Few Students Attend Talk Out; But Discussions Held Valuable

Students and faculty members discussed the future of the Baruch College in a talk-out held last Thursday in the Auditorium. Although few students attended, Professor Briloff said those who did found the session extremely worthwhile. The participants were Professors Wyschogrod (Philosophy) and Briloff (Accounting), Student Council President Hal Fremer and Dan Boehr, Co-Chairman of the Human Rights Society, Doug Lederman, Vice-President for Planning and development served as moderator.

Professor Wyschogrod emphasized the difficulties the Baruch College is facing in becoming a first-rate liberal arts college. He felt that attempting any change under prevailing personnel will be the most formidable obstacle. The Philosophy department, he stated, is in need of a new director who understands the demands of a Liberal Arts education. He also stated his opposition to the segregation of business and arts students, although he felt that the business and arts curricula should be determined by the faculty of that particular division.

Dan Boehr decried the nature inherent in the Baruch admissions policy. He demanded that more students from ghetto high schools, especially those in Brownsville, be allowed to attend Baruch since, he stated, "The Buddhist approach is to try to help serve the community, not the other way around." He also expressed the "tokenism" of student representa tions at Baruch. Professor Boehr expressed his belief that student, faculty and administration should have equal representation on college committees. He also called for the implementation of a program at Baruch since he believed that a student representative would encompass a vast spectrum of human knowledge, and in so doing, has no justifiable position in the curricular county.

Professor Briloff was enthusiastic about the prospect of having more liberal arts students at Baruch. He stated that as business and arts and does not exist in a vacuum, business students must learn about the totality of society, and attend classes with students who interest are different from theirs. He would serve this purpose. He expressed his hope that business faculty would be allowed to participate in the formation of a liberal arts curriculum. He stated that the curricular education was being eroded by the business current, and that it is essential to the survival of the college. The aim of such a system would be to help with liberal arts and business students realize the totality of the environment.

Hal Fremer explained a number of proposals being deliberated by the Student Council which would result in much greater participation in academic decision-making. Among the modifications proposed are recruitment calling for a pass-fail grading system, and mandatory courses and will be included for candidates for freshmen offices.

All students are eligible for the student member of the Ticker Association. All Class Officers and Represen tative who represents the Student Body; the faculty members. Two student members are elected from these student bodies, half by the Student Council, and half by the Board of Club Presidents. The current members are Frank Weiss, Bob Ber man, Mike Leventhal, Babs Bach feren, and Sandy Goldstein.

The election is planned for tomorrow, 9-3.

Student Council and Ticker Association elections will be held tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the lobby of the main building. In order to vote students must present a current Bursars card.

You can vote for all positions on your Class Council and the opening on the Ticker Association. A list of candidates and their qualifications appears on page two.

The information was determined from the nominations petition submitted. In the case of upperclassmen only those items about Baruch activities were included, while Highschool activity was included for candidates for freshmen offices.

All students are eligible to vote for the member of the Ticker Association, Social Sciences, Seniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen are also eligible to vote for Class Officers. All Class Officers and Representative who represents the Student Body; the faculty members. Two student members are elected from these student bodies, half by the Student Council, and half by the Board of Club Presidents. The current members are Frank Weiss, Bob Ber man, Mike Leventhal, Babs Bach feren, and Sandy Goldstein.

The election is planned for tomorrow, 9-3.

Student Council appointed Jesse Lipman to the Curriculum Committee, nominated Hal Fremer, Mike Leventhal, and Bruce Perch for the Who's Who award and refused to allow a special fund raising drive for Biafra, at its meeting last week.

The initial discussion centered on the number of names to be submitted to the Curriculum Committee.

The faculty asked that six names be submitted to it from which the student member would be selected. Student Council departed from this procedure pointing out that they should be permitted to determine who represents the student body. The Faculty Counsel supported the motion. For Tomorrow, 9-3.

Jesse Lipman

Student Council appointed Jesse Lipman to the Curriculum Committee, nominated Hal Fremer, Mike Leventhal, and Bruce Perch for the Who's Who award and refused to allow a special fund raising drive for Biafra, at its meeting last week.

The initial discussion centered on the number of names to be submitted to the Curriculum Committee.

