State University Students to Pay Tuition Charge; Educators Approve, Students Against Measure

Five CUNY Students Crusade Upstate

The board of Trustees of the State University of New York announced that starting September, 1963, all New York State resident undergraduates will be charged a tuition fee of $400. The action was taken at Governor Nelson Rockefeller's behest.

In addition, graduate students will pay $600, an increase of $375. All students still must pay a twenty-five dollar registration fee.

Reaction to the new charge has been mixed. Long Island State College officials have discounted the possibility that tuition hikes would cause any student to drop out of college. However, some students now pay no tuition and said they would be forced to leave school.

To help pay for his record $2.9 billion budget, the governor proposed to the State legislature twelve month ten-year expansion of the State University be financed through long term bonds. The bonds would eventually be repaid from a pool consisting of money from students tuition, fees and state appropriations.

The treasurer of the Uptown City College Student Government, Theodore Brown, took position in opposition to the tuition charge. He and four other C.U.N.Y. Students formed a legal corporation in an attempt to challenge the basis of the action. In an interview with THE TICKER, Mr. Brown stated that the purpose of his campaign was to combat the system of arbitrary tuition charges. The student said he tried to get students to exert efforts of their own, on their own, for his own government. Last year, a bill to once again make free tuition mandatory at the City University of New York, was defeated in the State Senate and ten votes in the Assembly. With a concerted push, we might overcome this slight margin of difference.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner issued a statement saying he was "sorrry to read that the board of trustees . . . had voted to increase the tuition charged. . . . This action is entirely the opposite of that which ought to be taken. . . ."

"I am very old and age of critical need for more college trained people, there is no more justification for collecting for a public university than there is for tuition fees in the public elementary system. . . . If I were president of the United States, I would not be permitted. . . ."

In an interview with THE TICKER, Mr. Brown stated that the purpose of his campaign was to restore mandatory free tuition to the University. He also said that "we tried to get students to exert efforts of their own, on their own, for their own government. Last year, a bill to once again make free tuition mandatory at the City University of New York, was defeated in the State Senate and ten votes in the Assembly. With a concerted push, we might overcome this slight margin of difference."

Two years ago, the State Legislature gave the Board of Higher Education the power to impose tuition at the branches of the City University. Since then, the B.H.E. has repeatedly made it clear that they would not willingly use this power.

Prospects of Academic Issues

It is very easy to write the next article after it takes place. The hard thing is to predict the future. And even the most accurate forecasts are doomed to disappointment, for life is not predictable. But one might try. The prospects of the spring '63 forecast are not very different from those described last year, except that some forecasts have been fulfilled and some have not. It is probably safe to say that the number of students who will enroll in the state universities will be approximately the same as last year. This is due in part to the fact that the state universities are not yet in a position to compete with private institutions. In addition, the state universities are not as attractive to students because of the high cost of tuition.

Tuition Enigma

The question of tuition has been a bone of contention for many years. Some people believe that tuition should be increased in order to cover the costs of education. Others believe that tuition should be decreased in order to make education more accessible to everyone. There is no easy answer to this question. The state universities are dependent on tuition for a large portion of their revenue, and they must balance this against the need to provide education for all.

In his annual report to Congress, the President stated that the country is facing "a critical period in the history of Latin America." He added that Washington has made no change in its policy of supporting the Cuban government and will continue to support it despite recent reports of human rights abuses.

The appointments were announced today by the United States Representative in the United Nations, Mr. A. H. Bliss. The names of the representatives are: Mr. Harry L. Bean, Mr. Robert E. On New Basketball Line-up

For the 1964-65 season, the College of New Jersey basketball team will be looking for their second straight championship in the Tri-State League. The team will be led by Sid Glickman, a 6-7 forward who was recently named to the All-State team. The Hawks have not had a smooth turn-around jump in recent seasons, but they are a veteran team and are expected to be a force this year. The team was unable to add either Manhattan or Iona to their schedule this year.

Shooting Key Factor; St. Francis Wins

By Jeff Polak

The City College basketball team, shooting a dazzling forty-nine per cent from the floor, registered its highest point total of the season in a 73-61 victory over the University of Washington, D.C., Saturday night at Wingate Hall.

The win followed a heart-breaking 91-87 loss to favored St. Francis of Brooklyn. Both games were nonleague affairs.

The Lavender now has a 5-6 overall record and a 2-2 mark in the Tri-State League.

Against American, Coach Dave Sapora started Alex Hershkowitz, Jerry Greenberg, and Steve Golden, who played recently has been brilliant, scored seventeen points in the first ten minutes, giving City a 12-0 lead. Two long jumpers and two driving layups by Jerry Greenberg gave the team a 3-21 halftime advantage.

City moved ahead by twenty points early in the second half. Don Sidat, Alex Blatt, Greenberg, and Steve Golden led the team's attempt at a zone defense with consistent outside shooting and layups. Coach Polakosky used his entire fifteen man squad in what he termed "a very satisfying, all-around team performance."

Greenberg and Golden were high scorers, with fifteen points apiece. Steve Golden had thirteen, and Hershkowitz tallied eleven. Jim Shickora led the visitors with thirteen.

In the St. Francis tilt, at Wingate Hall Thursday, a combination of poor officiating and bad breaks led to City's defeat. The Terriers, who came into the game with an impressive 10-2 record including six straight wins, were just too good for the Beavers. The Mermen have won only one of their remaining five games this season. The loss to St. Francis marks the team's fourth straight defeat to the Terriers.

Team Tied For Fifth In Tri-State Loop

Defeats in two out of three recent Tri-State League games dropped City College's basketball team into a three-way tie for fifth place.

The Beavers were defeated by Adelphi, 69-66, and Fairleigh Dickinson, 56-47, at Wingate Hall. Sandwiched between them was a victory over Bridgeport, 70-42, in Connecticut.

In order for Dave Polakosky's squad to loop the title, they would have to win their last two regular season games. The Beavers will play at Rutgers Saturday, February 16, and at Fordham Friday, February 22.

Although City College's swimming team has won only one of six engagements this season, the Beaver's fifty-yard freestyle specialist Dennis Mora remains unbeaten.

In the meet with New York University Friday, the junior, formerly of Bronx High School of Science, placed first in the 50-yard freestyle and second in the 100-yard freestyle. C.C.N.Y. lost.

The Mermen usually have little luck against N.Y.U. Last season City lost, 65-29.

The loss to Fairleigh was especially disappointing, as the junior led his team back from deficits of seven and eight points in the first half, and twenty in the second half, when they rallied to move ahead 42-39 with 6:21 remaining.

The Beavers trailed 32-33 in the second half, when they rallied to move ahead 42-39 with 6:21 remaining. But Mora scored eleven straight points and took the decision.
