Lipton Resigns Post as Council President To Devote Time to Free Tuition Campaign

March Held On Albany

By LAWRENCE S. LEVITAS
Special to The Ticker

Albany, March 22—Seventy students and faculty members representing the Baruch School marched here today in a demonstration to convince Governor Nelson Rockefeller and the Legislature to maintain a policy of free tuition and academic autonomy for the City University.

Norman Lipton '67, who resigned last week as Student Council's president in order to, among other things, force the time to the free tuition drive, was a coordinator of the march along with Mark Neter, body at each individual of the Uptown campus newspaper, Observation Post.

Ronald Schoenberg '67, Council's new president, said, "Although our turnout wasn't large in terms of numbers, our school did better than any other in C.U.N.Y. on a percentage basis."

The participating member of the faculty were Associate Dean Lawrence S. Levitas.

Fees Ruling Is SFCSA's

The ruling under which the School's Human Rights Movement is being denied student fees now appears to have been made by the School's Student-Faculty Committee on Student Affairs. "Although we did not use the money under the ruling prohibiting the allocation of funds to religious, political, and social action groups, the club was also told at that time that the prohibition was put into effect in 1963 by the General Faculty, consisting of representative of the faculties of all the schools in the City College.

Dr. Taft has introduced bills in the current session of the Legislature for mandated free tuition at both the City and State Universities.

The club was also told at that time that the prohibition was put into effect in 1963 by the General Faculty, consisting of representatives of the faculties of all the schools in the City College.

Dr. Taft has introduced bills in the current session of the Legislature for mandated free tuition at both the City and State Universities.

The hearing on the City University controversy, was intended to "inform" the public on the issues in the crisis.

The director, a member of the School's Accounting Department, presented his own version of the Joint Legislative Committee's proposals to finance the City University. Two of the recommendations were made March 8 by State Senator Manfred Ohrenstein, a Democrat, the chairman of the committee.

The senator urged that, in order to avoid a catastrophe in which the City University would be forced to turn away an increasing number of students, the following steps be taken:

- The New York State Dormitory Board, which runs the city's capital construction debt limit which has deterred the financing of the City University, would be authorized to issue $400 million in bonds over the next five years to finance the construction project. The authority would then be able to "sell" the bonds to those interested in the project without the necessity of having to sell them to the public.

- A City University income fund be created to provide security for the bonds to be issued by the Dormitory Board. The revenue would come from three sources:

1. Tuition and other instructional fees now being paid to the City University by students, which would contribute $500 annually for each student attending the University, and New York City which would contribute an equal amount.

2. The contribution would be based on the actual net tuition net charge of the university to students and would mean assumption by the city of full responsibility for the maintenance of the University's tuition-free policy, thus

(Continued on Page 6)

Schoenberg Inherits Post

Student Council President Norman Lipton '67 resigned last Thursday night effective immediately.

"Ronald Schoenberg '67, formerly Student Life vice president, will assume the position of the remainder of the semester."

Free presidency will remain vacant.

Intensive Effort Urged To Solve CUNY Crisis

Dr. T. Edward Hollander urged concentration on appropriate solutions to the financial crisis of the City University and the "putting aside" of minor objections to these

(Continued on Page 7)

Draft Deferments Awarded

On Grades Of Past Year

Only the grades of the year immediately preceding the one the student is now in will be used to determine his class standing. Dr. Arthur Taft, the College's director of armed services, announced.

Standing in the upper half of the freshman class for sophomores, the upper three-quarters of the sophomore class for juniors, or the upper two-thirds of the junior class for seniors, or else a grade of at least seventy per cent on the selective service examination to be given May 14 and is needed in order for a student to retain his deferment.

Dr. Taft noted that the taking of the examination is voluntary but that those students who took it and received a grade of at least seventy per cent or more would receive automatic deferments as long as they remained students in good standing, noted Dr. Taft.

Graduates who did not take the examination or not receiving a grade of eighty per cent will still be granted deferments if they remain in good standing and ranked in the upper quarter of their senior class.

Dr. Taft said that full-time students not eligible for deferments under any of the above provisions can still have their induction postponed until the end of the academic year. He said such students should contact Dr. Taft in 1120.

