WINGFIELD BEGINS SEARCH FOR TWO NEW DEANS

President Wingfield began procedures to search for two new Deans to lead the School of Business and the School of Liberal Arts and Science. The President issued letters to the Students and Faculty of the College informing them of his activities.

The letters are as follows:

Dear Colleagues:

When I assumed the responsibilities of this office on July 1, the deanship of the School of Liberal Arts and Science had passed to Dr. Gerald Leinwand. Dr. Leinwand was appointed by Dean by Dr. Cohen to serve for a six-month term until January 1, 1972. During the fall semester we will undertake a search to identify a "permanent" Dean of the School of Liberal Arts and Science. If Dr. Leinwand wishes to be a candidate for the position he should be given serious consideration and his interim appointment should in no way prejudice his case. To assist me in this decision I should like to create an Advisory Committee on the appointment of a Dean of Liberal Arts and Science. The committee will consist of not more than seven members—four of whom are to be selected from the voting members of the Liberal Arts Faculty. Two members are to be selected by the undergraduate students of the college—one from the Evening and one from the Day. I will appoint the chairman from among the tenured members of the Liberal Arts Faculty. The committee will be convened in October, hence, the elections for committee members should occur at the earliest possible date.

Sincerely,

Clyde J. Wingfield President

September 17, 1971

Faculty and Students
School of Liberal Arts and Sciences

September 17, 1971

Faculty and Students
School of Business and Public Administration

Dear Colleagues:

When I assumed the responsibilities of this office on July 1, Dean Julius Mannon advised me of his wish to retire from the deanship at the earliest possible time. At my urging, Dean Mannon agreed to serve for the remainder of the calendar year. During the fall semester we will undertake a search to identify a new Dean for the School of Business and Public Administration. Hopefully, that appointment can be made effective January 1, 1972. We must move deliberately and without wasted motion in the search process. To assist me in this decision, I would like to create an Advisory Committee on the appointment of a Dean of Business and Public Administration. The committee will consist of not more than seven members—four of whom are to be selected from the voting members of the Business and Public Administration departments and programs. Two members are to be selected by the undergraduate students of the college—one from the Evening and one from the Day. I will appoint the chairman from among the tenured members of the Business and Public Administration faculty. The committee will be convened in October. Hence, the elections for committee members should occur at the earliest possible date.

Sincerely,

Clyde J. Wingfield President

Student Government

Declarations Due/Thursday

Declarations of candidacy for positions of Student Government age due on Thursday, September 30. The applications are available in Room 411 of Student Center. The positions that are available are as follows:

- Chairman
- Vice-Chairman
- Treasurer
- President of each Class
- Coordinator of Political Affairs
- Coordinator of External Affairs
- Coordinator of Educational Affairs
- Coordinator of Campus Affairs

Also needed are four students for the BCCC, and one representative to Ticker Association.

LAPICQUE SHOWING

In singling out the works of Charles Lapicque for the first Student Center Art Exhibition of the school year, the Center is presenting something which should not only "a generation gap," but also over forty years of leadership in the ever developing techniques and approaches of avant-garde abstract painters. These graphics represent the inspired hand of a great French painter, and illustrate how the creative spirit remains young and searching and passionate through this long unwinding of time.

Charles Lapicque was born in Theibe, Prix district of France in 1889, and began the study of music at age five, of drawing in grammar school. He studied painting, sculpture, and music at the Academie Libre in Paris while earning his Doctor of Science degree. Under the influence of Jean Bucher, influential French art dealer, Lapicque spent more and more time painting, although a professor and eminent scholar—writer in physics. In 1925, his first major work, Tribute to France," was hailed in critics and is today an historically important work in the emergence of 20th Century abstract painting.
ANNOUNCEMENTS

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1971

Hilse. Dance
Oct. 2nd
$1.00-members
$1.50-non-members
Live Band
Student Center

Deep Dark Registration
Frustration, Volume II

To close, I wish to acknowledge a few people who are helping in the processing of this extended report.

This is not the end.
NEW DEANS

The Advisory Committee for the search for the Deans of the School of Arts and the Business School have been meeting for two years for what they are describing as an organized manner. The Deans should have the time that this faculty and the other faculty can do their job. And one who cannot attract students into his department and keep them there comfortably is inadequate. This board, especially the faculty of the School of Business, needs a Dean who will encourage and enthuse students and faculty.

"The Price of Hating Other Human Beings is Loving Oneself Less." or "There's a Shit-Storm Coming"

By Noreen Balch

"I do not want to love others. I want to be loved."

Noreen Balch, a sociology professor at the University of Illinois, states in her book, "The Price of Hating Other Human Beings is Loving Oneself Less." The book is a collection of essays and writings that explore the complex relationship between self-love and our treatment of others.

"I am not a sociologist," Balch writes. "I am not a psychologist. I am not an economist. I am not a theologian. I am a human being."

Balch argues that our treatment of others is a reflection of our own self-love. She writes, "If I am not loved, I will not love. If I am not respected, I will not respect. If I am not valued, I will not value."

"And if I am not loved, I will not be able to love.

Q: What is a twelve inch ruler?

A: A device used to measure twelve inches.

'Open Letter to the President of the University'

Dear President,

I am writing to express my concern regarding the recent decision to cut the budget for the student affairs department. This decision has serious consequences for the well-being of students and the university community.

