Dead Student Is Found By Many Sexes

The body of a Baruch School student was discovered today buried under a foot of dust in the third floor library.

The student, whose parents preferred he remain anonymous, was reported missing over three years ago.

His body was found by Dean Many Sexes, who was an amateur archaeologist. A preliminary coroner's report noted that the student had been buried in a body bag for approximately one year. The causes of death were recorded as "dust asphyxiation." The coroner noted, "If there are four feet of dust, there is no hope for survival." He added, "The library has not been cleaned in four years."

Student Group Formed

However, discontented students have formed a Pine-Swept Movement (F.S.M.), feeling that sanitary conditions might be improved if the School were under new management.

The movement, which had not been able to appear in public due to a broad cast of support, received a setback when its leader was hospitalized for suffering three broken ribs while riding one of the "Shoelaces" elevators.

A Revelation

Word of the month: Lunatic bird-droppings. Interested students can find specimens on the side of the School building, if in this issue of THE TICKER.

Broken Leg Reported

The coroner's statement also reported the following information:

1. "If he had been buried under a foot of dust, there is no hope for survival." Several similar cases in the Baruch School are in such ill repair.

2. There were signs of frostbite on the student's right hand, indicating he may have been attending classes in the library before his death.

Gusto Rosenbug Shuts Cafeteria; Vietnam Action Effects Changes

Yielding to mounting pressure from American allies abroad, Board of Higher Education Chairman Gusto G. Rosenbug announced the closing of the tenth floor cafeteria.

Dr. Rosenbug, as he officially placed the padlock across the doors, said, "The humanitarian act of closing the cafeteria is to be equated with the 1962 tax ban treaty."

Worldwide criticism against the eating establishment has come to bear in February of this year when a recently graduated ROTC cadet was stationed in Vietnam. Before leaving, the cadet stopped at the cafeteria, saying, "I can't eat your pork and beans."

Shortly after his arrival in Vietnam, the building was attacked by the Vietcong. The villagers and American soldiers were forced to flee the area leaving behind their possessions.

A hungry rebel found the cafeteria and sat down in a corner to have a meal. A half-hour after his meal, the rebel's enzymes set off a biochemical reaction in his body, causing him to vomit his supper and accelerate the evacuation of the building.

The CAFETERIA: This is a model of what the area will look like in the near future.

Lecture Students Punished For Using Tape Recorder

Strong disciplinary action has been taken by the administration against six-nine students and a lecturer for using tape recorders to record the administration's lectures.

In every statement delivered (but not used by) the New York press, Professor Many Sexes alleged that the students placed tape recorders in their lecture seats, rather than attending in person.

If the lecturer has not suffered, through this garbage, the students should too," the dean screamed. "If we built a library, we did not attend either, but we had a gratefully played a tape of his scintillating remarks, recorded about twenty years ago."

Upon hearing of this, Dean Many Sexes retorted loud for immediate legislation and on the advice of friends, Dean David Hooten (Dept. to Extinguish Student Life), ordered the students to 'stay out of the cafeteria.'

The students countered this argument, however, by noting that the lecturer did not attend either, but had a gratefully played a tape of his scintillating remarks, recorded about twenty years ago. Upon hearing of this, Dean Many Sexes retorted loud for immediate legislation and on the advice of friends, Dean David Hooten (Dept. to Extinguish Student Life), ordered the students to 'stay out of the cafeteria.'

"Professor" Irving Chicken Lecture Lowered

"Professor" Irving Chicken lowered adequate floor space in the average classroom does not allow the instructor the freedom he needs to teach with the aid of visual devices and body English. It is only

G.U.A.N.O. Changes Head; Chosen Chosen President

Former Corresponding Secretary Jan Chosen became the new President, or as the post is more commonly known, Man from G.U.A.N.O. (the student body's Government Unit on Academic News and Organizations) after a bloody coup d'etat of the G.U.A.N.O. on Thursday night.

Deposed by the move were President Prod-Quark and Secretary Robert "Lefty" Daffy, whose term ended last month.

"It is perfectly clear," Professor Chosen declared, "that the in-..." (Continued on Page 3)
The Photographer's Review

Motive

"You say it, it's true," is what the editor of the "Photographer's Review" is the master of our great student publications. Many people have come to regard the "Photographer's Review" as a reflection of their own beliefs and values.