The faculty asked that six names be submitted to it from which the student member would be selected. Student Council departed from this procedure pointing out that they should be permitted to determine who represents the student body. The Faculty Counsel supported the motion. For Tomorrow, 9-3.

Jesse Lipman

Student Council appointed Jesse Lipman to the Curriculum Committee, nominated Hal Fremer, Mike Leventhal, and Bruce Perch for the Who's Who award and refused to allow a special fund raising drive for Biafra, at its meeting last week.

The initial discussion centered on the number of names to be submitted to the Curriculum Committee.

The faculty asked that six names be submitted to it from which the student member would be selected. Student Council departed from this procedure pointing out that they should be permitted to determine who represents the student body. The Faculty Counsel supported the motion. For Tomorrow, 9-3.

Jesse Lipman

Jesse Lipman

The Bernard M. Baruch College

Vol. LIX, No. 4
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1968
A Free Press

New Admissions Policy
For Top Ghetto Students

The Board of Higher Education has voted to guarantee senior college admission to the top 100 students in each of the city's public academic high schools, regardless of the diploma earned or their high school average.

Although most of the 6,000 students eligible for the special admissions standards, the plan covers an additional 4,000 or other grades fall below the university entrance test, X-ray. More than 1,000 students would come from schools which are predominantly minority and Puerto Rican enrollments.

The guarantee is extended to private academic high schools of over 500 graduates and to 20 percent of the graduates in smaller private schools.

The motion of the BHE was to request authority from the Board of Education and the Board of Regents to operate at least five public high schools exhibiting the "greatest degree of disadvantage." These schools would be chosen, with CUNY, that would accept all the graduates who earn average of 70 percent or more. The over-40 is to be implemented.

The BHE also voted to grant matriculated status to 9,900 students from poverty areas enrolled in the SEEK program.

CUNY Locates in Ghetto

In other attempts at change, "there is no elimination," as a policy of the BHE will be responsible for the number of the new CUNY campuses in disadvantaged areas. The SEEK and the 100 Scholars Program will help solve the problem. The second dialogue was broken by one of the unfortunate events. (Continued on Page 16)

Doug Lederman

Student Council Appoints Student To College Curriculum Committee

Student Council appointed Jesse Lipman to the Curriculum Committee, nominated Hal Fremer, Mike Leventhal, and Bruce Perch for the Who's Who award and refused to allow a special fund raising drive for Biafra, at its meeting last week.

The initial discussion centered on the number of names to be submitted to the Curriculum Committee.

The faculty asked that six names be submitted to it from which the student member would be selected. Student Council departed from this procedure pointing out that they should be permitted to determine who represents the student body. The Faculty Counsel supported the motion. For Tomorrow, 9-3.

Jesse Lipman

Student Council appointed Jesse Lipman to the Curriculum Committee, nominated Hal Fremer, Mike Leventhal, and Bruce Perch for the Who's Who award and refused to allow a special fund raising drive for Biafra, at its meeting last week.

The initial discussion centered on the number of names to be submitted to the Curriculum Committee.

The faculty asked that six names be submitted to it from which the student member would be selected. Student Council departed from this procedure pointing out that they should be permitted to determine who represents the student body. The Faculty Counsel supported the motion. For Tomorrow, 9-3.

Jesse Lipman

Student Council appointed Jesse Lipman to the Curriculum Committee, nominated Hal Fremer, Mike Leventhal, and Bruce Perch for the Who's Who award and refused to allow a special fund raising drive for Biafra, at its meeting last week.

The initial discussion centered on the number of names to be submitted to the Curriculum Committee.

The faculty asked that six names be submitted to it from which the student member would be selected. Student Council departed from this procedure pointing out that they should be permitted to determine who represents the student body. The Faculty Counsel supported the motion. For Tomorrow, 9-3.

Jesse Lipman

Student Council appointed Jesse Lipman to the Curriculum Committee, nominated Hal Fremer, Mike Leventhal, and Bruce Perch for the Who's Who award and refused to allow a special fund raising drive for Biafra, at its meeting last week.

The initial discussion centered on the number of names to be submitted to the Curriculum Committee.

The faculty asked that six names be submitted to it from which the student member would be selected. Student Council departed from this procedure pointing out that they should be permitted to determine who represents the student body. The Faculty Counsel supported the motion. For Tomorrow, 9-3.