If, by the end of the academic year, these students improve their class ranking sufficiently to qualify for a deferment under one of the above provisions, they will be granted such a deferment.
HEY YOU MUGS FILL THE JUG BLOOD BANK
Thursday, March 24 10:30-3:00

Free COME TO THE QUEENS DANCE FRIDAY NITE APRIL 1 Music Refreshments
National Student Association Discount Cards On Sale
See Alies Breslow NSA Coordinator - 416 S.C.

HOOTENANNY & DANCE APRIL 15th - FRIDAY In the Oak & Marble Lounges

Students Council to Conduct Mock Political Convention

A mock political convention to select a Democratic candidate to represent New York University was conducted by Students Council's Campus Affairs Committee.

CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE: Students and Faculty Debate on Actions of Government

Civil disobedience is viewed by debaters.

Rights Move Is Set Aside

A motion expressing support for the employment of Henrietta Momm found itself in question. In a debate over this motion, the audience was divided between those who supported the motion and those who opposed it.

Brooklyn College President Resigns: Accepts Position At Other Institution

Dr. Harry Giffen has announced his resignation as president of Brooklyn College, effective December 1, 1966. He is the second president of a city college to announce his resignation this month.

Newton to Give Talk-out Report; Will Participate in Second Event

Special Meeting of Faculty Is Asked

A special meeting of faculty will be held to consider the motion that Newton should resign. The meeting will be held on December 1, 1966.

Students Organize Entertain Program

Dr. David Nason, chairman of the Special Student Affairs Committee, was asked to determine the purpose of the meeting. Nason stated that he would meet with the students to discuss the situation.

There is a possibility that the students will be asked to consider the motion that Newton should resign. Nason stated that he would meet with the students to discuss the situation.
Clubs Ask To Volunteer For Tutoring

The new tutorial program, which was initiated by Mr. Jack Upton two years ago, is still in its early stages of development. Sigma Alpha, who has received an extensive amount of help from the Student Council, has foreseen the need for a volunteer tutoring service. They have approached the school administration with the request that they be allowed to run the program.

Mr. Lipton's Resignation

One of the programs which Mr. Lipton instituted is still being followed. The program was designed to aid the students in: (1) forming a guideline for the future direction of the school; (2) establishing a more effective system of student government; and (3) creating a better environment for learning. The program was developed during the time when Mr. Lipton was in charge of the school, and it is still being followed today.

Goodman Notes Lack Of Aid from Students

The students must take the responsibility for keeping the school financially stable. It is up to the students to be aware of the school's financial situation and to take steps to help the school. The school is in dire need of financial assistance, and the students must take the initiative to help the school.

Mr. Schoenberg Must Deal With Troubling Issue

The program which Mr. Schoenberg instituted is still being followed. The program was designed to aid the students in: (1) forming a guideline for the future direction of the school; (2) establishing a more effective system of student government; and (3) creating a better environment for learning. The program was developed during the time when Mr. Schoenberg was in charge of the school, and it is still being followed today.

Badillo To Talk Here In Speakers Forum

Badillo was invited to speak at the school, and he plans to speak on the topic of labor and the working class. He plans to talk about the struggles of the working class and the need for solidarity.

Mr. Badillo was elected president of the New York State Education Association, which is the largest teacher's union in the country. He plans to use his position to advocate for the rights of teachers and to improve the working conditions for all teachers.
SC President Resigns Post

(Continued from Page 1) Dono Nystrom explained that this was largely because of a lack of conviction among the student body. He noted that the discussion had been quite a long one, ranging from differing viewpoints, and that the final vote was taken by a show of hands. The vote was in favor of the President's resignation.

After the resignation, the students discussed the possibility of holding a referendum on the issue. It was decided that a referendum would be held on the following Tuesday, and that the results would be announced on Wednesday.

---

Students, Faculty Discuss Issue of Civil Disobedience

(Continued from Page 1) The S.F.C.S.A. meeting, held March 9, was attended by the students and faculty members. The meeting was called to order by the President, who noted that the issue of civil disobedience was one that was of great concern to all those present.

