The Theatre Board...
The Whole Problem

Some student groups have been trying to work together with the administration to provide more services to the student body. In the near future, the number of student-decision making and production should be expanded. This group provides counselling services to these organizations and works on a national level to coordinate student activities. In order to maximize the utilization of these resources, progress must be made in the form of the Association's constitution. The School's student organizations are not for profit. Not a Beginning

Executive of Student Council are currently looking for a way in which to recognize the achievement of their constituents. This trend will provide an incentive for the student's school and community to provide more services to the student body. The School's Student Council members must be motivated to take the lead at all times in the student government issues.

Booster Win, Lose

The defense, playing in the first game of its regular season, overplayed the offense in the opening half of the game, breaking the 11-2 lead it held after the opening period. Wittenberg's Pin and AEPi both made full use of the opportunity to score and tied the game in the fourth quarter to win 24-18. Fred Essanon accounted for ten of Phi Delta's points and was up to his usual tricks. The other Phi Deltas were luckier than usual.

Correction

The correct report was that the Phi Delts won a tough battle with AEPi in the opening game of the season. Phi Deltas scored a 2-1 victory and appeared poised to win the game. The Phi Delts were led by Fred Essanon, who scored ten points. The AEPi team was led by Tony Willy, who had scored twenty points.

The Phi Delts have a strong team this year and are expected to make a strong showing in the Intramural Basketball League. The Phi Delts have a record of 6-2 so far and have won three straight games. The Phi Delts are led by Fred Essanon, who has scored thirty points in the last two games. The Phi Delts are favored to win the Intramural Basketball League this year.

Harriers Setback
Montclair, 22-37

By MARC BLOOM

In athletic circles confidence spreads like butter. And it's highly contagious among the players of the College cross-country team.

After Thursday's 22-37 whipping of Montclair at Van Cortland Park in the Bronx, the squad was beaming with optimism and had good reason to be.

They have won three out of four dual meets after an opening-day loss. Several seconds have been shaved from the individual clocking as the harriers continue to progress in the wake of constant workout.

Andy Ferrara, apparently healthy after an early season injury, led the Beaver forces on that cloudy and cool Columbus Day. The handsome-looking senior stopped the watches at 29 minutes 26 seconds to capture second place behind Montclair ace Jim Harris, who was timed in 27:36 over the five-mile course.

Season's Best
Ferrara's effort was the swiftest of the young season for City, but hardly approached his lifetime best of 25:58 achieved last year. The Beavers also garnered third, fourth, sixth and seventh against the Indians with Marty Brill (29:51), John Pick (30:39) and Norberto Valle (31:20), respectively, handling the infield.

Lavender Splits Two Games;
Beneshai, DiBono Standouts

By LARRY BROOKS

With goals as hard to come by as a ticket to a European soccer match, the C.C.N.Y. boosters split two games this week on foreign terrain.

Led by Mike DiBono, who was reinstated following a short period of ineligibility, the Redmen upset highly-touted Bridgeport, 3-2, Tuesday, only to fall before C.W. Post, 1-0, in a league game two days hence.

Thus the Beavers stand at 1-1-1 overall with a record of 0-9-1 in the Metropolitan Conference.

A 49th-minute tally pushed across by C.W. Post in the driving rain was enough to win a game that was dominated by the visitors.

Constantly on the attack, the Lavender fired 20 shots goalward; however, none found the mark. City goalie Dave Beneshai was tested but three times.

Red Luck
In the final stanza, Beneshai went down to scoop up a shot, but Lady Luck came against him as the ball trickled under his hand, off his ankle and into the nets. It proved to be enough.

The Beavers are a hiltin' club. The athletes are beset with numerous minor ailments with two of the major ones owned by Beneshai (allow) and star defenseman Sam Ebel (knee).

Baseballers Stun Redmen
As Rizzi Pitches 3-hitter

By PHIL WAXBERG

You have three chances to name the Cinderella baseball team of 1967. With no hesitation you answer, "Boston Red Sox." Close, but no cigar. The surprise answer is . . . are you ready? City College.

A 4-2 Columbus Day win over powerful St. John's capped a four-game winning streak after the Men of Mishkin started with a dastardly 1-3 record. The Redmen bowed to pitching ace Ron Rizzi who hurled his fourth complete game of the campaign, an impressive three-hitter.

While Rizzi was striking out twelve men, first baseman Bernie Martin was having the kind of day that has eluded him since the beginning of the season. Martin collected three singles and a walk in five appearances. His bases-loaded hit in the fifth inning drove in two runs to give the Beavers a temporary lead.

Initial Run
St. John's scored first on a three-base error by leftfielder Sam Rosenblum in the first inning. The Lavender came back on Martin's single to the fourth, but the Redmen tied the contest on a double and a throwing error by catcher Charlie Kolenik.

Kolenik and Rosenblum redeemed themselves in the sixth by putting the boot to the game winning run. With one out Rosenblum walked. Kolenik followed with a towering double to left center scoring Big Sam from first.

The Beavers put the game on ice in the ninth with Martin's third single, a sacrifice by shortstop Tom Richter, and a base hit by centerfielder Barry Paris. This spring Rizzi (.666) and Paris (.256) will be joined by fastballing righthander Andy Sebor to give the Lavender a solid corps of starting pitchers. Steve Mazza (who batted .441) will anchor Martin, Fred Schiller, and either Richter or Ray Weronik in the infield. Bob Nanes and Rosenblum will fill two outfield spots with Danny Collins or Paris occupying the third, Kolenik is secured behind the plate.

Intramurals: Basketball Action Begins

Six Squads Move To Next Round

By DAVID ALPER

The IMIB Basketball tournament got under way Thursday with a full slate of six games. Among the clubs advancing into the second round of the tournament were the Wilde House, which defeated the Salukis, 32-20; the Whiz Kids, which upset the Fiduciaries, 51-49; and the Chargers, which eked out a close 35-30 victory over the Yogues.

In inter-fraternity games, Alpha Epsilon Pi was defeated by Pi Lambda Phi, 32-28; Tau Delta Phi beat Chi Psi, 34-18; and Tau Epsilon Phi won by default from Phi Sigma Delta.

Large Crowd
A large crowd gathered prior to game time as eager rooters wished to cheer their teams on. Among those in attendance was noticeable as all of the games were played without incident.

As Professor Henderson stated after the game: "That was the best job of officiating I've seen in two years."
