Lindsay Proclaimed Only Liberal in Race

Representative John V. Lindsay, Republican-Liberal candidate for mayor, was proclaimed the "only true liberal" in the election.

The senior senator from New York appeared at the School in Mr. Lindsay's behalf Thursday, and spoke to an audience of 300 students.

The event was sponsored by the Public Administration Society, Student Council, and Young Adults for Lindsay.

Before Mr. Javits' address, Mr. Mary Lindsay, the congresswoman's wife, made an appeal to Baruch students to aid in her husband's campaign, and apologized for his absence due to an important committal. Mr. Lindsay was the originally scheduled speaker.

Shortly after Senator Javits' appearance, the candidate sent a telegram to the Public Administration Society saying: "I sincerely regret that I am unable to appear before your group this afternoon and I am proud and pleased that my distingushed colleague, Senator Jacob Javits, will address you on my behalf. As you know, the fight for education is something I am, and have always been deeply interested and involved in, for the future of our generation lies in quality education for the youth of our country. My best predictions for the benefit of the free tuition campaign.

"The Byrds," a rock-and-roll group, were originally scheduled to perform those on a three-month tour, they will not be able to appear.

Miss St. Marie has agreed to entertain for over her standard fee, because the proceeds are earmarked for the free tuition drive. She will receive $1,000, as opposed to $2,500 requested by the Byrds, plus a percentage of the gate.

Many of the 1,500 tickets available have been purchased by City College's Inter-fraternity and House Plan Associations. Tickets are purchased by these organizations for seventy-five cents each, and are resold to the student body for one dollar, with the twenty-five-cent profit going to the free-tuition campaign.

Tickets may be purchased at the Student Council office, 416 S.C. Office, through November 5, to give a support for the free tuition drive.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of THE TICKER:

I am writing this letter on October 15, 1968, the day before the first two all-day "Talk Out," a day when every one and everyone could meet and discuss their opinions on campus. The purpose of the rally is not established at the outset, namely, that students be involved beginning by enlisting student participation at its committee. We urge all students who have comments or suggestions, decided to hold an all-day "Talk Out." The purpose of "Talk Out" was to gather comments and suggestions from the student body: "How can we improve free higher education?" There are eight medals honoring American elementary school, children are taught that communism is the "enemy". That is a mistake! (Continued on Page 7).

"Talk Out"

"Talk Out" yesterday afternoon saw several students, the Baruch School's Faculty Council Ad Hoc Committee, one representative of the women's organization, and myself gather in the auditorium. The purpose of the rally is not established at the outset, namely, that students be involved beginning by enlisting student participation at its committee. We urge all students who have comments or suggestions, decided to hold an all-day "Talk Out." Academic Freedom

The issue of academic freedom took a giant step backward Friday when, in a breach of the academic tradition of free discussion, Professor J. Mellen was fired by the Rutgers State University administration, according to a recent report in The New York Times. The firing was described in the report as "a serious setback for academic freedom in America." The firing came after Mellen had been accused of teaching "communist propaganda" to his students. The report stated that Mellen's firing was part of a broader trend of censorship and repression in higher education. The firing was widely condemned by scholars and students alike, who saw it as a violation of the principles of academic freedom. The report called for a renewed commitment to the principles of academic freedom to ensure that the rights of professors and their students are protected.

The "Talk Out" rally was a sign of this commitment, as students from across the country gathered to express their concerns about the state of academic freedom and to demand that it be protected. The rally was a testament to the power of collective action and the importance of standing up for what one believes in. We must continue to fight for academic freedom and ensure that it remains a cornerstone of our society. (Continued on Page 7).

Baruchians to Start A New Football Club

Some people say, "You can't keep football out of Baruch." Neal Comer '68 is a proponent of "To revive football for the student body would be tough, but if we did, we'd have to support a school football team.

The uptown student body passed a similar referendum in February. The motion went to the student-faculty committee which sent it to the general faculty committee on intercollegiate athletics. Their reasons were lack of finances and lack of a field.

"It seems simple, all you need is a constitution and a field on which to play and practice. The club idea was taken from other metropolitan colleges which have formed similar organizations, N.Y.U., Fordham University, Iona College, and recently St. John's University. We have formed two football clubs, independent of the athletic departments of their schools.

Dr. Gregor of the Baruch School advised them to form a club, and to check on such matters as insurance for the athletes, and a field on which to play and practice. City Begins Varsity Club

By BOB STERN

At a meeting of the City College Athletic Association on Thursday at Lewisohn Stadium, it was disclosed that a varsity club has been formed. Doctor Des Grey, faculty adviser on athletics says, "The club will attempt to foster relations between the players on the different teams and provide a comprehensive insurance program for athletes."

The organizers hope to have all 500 varsity athletes as members by next semester. Formation of the club had been discussed for some time, but there was always obstacles to its formation. The Varsity Club is now getting a charter from the U.S. government, and has an able faculty advisor in the person of Harry (Bobby) Rand. Mr. Rand was the only person willing to take on this job. The lack of candidates was a result of the emphasis on varsity sports by the administration.

The Athletic Association also discussed the possibility of obtaining increased medical insurance for athletes. The N.C.A.A. has an insurance program which may be adopted by City College. At the present time, the only insurance the school offers is from the Student Health Center.

Beavers Overcome FDU To Break Losing Streak

By WARREN HALM

The Beaver baseballers ended a five-game losing streak Saturday, winning the second game of a doubleheader with Fairleigh-Dickinson University at Forbes Field, 5-4.

Coach Miskin's men had lost the opener, 10-0. It was the final game of the season.

For the first time this year, Miskin had four pitchers in one game; it paid off in victory.

Ron Rissi started in the nightcap. He was relieved by Ron Terracini, who in turn replaced by Ron Galasso. For his first game of the season, Rissi was automatic for the victory in the second game.

In that inning the Beavers rallied to tie the game. With the bases loaded and two out, Bill Miller walked on a three-two pitch, sending Gatti home.

"Beavers To Meet Brooklyn In Annual Soccer Day Tilt"

By JOHN FAMULARI

Soccer day, one of the highlights of the booters season, takes place this Saturday, at Island Park.

C.C.N.Y. will face Brooklyn College in the first game of a doubleheader which will be open to all New York City high school students. In the second game, L.I.U. will battle Adelphi University.

A victory is necessary in order for the Beaver squad to go above .500 in the won-lost percentage column.

To date, the Lavender have a 1-2-1 Metropolitan League record, having beaten C.W. Post, tied L.I.U. and lost to N.Y.U. and Fairleigh Dickinson.

In a sense, the tie against L.I.U. was a victory. It was not the kind of win that should be remembered. Marcell Secor has been pleased by Gus' weekly improvement.

Another pair of sophomores, Abe Assa and Neil Marinos, a sophomore who is steadily improving, ran a surprising 29:12 race to place seventh and tenth, respectively. Hansen had a 30:04 time; Liebowitz finished 30:37.

Gatti Scores Again; First baseman Lou Gatti being congratulated after a home run.

The score was much closer than the 24:31 margin which will be open to all New York City high school students. In the second game, L.I.U. will battle Adelphi University.

A disappointed Coach William Killen did not put the blame directly on the officials. "The officials should have known better. We would have won if we played better. There's no use blaming the referee," commented the coach.

The Booters now have a 2-1-1 record in the Metropolitan League.
