Varied Black Week Program Is Planned by Koromantee

Black experience, broadly reflected, will be brought to Baruch this week by the Society of Koromantee. The week, which began yesterday, will feature a fashion show, daily films, lectures, a forum, dance performances, an art exhibition, and a poetry recital.

Koromantee activities include a 2 p.m. screening of the "Dutchman," originally a play by Leroi Jones which was then photographed, and the "Weapons of Gordon Parks," an interview with the famous black photographer who writes how his life experiences have affected his art. There will also be a 2 p.m. screening of "Hairspray," a film about the life of a cabaret performer. The film will be followed by a discussion on the subject on Islam's effect on black people. Films will follow the lecture.

The Queen contest will be selected by the Booster Club, which will be held in the Student Center at 2 p.m. Booths, please apply at the Booster Club office.

The planned physical format is similar to past issues of Phoenix. The economy is much wiser to spend $65,000 to help a youth study his way through college.

City Hall March Is Due On Friday As State Provides Added Funds

Many thousands of college students are expected to join with business, labor and school leaders in a "Save Our City" march on Friday afternoon to protest the proposed budget cuts in the City University's budget.

The rally, being sponsored jointly by the City University Board of Trustees and the Ad Hoc Committee for City University, will be held in front of City Hall.

The rally will begin at 4:00 p.m. and will feature speakers from the Black Panther Party and the Afro-American Teachers Association. Two films concerning black heritage in ancient African civilizations will be shown starting at 2 p.m. They are, "Heritage of the Negro," and "OnaWeLa." During club hours on Thursday, Muhammed Toure will deliver a discourse on the subject on Islam's effect on black people. Films will follow the lecture.

Student Claims 'Education Works' At State Hearing On SEEK Budget

"Out of seventeen fellows, eleven have been drafted into the Army, one of whom was killed in action. Poverty, line, was in Albany representing the Student Advisory Council, we were striving to save $165,000 day and evening session enrolled.

"From personal experience," Mr. Van de Velde told members of the Joint Legislative Budget Hearing Committee, "I know that without health care, the first case of cancer often means death. It is the duty of the state to provide health care for all its citizens."

Given the chance, they can make it. I know, I've made it. Please, as representatives of the greatest democracy the world has ever known, let us give others a chance."

Parable of Justification

By JOE BLUMENFIELD

They tell us that I am a parent, that I am someone who makes great decisions and must therefore be held responsible for things.

Then they tell me to justify my existence, to make great decisions.

I must justify what is the most significant event in my life: the fact that I exist.

They ask me to justify myself, to be held responsible for something that is beyond my control.

I exist.

Junior Photos For Lexicon Scheduled To Be Taken Soon

Students who expect to be photographed this spring are reminded that arrangements have been made for photography on April 15 at the Student Center.

At East End Room 402.

The proofs, when developed by the photographer will be available for your approval after April 18 at the Student Center.

Whatever you’ve heard about the photographer, it is only half true. He is not corny as this may seem there’s a hope that he is a bit better than he looks. But there is no hope that he may not touch your car or ask you to do some other crime.

NEW YORK, April 2—High officials in three Washington administrations and a pioneer in automation have been elected to the Board of Trustees of Freedom House, its chairman, former Senator Paul H. Douglas, announced today. All four men, he said, are committed to reducing the inequalities and threats to freedom which confront the nation.

The new board members include: Robert C. Weaver, president of the Baruch College of the City University of New York, following service for three years as Secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development. He had been a New York State rent and housing commissioner and vice-chairman of the New York City Housing Redevelopment Board. For 36 years he has served in voluntary and governmental agencies to improve race relations and cope with pressing urban problems.

Freedom House, in its 28th year, is a nonpartisan organization dedicated to the strengthening of free societies. Its research arm is the Public Affairs Institute. It also operates Freedom House/Books USA, distributing book packets to young leaders of developing nations in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

The other new directors are: Karl R. Reebdelsen, chairman and chief executive officer of U.S. Plywood-Champion Papers, Inc., former Assistant and Under Secretary of the Army from 1950-58. He was director-general of the nation's principal railroads for two years and later served as chairman of the Defense Secretary's advisory committee on non-milita-rization.

Nichols deB. Katzenbach, vice-president and general counsel of International Business Machines Corp., former Under Secretary of State and Attorney-General in the Johnson Administration. As Deputy Attorney-General in the Kennedy Administration he directed enforcement of civil rights legislation. Prior to his public service, Mr. Katzenbach was professor of law at the University of Chicago.