Jesse Lipman

Student Council appointed Jesse Lipman to the Curriculum Committee, nominated Hal Fremer, Mike Leventhal, and Bruce Perch for the Who's Who award and refused to allow a special fund raising drive for Biafra, at its meeting last week.

The initial discussion centered on the number of names to be submitted to the Curriculum Committee.

The faculty asked that six names be submitted to it from which the student member would be selected. Student Council departed from this procedure pointing out that they should be permitted to determine who represents the student body. The Faculty Counsel supported the motion. For Tomorrow, 9-3.
Large Response For Bahama Prom

ATTENTION SENIORS!

If you have not yet attended the recent meeting for the prom, and you wish to attend the Bahama Prom to be held on October 27, please contact the Senior Class Council. The meeting was held on October 3rd, and attendees were informed of the details of the prom.

Additional Information:

- The prom is open to all seniors.
- Cost: $5 per person (including transportation).
- Travel: The bus will leave the campus at 7:00 PM and return around 10:30 PM.
- Location: The destination will be announced soon.
- RSVP by October 5th to ensure your spot.

Contact: Student Council for more information.
NEW TICKER ADVERTISING POLICY

The TICKER has adopted a new Advertising Policy beginning with the current issue. All ad rates will be doubled. The club will donate 10% of the proceeds from the new policy will prevent much of the confusion that has existed in the past, while providing for the continued growth of the newspaper.

These rules apply both to ads being paid for with CAF funds and organizations funds. There will be no exceptions. The deadline for club ads will be 3 p.m. Thursday for publication in the following week's TICKER.

The Two Percent Who Care

Last Thursday the students of the Baruch College were given a chance to help shape the future of the institution. They were asked to sit down with the faculty and discuss those degrading Southern practices of lynching and the running of the college if we move away.

It is more, in a perverse sort of way, that the man who cast a very long shadow on American History was hanged in Davidson, Va. Nat Turner and five of his disciples entered the home of store owner, Joseph Travis of Southampton County, Va., about 10 p.m. November 11, 1830, and burned it down.

No member of the faculty is supposed to have ever attended. No one has ever expressed any interest in the event with the exception of some of their class members. Nothing can be done.

We believe that it is imperative that the Economics Department should be represented at the meeting. This is not the first time the faculty has had to face these situations.

Student Council and Ticker Election elections are tomorrow from 9 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. If you are not voting on your rights, then you are not acting like a Baruchian.

Mark Stein

My name is Mark Stein and I am seeking your support in the Freshman Class Council election of the class of 1967. I do not want to become an obstruction to the running of the school. It is enough for me to be an obstruction to the running of the school. I have been a member of the Freshman Class Council for two years.

In the short time that I've been on the Council, I have learned how the school ticks and how to succeed at Brooklyn College. I've learned how to fall down one, act like a sardine, how to climb up the rungs of the ladder, and how to be a Baruchian.

My name is Steve Feigenbaum and I am running for Representative in the Freshman Class Council. I have been a member of the Freshman Class Council for three years.

I have a lot of experience in the Freshman Class Council. I have been a member of the Freshman Class Council for three years.

I have been a member of the Freshman Class Council for three years.

In the short time that I've been on the Council, I have learned how the school ticks and how to succeed at Brooklyn College. I've learned how to fall down one, act like a sardine, how to climb up the rungs of the ladder, and how to be a Baruchian.

My name is Steve Feigenbaum and I am running for Representative in the Freshman Class Council. I have been a member of the Freshman Class Council for three years.

I have a lot of experience in the Freshman Class Council. I have been a member of the Freshman Class Council for three years.

In the short time that I've been on the Council, I have learned how the school ticks and how to succeed at Brooklyn College. I've learned how to fall down one, act like a sardine, how to climb up the rungs of the ladder, and how to be a Baruchian.

My name is Steve Feigenbaum and I am running for Representative in the Freshman Class Council. I have been a member of the Freshman Class Council for three years.
Eight Vie for Class Representative

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.

Please detach and complete the form below. Bring it to the Student Council.

