Baruch Students Protest Johnson Vietnam Policy

BY JOEL FELDMAN

WASHINGTON, D.C., April 17: Equipped with picket signs and packaged lunches, about forty sleepy Baruch School students piled into a Washington bound bus at 6:30 this morning for a demonstration at the Department of State Headquarters. The students were protesting the United States' Vietnam policy.

Once in Washington, the students went to the White House to demonstrate their desire for an end to the Vietnam war and their wish for world peace.

This is an excerpted report of the march on Washington to protest the United States' Vietnam policy. The author, who is Editor-in-Chief of THE TICKER, gives his impression of the event.

The rally and demonstration were sponsored by Students for a Democratic Society; participating on the part of Baruch School students was coordinated by the Committee on Human Rights.

As the marchers walked slowly around the chief executive's mansion, counter-picketers demonstrated across the street. One group, members of George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi Party, wore swastikas and stormtrooper uniforms. Their signs read, "Pink Students Go Home" and "The Peace Corp is Communist, Peace is Communist."

"Just a few feet away from the Nazis, another group also protested the students' presence. This demonstration was made up of many organizations, one of which was Young Americans for Freedom. Their signs were similar to the Nazi's, one reading, "We Must Fight for Peace."

At a rally held in the shadow of the Washington Monument, guest speakers, including I. F. Stone, editor and publisher of I. F. Stone's Weekly, and Senator Ernest Gruening of Alaska addressed the students.

After the rally, the 25,000 students from all over the nation, some from as far as Colorado and Michigan, marched to the Capitol to present a petition to the Congress.

It was a thrilling sight to seeable thousands of people in front and behind you. One knew that if these students would stay and work together, they could make it a better world.

Picketing of First National City Called To Protest Sale of Mississippi Bonds

Picketing of a branch of the First National City Bank has been scheduled for Thursday and Friday to protest the bank's underwriting of a Mississippi bond issue.

The demonstration was announced by Howard Yahm '65, president of the Baruch Students Committee on Human Rights, which accused the bank of unethical conduct in underwriting bonds to finance segregated "Mississippi colleges, three white and two Negro."

The demonstration will be held in front of the Twenty-third Street branch (across the street from the School) 12:30 Thursday and Friday. During the demonstration, students will be handing out leaflets.

"Faculty members will join the picketing," Mr. Yahm stated Thursday at 1, students, members of the faculty, and neighborhood merchants will withdraw their funds from the bank. At that time they will present a statement to the branch manager explaining the reasons for the withdrawal.

The point that the demonstrators are business students protesting "immorality in business will be stressed during the protest, Mr. Yahm said."

His organization is working in conjunction with the Committee on Banking and Civil Rights, which is composed of approximately twenty-five civil rights organizations.

Executive of the Committee met with Representatives of the Bank two weeks ago, at which time First National City refused to refrain from underwriting future bond sales of the state of Mississippi.

The committee will be picketing fifteen branches of the First National City Bank Friday. The Twenty-third Street branch will be the only one to be picketed Thursday.

Baruch students leave school at 6 a.m. for trip to Washington to protest American military action in Vietnam.

Learning About Yourself Can Lead to Better Job and More Satisfying Life

A self-analysis chart provides answers.

One of the hardiest of the human problems is to look at oneself objectively, realistically, without distortion. This is so because many of the qualities that make you a "special" person are not there to be seen. You see them only by "looking in" and discovering how you react to others. The chart that follows is one way of trying to sharpen your vision.

Studying yourself. To be effective at self-study, you must be alert; you must see and accept the materials as they are, not as you would like them to be. Most of us are so familiar with ourselves that we can't accept any critical scrutiny of our behavior.

Questions and answers. Below is a self-analysis chart that you may wish to apply to yourself. Many questions are asked and some are left unanswered. A self-analysis chart cannot be a final product, but it can be a tool for discovery. For those who are already aware of their needs, the chart may be a means of adding light to their search.

The chart is divided into three parts: the Self-Analysis Chart, the Student Council, and the TICKER co-sponsored by THE TICKER and Ticker. The chart is not an attempt to provide all the answers, but rather to open the door to a clearer understanding of yourself.

Business: Touched by Comic Madness

Ritz Crackers
In Apple Pie

By EDWARD W. MICHELS
Professor of Speech

The field of comic madness is a large one and it is beginning to be touched by the galloping and comic craze that has swept across the land. No longer can those traditional power centers of the world claim to be immune to this new and exciting movement. The English reacts with its own version of the现象, and the United States is not far behind.

Business is different. Dale Ritz crackers, for example, have taken a new turn in their advertising campaign. They are now featuring a character named Alice, who is a 'typical American woman.' She is shown cooking, cleaning, and doing all the tasks of the typical American woman, but with a twist. She is also seen enjoying a Ritz cracker.