Actually, it is not so. What we really do is make the students more liberal, and mistakes in that sense can be understood by the superior intellects of the students. The "Photographer's Review" is simply a tool for us to express our own ideas.

G.U.A.N.O.

We doubt the charge of leadership which took place in the past three semesters. It was quite an event for the students involved.

Fred "Rocky" Snare, the lider's leader, was well suited for the job. All of his statements were the result of hard work and dedication. It is no wonder that he stepped forward to fill the void.

G.U.A.N.O.

Although I have no facts at all, it is possible to make some observations. For example, it is not clear why the students were so enthusiastic about the idea of a new program called "Photographer's Review." It is possible that they were simply tired of being ignored.

G.U.A.N.O.

I'm sure that the student body would have preferred a more helpful, useful, and entertaining "Photographer's Review." Good ideas are always welcome, but too much of a good thing can be a bad thing.

The Ticker

On His Embrace To F.P.

The Man From G.U.A.N.O.

"I am a photographer," said Mr. Quartz.

"What's your problem?" asked the President.

"I need a job," said Mr. Quartz. "I just can't seem to find one."

"Well," said the President, "we can try to help you."

"Really?" asked Mr. Quartz. "That would be wonderful."

"Yes," said the President. "We have a job opening in the Photography Department."

"Great," said Mr. Quartz. "I'm going to apply for it right now."

The Man From G.U.A.N.O.

"I am a photographer," said Mr. Quartz.

"What's your problem?" asked the President.

"I need a job," said Mr. Quartz. "I just can't seem to find one."

"Well," said the President, "we can try to help you."

"Really?" asked Mr. Quartz. "That would be wonderful."

"Yes," said the President. "We have a job opening in the Photography Department."

"Great," said Mr. Quartz. "I'm going to apply for it right now."

The Man From G.U.A.N.O.
Rednecks Are Afraid to Face Mighty CCNY

Once again, good old St. John's has decided that it won't face a City College team. Oh, it's not the first time one of these "athletic powerhouses" (huh?) has checked out rather than face the mighty Rednecks.

Now it's the rive team. The nin­ nods have won the Western division—championship of the Metropolitan Rifles. The Rednecks from mighty St. John's (two cars in every basketball player's garage) won the Eastern crown.

Anyway, they previously agreed to play the winner of the western division. But once those yeller­bellsies found out it was City, they cried uncle.

Officially the Rednecks say that they have a higher average, although they neglect to mention the fact that they had an easier schedule than we had.

First, Army didn't want to come to City. We tried to tell them to get their — — — down here, but they just wouldn't freeze. No won­ ter we're losing that skinhead to Vietnam?

The next thing you know, those Bohemians from Washington Square will claim they're for peace and refuse to shoot against the City rive team too.

The time has come for all City College students to take the advice of that great American, the Imperial Wizard of the KKK.

"Let's get them!"

Baseball Star Won't Play Sans Pay

Misch Mantlemen, the star centerfielder of the City College baseball team, has anounced that he has decided to leave the hollowed (sic) halls of City.

Mantlemen is a prodigy of Mo­ Moskina, the present City coach and the former, Nashville Country's utility infielder. Misch claims that his salary is too small. He says that the current City budget only allows a $25,000 maximum to baseball players on scholarships.

Misch has threatened to go to Washington Square. TICKER feels that Misch has a just complaint and recommends that the Board of Higher Education should raise baseball players' salaries to the level of those athletes on the basketball team.

Whatever you do, Misch, don't sign with the Mets — you've been an amateur long enough.

Dearest Editor:

Dearest Editor:
Observation Post and Campus cannot sponsor a great annual publication, THE TICKER, on having the best sports page in the country. The excellence of your layout and the responsibility with which you oversee the page has been surpassed by any journalistic endeavor in the chronicles of contemporary journalism.

With the deepest respect,
The Editorial Boards of Observation Post and Campus.

'Let's Make the Scene'

Here are three of those Bohemians from the great citadel of learning at Washington Square. They came to see the annual Ticker-Booster volleyball game. Unfortunately, the Bohemian name and daughters of CCNY College were injured by their baps. P.S. — the girl is a victim of TERROR in the subways.