Baruch's TUTORIAL PROGRAM is on the launching pad again this year. You can improve your standing by doing your share to help those who need your efforts. The program focuses on providing schools and organizations in the local community with volunteers to help those children who need guidance and the time and attention in order to master their learning problems.

Can you lend a hand to help them? You'll find your world grows a little larger when you take an interest.
Administration at IBM

"You make it on merit, not seniority."

I wanted to get into management," says Doug Warmack, "so I checked out IBM's training programs to help prepare you for new assignments," says Doug. "I thought it offered a good opportunity for those who wanted to advance in their careers."

Doug received a B.B. in Business Administration and joined IBM in September, 1967. He now works in Branch Office Administration as an Orders and Service Specialist for IBM equipment. His duties include operating custom equipment and maintaining records.

"When I looked into IBM," Doug says, "I found out they promote on merit and they pride themselves on it. I was put at a disadvantage in the position as fast as I could develop in ability.

You get thorough training. IBM has training programs to help prepare you for new assignments," says Doug. "I started with a basic training course in the accounting department. Then I was sent to attend advanced training school. This one put me in a better position to qualify for a more responsible job." Doug says.

He says IBM spends over ten million dollars a year in company-sponsored educational and training programs. And, he adds, "It's a real profit for IBM to keep their employees trained."

Visit your placement office

They ask you to come to the placement office an hour for an interview with IBM. Or unless you have a letter or resume to take with you. You may then visit Department C, 625 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10022.

An Equal Opportunity Employer

IBM.

Monday, October 8, 1968

Page Nine

ANNOUNCING: The union of Baruch College Chapter and City College Chapter, Phi Sigma Delta Fraternity

LOOK FOR OUR SMOKER DATE NEXT WEEK, SEE THE REST, THEN PLEDGE THE BEST!!

Brooklyn's National Fraternity

PHI SIGMA DELTA

(113 Church Avenue near Ocean Avenue)

BROOKLYN

The Accounting Society presents

Professor Irving Chaykin

"H ow TO PASS THE CPA EXAM"

Thursday, October 10, 1968
Room 120
12 Noon

The condemning of the world of the living. Everything was good. He smiled, and basked in her warmth and, in return, shared that warmth for a moment. She showed him that he could let down his wall, that no one would hurt him, and that he could come out into the world of love and live. He was happy.

And... as they approached their submit of love... as their future began to take shape... as the mysteries of pain, pleasure, affection, and emotion became wonderful signals that told him where he was... he did nothing for nothing. He was self-centered, and egotistical statements made about the wonder of his life. He didn't even try to talk to him. He went out with one after another, crying little for some and not for others.

But they called him the "Official Bastard." He thought only in terms of what he could do that would benefit his own personal pride... pride in himself. He did nothing for nothing. He was self-centered, and egotistical. He considered himself superior to his fellow students and tried to hide his feelings from everyone. He was one of a kind and was affected by little. If, however, someone did something that he thought was important, he would become very bitter.

He had a secret, though, that only those close to him knew about. "My strengths come from a wall which he had erected between himself and the rest of the world. He even made up inside. It was fine for him to be able to come out to the wall before he created them and then admire them."

No one could hurt him... as long as they were outside. He did nothing for nothing. He was self-centered, and egotistical.

And... as they approached their submit of love... as their future began to take shape... as the mysteries of pain, pleasure, affection, and emotion became wonderful signals that told him where he was... he did nothing for nothing. He was self-centered, and egotistical statements made about the wonder of his life. He didn't even try to talk to him. He went out with one after another, crying little for some and not for others.

But they called him the "Official Bastard." He thought only in terms of what he could do that would benefit his own personal pride... pride in himself. He did nothing for nothing. He was self-centered, and egotistical. He considered himself superior to his fellow students and tried to hide his feelings from everyone. He was one of a kind and was affected by little. If, however, someone did something that he thought was important, he would become very bitter.

He had a secret, though, that only those close to him knew about. "My strengths come from a wall which he had erected between himself and the rest of the world. He even made up inside. It was fine for him to be able to come out to the wall before he created them and then admire them."

