The general faculty voted yesterday to postpone any decision regarding the revision of the academic calendar for a period of two weeks to allow ample time for discussion of the proposal by the entire college community terminating in a general referendum.

Many questions were raised as to how the voting by the students, faculty and administration should be weighed. Some faculty members felt that the proposal should not be adopted unless all three bodies were in favor of the motion. Other members were concerned that the views of the evening and graduate students might not receive ample consideration. It was resolved that the administration would determine both the date of the referendum and the manner in which the votes will be considered.

The proposal basically establishes four sessions for the academic year, as compared to the two main sessions and the one summer session currently employed. For the complete proposal, refer to the March 1 issue of Ticker.

We are pleased that the faculty has seen fit to postpone their decision, since there has not been ample time for all students to study and question the merits or disadvantages of the proposal. We only hope that the faculty does propose adequate discussion during class hours in the time available, and that students do look into the proposal closely both in and out of the classroom.

Most of all, we feel that the administration must devise an equitable method of weighing the ballots, so that all members of the college community are fairly represented. When the proposal was made that administration write the plan for it to be implemented, they pointed out that the faculty can best determine the outcome regardless of student sentiment.

It seems that for the first time in memory, B.B.C. has come up with something that benefits the students, and we sincerely hope that the administration does not give the faculty the final word without considering student feelings.
After only a year since its formation, the Baruch Missionary Union is co-ed. The first all-female meeting was held on March 16, 1971, to discuss the unique nature of the organization and its goals.

Ombudsman Declares Parker Winner

Dr. Seymour M. Kwerel, the Baruch ombudsman, declared Jeffrey Parker the winner of the 1971 presidential election of the AAAA. The final tally was held to check possible unfairness to either candidate, and Parker received 437 votes compared to 235 for Mr. Karo.

Assemblyman Assemble at Baruch

The last annual meeting of the American Marketing Association (AMA) was held on March 20th, 1971, at Baruch College. The meeting included a pro and con talk of "Marketing," a valuable aid to any student interested in this field. The purpose of the AMA is to assist members to achieve their professional goals.
Students Join In Faculty Evaluation

COHEN SPEAKS ON REGISTRAR

Mr. George Fisher

TICKER

I have your letter concerning what you call "the unfortunate state of affairs in the registrar's office." You wrote that the Registrar's Office is not able to handle complaints and student requests. I would like to point out that in the past there have been several attempts to improve the situation. The registrar has been replaced several times, and additional staff members have been added. However, there are still many complaints about the service provided by the registrar's office.

I would like to suggest some solutions that might improve the situation. First, the registrar's office should be open longer hours, especially during peak times such as registration periods. Second, more staff members should be hired to handle complaints and requests. Third, a system for tracking complaints and requests should be established to ensure that they are being handled properly.

I hope that these suggestions will be considered in the future. Thank you for bringing this issue to my attention.

Jerome E. Cohen
Acting President

Gal tent To Speak At Baruch

A New York City Planning Commissioner will address the College’s Autumn ’71 committee on the afternoon of Tuesday, March 15 at 4 p.m. in the Student Center. Mr. David Fineberg is a member of the Planning Commission who is responsible for the city’s planning functions. He has been involved in many important projects in the city, including the comprehensive plan for the development of Long Island City. His speech will focus on the future of urban planning in the city and the challenges that lie ahead.

I hope that this event will be well attended by students and faculty. It is an excellent opportunity to learn more about the planning process and the role that planners play in shaping the city’s future.

I encourage everyone to attend and participate in this event. Thank you for your attention.

cc: Mr. Robert Secker

COMMENTS

Hunter Governance Plan Approved

A 290-member College Senate, addressing the continuing series of Senate meetings, will meet on Thursday, March 18 at 4:30 p.m. in the Student Union. The meeting will focus on the governance plan approved by the Hunter College faculty. The plan outlines the structure and functions of the Senate, as well as the procedures for making decisions and implementing policies. The Senate has voted to approve the plan, which will now be presented to the Board of Trustees for ratification.

I hope that everyone will attend and participate in this meeting. Thank you for your attention.

Jerome E. Cohen
Acting President

Sociology Society

Holdings Meeting

The Sociology Society held its first meeting last Thursday, March 11. The meeting was held in the Sociology Department, and was attended by approximately 20 students. The meeting was led by the faculty sponsor, Dr. Ruth Bronner.

