio Delatorre and little Guy Marcot had 10 each.

At first, the game was close, with both teams playing sloppily. With 13 minutes left in the half, the score was 9-8, with the National Invitation Tournament bound Violets in the lead.

At this point, Ramsey took charge, and the Heightsmen ran to a 21-fast lead. The Violets were unable to close, they were never in very close, they were never in very close, they were never in very close.

The Lavender never came closer than 10 points during the second half, although they did manage to cut a 17 point lead to 19. At this point, however, little Russ Cunningham stole the ball and tailed on a three-point play.

The Violets, who had been progressing rapidly since their very dismal early season play, came into the game heavy favorites. Although the score was fairly close, they were never in very much danger from about the middle.
Department Chooses Martin as Law Head

Supreme Law II

Earlier this year, we recommended President Robert Strausman for his interpretation of the role of the student government in academic life. We evaluated him on the basis of his dedication to the development of a student-oriented administration. Strausman's actions have been directed towards enhancing the autonomy of student organizations.

As a result, we find Strausman's interpretation of the role of the student government in academic life to be a positive development. We believe that the student government should have a significant role in the governance of the college, and that Strausman's actions have been in line with this belief.

In conclusion, we recommend President Strausman for his interpretation of the role of the student government in academic life. We believe that his actions have been directed towards enhancing the autonomy of student organizations, and that this is a positive development.

The TICKER
Across The Nation

The Northwestern University chapter of the American Association of University Professors praised the proposal to establish the Joint Committee on the National Student Association. "The AAPF voted to ask the University Administration to establish a national student association with representatives of each University and with the same rights as those of the current student association. This is an opportunity to strengthen the unity of students across the country."

Conferences are, probably, by far the most worthwhile aspect of the Student Congress. The American Association of University Professors has established a Joint Committee on the National Student Association, which has received so much public support. The proposal for the University of Texas to drop its membership in the NSA has been met with widespread disapproval. The Baruch School Alumni Association has announced that it will not continue its membership in the NSA. Probably the greatest source of players "will be the President's Committee."

Groveman Scores 25 in Vain As Redmen Trample Beavers

By Ira Turner

Paced by Al Seiden and Tony Jackson, who both scored 19 points, the Redmen from St. John's defeated the City College Beavers Saturday in the Martin Van Buren Gym, 82-64.

With Hector Lewis out because of a bad ankle, the City five were in need of a "big" man. St. John's Tony Jackson and Lou Glazer had very little competition under the boards, and grabbed a large majority of the rebounds.

At the half, high man for the City was 'Marty' Groveman with 15 points. Behind him was Julio Delorter with 8 points. Top scorer for the Redmen were Al Seiden with 11 points and Tony Jackson with 10 points.

St. John's drew first blood and quickly ran up a lead of 6-0. They did not lose their lead through the entire game. The score at the half was 43-31.

The only shining light for the Matmen Beat Violets, But Fencers Topped

By Alvin Rovkin

Over the week end, two CCNY teams met New York University — the wrestling team won, 19-9, while the fencing team lost, 18-9.

During the wrestling meet, most of the action occurred in the second period. The Redmen played especially well in the opening minutes of the second half, a point that contributed to the victory.

The fencing team, on the other hand, played as a unit. They had a consistent ballplayer, even though they were in need of a "big" man.

The event was split into three categories — foil, saber, and epee. The Violites won the foil and saber events, 7-2 while CCNY took the epee, 5-3.

On March 13 and 14, City will field a team in the annual International Fencing Association tourney.

Marty Groveman: Student Opposes Former Teacher

Saturdays, CCNY's Marty Groveman met the man who helped him to increase his average from nine points per game in the 1957-58 season, to 17 points this season. The man was Tony Jackson, St. John's sophomore sensation.

Jackson, along with Harvey Salz, who is now starring for Frank McGuire's North Carolina quintet, had Groveman in mind when selecting his team for this year.

Last season, 6-0 Groveman, used to drive only to his left side. Opposing coaches were able to stop this weakness of Groveman, but this year he and Groveman learned to drive to his right.

Last season, Groveman, 6-0, was a consistent ballplayer, even though he has suffered many injuries against Hunter and Manhattan.

Groveman acquired many basketball experiences, being a Brownsville Boys' Club player. He scored 41 points in one game and was playing against a Negro All-Stars team. He also starred for Tilden School, majoring in psychology. He has been Nat Holman's most consistent ballplayer, even though he has suffered many injuries.