As a member of the Student Senate, I have observed firsthand the positive impact that the student affairs department has had on the lives of our students. The department provides essential services such as counseling, academic advising, and financial assistance, among others.

Cuts to the budget will inevitably result in the reduction of these services, leading to a detrimental impact on the students' academic and personal lives. Students may struggle to access the necessary resources to succeed academically and maintain their mental and physical well-being.

I urge you to reconsider this decision and reinstate the budget for the student affairs department. The well-being of our students and the success of the university depend on the support of this crucial service.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
Beard, Beer, Moon; An Interview with Allen Ginsberg

Friday, October 6, 1972

The San Francisco Mime Troupe is preparing to go on tour to the East Coast, where the group will be performing readings and playing records from its latest album, "Wrangler," in theaters across the United States. The tour will include stops in New York, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, among other cities.

The group is also planning to release a new album, "Watson's Way," which features a collection of readings and music from its recent tour. The album will be distributed by the San Francisco Poetry Film Society and will be available at record stores nationwide.

In preparation for the tour, the Mime Troupe is also planning to perform a series of readings and discussions at local bookstores and universities. The group will be accompanied by poets and performers from the East Coast, including Tom Hayden,kd and Other Voices, who will be providing musical accompaniment.

The tour will conclude in early November, with the group returning to San Francisco to begin work on its next album, "The Great War," which is scheduled for release in the spring of 1973.

In the meantime, the Mime Troupe will be performing readings and lectures across the country, including a series of events in San Francisco and Los Angeles. The group is also planning to release a new book of poetry, "The New Lost Generation," which will be available in bookstores nationwide in the fall of 1973.

The Mime Troupe is committed to bringing the arts to the people, and the group is looking forward to its upcoming tour as a way to reach new audiences and share its message of hope and inspiration.

If you would like to learn more about the Mime Troupe or its upcoming events, please visit our website at www.sfmime.org.
Attention all male students! Good news! You no longer have to stand on line in the registrar's office every September. Just think of that. You don't have to fill out that ridiculous old SS 109 form anymore. And to whom am I being thankful for this wonderful treat? Congress and our marvellous president, Richard Wotzname, naturally.

Yes, Kids, our elected officials, by a vote of 55-30, have chosen to extend the draft another two years—and give Dirke, the power to add student deferments. What does this mean? Well, let's see. If you are currently a sophomore, junior, or senior and have your 2-A exemption, you will retain this status until graduation. However, if you are unlucky enough to be a freshman, even though you may have your 2-A, you will be subject to the draft at the end of this term in January or, if not called by them at the end of the second year.

High school students graduating in January, or, if not called by them at the end of the second year.

The draft bill also raises the recruit's basic annual salary from about $3800 to about $4800. Whoopee! Just imagine what you can do with that extra thousand dollars when you are rotting away in Vietnam or some other memorable place, like that. This is surely the way to reach your goal of an all-volunteer army, isn't it, Mr. president (note the small "p")

One thing the draft extension and the admission of student deferments will not ease the overcrowded conditions here at Millhouse. Thank you, John Banins and Richie Millhouse.

Attention all male students! Good news! You no longer have to stand on line in the registrar's office every September. Just think of that. You don't have to fill out that ridiculous old SS 109 form anymore. And to whom am I being thankful for this wonderful treat? Congress and our marvellous president, Richard Wotzname, naturally.

Yes, Kids, our elected officials, by a vote of 55-30, have chosen to extend the draft another two years—and give Dirke, the power to add student deferments. What does this mean? Well, let's see. If you are currently a sophomore, junior, or senior and have your 2-A exemption, you will retain this status until graduation. However, if you are unlucky enough to be a freshman, even though you may have your 2-A, you will be subject to the draft at the end of this term in January or, if not called by them at the end of the second year.

High school students graduating in January, or, if not called by them at the end of the second year.

The draft bill also raises the recruit's basic annual salary from about $3800 to about $4800. Whoopee! Just imagine what you can do with that extra thousand dollars when you are rotting away in Vietnam or some other memorable place, like that. This is surely the way to reach your goal of an all-volunteer army, isn't it, Mr. president (note the small "p")

One thing the draft extension and the admission of student deferments will not ease the overcrowded conditions here at Millhouse. Thank you, John Banins and Richie Millhouse.

Attention all male students! Good news! You no longer have to stand on line in the registrar's office every September. Just think of that. You don't have to fill out that ridiculous old SS 109 form anymore. And to whom am I being thankful for this wonderful treat? Congress and our marvellous president, Richard Wotzname, naturally.

Yes, Kids, our elected officials, by a vote of 55-30, have chosen to extend the draft another two years—and give Dirke, the power to add student deferments. What does this mean? Well, let's see. If you are currently a sophomore, junior, or senior and have your 2-A exemption, you will retain this status until graduation. However, if you are unlucky enough to be a freshman, even though you may have your 2-A, you will be subject to the draft at the end of this term in January or, if not called by them at the end of the second year.

High school students graduating in January, or, if not called by them at the end of the second year.

The draft bill also raises the recruit's basic annual salary from about $3800 to about $4800. Whoopee! Just imagine what you can do with that extra thousand dollars when you are rotting away in Vietnam or some other memorable place, like that. This is surely the way to reach your goal of an all-volunteer army, isn't it, Mr. president (note the small "p")

One thing the draft extension and the admission of student deferments will not ease the overcrowded conditions here at Millhouse. Thank you, John Banins and Richie Millhouse.