Lane Denounces Bill For Fallout Shelters

Assemblyman Mark Lane of Manhattan called the fallout shelter bill passed by the last session of the New York State legislature the most fraudulent piece of legislation he has ever seen. He spoke on the fallout shelter controversy at a lecture sponsored by the Speakers Bureau of Student Council Thursday, December 21.

Lane revealed that the Administrative Council is now determining whether fallout shelters should be constructed at the city's schools. Under the provisions of the present bill, each school must raise $200,000 of the cost of the shelters. Assemblyman Lane called this a waste of funds which are needed for education.

He strongly denounced the shelter bill and Speaker of the Assembly for the fifth and sixth session. He accused them of ramming the bill through the legislature. "You had no hearings. You had not, in fact, a single scientist was consulted charged Assemblyman Lane.

The legislator recently made headlines when he accused Speaker Carlino of a conflict of interest. It was pointed out that Carlino was on the board of directors of a fallout shelter firm shortly before he led the fight for the passage of the fallout shelter bill. Assemblyman Lane declared that there were specific provisions in the bill which would directly benefit the company with which Carlino was associated.

By Mark Grant

Tim Zagat, program vice president of the National Student Association, told Student Council Thursday, December 21, that NSA has organized which consists of communicating with the various campuses in interest than politics. He spoke at a special meeting of Council.

"NSA is not as effective as it interest is being considered by the the conflict of interest which is the Board of Education. But we firmly believe that this responsibility which was given away belongs to the people of the City of New York. We, as students, have the highest regard for the wisdom of the Board of Education to abandon free tuition, by cutting or withholding state funds."

The discussion which granted the B.H.E. discretionary power to impose tuition was not sought by the board itself but scored by the Alumni Association.

Lance stated, "We have the highest regard for the wisdom and the leadership shown by the men

City Takes Knights, 78-70; Good Shooting Key Factor

By Lew Lipsit

For the second consecutive game, the City cagers put on a dazzling shooting exhibition to overcome a one point halftime deficit on their way to victory. This time the hoopers defeated Queens, 78-70, at the latter’s Fitzgerald gym.

The Beavers won their fourth game in five starts, and have now won fourteen of fifteen games from the Knights.

The Lavender were led in the second half by the shooting of juniors Don Sidat and Jerry Greenberg. This pair consistently hit long jump shots as City rocketed to a thirteen point lead, which they never relinquished.

Jeff Maloney and backcourtman Charlie Hennekens moved to a 20-15 back to regain the lead at the half, 36-37, they were showing signs of tiring since they were playing a pressing-zone defense.

While Maloney hit thirty-two points, only Hennekens could accompany him in double figures, with thirteen. The Beaver offense was almost in perfect scoring balance as Tom Nilsen led with seventeen, Greenberg and Sidat tallied fifteen each, while co-captains Irwin Cohen and Mike Winston chimed in with fourteen and twelve, respectively.

The Beavers proved that their lack of height could be compensated for by their seemingly invincible shooting. Nilsen, Sidat and Greenberg have shown the ability to score consistently from the outside, Cohen, who usually guards the opposition’s high scorer, has been hitting clutch shots late in the game, and Winston has proved to be one of the finest playmakers in the Tri-State League.

The red-hot City hoopers aim for their fifth win against Northeastern Saturday at Wingate Gym, Uptown. Preceding this contest the College’s freshmen and junior varsity meet in an intra-school contest. The opener starts at 6; the varsity plays at 8.

The Beavers are out to average last year’s 74-63 loss to the Huskies from Eastern. This is the fourth time the teams have met since the 1922-23 season. C.C.N.Y. holds a 3-1 edge in the series.

Both the freshmen and the j.v. lack height. On the freshman team the tallest man is Vello Arting at 6-4, while on the j.v. Zech Dykman is an inch shorter.