Most Apple Pie! New amusing! Most Hol-day! New excitements! Most moments because the woman's magazine gives a spin in its most amusing moment. If the editor continues this policy, he will probably win some prizes in the future.

As everyone knows, Robert Moses has been influenced by the comic madness. He has begun to think of the city, the masses, and social issues in new ways. While the army remains, as always, the balancing act of power, the city is now being viewed in a different light. The masses are no longer to be ignored.

Music has been taken over by the snobsnots.
Hollywood is no longer the 'land of make-believe.'

Revolution...

The problem remains—and worsens: the inability of the landed aristocracy to alleviate ten-sure hardship, the inability of the masses to rise up and take power, and the inability of the church to maintain its control. The problem is one of power and its control.

While the church in Latin America is not affected by the comic madness, it is important to note the increasing numbers of the hierarchy that the chuch is losing its control. This is a problem that must be faced immediately. The forces of change are strong.

Lacrosse... (Continued From Page B-4)

The Knights, who were expected to make a strong bid for first place have been disappointing. The Knights are now in third place, behind the City and the USMMA.
The Knights will play in the Zone championship in May.

The return of Bob Brown,
the former star of the Knighthood team, has led to a new revitalization within the team. Brown has gained strength in his kicks around, the handling of the ball, and defense.

The team is looking forward to a strong showing in the Zone championship.

Penn Relays
Parced by the second place sprint medley relay team, coach Francisco Castro's trackmen gave a creditable showing at the Penn Relays. Vincent Berger led off with a 52.4 clocking in the quarter, and Dave Schussinger and Bill Wildfogle ran the intermediate 220 yard leg in 22.3 and 23.4. Pete Zebrak ran the anchor leg, the half mile, in 2:01.5. The Triple jumper Bob Bogart jumped 43'-7" at Franklin Field, to place eighth. Jimmy O'Connor set a new scholastic mark in the mile event with a 3:54.5 time. This time earned him fifteenth place out of a field of seventy-six long distance men.

Violets Edge City, 5-4, Miscues Cause of Defeat
Playing their second league game of the season, the Beaver 'Nine' was defeated by the N.Y.U. Violets 5-4 at Ohio Field, Wednesday, April 14. The game was the first of the double play series held at Ohio Field, especially in the first inning. As a result of this lapse, the Violets crossed the plate four times, putting the Gaels ahead for the rest of the game.

City scored in the top of the first and added two runs to go ahead far the rest of the game.

The Violets matched this tally in their half of the inning. This time, a walk, a stolen base and throwing error did the damage.

The Beavers attempted a comeback in the third, and this time, לג, but this was not enough, as the rally fell one run short at the game's end.

One unusual aspect of the game was the fact that the Beavers out-hit the Violets by a 2 to 1 margin. When asked about this, Coach Sol Mishkin replied, "You can't win baseball games on hitting alone. You must play nine innings of good, solid baseball, and we played poorly first inning. That is what hurt us."

Raquetmen Lose to Iona
By STEVE GUSHER
Coach Robert Cire's netmen swept two matches with Pace and Yeshiva during the East Coast visit. This win no doubt boosted the Beavers' victory streak to four.

The Beavers lost their first match against Iona 5-1, at the Gaels Court Saturday. No further information about the match is available at this time.

The Yeshiva match got off on the wrong foot, as the two top singles men for City dropped their matches. Dave Citro, defeated Marty Deitch, 6-0, 6-0. While Mark Sarnin, defeated Deitch 6-1, 6-2.

Charles Mattes got the Beavers on the right track, with a 7-6, 4-3, and 6-3 victory. This win raised his singles record to 8-1.5.

As the doubles matches, Deitch and Seiden teamed up for a Beaver victory, 6-1, 6-4. Garf in and Peter Shaffer won, 6-4, 6-5, and Mattes and Peter Willman wound up the meet with 6-1, 6-1 victory.

Having an easy time, the netmen pumped out the Violets 6-0, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2, and 6-2.

Killen Appointed Soccer Coach; Karlin Pleased With Selection
Dr. Hymen Krakover, Chairman of City College's Department of Physical and Health Education, has confirmed the appointment of William Killen, twenty-four year old graduate of West Chester State College in Pennsylvania, as the Beaver's new soccer coach.

Killen will replace Harry Karlin, who died almost a half century ago, as the mentor of the Beaver boys.

Coach Karlin is pleased with the department's selection. He says, "I was surprised to learn that Killen has had the necessary leadership qualities to make an excellent coach. As a playmaker he was both a constant and a leader; he gave a good account of himself."

When asked if he thought that Killen was a good fit, Killen said, "The idea is to be a team leader, to be a leader on the pitch."

Soccer Champions, Killen was voted the Most Valuable Back in the early season, he was selected as an alternate halfback for the United States Pan American and Olympic teams.

Killen is a member of the 1961 National Title.