During the meeting, the students were introduced to the goals and objectives of the Sociology Society. The students were also given an outline of the activities that will be taking place throughout the semester. The students were encouraged to participate actively and to provide suggestions for future meetings.

I hope that everyone will participate in the Society and contribute to its success. Thank you for your attention.

Jerome E. Cohen
Acting President

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Intramural-Racquetball Program—Spring ’71

The Intramural-Racquetball Program is now open for registration.报名将于3月20日截止。The program includes a wide variety of activities, such as tennis, squash, and volleyball. The registration fee is $5 for each sport, and the program will run from April 1 to June 30.

I hope that everyone will participate in the program. Thank you for your attention.

Jerome E. Cohen
Acting President

REPORT ON INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

On Feb. 24, 1971, the Intramural Basketball Tournament was held in the Athletics Center. The tournament was attended by more than 100 students, and included a variety of teams from different colleges.

The tournament was divided into two divisions: Men’s and Women’s. The Men’s division was won by the College of Staten Island, while the Women’s division was won by the College of the City University of New York.

I hope that everyone will participate in future tournaments. Thank you for your attention.

Jerome E. Cohen
Acting President

Y’ALL COME!!

COUNTRY DAY AT BARUCH

WITH

PIUTE PETER

GREATEST HOG-CALLER EAST OF THE ROCKIES

FRIDAY, March 19

OAK and MARBLE LOUNGES

presented by

CLASS OF ’73

FOOD & GOODIES SERVED

Mar. 16, 1971
ABORTION

It is the responsibility of the editors to determine exactly what gets printed in Ticker. Advertising receives the same considerations as any other literature which are submitted. For this reason Ticker will, until the editors think otherwise, have no ads.

Unfortunately for us and our readers as well, it took a ludicrous, ridiculous ad for us to realize the baseness of those agencies. The ad stated that any woman who used the particular agency would receive, in addition to the abortion, two free tickets to a Broadway show and a free night's stay in a New York Hotel.

The majority of these commercial agencies offer no psychological counseling and no post-abortion methods of contraception. It's very easy to start your own referral agency with a few ads in some papers and you're all set. The cost of the actual operation itself should be well under $200, but yet these agencies are getting anywhere from $500-1000 just for talking to you over the telephone. Very often a woman seeking an abortion outside N.Y. is led to believe the representative of one of these agencies face to face.

George Fisher Warren Alexander

WOMEN WILL DEMONSTRATE AGAIN: NEW YORK ANTI-ABORTION LEGISLATION

NEW YORK (LNS) — At least 24 bills will soon be put before the Albany Committee on Constitutional Rights. New York State has probably the strongest anti-abortion sentiment in the hands of the Albany Committee. These bills are in the hands of the members of the Constitutional Rights Committee. They are opposed to anything that is in the way of abortion.

The second group of excluded registrants was the so-called moral, ethical, or religious objection. These were registrants who were opposed to the draft on moral, ethical, or religious grounds.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.

The second group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The third group of excluded registrants consisted of registrants who were opposed to the draft on the ground of personal inconvenience or hardship.

The most striking feature of the legislative history of the Army and Navy Act of 1917 is the fact that the law was passed without the concurrence of Congress.
VIETNAM LETTER

DEAR CONGRESSMAN: I take note in hand to complain of the brutal and undignified tactics used by the United States Army in the conduct of the war in Vietnam. It is this writer who is a former combat veteran of the war in Vietnam, and I testify to the brutality and inhumane treatment of the Vietnamese people. I was a POW for over five years, and I can speak from personal experience.

The treatment of prisoners of war is a violation of international law and a war crime. The United States government has engaged in a policy of torture and murder, and I demand an end to this barbaric practice.

Sincerely yours,
[Signature]
CRITIC

PARAMOUNT PICTURE

HOW DO I LOVE THEE? LET ME TELL YOU THE STORY OF A NEW LEAF starring Maureen Stapleton, Barbara Barrie, Richard Crenna and Chuck Robertson. The film is about a group of friends who decide to spend a weekend together in the country. As they relax and enjoy each other's company, they begin to realize that their lives have become a series of routines and that they need to break out of their comfort zones. The story is both funny and poignant, and it reminds us of the importance of friendship and of taking the time to appreciate the people we love.

