SC Approves $1,000 Fee Increase; Mandatory Free Tuition to be Upheld

Student Council, having nothing better to do at its Free Tuition meeting, decided to vote on the student activity fee. However, the Council did not favor any increase, but ultimately the student body wanted free tuition. The motion was carried, 1-0-2.

President Cool Buell and the Board of High Education. If anyone of your aforementioned vetoes the increase, Council has threatened violence, and even worse; picketing. Therein lies the rub.

Neil Caramba, chief emissary of Council, was the only individual to vote against the fee increase. Smiling very naively, he argued that the extra money could be used to good advantage. When questioned about two tickets to Europe that he had in his pocket, Caramba answered, "Europe is, Baruch School, no! No one understands, but what can you expect?"

Paul Pushup, president of the group, also spoke in favor of the fee increase motion. Being a coward, however, he abstained on the final vote. He stated, "I really don't care. I'm graduating soon. Ha, Ha."

Babbling Brooks, editor-in-chief of this great paper, babbled as to why this great paper needed additional sums. He stated, "If TICKER is to ever be able to print ninety-six page issues daily, more money is needed."

Dr. Red Palestine Out; Hot Dog Bunch Suspect

Dr. Red Palestine, hysterical attaché of the Nathan's Fan Club, has resigned from that organization in a blaze of controversy. He has accused the hot dog organization of being subversive and informed the F.B.I. about it.

Jerome Brothstein, so-called Founder of the group, has retaliated and called Dr. Palestine a nasty vegetarian, who just likes to doodle in coloring books.

Brothstein also alleged that Dr. Palestine was making the accusations out of jealousy. "Wanting to be the Founder and having to settle for the hysterical attaché post was too much a shock for him. He is just a nasty, meany, little boy, trying to desecrate the name of Nathan's," he declared.

When informed of Brothstein's remarks by a reporter of this great paper, Dr. Palestine thought for a moment and then came out with a very astute statement: "Sticks and stones can break my bones, but names shall never harm me."

When queried as to how he arrived at his accusation, Dr. Palestine cried, "Many of the subversive activities, including the nasty Founder, are in my class. I was, suspicious from the beginning. When they形势 men sat on the left side of the room. Then sabotage began. One boy ate the apple that had been placed on my table by a good student. Chairs were shuffled in the room, with my desk placed in the middle in order to prevent me from escaping," added the Doc. J. Edgar Hooligan, head of the F.B.I., said he could find nothing subversive about the organization. At the same time that he made the statement he was eating a frankfurter man sat on the left side of the room. Then sabotage began. One boy ate the apple that had been placed on my table by a good student. Chairs were shuffled in the room, with my desk placed in the middle in order to prevent me from escaping," added the Doc. J. Edgar Hooligan, head of the F.B.I., said he could find nothing subversive about the organization.
Higher Learning?

The Ticker "The Ticker" is a weekly newspaper of the Baruch School of the City College of New York. It was founded in 1918 by Major Alan B. Kenyon, a United States Navy officer, and is the oldest continuously published college newspaper in the United States. The newspaper serves as a forum for student expression and covers a wide range of topics, from campus events to national and international news.

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor of THE TICKER:

Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing to express my concern about the increasing levels of drinking among students at the Baruch School. As editor-in-chief of THE TICKER, I feel it is my responsibility to address this issue and encourage students to make healthier choices.

There have been several reports of students engaging in drinking activities that may be detrimental to their health and well-being. These reports have been confirmed by university staff and health professionals. It is important for students to understand the negative consequences of excessive drinking, such as impaired judgment, reduced academic performance, and potential legal issues.

I urge all students to consider the impact of their actions on themselves and others. It is crucial for us to promote a culture of responsible drinking and to create a safe and welcoming environment for all students.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Editor-in-Chief, THE TICKER

Mock Council Drinks to Bar

The Mock Council of the Baruch School had a meeting in the Student Union Building to drink at the Baruch School. It was a lively discussion, with many students expressing their views on various issues.

Letters to the Editor

Why Not?

Why not? Why not, I ask myself. Why not write an editorial about the many great things the Baruch School has to offer? Why not celebrate the achievements of our students and faculty?

Letters to the Editor

Why Join the Orientation?

The orientation is an important event for incoming students. It provides an opportunity to meet faculty, staff, and fellow students, and to learn about the resources available at the Baruch School.

Letters to the Editor

How to Lose Weight Without Really Trying

There are many ways to lose weight, but some methods are more effective than others. In this article, I will discuss some simple tips that can help you achieve your weight loss goals.

Letters to the Editor

Why Do Students Drink?

There are many reasons why students drink, and it is important for us to understand these motivations in order to develop effective intervention strategies. In this article, I will explore some of the factors that contribute to student drinking.

Letters to the Editor

Regrettable

When I write articles, I try to choose topics that are relevant to the Baruch School community. However, there are times when I make mistakes and write about things that are not appropriate or informative.

Letters to the Editor

Crying Shame

The Baruch School has a long and storied history, and I am proud to be a part of this tradition. However, there are certain events and decisions that bring shame upon our institution.

Letters to the Editor

Guess What

It is a mystery to me! It happened! No, it didn't. It's a mystery, but I am sure it didn't happen. I'll let you know when I do find out.
Annual Survey Makes City Heavy Favorite Over State

By Leo Settipani

The Ticker staff, for the second consecutive year, has proven in its annual survey that City College's basketball team is superior to the Ohio State's first-rated Buckeyes.

The true relationship between the teams can be illustrated by that infallible method of deductive reasoning—comparative scores. It should be remembered that City annihilated Fordham by one point, Manhattan by one point, and Villanova by a mere two points.

The game, on the other hand, between Villanova and the Buckeyes was a close one. The Buckeyes were favored by two points, but City College won by one point.

The preceding should show why the Buckeyes are considered to be the inferior team. When and if this game is played, THE TICKER will not be responsible for any losses incurred by students on bets.

The Great Ones in Action

Mucos and John Haschick, two of the Buckeyes' top scorers, were held in check by the City College defense.

The reception took place in the new White House which was packed by the whole American University. The reception was a great success and the Buckeyes were given a grand welcome.

Girls Wanted:
To Cover Indoor Sports
No Experience Necessary.
We'll Teach You.

Let us know if you are interested in covering indoor sports and we will send you the necessary equipment and instructions.

Girls Wanted:
To Cover Indoor Sports
No Experience Necessary.
We'll Teach You.

The Great Ones in Action

Mucos and John Haschick, two of the Buckeyes' top scorers, were held in check by the City College defense.

THE TICKER was published on March 29, 1960.