Labor Union Power
Topic for Discussion
By City Professors

"Do Unions Exert a Monopoly Effect?" will be the topic for a discussion today by Professors Samuel Randh and Maurice Benewitz. They will speak at 12:15 in H-102 before the Society for Advancement of Management.

Both are arbitrators in labor disputes and are acquainted with the practical aspects of the problem.

Professor Benewitz was graduated from Harvard University and earned his Ph.D. in economics at the University of Minnesota.

Professor Randh is a City College graduate. He did his graduate work at N.Y.U. and has both a Ph.D. and a J.D. The American Arbitrators Association has recently elected him a member. Dr. Randh is a professor of management at the College and his teaching includes a course in personnel management and labor-management relations.

All management personnel and economics majors have been invited to attend. This will be the S.A.M.’s last discussion of the year.

Silverman, Nirenberg In House Plan Vote

Al Silverman ’63, incumbent president of House Plans, held the same position in the House next semester. He defeated Feldman ’63, 59 votes to 69 votes. In the House elections, Friedman ’63, 116 votes, and Nirenberg ’63, 116 votes, were defeated with 73 and 74 votes, respectively.

In the Class of ’65, Robert Barash ’64 defeated Harry Epstein ’63 with 11 votes for president, 15 votes for vice president, 12 votes for treasurer and 12 votes for secretary.

In the member-at-large election, Stuart Schiff defeated Martin Friedman ’66 with 97 votes for president, 110 votes for vice president, 109 votes for treasurer and 108 votes for secretary.

Al Silverman was re-elected president, 111 votes, corresponding secretary, 116 votes, and treasurer, 119 votes. Mark Stern received 16 votes and 3 against.

Bob Brooks with 17 affirmative and 2 negative votes and Michael Lewis with 14 “yes” votes and 4 “no” votes were elected Student Council representatives from the Class of ’66.

Silverman is presently Council treasurer, polling 150, “yes” votes and 4 “no” votes. This term Flieisch was treasurer, chairman of the Central House Plan Committee, and representative on the Student Council.

Flieisch is the single vote for the post of House Plans representative. He is presently scribe of Central House Plan and chairman of the Housewide Committee.

Bob Brooks ’63 and Neil Palomba ’64 will serve as next semester’s Student Council president and vice president, respectively. They were elected yesterday in uncontested races.

Brooks received 440 “yes” votes and 62 “no” votes, while Palomba garnered 150 “yes” votes and 57 “no” votes. Brooks is currently editor-in-chief of THE TICKER. He has served as a senior editor and reporter for the Society for Advancement of Management. He is a member of the Student Council and has served as its corresponding secretary.

Mark Grant ’64, garnering 440 “yes” and 57 “no” votes, was elected next semester’s corresponding secretary. Grant has served two semesters as a representative on the Council.
Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Nostalgia, Anyone?

By Bob Singer

I never did make the Brooklyn Dodgers so much as a run for the Majors. I can only recall one of their games that I actually watched on the face of a man who has been a Dodger fan for some time.

Among the players whose names Bob Sanders, Jimmie Foxx, or our own Carl Hubbell might recall is Rube Walker, who was a member of the Dodgers for a number of years. The fourth player is someone who is still in the game today, and that is the Dodger's manager, Walter Alston.

Our thanks to Bob Singer for his contribution to this week's edition of The Ticker.

Sincerely,

The Ticker Editorial Board
Will History Repeat Itself?
City Hopes So in-NYU Tilt

Will history repeat itself? The C.C.N.Y. baseball team hopes so. Two years ago, in the throes of a fifteen-game losing streak the team defeated New York University. This season the Beavers have dropped thirteen successive contests and are today host to the Violets at Macombs Dam Park.

The fifteen-game winning streak was the longest ever accumulated by City. A win would also help the Beavers to pass Manhattan in the Metropolitan Conference standings and move out of the cellar. However, the Violets tend to load the bases quickly and move out of the cellar, creating a tough job for the Beavers.

Frosh Nine to Meet Rams; Piersall Sees Jaspers Win

NYU, in sixth place in the league with a 4-7 mark, will probably pitch Butch Shuster, who defeated the Beavers earlier this season. Shuster, a senior, formerly played baseball and basketball for Midwood High School.

City Coach Frank Seeley will probably use his southpaw curveball, Howie Friedman, who has won one game in the league.

Another choice might be sophomore Mike Greenman, who absorbed the loss to N.Y.U. Greenman, despite his 0-4 record, has pitched well for the Beavers. In the last five games, Greenman has given up 15 runs in 24 innings, but he has permitted only 21 hits.

Two of his losses were incurred at the hands of St. John's and Fordham, each by one run. Following this game, C.C.N.Y. meet Wagner in a league doubleheader at Macombs Dam on Monday.

The Beavers have split two games and are in fourth place in the league. The team's chief assets are a good infield and a senior pitching corps.

The ace of the staff is Bruce Wilsoh, who made the league's third no-hitter last season. He is backed up by Dick Rice and Nick Reuter.

Second baseman Drew Kelly was the seventh leading base stealer in the country last season as a freshman.

No. 3?

City's outdoor track team seeks a "triple crown" at the collegiate track conference championships Saturday at C.W. Post.

The Beavers have already won the cross country and indoor events and a third win would be unprecedented.

Robert Deluca leads the team with seven runs batted in. The leading hitters are Perry Hendon, 500; Steve Rubin, 400, and Ray Corino, 300.