A NEW LEAF (A Paramount Picture) directed by George Lucas. Produced by Lawrence Sturhahn. Written by George Lucas. Music by Lalo Schifrin. Executive Producer, Francis Ford Coppola. The story is about a group of friends who decide to spend a weekend together in the country. As they relax and enjoy each other's company, they begin to realize that their lives have become a series of routines and that they need to break out of their comfort zones. The story is both funny and poignant, and it reminds us of the importance of friendship and of taking the time to appreciate the people we love.

A new film has been released that is sure to please fans of the action genre. "Murphy's War" is an action thriller that follows the story of a young man who goes to war in order to find his missing father. The film is directed by John Milius and stars Mel Gibson, who plays the lead role of Murphy. The story is a classic tale of good versus evil, and it is sure to keep audiences on the edge of their seats. The film has received critical acclaim, with many praising the performances of the actors and the direction of the film. "Murphy's War" is a must-see for anyone who loves action films.

ACADEMIA

Facts in Black and White

Baruch is considered undesirable because it has a student body that is mostly black. Baruch Business Manufacturers and The School of Public Affairs.

The Department of Compensatory Education at Baruch was established in 1965. Its purpose was to provide educational opportunities for students who were not enrolled in the regular curriculum. The department was later renamed the Department of Counseling and Development.

The Baruch College Band played music at the opening of the new campus. The band included a variety of instruments, including the saxophone, trumpet, and drum set.

Dept. of Student Personnel Services and The Math Department bring you

FOLK ROCK CONCERT

TONI KOSINEC vocals—guitar

plano—flute

electric—bass

BAD GIRL SONGS

(lust released Columbia album)

THURSDAY—MARCH 18

12:30-1:30 5:30-6:30

OLIVE OAK—STUDENT CENTER

(recommended by Paul Winter)

Is It A Coincidence?

It seems to me that information is everywhere. People are constantly talking about it, reading about it, and writing about it. However, I don't think that this is just a coincidence. I think that there is a reason why people are so interested in information. It is because information is important. Information is what allows us to make decisions and to understand the world around us. It is what allows us to learn and to grow.

One of the most common coincidences is that people tend to think that they are not being listened to. This is often the case when people are speaking in a group, and everyone else is talking. However, this is not necessarily a coincidence. It is simply a fact of life. When people are talking, they tend to listen to each other, and they may not hear what the person who is speaking is saying.

In my opinion, the most important thing that people can do is to listen to each other. This is not always easy, but it is important. When people listen to each other, they are able to understand each other, and they are able to work together.

In conclusion, I think that information is important, and I think that people are interested in it because it is important. However, I also think that there is a reason why people are interested in it. It is because information is important, and it is important for people to listen to each other.
Divorce presents those cute little boys and girls from YAF, the group that is usually wrong, but always

Refuse to Pay Ransom for Professor Jay M. Finkelstein

It was Friday, the 10th of September, and the John Jay College of Law was empty. The halls were quiet, and the only sounds were the occasional footsteps of students passing by. Suddenly, there was a commotion in the hall. People were running, shouting, and screaming. The atmosphere was tense and filled with anxiety.

It was a group of people who had gathered outside the office of Professor Jay M. Finkelstein, a well-known law professor and author of several books on law and freedom of speech. The group was composed of students and young radicals, members of the Young Americans for Freedom (YAF) organization.

The students had gathered outside the office to protest the professor's outspoken views on freedom of speech and his support for the John Birch Society. They had been planning this protest for several weeks, and they were determined to make a statement.

The group had arrived early in the morning, determined to make their presence known. They had brought signs, posters, and a loudspeaker to amplify their voices. They were chanting slogans and demanding that the professor be fired for his controversial views.

The protest quickly became chaotic, with the police being called to maintain order. The students continued to shout and protest, demanding that the professor be removed from his position at the college.

Professor Finkelstein had been a frequent target of criticism by the YAF organization, and this protest was just one in a series of events that had brought him into the spotlight. The professor himself was not present at the time of the protest, as he was traveling out of town.

The incident highlighted the ongoing debate over freedom of speech and the role of universities in supporting open and diverse views. It also raised questions about the role of student organizations in influencing the academic world.

Despite the commotion, the professor's supporters were hopeful that the incident would not deter him from his work. They believed that his views were essential to the ongoing dialogue on freedom of speech and that his contributions to the field were significant.

The incident also brought attention to the growing divide between the left and right wings of American politics, with the YAF organization representing the conservative faction and the professor's supporters representing the liberal faction.

