Uptown Referendum Called "Valueless' By Gallagher

A student referendum at Uptown City to have the College withdraw from the federal aid program was labeled "valueless" by President Buell G. Gallagher, Tuesday.

The referendum asks withdrawal from the 1968 National Defense Education Act until the loyalty oath and disclaimer affidavits sections of the Act are removed.

President Buell G. Gallagher

Dr. Gallagher said the wording of the loyalty oath and disclaimer affidavit in one referendum was "confusing to the student." "For this reason," the President continued, "I believe the referendum is valueless and I will disregard it.

President Gallagher emphasized that the College's participation in the federal program is "under control." He reiterated that "I do not regard it as wise for large numbers of college students to withdraw from the federal program. Congress may feel the money is not needed and will abandon the program.

When asked whether the loyalty oath section should be repealed, Dr. Gallagher relayed: "An oath of allegiance is no more unnecessary than telling your wife that you love her.

Dr. Gallagher added that if the College withdraws from the program in protest of the positive loyalty oath, it would result in misinterpretation of the character of the student body.

Two Faculty Members To Discuss Free Will

Mr. Irving Drymen
Professor Michael Wyschogrod

Mr. Irving Drymen, a professor of Psychology Department, will discuss "Is There Free Will?" tomorrow at 12:30 in Langford A-12.

Professor Wyschogrod recently took part in a series of lectures sponsored by the Hillel Foundation. Speaking on the topic of Religion Necessary for the Ethical Life, he presented the materialistic point of view.

The President also questioned whether the loyalty oath has a right to impose on him. If it does, then an individual is in need of aid. The President added that "I do not regard it as wise for large numbers of college students to withdraw from the federal program, Congress may feel the money is not needed and will abandon the program.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my concern regarding the recent elections at our college. I believe that the results of the election were not accurately reflected in the voting process.

In my opinion, the election was marred by a number of procedural errors. For instance, the ballots were not properly distributed to all eligible voters, and there were instances of voters being denied the opportunity to cast their ballots due to technical issues.

Furthermore, I believe that the election results were skewed by a number of tactical maneuvers on the part of certain candidates. These tactics included the use of misleading campaign materials and the manipulation of voter information.

I urge the administration to take these concerns seriously and to ensure that future elections are conducted in a fair and transparent manner.

Sincerely,

Beavers Face Wagner: Team Seeks First Win

By Lou Lipsett

City College's Beavers will play host to the Seahawks of Wagner College Monday night. Wagner is coached by former City College Coach Sam Almy.

Last year Wagner's record was 11-11, which included a 77-58 thrashing of City. This will be the seventh meeting of the two clubs since the rivalry started the 1944-1945 season. Wagner has won five of the seven.

Coach Sutter is very optimistic about his club, which closed the 1958-1959 season with a seven-game winning streak in the Big East. He will have an experienced club, as the starting lineup will consist of five seniors. He will also have the benefit of the JV team which won 15 of 21 games.

Starting at center will be co-captain Fred Blackwell (441), a 6-4, 200-pounder, and a brilliant dribbler. He is the team's top scorer with 17 points per game and 11.5 rebounds for last year's Seahawk team.

The other co-captain is Milford Fierce, Fierce, a Boys High graduate, though only 5-10, is a fine defensive player and a deadly rebounder for last year's Seahawk team.

Listed at 5-10, 150-pound Wendelksen is the team's shortest player. He averaged 10 points per game and 6.5 rebounds for last year's team. The team's starting lineup will consist of five seniors.

The only junior who will play on the team is Steve Lard, who averaged 10 points per game last year. Lard, a transfer student, is expected to contribute to the team's success.

The team's top scorer during Wagner's drive to the NIT championship team of 1958 was Wendelksen. Wendelksen was the team's leading scorer during Wagner's drive to the NIT championship team of 1958.