Mr. Fischer began his argument by stating that the issue of civil disobedience was a complex one, and that there were many different views on the matter. He noted that the S.F.C.S.A. had been working on the issue for some time, and that the recommendations made by the committee had been largely accepted by the students.

Mr. Fischer then proceeded to discuss the issue of civil disobedience in the context of the situation facing student government. He noted that the students had been working on a code of conduct for the University, and that this code was to be presented to the University's administration. Mr. Fischer then noted that the students were working on a code of conduct for the University, and that this code was to be presented to the University's administration.

Mr. Fischer concluded his argument by stating that the students were working on a code of conduct for the University, and that this code was to be presented to the University's administration. He noted that the students were working on a code of conduct for the University, and that this code was to be presented to the University's administration.

---

Evaluation Is Topic of Tea

(Continued from Page 1) The Finance Society meeting was held yesterday evening in the Student Center Lobby. The meeting was called to order by the President, who noted that the topic of the evening was the evaluation of the stock market.

Mr. Lipton began his presentation by stating that the evaluation of the stock market was a complex issue, and that there were many different views on the matter. He noted that the Finance Society had been working on the issue for some time, and that the recommendations made by the committee had been largely accepted by the students.

Mr. Lipton then proceeded to discuss the issue of civil disobedience in the context of the situation facing student government. He noted that the students had been working on a code of conduct for the University, and that this code was to be presented to the University's administration. Mr. Lipton then noted that the students were working on a code of conduct for the University, and that this code was to be presented to the University's administration.

Mr. Lipton concluded his argument by stating that the students were working on a code of conduct for the University, and that this code was to be presented to the University's administration. He noted that the students were working on a code of conduct for the University, and that this code was to be presented to the University's administration.
City Avoids Nationals
NCAA Ruling Is Cited

NOT THIS YEAR: A Beaver swordsman is seen fencing in sable competition at last year's championships when City finished ninth.

The City College fencing team will not compete in the National Championships which are scheduled for this weekend. The surprise move was reached at the Faculty Committee on Athletics, and does not affect the team's position in the league.

This action stems from a recent National Collegiate Athletic Association ruling which will become effective that no members of the Inter-Collegiate Fencing Association will participate in the National Championship. City's attorney has not determined whether this ruling will become effective.

City requires its athletes to maintain at least a 2.0 (C) average in order to be eligible for athletic contests. Earlier this year, the College made the NCAA ruling that all athletes must meet this requirement to be eligible. Since no members of the Inter-Collegiate Fencing Association would participate in the National Championship, which are held at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina, this weekend, N.Y.U. withdrew from the meet, stating that the absence of the Ivy League teams would reduce the amount of revenue which they would receive from the second class status.

The joint release of the Athletic Committee and the administration of the school revealed that the College does not believe that a true National Champion can be crowned with the absence of such top flight teams as those from Columbia University and N.Y.U.

Nimrods Set League Mark;
Shooting Tops Kings Point

The City rifle team broke a league record Friday as it defeated the USMMA at Kings Point with a new mark of 1349 points, surpassing Columbia's mark of 1346 which was set this February, also against Kings Point.

The team's total surpassed the 1306 shooting of the USMMA, and placed the nimrods in undisputed first place of the Metropolitan Inter-Collegiate Rifle League.

The team's record now stands at 9-0 with one match remaining. On April 1 the sharpshooters will play Rutgers University. Rutgers is in last place in the league with a 0-5 slate, and does not figure to offer much resistance to the Beaver marksmen.

Members of the Beaver squad are: Pete Brooks, 270; Jerry Uretsky, 270; Alan Feit, 269; Bruce Gitlin, 268; and Martin DiMilla, 265.

This is the first year that the riflesmen are shooting at Inter-Collegiate targets. The team uses a bull's eye, the "tin ring," the size of a pin head. This is the same size used at the Olympics and International competition.

With this mark the team will participate in the International Sectional meet for the first time. The team will compete against the USMMA and St. Peter's College offering the best competition.

Larry Levy has been described by his teammates and the coach at the greatest Beaver swimmers ever. Larry may very well be the greatest Beaver swimmer in history of City College, and that takes up a number of years.

The eighteen-year-old sophomore, has set or tied more records in his two years on the squad than any other swimmer in an equal period of time. This season was a banner one for Levy.

