Alumni Talk
The Bernard M. Baruch College Alumni Association, has taken the following position with respect to the report of the University Commission on Admissions to the Board of Higher Education.

We support the following general principles:
1. We support the policy that all high school graduates of New York City should be offered admission to some program of the City University.
2. We support provision for remedial and other supportive services for all students requiring them.
3. We affirm the concept of maintaining academic standards through support of quality education.
4. We affirm the concept of integration in the City University but oppose any admissions quota system based upon ethnic, religious or racial considerations.
5. We affirm the concept that there be mobility for students between various programs and units of the City University.
6. We affirm the concept that all students who have been admitted to specific community or senior colleges under past admissions criteria shall still be so admitted.

The Baruch College Alumni Association requests all three plans submitted by the University Commission on Admissions. We believe that none of those plans would guarantee continuance of quality education for all.

We suggest that the following plan be used for admissions in 1970 to be evaluated and considered for the 1971 admissions program:

Students graduating in 1970 should be admitted to the City University as in 1969 including SEEK for the 1971 admissions program. Admissions procedures but additional students from the group below the regular admissions scores should be placed in freshman centers and educational skills centers should be given regular course work and remedial work where necessary.

It is our opinion that greater emphasis should be given the 1968 Master Plan of the Board of Higher Education than was given by the University Commission on Admissions. We also wish to stress that the community colleges must be strengthened and that greater mobility and transferability is necessary. It cannot be emphasized too strongly that prior to implementation of any plan for expansion and increased admission there must be adequate provision for space, teachers, remedial and counseling services and student stipends.

We suggest that the Board of Higher Education set aside funds to help increase enrollment opportunities for those students who graduated prior to 1969 and wish to gain admission to the City University.

Although we recognize that the Board of Higher Education is not directly responsible for pre-college education, it is our opinion that the degree of success of any plan for increased admissions to the City University will depend upon the upgrading of the prior education of those entering the City University and the Board of Higher Education should consider plans to help in that upgrading.

Council Meets Again
Deny Pace Portrait
Mark Frank, who inherited Pace's gavel, spoke against the motion. He stated that Council (under his leadership) is working closely with President Weaver in order to give students a larger hand in administrative decision making. As President Weaver and other top-level administrators consider Harry as evil inarticulate, they would be very offended if they were to walk into the Student Center and find Harry's visage glowing upon them. Mr. Frank did not mention that the fact that the President had not been observed in the Student Center since the last carrier pigeon vanished from the earth.

Of course, Council accepted Mr. Frank's reasoning. And you thought that prostitution was illegal!

Upon disposing of the aforementioned matter, Council moved on to more relevant considerations.

Abortion
By ROBERT BARRETT
A young lady in the film described the Abortion that she had just received as "a very painful experience." The film was shown last Thursday by the Psychology Society. The movie, "Abortion and the Law" was narrated by Walter Cronkite. It focused on the moral, social, psychological, and legal aspects of Abortion.

Several case histories were unfolded, and those who had volunteered to be interviewed for the film hoped that they could prevent other women from having abortions. The film was given an A rating by the Student Center's Hayden on This Week in America.

Several students were interviewed who were interested in the legal, medical, and moral aspects. Conflicting views were given for each case.

The report concluded that C.B.S. believed that the topic of Abortion be given to public discussion. Neil Rosenberg, the president of the Psychology Society, led the discussion period. He presented thought that the law governing Abortion should be changed. He stated that if they were completely against Abortion, most said that they would be against it. If they were not, they would have an Abortion if they felt that it was necessary and if it would be safe.

Susan Goldstein
Getting Award
The Blue Ribbon Student Committee on Faculty Awards and Prizes has awarded the Director "Rookie of the Year" award to Miss Goldstein, who is a B.A. student in the Speech Department. This coveted prize is presented annually to the freshman member of the academic department whose teaching most exemplifies the ideals, wisdom and kindness of J. Moglen Dietrich, formerly a speech teacher at Baruch.

In her one brief semester at the Harvard of 23rd Street, Miss Goldstein has made an indelible mark on the Student Center. She is a recipient of the "A" student government that Harry Unger left behind. She is a recipient of the "A" student government that Harry Unger left behind. A Hidden Student Issue

Baa—Students are not a good judge of their own interests. Students who have too free a choice are not a good judge generally are confused and understand little. If they are confused, the instruction cannot be effective.
They demand instruction according to what they want; if they are confused, what they need is not known.

What students may think is not always the best. What students want is not always the best.

A Hidden Student Issue

College Poll interviews show, in some departments, a wrong choice of students. This is not a new phe­nomenon; it is known in every college.

A typical complaint is the interest in a subject, which is uninteresting to the students. This is true of all departments. The curricuum is not the best choice of students.

The curriculums of many departments are ill-suited to their students. However, the curriculums are not illogical; they are logical.

Friday the 14th was valuable for the gathering of insights into the mind of the campus community. At the outset, an even-handed view of the political spectrum was presented to the students. The poll was conducted by the College's political science department, which has estimates of 140 students being interviewed in each of the two groups. The results were