No one could hurt him... as long as they were outside. He did nothing for nothing. He was self-centered, and egotistical.
THE RAJAH

BY LARRY BROOKS

The date: October 11, 1968. The World Series is over. A small box on the bottom of the New York Times reads thusly: "Yesterday's game was the last for St. Louis outfielder Roger Maris. The 34-year-old Missouri native indicated that his earlier decision to retire is irrevocable. The scene: A dialogue between a College Sports Editor and a twelve-year-old friend, a baseball fan.

Boy: I see that Maris quits. I remember a few years ago he hit an awful lot of homers.

Boy: My father and grandfather keep telling me that Babe Ruth holds the record for homers. I know he hit 60 in 1927. The papers keep referring to the home run record as Ruth's. Why is that?

Ed: Because the people or person who can baseball in 1961 said that Maris would have to hit 61 homers in 154 games to break the record.

Boy: Why?

Ed: You see when Ruth hit sixty homers he played in a 154 game schedule. In 1961 the teams played 162 games each.

Boy: But isn't a season a season?

Ed: Of course it is. You have to realize that the people who write baseball are traditionalists; so are most of the respected writers. So when this newcomer Maris threatened to break baseball's most sacred record, held by its most sacred performer, the Commissioner made his ludicrous asterisk decision.

Boy: But all sports and seasons have expanded. Records are set and can be broken in other sports and I don't know of anyone else being denied a record. After all, it seems if Maris hit more homers than Ruth he should hold the undisputed record.

Ed: He should. Maybe you now will be able to better understand why there is a great need for new leadership in baseball.

Boy: I thought people were saying that about the country. But back to Maris — what else did he ever do?

Ed: Roger Maris was one helluva baseball player. He was the American League’s Most Valuable Player in 1960 and 1961. He was the American League’s Most Valuable Player in 1960 and Glove Award for fielding and was named to the All Star team. He was a great fielder, top-notch baserunner, a top slugger and a man who could steal a base when necessary. He was a very complete player.

Boy: What was he like off the field?

Ed: He’s a winner. He’s a leader. He’s a winner. He’s a winner. I know that about the country. He was a great influence on the people of the country just as they are working together to aid other students of the school in gaining an insight into the field of Group Dynamics and human sensitivity.

Boy: What happened to the Yankees’ Maris?

Ed: This Thursday, Irving Chaykin, former Professor of Accounting, will address the Accounting Society. His topic will be "How to pass the C.P.A. Exam," at 10:00 a.m. in room 122.

Boy: What did the Yankees have to do with this?

Ed: They didn’t give him any protection from the press. Throughout the winter of 1961-62 and the first 2 months of the 1962 season, Maris had one of the finest seasons in the history of baseball. He was the league leader in virtually every category. But the people or person who write baseball are traditionalists; so are most of the respected writers. So when this newcomer Maris threatened to break baseball’s most sacred record, held by its most sacred performer, the Commissioner made his ludicrous asterisk decision.

Boy: Wasn’t there a case in 1961 when Maris hit 61 home runs and the record wasn’t given to him?

Ed: Yes, but the record was given to Maris for the 1961 season. He hit 61 home runs and the Yankees gave him the record. He hit 61 home runs and the Yankees gave him the record.

Boy: Boy: And then a few years later, after Maris retired, the Yankees gave him a "Day"?

Ed: Yes, and to prove it they held a day to honor him and they didn’t give him any protection from the press.

Boy: And then after the Yankees gave him a "Day," he hit 383 home runs in the World Series with 7 RBI. The fans cheered him, appreciated him and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He had a day of congratulations.

Boy: What happened to Maris?

Ed: He was a great deal and the deal was not only one that was good for the Yankees but it was good for baseball as well. Maris decided to play one more season and he was given a "Day." He was given a "Day." He was given a "Day." He was given a "Day." He was given a "Day." He was given a "Day.

Boy: Why is he retiring?

Ed: He’s had enough. He has done nearly everything that can be done in baseball. He did something in 1961 that Babe Ruth didn’t do. He hit 61 home runs in 1961. No one has ever done anything like it. People in any walk of life can say: "I have done something more than anyone else has ever done." He is getting out while he is on top and happy. I will miss him.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.

Boy: I see that Maris gave up his all to baseball. The press refused to acknowledge him as the record holder. He didn’t give him any protection from the press. The Yankees gave him the record and he was happy. So happy that he decided to play another year. He had a nice year and was given a "Day." He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record. He was given the record.