Board Report Hailed; Theatren Seeks Cast

Group Will Present Series of Plays

A program of one-act plays to be presented this semester is a notable coup for Theatren, the Day Session drama society.

Due to the Nautilian complications, Theatren was denied permission to run a major production.

Casting for the first of these programs, a one-act play by William Saroyan, will be held in the auditorium today from 9 to 10:30. If all goes well, the Aluminum will be presented on November 20.

This first production will be directed by Bernard Crane (Eng), who directed last semester's production of "The American Dream" according to Morris Halpern, editor.

Major Production Is Not Permitted

BY MARVIN E. SCHECHTER

The Theatron Board, in the final analysis of its creation, presented its report deemed "excellent" by Student Council President Max Berger '68, at Thursday's Council meeting.

The report, which deals with the financial and student problems of the Day Session drama society, recommended that Theatren not be permitted to stage a "major production this semester" although provisions were made for a "series of reviving the presented plays.

Brooklyn Legislators Try To Halt the Sale of LIU

A group of twenty-nine Brooklyn legislators have formed a committee to block the proposed sale of Long Island University to the City University.

Endowments and gift support of the University are not possible for a private institution, according to the legislators. The Brooklyn legislature has recommended selling the Brooklyn site and consolidating its programs on Long Island campuses.

Students at the university are protesting the sale of the university, with rallies and meetings around the campus, while they display bright green and yellow buttons that declare, "Fuck Foyce!"

In a further development the Board of Regents has requested that Commissioner of Education James Allen investigate the sale of the University.

The New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Higher Education will conduct next week's hearing on the matter Friday at 10 in the Granada Hotel, Brooklyn.

L.U. Cancellor C. Gordon Hoxie, who failed to attend the committee's last session, will be present with a University fiscal officer to answer the legislators' questions.

Faculty, Students Asked To Help With Transition

Presently, the major role of the Baruch students and faculty is "to gather information and make suggestions to the new Baruch College," announced Dean Emanuel Saxe at a conference with the staff.

He requested that any student faculty who has suggestions should present them to him, while his job will be to classify and order them, so that they will be utilized when more definitive plans are made.

The dean stated that it is time for the students to take on more of the responsibilities inherent in the transition.

Associate Dean of Students David Newton, also present at the meeting, stressed the importance of maintaining the student organization's support for the students in transition.

The question of whether students will be able to decide if they will receive their degrees from the Baruch College or City College, was cited as a problem of transition.

To Present Baruch College Plan

The State Board of Regents will consider the plan for a Baruch College at their November 16 and 17 meetings, said Dean T. Edward Hollander, coordinator of the City University.

The members of the committee include Francis Keppel, chairman, David Ashe, Louis Nunez, Edward Ebe and Mr. Chandler, who will be an ex-officio member.

Comenting on student and faculty involvement in the selection of the president, Mr. Chandler noted that usually a faculty committee is asked to be formed to act as advisors. Student opinions are customarily invited, added the chairman.

Max Berger '68, president of Student Council sent a letter to Mr. Chandler last week requesting that there be student involvement in the selection proceedings.

Mr. Chandler said that Mr. Keppel would have to hold a committee meeting to decide if a student committee could be formed. However, he has been out of town the past few days.

Letters to the Editor

In the Editor, The Vindicator, Feb. 23, page 12,

I was pleased to see that the "Down on the Streets" column, edited by Rich взгляд, offered its followers a sense of reality that is sorely needed today. We have been told by so many in authority for so long that "all is well."

I certainly recognize the value of the Vindicator's "N.S.A. News" at the University. However, I am sure that not all students are aware of the student-elected, by students, for students, Student Association, which is the official representative of the student body in the University.

The S.A. is concerned about the unsanitary conditions that exist in some of the dormitories, the poor housing facilities in some of the high apartment buildings, the lack of recreational facilities, and the scarcity of parking places.

It is also true that the S.A. is concerned about the lack of concern for the student in the University's administration. The S.A. has been asked to express its views on several matters, such as the lack of concern for the student in the University's administration. The S.A. has been asked to express its views on several matters, such as the lack of concern for the student in the University's administration.

I would like to urge all students to become aware of the S.A., which is the official representative of the student body in the University. The S.A. is concerned about the unsanitary conditions that exist in some of the dormitories, the poor housing facilities in some of the high apartment buildings, the lack of recreational facilities, and the scarcity of parking places.

I am sure that the University administration is aware of these problems and that steps are being taken to correct them. However, it is important for all students to become aware of the S.A. and to become involved in its work. Garelik Will Talk About Police Division, Thursday

Beaumont, N.J. — John Garelik, chief of the Police Department in Beaumont, will speak about his role in combating crime and improving relations between police and citizens.

Garelik, who has been with the department for 25 years, will discuss the challenges he has faced in his role as chief and the strategies he has used to improve the department’s effectiveness.

Garelik’s presentation will be held at the College of New Jersey, 2000 Main Street, New York. The event is free and open to the public.

Susan Bertke, president of the College of New Jersey, said, "We are pleased to have Chief Garelik speak on this important topic. His insights and experiences will be valuable to our students and the broader community."
Pi Sigma Epsilon Plans List of Marketing Talks

In an attempt to make the marketing major more professional and better prepared for the business world, the list of speakers, who will be talking in the second year of the marketing program, was decided upon by the Pi Sigma Epsilon fraternity, the marketing club at Baruch College. The speakers were chosen from prominent leaders in the business and advertising world.

The following speakers have been chosen:

1. Martin Schechter
2. Richard Faber
3. Elinor Elkin
4. Robert Herman
5. Stuart Hoberman
6. Max Berger
7. Chris Andrews
8. Harold Fremer
9. Paula Rizzo

The list of speakers was chosen because they are leaders in the business and advertising world, and their talks will provide valuable insights into the industry.

Credibility Gap

For the first time in many months we find it necessary to report that the victory president of Student Council, Joe Slater, submitted a thirty-page report to the University Senate Committee which he attended that meeting as a guest observer and which was then rejected by the Student Senate. When a student runs for office, he or she is expected to bring new ideas and a fresh approach to the problems and concerns of the student body. Joe Slater has been on the job for three years, and his report on transition to the new Baruch College is a testament to his commitment and dedication.

Although Joe Slater asserts that he was refused the opportunity to present his thirty-page report to the Student Senate, the reality is that he is the victim of a credibility gap. The Student Senate, which is responsible for the selection of a new president, has the power to reject a student council president's report if it deems it necessary. The problem is that the Student Senate's decision is based on a report that was not presented to them in the first place.

The Student Senate's decision to reject Joe Slater's report is a failure to uphold their responsibility to the student body. The Student Senate must be held accountable for their actions and be required to provide a transparent and fair process for selecting a new president. This will ensure that the student body has a voice in the selection process and that the new president is truly representative of the student body's concerns.
