The Board members felt that they knew each of the candidates sufficiently enough to forgo interviewing them. Instead, the Board reached its decisions by evaluating the past records of the candidates, and by reading carefully the platforms of those who bothered to submit one.

With respect to the Presidential race, the Board decided to list the good and bad qualities of each of the candidates, including those that were endorsed, and the same is true of the candidates for the other positions. This was done because no candidate, in the opinion of the members of the board, was so outstanding as to receive an unequivocal endorsement. We urge the students to look at the pros and cons of each of the candidates that are presented, and to read the platforms, weigh the pros and cons carefully, and then think before making a decision. Remember, you are electing your student government officers, and you will be stuck with whoever you choose, for better or for worse, for the next term. They will represent you and the school, so vote as objectively as you can.

PRESIDENTIAL RACE

For President of the Student Council for the Spring 1970 term, the TICKER urges the students of Baruch to vote for either Mark Frank or Russell Fershieiser. We recommend the election of both candidates because of the outstanding qualities of each of them. Our evaluation of each is as follows:

Russell Fershieiser:

Russell has, and continues to have, an excellent working relationship with the faculty and administration of Baruch, including President Weaver. This same man has been an excellent officer as Vice President of Educational Affairs, and he has shown himself to be a very competent worker, one who is able to get things done. However, Russell has several shortcomings which must be considered along with his strong points.

Mark Frank:

Mark has exhibited in the past a condescending manner to those who work under him, and to students in general, and, when he does not get the praise, for doing a job, that he thinks he deserves, he tends to seek it by downgrading the efforts of others. We feel that these mannerisms will make it difficult for Council members to work with him, and may possibly increase the alienation of the student body towards Council. Furthermore, Russell tends to favor those who agree with him, whereas Mark makes no distinction between upper and lower classmen, made in the past from bringing his own personal experience into the classroom.

We urge a "yes" vote. Unfortunately, faculty members are precluded from bringing their personal experience into the classroom to the degree that he should.

EXECUTIVE VICE-PRESIDENT

The TICKER Endorsement Board was nearly unanimous in agreeing that neither Richie Faber nor Bob Herman would make an effective Executive Vice President. In Richie's case, while he has been on Council for one term, longer than any of the other candidates, and has shown the ability to run meetings, he has not done much outstanding work, and he has shown himself to be very much in favor of the status quo, being

Referenda

The following is a list of the referenda as they will appear on the ballot. Along with the recommendations of the editors and the Chairman of the Student Council Referenda Committee, Tom Swift, we urge a "yes" vote for all referenda.

1. ON ROTC

That credit be reinstated for all courses in the ROTC program.

We recommend a "yes" vote. We feel that all students should have the right to take courses (for credit) that they feel are relevant to their educations. We believe in keeping the campus open to all viewpoints and ideas. This does not, however, mean that we agree with the goals of the ROTC programs.

2. ON PASS - FAIL

That all free electives and one other course (outside of a student's major field) per term be taken with either the pass with honors-pass-fail system or by the letter grade system. The student will accordingly choose and state his wishes among the first three courses, and the subject for each term thereafter. We recommend a "yes" vote for all pass-fail referenda. This will prevent students from being forced to take courses which are below their abilities, and will give them the opportunity to take courses which are challenging and interesting.

3. ON UNLIMITED CUTS

That there be no unlimited cuts in any courses in the Baruch curriculum.

We recommend a "yes" vote. We feel that the unlimited cut system is not in the best interests of students, and that courses be limited to the number of students that can be accommodated.

4. ON DEPARTMENTAL FINALS

That departmental finals be eliminated as of February, 1970.

We recommend a "yes" vote. We feel that the departmental final exam system is not in the best interests of students, and that courses be limited to the number of students that can be accommodated.

5. ON THE LECTURE SYSTEM

That the lecture system presently in use on this campus be eliminated in favor of similar class recitations as of February, 1970.

We recommend a "yes" vote. We feel that students should be allowed to choose their courses, and that the lecture system is not in the best interests of students, and that courses be limited to the number of students that can be accommodated.

6. ON DEPARTMENTAL APPOINTMENT COMMITTEES

That there be established a voting student representation on all departmental appointment committees.

We urge a "yes" vote. Unfortunately, faculty members are precluded from bringing their personal experience into the classroom to the degree that he should.