As the day wore on, the police continued to monitor the situation, ensuring that the protest remained peaceful. The students, however, remained defiant, determined to make their voices heard.

The incident highlighted the ongoing debate over freedom of speech and the role of universities in supporting open and diverse views. It also raised questions about the role of student organizations in influencing the academic world.

Despite the commotion, the professor's supporters were hopeful that the incident would not deter him from his work. They believed that his views were essential to the ongoing dialogue on freedom of speech and that his contributions to the field were significant.

The incident also brought attention to the growing divide between the left and right wings of American politics, with the YAF organization representing the conservative faction and the professor's supporters representing the liberal faction.

As the day wore on, the police continued to monitor the situation, ensuring that the protest remained peaceful. The students, however, remained defiant, determined to make their voices heard.
各种方式来实现这些目标。这主要是由于其强大的赞助力量。另一方面，电影制作人也试图通过增加对观众的吸引力来获得更多的利润。

《桥上的人质》是达里欧·莱恩的作品。这部电影是为1971年圣诞节制作的。它是一部伟大的电影，以超凡的成就。它包括了那些在1963年获得了“奥斯卡”奖的主要艺术品，以及1971年的“奥斯卡”奖。因此，它是一年中的超级之作。

导演达里欧·莱恩，电影的制作人，是这个伟大演员的时代。他成功地扮演了那个角色，使观众投入到他的表演中。莱恩的表演是如此的细腻，以至于观众很难从影片中移开视线。

电影的评论家评论说，达里欧·莱恩的表演是值得称赞的。他成功地将一个需要被拯救的人质的内心世界表现出来。观众在看完这部电影后，对达里欧·莱恩的表演留下了深刻的印象。

达里欧·莱恩的成功是由于他在电影中的表演。他成功地将一个需要被拯救的人质的内心世界表现出来。观众在看完这部电影后，对达里欧·莱恩的表演留下了深刻的印象。
A Freak Speaks ........................................... 11
Abortion .................................................. 7
Academia ................................................. 11
Announcements ......................................... 2
Comments ............................................... 5
Critie ..................................................... 10
Doctor's Bag ............................................ 14
Editor Impeached ...................................... 17
Light Side-Dark Side .................................... 6
Mastering the Draft ..................................... 6
News ....................................................... 3-5
Ombudsman's Report ................................... 3
Pointed Ramblings ...................................... 13

10/5/71 (11:45) - Nixon managed to fulfill one of his campaign promises and pull a small part of the country together for a few hours this week. Together in opposition to his foreign and domestic policies.

Three thousand radicals, peace people, construction workers and farmers were waiting on the steps of the Iowa Statehouse when Nixon arrived there to address the State Legislature.

Four hundred city policemen, highway patrolmen and FBI agents were also on hand to protect the president and engineer his arrival at the capital's side door.

Before the president showed up, the demonstrators—cowboys, long-hairs and hardhats, according to the Des Moines Register mingled on the steps, chanting slogans and waving signs. About half were there to protest the Indochina War, especially the latest invasion of Laos.

The others were farmers and construction workers fed up with Nixon's failure to keep campaign promises and disgusted at his attempts to cover up the gaps.

The administration has singled out high wages as the cause of inflation in the construction industry, and has suspended the federal construction jobs. But, in fact, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics the price of labor is a smaller chunk of the in 1969, 3 percent of the cost of a house now. The biggest increase was actually in the cost of land and financing.

The new wage policy means that bricklayers—the highest paid construction workers—could get less than $4.20 an hour in Iowa, where they usually can work year-round.

While Nixon was speaking before the Iowa Legislature, Iowa Representative John Dickey was assailing the president's trip as "an obvious road show of snake-oiled salesmanship. . . . rural areas are an administration afterthought—ripe for a short stop to Iowa to reiterate two years of unfulfilled promises."

Nixon has been blocking the release of $56 million appropriated for rural water and soil conservation programs, and has tried to eliminate the special milk program. Many farmers simply have not income and aren't impressed with the $1.1 billion earmarked for rural development in Nixon's proposed revenue sharing program.

The different demonstrators were a little uneasy in the crowd. When peace people chanted "1, 2, 3, 4, we don't want your fucking war," one woman held her hands over her child's ears and a hardhat threatened to wash mouths with soap. But all kinds of people three snowballs when Nixon emerged from the building to return to his hotel.