Supreme Court Vetoes Investigation by SCAD At Municipal Colleges

The Supreme Court of New York State has denied the State Commission Against Discrimination the right to investigate accusations of discrimination in institutions under the jurisdiction of the Board of Higher Education.

When hearing of the court decision, Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, chairman of the B.H.E., stated: "We are gratified to see that the position taken by the B.H.E. with respect to its responsibilities has once more been sustained by the court."

The powers of the commission, known as S.C.A.D., were first challenged in September by the B.H.E. when the former organization made a charge of discrimination against Roman Catholic teachers at Queens College.

Dr. Robert W. Stowe, president of Queens College, denied the allegation stating that "Queens College has not engaged in the past, nor will it engage in the future, in any activity in which anti-Catholic discrimination is involved."

Justice Arthur M. Markiewicz, when announcing the decision of the court said that "S.C.A.D. was a logical outgrowth of the commission and that while the commission has had no power to conduct surveys and make reports, no sanction is given for it to do so by the powers of the state that has established it."

The judge added that "the board has established a right to have the commission stopped from further investigations and to have been sustained in the past by the courts.

The B.H.E. has continuously charged that the commission's investigation at Queens College would seriously prejudice, hamper and hinder the Board of Higher Education in its administration and control of the municipal colleges.

The board's petition to the court in September stated that after an anonymous charge of discrimination against Catholics had been made at Queens College in the same month, a subcommittee was appointed to investigate the charges. Dr. Porter R. Chandler, former president of the Guild of Catholic Lawyers, was chairman of the subcommittee.

On March 29, 1959, the board noted that after sixteen meetings and testimony by twenty-nine witnesses, the commission had found "no pattern of religious discrimination against any person who entered the service for the purpose of serving in overseas projects." The B.H.E.'s petition was based on Section 28 of Article 35 of the New York Constitution, which reads: "The term employer does not include a club exclusively social or a fraternal, charitable, educational or religious corporation that is not organized for private profit."

Dr. Rosenberg, who signed the Board's statement, said: "The board, therefore, that the commission's investigation interfered with the law that "vests in the board the governance of all the educational units under its jurisdiction."

President John F. Kennedy: Peace Corps Creation Ordered

By Ellen Cahin

President John F. Kennedy has issued an executive order creating a Peace Corps of underdeveloped American men and women workers. These people will assist underdeveloped nations in a program that will train them to teach elementary and secondary school students in the United States. The State Department will be in charge of the program and its special projects will be handled by the Peace Corps. The Peace Corps program will be under the direction of Dr. Robert A. Derfler, president of Queens College, who will be in charge of the program.

Dr. Derfler was in charge of the program at Queens College until March 1959, when he was appointed president of Queens College. His appointment was made by the State Board of Education. The Peace Corps program will be under the direction of Dr. Robert A. Derfler, president of Queens College, who will be in charge of the program.

A Welcome Decision

A major step in the fight for preservation of the Theatron was taken when the Supreme Court denied the State Commission Against Discrimination's request for an order of noninterference.

The decision came in response to the commission's attempt to close the Theatron, a group of radical young people who have been fighting for the right of students to express their own ideas.

The court ruled that the state commission had acted too hastily in its attempt to suppress the Theatron, and that there was no evidence that the group was engaged in any illegal activity.

The decision was hailed by the Theatron as a victory for freedom of expression and for the rights of students to organize and express their own views.

The court also ruled that the state commission did not have the authority to close the Theatron without a full hearing, and that the commission had not considered any evidence that the group had engaged in any unlawful activity.

The decision was welcomed by students and faculty members at Columbia University, who have been fighting for the right of students to organize and express their own views.

The court's decision was seen as a major victory for the rights of students and for the principles of democracy and free speech.

The Theatron is a group of radical young people who have been fighting for the right of students to express their own ideas.

The group was founded in 1962 by a group of students who were dissatisfied with the administration's attempts to suppress student organizations.

The Theatron has been involved in a number of protests and demonstrations over the years, and has been arrested and charged with a variety of offenses.

