Students Brave the Elements To Preserve Free Tuition

Braving sub-freezing weather on a blustery Lincoln's Birthday, some 300 students from City and Hunter Colleges canvassed the district of Assemblyman Paul Curran (Rep., Man.) for the free tuition cause.

The students, armed with leaflets and “Our Position No Tuition” buttons, left the Baruch School auditorium at noon and dispersed through Mr. Curran’s district that he voted against the discharge motion last March. The assemblyman is up for re-election in November.

The discharge motion was an unsuccessful attempt to pry the free tuition mandate bill loose from the Ways and Means Committee, headed by assemblyman Fred Preiler (Rep., Queens). Several representatives of the media covered the day’s activities. The Columbia Broadcasting System (CBS) and the American Broadcasting Company (ABC) both recorded the enthusiastic response of the students.

As they campaigned, students were addressed by Jeffrey Levitt ‘65, Down­town student body president, and Danny Kettfi, vice president of the Uptown student body. Levitt said that the gathering of students in the auditorium was “a partial victory.” We can demonstrate to these [students] what aroused ‘plain old college students’ can do, he added as the students dispersed on their mission.

The groups concentrated their efforts on the weakest sections of Mr. Curran’s district. These sections composed the poorer areas in the city. As a result, students found themselves marching up and down many flights of stairs in old brownstones. Their pursuit was relentless, however, as they ran out of leaflets before evening.

Free Tuition Drive Set For Saturday in Queens

Hot off the successful free tuition campaign conducted against Assemblyman Paul Curran (Rep., Man.) City University students have planned a free tuition drive this year. Both Preiler and Savarese are Republican assemblymen in Queens. Preiler, Savarese and Republican assemblymen in Queens.

City College students are scheduled to meet at a free tuition rally at the Finlay Student Center (Uptown) at 11. After remarks, canvassers will depart to canvass Mr. Curran’s district. All students will be bused to the School of City College where they will take part in a mass rally at the Student Memorial Center at 12.

The proceedings there will be similar to those held at the School on Lincoln’s birthday. At that time legislation that aroused “plain old college students” can do, he added as the students dispersed on their mission.

Draft Committee Want Rosenberg for Senate

A committee has been formed to draft Chairman of the Board of Higher Education Dr. Gustave G. Rosenberg, for the democratic nomination for United States Senator. Dr. Rosenberg, however, declined being submitted for publication in the nomination. He instead said his choice for senator in Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

The chairman of the draft committee, Mario A. Scutaro, is a former City College student. Bas­ing his campaign for Dr. Rosenberg on the platform of free tuition, Mr. Scutaro stated: “Parents of qualified students should not have to undergo the indignity of submitting themselves to a ‘means test’ before their children can enter public colleges. This is a backward move in this atomic age and if not checked now, similar situations could filter down to high school level and lower.”

The draft movement is gathering steam rapidly with the enrollment of 7,200 volunteers signing the committee’s petition. This is the first eight petition this in five days,” Mr. Scutaro reported.

“Our forces” he noted, “are spreading rapidly throughout the state, and so far regular Dem­ocratic clubs will announce their support of our movement. We also have four reform clubs that are voting to have their membership ratify support for Dr. Rosenberg.”

Dr. Rosenberg would comment on the committee’s endorsement of his campaign, with only one statement: “I would not deny the possibility that he might accept the nomination. I knew nothing of the plan to draft me as a candidate for U.S. Sena­tor from New York State until I was called by a newspaper and told of it. Naturally, I was pleased.”

Record Council Budget Set: $5,755 Approved For Spring

The Student Council approved a record budget of $5,755 for the Spring 1964 semester. Thursday. The budget was an increase of $790 over the Fall 1963 term.

The Council also announced plans to amend the charter of the Activities Coordination Board to make the organization of the Student Council Activities Committee. The entire charter of A.C.B. will be brought up for discussion and possible change on Thursday.

Mr. Raymond Kerstenbaum (Sp.), S.C. faculty advisor, criti­cized THE TICKER for having printed the S.C. Curriculum Committee’s report before Council approved it. The report embodied suggestions to an Uptown fac­ulty committee headed by Professor Bernard Bulrush (Hist.) to study the curriculum. The student com­mittee’s chairman, Joseph Traum ’69, gave a report to the Ticker with the knowledge of S.C. President Jeffrey Levitt ’65.

Council Treasurer Fred Schwartz ’65 feeling that the report was not prepared with the care and deliberation required brought up a motion that the report of the committee be accepted without endorsement.

Recently, I attended a weekend conference, the merits of which I now have some personal experience. Much happened as it did in such a weekend setting, but I would have been surprised if this had not come; I had to fight my mind into this column.

For the rest of the weekend I will concentrate between columns that my contacts were on the whole a bit more informal and less to the point because the people who attended the conference were all in a state of transition and it was rather hard to tear myself away from the conference.

Pauline Heffernan, the president of the Economics Department, announced that the college would be upgrading its facilities and expanding its curriculum. The announcement came in response to a recent survey conducted among students and faculty, which indicated a high demand for more advanced courses and facilities. The college administration was determined to meet this demand by investing in new technology and equipment, as well as by hiring additional faculty members.

Dr. John Smith, the dean of the Economics Department, emphasized the importance of these changes. "We are committed to providing our students with the best possible education," he said. "This means investing in the latest technology and ensuring that our faculty members have the resources they need to succeed."

The announcement was met with enthusiasm by students and faculty alike. Many expressed their excitement about the new opportunities that would be available to them. "I'm really looking forward to taking some of these new courses," said Jane Doe, a junior in the Economics Department. "I think it's great that the college is investing in its students like this."