This Comparative Literature major was consistently amazing in 1965-66. The following records fell before his mighty strokes: 100-individuals (58.179), 200-individuals (1:45.3), 400-individual medley (4:23.2), 50 free-style (27.8), 100 free-style (1:00.61), 200 free-style (2:03.2), 400 free-style (3:50.2).

Larry led the Lavender swimmers with 5-5 Slate

The fencing season ended rather abruptly this week as the Faculty Committee on Athletics ruled that the team will not be able to participate in the National Championships this weekend, but when it did compete it team did rather well "considering."

At the beginning of the year coach Edward Lucia was looking forward to "a rebuilding" year, but he received more than that as his team compiled a 5-4 record against the top teams in the country, and finished sixth in the East Coast championships.

The first meet of the year for the fencers was against Yale, which usually has a good team. The Beavers rolled over them 18-9. The next four meets for the parries were against last year's top teams in the country. The Beavers dropped three meets in a row as the

Swordsmen 'Rebuild' Effectively

Squad Is 'Green' But Wins Meets

The fencing season ended rather abruptly this week as the Faculty Committee on Athletics ruled that the team will not be able to participate in the National Championships this weekend, but when it did compete it team did rather well "considering."

At the beginning of the year coach Edward Lucia was looking forward to "a rebuilding" year, but he received more than that as his team compiled a 5-4 record against the top teams in the country, and finished sixth in the East Coast championships.

The first meet of the year for the fencers was against Yale, which usually has a good team. The Beavers rolled over them 18-9. The next four meets for the parries were against last year's top teams in the country. The Beavers dropped three meets in a row as the

Memorial
City College has just established a James J. Montague Memorial Award in memory of the College's former fencing coach who died last April.

Professor Montague coached the College's team from 1937 until his retirement in 1952. In 1948 he produced a National Championship squad.

The award will be presented to a member of the team who best exemplifies "Monty's" qualities of gentlemanly conduct and sportsmanship.

Larry Levy
Best Swimmer in College's History?

Larry Levy has been described by his teammates and the coach as the greatest Beaver swimmer ever. Larry may very well be the greatest Beaver swimmer in the history of City College, and that takes up a number of years.

The eighteen-year-old sophomore, has set or tied more records in his two years on the squad than any other swimmer in an equal period of time. This season was a banner one for Levy.

This Comparative Literature major was consistently amazing in 1965-66. The following records fell before his mighty strokes: 100-individuals (58.179), 200-individuals (1:45.3), 400-individual medley (4:23.2), 50 free-style (27.8), 100 free-style (1:00.61), 200 free-style (2:03.2), 400 free-style (3:50.2).

Larry led the Lavender swimmers with a 5-5 slate. And does not affect the team's position in the league. The surprise move was reached at the Faculty Committee on Athletics, and does not affect the team's position in the league.

This action stems from a recent National Collegiate Athletic Association ruling that all athletes must meet this requirement to be eligible. Since no members of the Inter-Collegiate Fencing Association would participate in the National Championship, which are held at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina, this weekend, N.Y.U. withdrew from the meet, stating that the absence of the Ivy League teams would reduce the amount of revenue which they would receive from the second class status.

The joint release of the Athletic Committee and the administration of the school revealed that the College does not believe that a true National Champion can be crowned with the absence of such top flight teams as those from Columbia University and N.Y.U.

Larry Levy has been described by his teammates and the coach as the greatest Beaver swimmer ever. Larry may very well be the greatest Beaver swimmer in the history of City College, and that takes up a number of years.

The eighteen-year-old sophomore, has set or tied more records in his two years on the squad than any other swimmer in an equal period of time. This season was a banner one for Levy.

This Comparative Literature major was consistently amazing in 1965-66. The following records fell before his mighty strokes: 100-individuals (58.179), 200-individuals (1:45.3), 400-individual medley (4:23.2), 50 free-style (27.8), 100 free-style (1:00.61), 200 free-style (2:03.2), 400 free-style (3:50.2).

Larry led the Lavender swimmers with a 5-5 slate. And does not affect the team's position in the league. The surprise move was reached at the Faculty Committee on Athletics, and does not affect the team's position in the league.