Polanskymen Finish Season With Defeat by St. Francis

By Lew Lipset

A valiant City College comeback fell short Tuesday night as the Beavers closed their season with a heartbreaking defeat to St. Francis. The Terriers won their tenth in nineteen starts.

The Beavers started fast, led by Irwin Cohen, Shelly Bender and Howie Wilkov moving City to a 2-1 lead. On Lynn Dreyer's shotgun, led by 6-3 Richie Dreyer and 6-2 Jim Raftery, gradually came back and moved ahead to a 15-point lead.

Beaver Coach Dave Polansky in the drive.

As the second half began, St. Francis reeled off seven straight points for a 46-31 lead with only 16 minutes remaining.

Beaver captain Bender was playing his final game for City and his nine points led.

Four minutes later, the Beavers were hurt by the loss of Bender, who had scored all 16 points in the first half. The Beavers center left the court as City.rooters gave him a thunderous rending ovation.

The Terriers regained the lead on John Jester's long one-hand shot and City promptly called time out to decide its strategy.

The Beavers worked the ball to Tor Nilsen, only to have their hopes dashed away with Dave Lopez's key block into the hands of Dreyer.

Cohen, with 22 points, led all scorers. This represented Irwin's highest point total of his career. Bender, with 11, and Sidat, with 8 followed in the scoring.

Lucians Lose to NYU, 17-10

By Lenny Furman

C.C.N.Y. ended its dual-meeting season for the year by bowing to New York University 17-10 Saturday at the Beavers' Wingate Gymnasium.

The victory enabled the Kelly-against seven victories. The Terriers won their tenth in nineteen starts.

The team is looking forward to the upcoming Metropolitan Championships held Saturday at Montclair, New Jersey.

The Beavers tallied 47 points, five ahead of New York University and just seven behind Kings Point and Montclair State Teachers College. The matmen of C.W. Post College roomed over the nine-team field to cop the crown with 50 points.

Former Baruchian Dave Borah, who had sparked all season long, salvaged the lone first place for Coach Joe Sapora's grapplers. Dave decided his C.W. Post counterpart under the 153-pound class to win the event. Borah, who previously managed an opponent to reach the finals.

Three second places were awarded to the Lavender: Charlie Rodman, in the 157-pound class; Phil Rodman, Charlie's brother, in the 174-pound class and Al Leiteecker in the 177-pound class.

Senior Gerry Kaplan took third place in the 155-pound.

This meet ended the season for the Beavers this season. They will better this year's performances.

Three wins were scored over Brooklyn College (20-9), Rutgers (28-7) and St. Francis (15-8) and Harvard (14-13) and Harvard (17-10). All of these teams were defeated by City last year by more decisive scores. Their losses were to University of Pennsylvania, Yale University, Princeton University, United States Naval Academy, Columbia University and New York University.

In last year's final meet, City ripped Brooklyn College 25-4. The Beavers total in that event won the nightest the team had run up in several years. Exonite to this was a complete reversal of last year's finish in this meet but, with this year's dual meet record as an indicator, they will have a tough struggle to repeat that finish.

Coach Ed Lucia is given a good chance to qualify.

The loss to New York University marked the Beavers' sixth loss of the campaign to go along with their three victories. This record is a complete reversal of last year's fine record of six wins and three losses. With this year's dual meet record as an indicator, they will have a tough struggle to repeat that finish.

Coach Ed Lucia considered this match a moral victory as N.Y.U. is rated as one of the best teams in college circles. In the upcoming I.P.A. Championships in New York, the Beavers who were only three of nine dual events. The victorities were only against Brooklyn Poly, Fairleigh Dickinson and N.Y.U.

Earlier in the year, Coach Sapora stated that his squad would do well in the Metropolitan Championships because many of the Beaver losses could be attributed to decisions, not pinnings.

City's fine showing upheld the optimism of Sapora, who has been coaching the team for twenty-eight years.

Sapora's best known pupil is probably Larry Schwartz, who after graduation from the College won the 1961 Olympic wrestling title. Sapora also grew two A.A.U. titles.

Jacob Twerisky, a blind student under the tutelage of Sapora was able to win the Metropolitan Senior A.A.U. title in 1942 and went to the N.C.A.A. finals.
