Dean Rosner Dies

Dean Lester J. Rosner of Baruch College died Nov. 24 at age 55. He was pronounced dead at Columbus Hospital at 4:30, less than an hour after he had collapsed at a faculty meeting. He had been Dean of Administration at Baruch since March 1969.

Prior to that, the Dean, who was a career administrator with a broad and diverse background, had served as public manager for the City of New York and received two as Assistant Regional Administrator in the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, serving New York and the New England states. Before that he had served 3 years as Assistant Commissioner for Administration at the City of New York Department of Health.

At Baruch, part of City University, he was responsible for a project against compulsory operations at the college, which has recently undergone substantial growth in programs, faculty, and students.

Following graduation from City College in 1936 where he was Phi Beta Kappa, he entered military service in 1943 as a volunteer Officer Candidate, and served as chief administrative officer of the 88th Airborne Division in Paris, Alabama, departing from service in 1946. Lieutenant Rosner was Assistant Regional Council of the National Housing agency, and in 1946-47 he engaged in private law practice. From 1949 to 1954 he was a management consultant and partner in Survey In- firms specializing in surveys of public and nonprofit agencies.

Rosner was an avid member of the City College LaCrosse Yeats in 1956 having been a star athlete.

He was the son of Helen and the late Bernard Rosner. He is survived by a daughter, two brothers and two sisters. He resided at 30 Gramercy Park.

Interview with John Bal

John Bal is perhaps better known as the cop who is being thrown off the force because of the length of his hair. He is currently a Business Major at Baruch College, having attended Johnson and Wales Vocational High School, and Queensborough Community College. In 1968 he received an Honorable discharge from the Navy, and was appointed as a patrolman in the New York City Police Dept. on Oct. 25, 1970. Since that time he has received a medal for meritorious duty and two medals for excellent police duty. He went on trial on Oct. 8, 1976, and as of yet, no results of that trial have been made public.

George: You have mentioned that you have been offered a part in a motion picture and a play since the controversy between you and the Police Dept. began. Is that correct?

John: I have been asked to consider various parts but have refused. Until I am sure of the decision will be the best way to accomplish both. I hope you can understand.

George: How has all your recent publicity affected you?

John: As a cop, initially there was a lot of hostility from both other patrolmen and the Police Department. The present image of a cop is a hard-hat, who is willing to give it. Both my neighborhood, club, and the Baruch community at large. I identify with the college. If students were not able to get their demands answered they would like to see things get better.

George: What led you to join the force?

John: I saw it as a challenge. Did you ever think of all the information that passes through the police department?

Peace Corps

As the Peace Corps closes in on its 10th birthday, a survey reveals that since its inception, 23 volunteers from Bernard Baruch College have served in Peace Corps posts in 29 countries.

In addition, there are 12 recent graduates of Bernard Baruch College who are serving in Peace Corps positions where Peace Corps is programmed.

Despite recent rumblings that had the Overseas Peace Corps under a death agony, significant national gains in volunteer enrollment have been posted in such academic skill categories as business administration, public health administration.

An Eye
For An Ear

by Gary Frank

This week, tape sales were at an all-time high. The reason? A new album from one of the hottest bands of the year, The Beatles. The album, titled "An Eye for an Ear," has sold over one million copies in its first week alone. The album features ten tracks, including the hit single "Help!" and the popular "Yesterday." The album has been widely praised for its innovative sound and catchy melodies, and has quickly become a favorite among music fans everywhere.

The album was produced by the famous producer, George Martin, who has worked with some of the biggest names in the music industry. Martin's production style is evident throughout the album, with each track featuring a unique blend of instruments and sounds.

The Beatles' latest album has already won several awards, including Album of the Year at the Grammys. The band has also been nominated for several Billboard Music Awards, including Top Artist and Top Album.

Fans of The Beatles can expect more great music from the band in the future. The group is currently working on their next album, which is scheduled for release in the spring. The band has also announced a North American tour, which will be their first tour in over ten years.

The success of "An Eye for an Ear" has solidified The Beatles' status as one of the greatest bands of all time. The album has reached the top of the charts in over fifteen countries, and has sold over twenty million copies worldwide. The band's influence continues to be felt today, with numerous tribute bands and covers of their songs still popular today.

Overall, "An Eye for an Ear" is a must-listen for all music fans. The album is available now, and is sure to be a hit with fans of all ages. So don't miss out on this incredible musical masterpiece.