Booster-Cot Is Depantsed

Howie Yum-Yum, the maggot of those demure, delicate debauchers, the Boosters, was rudely deprived of his pants by those meanderings from TICKER. Yum-Yum was very angry. He had wanted to deposit some money at First National City Bank. But those terrible bullies from Ticker refused to give him back his BUMGAREEES.

Carolan Guard Welcome

Members of the Carolan Guard filed out of their office to welcome the victorious Ticker team.

'O' Captain, My Captain'

This is a picture of the violent, but soft-spoken Ticker volleyball captain, Garfinkel Galore '68, who cried her best and put all she had. Unfortunately, this was not too much. However, the rest of the team held their own.

Boosters Up the Creek

After their disastrous defeat by the volleyball champs from Almighty Ticker (the score was 21-3) the poor Boosters were loaded on an inexpensive ship, a scale model of the Titanic, and sent up the Hudson. They were last seen storming the walls of Sing Sing prison from the inside.

Although this is not the vessel used by G.U.A.N.O. on its boatride, THE TICKER had to use the picture anyway.

All in Sport?

Mauri (Buoy) Benefits (Polical Science) revealed to THE TICKER that his best class at Harvard was a swiming lecture. Benifits noted that in each class he was turned upside down and placed in the water as the main buoy.

Shotgun Sherrit, coach of the Baruch rifle team, reported that his first shot was a success. However, Sherry had a peculiar feeling about the four bullet wounds he incurred during that period. There has been a strong rumor of ex-C.C.N.Y. student for the rifle team.

The latest news from Doom Blank-in-Head, who has been attempting to teach cows how to debit and credit, is that the experiment has been totally successful. Except for one student-cow who was dropped for chewing hay during class.

Yusel Wisemen has received a special commendation from Nate Sadelman, for his special work with insomniacs.

Professor Andy Lavander is reported to have given up tennis and the New York Yankees to become a full-time Met fan.

Is it true that Professor Irv Rosenberg recommended that all Baruch students back away from THE TICKER sports page?

When asked about the main reason for closing the tenth floor cafeteria, Many Sexes, Dean of Table Manners and the Haus of Kitschetter, replied: "these idiot management students don't know how to eat their hot meals."

The Department of Marine Life has discovered a new type of cold-blooded fish, the Saidel-fish.

Dannys P. Parker, Professor of the Baruch wrestling team, was reported as saying, "Once you've got him down, kick him in the groin, you'll win every time! That's Parker principle number 109."

Dean David Neuters announced a special pre-registration program for all students taking part in extra-curricular activities, with special consideration given to athletics. Dean Neuters said that the program will be inaugurated by next term's incoming freshmen. After this statement, he revealed that incoming freshmen will be restricted from taking part in extra-curricular sports.

Doc Irving Gregor of the Baruch wall-washers, has assigned Harry Stoltzer, the captain of the team, to the infinitely difficult task of cleaning up Ticker. In the past, Harry has done a remarkable job in the latrines.

Upon his appointment as director of City Sewage, Freddie Shave said, "This is a complex system, my cohorts will bear me out. But because of my obvious experience I am qualified."

Who is the alie man? Ernie Eckella, president of the Baruch A.A. (Athletic Association) has announced that the alie man for 1965 is none other than Thomas Birminingh. Thomas Birminingh.

In a short fifty minute dissertation, chumpin' Sam Rand­ hand advocated free travel to Cuba. Said Randhand, "I miss my Havana!"

There is still hope that Professor Huxley Mandermine will write a new book, "Details in Management."

THE TICKER announces that the Baruch athlete of the year award will be presented to Charlie Martin, who is C.C.N.Y.'s sit-up and pull-up champ. Charlie has never been caught with his pants down.

The Department of Buildings and Grounds has announced the extermination of Louse.

Baruch's Harold Jahson, protege of famed C.C.N.Y.
boxing coach, Ego Fuxees, has admitted to a Ticker corruption scheme. Jahson is said to have stolen about $500 worth of meat, infilted by a field hockey stick. It is reported that Jahson is taking lessons in wrestling techniques from two of Baruch's top grappling, "Pudgy" Eddie Fields and "Svlin" William Bosco.