The Baruch College in a major university in the area with the right kind of opportunity. First, on the one hand, a good education and training program, and the introduction of the University of the City College of New York, a leading institution in the area. This program provides the opportunity for the students.

Mark Frank

Another problem is the Council's lack of power to control any of the activities of the student body. The student should have the power to control his own activities and not be subject to the control of the faculty. The faculty should have the power to control the student body. That is the problem.

Bob Berman

The current Council in the City College is the seat of the college. The faculty and administration have the power to control the student. The student should have the power to control his own activities and not be subject to the control of the faculty.

V.P. For Club & Social Affairs

Steve Hornerger

As President of the Club, I shall try to give the students the feeling of being a part of the institution. The students should have the power to control their own activities and not be subject to the control of the faculty.

Dorothy Hamel

I am interested in the students. I shall try to give the students the feeling of being a part of the institution. The students should have the power to control their own activities and not be subject to the control of the faculty.

Bob Widman

Student government is an important part of the institution. I am interested in the students. I shall try to give the students the feeling of being a part of the institution. The students should have the power to control their own activities and not be subject to the control of the faculty.

Educational Affairs V.P.

Carlos Vasquez

The students are the backbone of the institution. I am interested in the students. I shall try to give the students the feeling of being a part of the institution. The students should have the power to control their own activities and not be subject to the control of the faculty.

operations. I intend to get freshmen and sophomores who are not necessarily Council members to help me work on these committees. I intend to make them feel that they can help Council, because they can - with fresh ideas, and with the willingness to work. Our fellow students, these freshmen and sophomores, can be vital in initiating change and in stimulating the interest which already began this work by participating in the Council Constitution Revisions committee. This committee revised the election qualifications to permit a wider participation in our student government.

There are many conditions to be improved and programs to be continued and implemented at Baruch.

The physical plant is rapidly becoming outdated. I plan to make sure that the students get the sort of campus that is conducive to learning, growing and living. One suggestion is to give the students a say in the planning of that campus. In short, Baruch students deserve an atmosphere conducive to learning, growing and living.

In my direct dealings with club and social affairs, I have discovered that despite the scarcity of money, the people in clubs are working toward the same things. I wholeheartedly support the students' desire to have the RCA building and hope that they will provide the necessary funds. I will urge the Vics-President of the Varsity Council to take sides on issues of mutual interest, and hope that this will provide a focus for the students. I have worked closely with all the students in our student government, and hope that this will provide the necessary funds. I am not a leader of student government, but I will also be responsible for the administration of the Student Council. In addition, the Treasurer of Student Council has the role of Chairman of the Student Fees Committee. The duty of this position is to see to it that all monies paid by the student body are used for the students' advantage, commensurate with their responsibilities.

As a member of Student Council, I will also have a voice in the determination of expenditures of Student Council money. I have always felt that the student voice is the voice that counts. I intend to work closely with the student body, to make sure that my dealings with faculty, administration, and other students in the student government are meaningful to both.

In the final analysis, success will be measured by the willingness of the students to participate in the government of the college, to be informed on the issues, and to be involved in the decision-making processes. If I am elected to the Presidency of Student Council, I will not only have a voice in the determination of expenditures of Student Council money, but I will also be responsible for the administration of the Student Council. In addition, the Treasurer of Student Council has the role of Chairman of the Student Fees Committee. affairs that we can do the most. The liberal arts curriculum still lacks merit. All academic departments look to students to help keep curricula modern and relevant. The administration of the open admissions program is another area in which students can, and must be heard. The college is an educational institution. It is up to students to help ensure that the programs they receive is the very best possible.

Having said all of that, it remains for the role of the President to be explored. The President has an executive board consisting of student experts in each of the three fields mentioned above. It is not for the President to take the lead in any of these areas, but to help in the administration of programs. He must provide the impetus and guarantee the rewards. It is the President who must deal with the faculty and administration, who, in the final analysis, successes or fails.

I believe that I would make the best President for the Baruch College Student Council. My experience, as Chairman of the first student government, which was organized in the fall of 1971, has taught me the importance of listening and being fair. I have been involved in the election process for this college has needed. It is for you, the Baruch student, to assume your role in taking the new responsibility that has fallen to you. I ask for your vote.
