Sunny Day
They started off with a portfolio of 100 for Neuberger & Berman. He has managed usually stay until the end of the talk. sex talk, even though the speaker is telling The Finance Society had Mr. LawrenceTomorrow is your last chance to enter the Baruch Photo Contest check room 218 S.C. for details Judging of the contest will be on Monday May 8, 1972 at 2:00 in the North Lounge Be There refreshments will be served New York Institute of Photography Mr. Martin School of Visual Arts Miss Anne Brooks Mr. Charles Reynolds TUESDAY, MAY 2, 1972
Freshman Orientation: Evaluation and Revision

The Freshman Orientation Program in September will include the evaluation and revision of the Freshman Orientation Handbook. This will be an opportunity for the Student Government to review the program and make any necessary changes.

The Freshman Orientation Handbook is a guide for incoming freshmen and their parents, providing information about the college and its resources. It is also a valuable tool for the Student Government, as it helps to ensure that all students are aware of the resources available to them.

The purpose of the evaluation and revision process is to ensure that the Freshman Orientation Handbook is up-to-date and relevant, and that it meets the needs of incoming freshmen. The Student Government will work with the administration and faculty to make any necessary changes, and will consult with incoming freshmen to gather feedback on the handbook.

In addition to the handbook, the Freshman Orientation Program will also include a variety of other activities and events, such as welcome receptions, informational sessions, and tours of the campus. These activities are designed to help incoming freshmen feel welcome and to provide them with the information they need to succeed in college.

The Student Government is committed to making the Freshman Orientation Program a success, and is looking forward to working with the administration and faculty to ensure that all incoming freshmen have a positive and productive experience.
Question of the Week

by Steve Hiller

Are you going to have a bar mitzvah this year? If so, how do you plan to celebrate it? If not, why not? What did you do for your last one? Did you receive any gifts?

Letters

Frank Markham - Upper Junior

"Why don't they ever get it?" is a very common phrase in the halls of Baruch. For many years I have been just as perplexed as the more recent generation. But you should try to understand that many students do not know the purpose of the Student Senate, and many others just feel that it is of no use to them. The Senate works to provide better student-faculty relations. The Senate is a group of students elected by the students to represent them. We, as the Senate, are trying to improve the quality of life for all students. We have done much in the past, and we are working hard to do more. We cannot do everything, but we can try to do something. We invite you to attend our meetings and participate in our discussions.

To the Editor:

I am writing to express my dissatisfaction with the way the Student Senate is operating. It seems to me that the Senate is not doing anything to improve the quality of life for students. The Senate is not doing enough to make the school a better place to study. I think that the Senate should be more active in solving student problems.

Sincerely,

Student

Respectfully,

New Professor

The President,

The Student Senate

Dear President:

I would like to express my concern about the way the Student Senate is operating. It seems to me that the Senate is not doing anything to improve the quality of life for students. The Senate is not doing enough to make the school a better place to study. I think that the Senate should be more active in solving student problems.

Sincerely,

Student

Student Power

The strong display of student power shown at the faculty meeting should be taken as a warning by the faculty. Students want to have a voice in the running of the college and should be given more respect by the faculty. The students have shown that they are capable of organizing and working together to achieve their goals.

Unlimited Cuts

The lack of consultation shown by the faculty for the student body is a concern to the members of the Ticker Association. We have been working with the Student Senate for the betterment of the students and the faculty. The lack of consultation is a problem that needs to be addressed.

To Mr. Valdez: Is your opinion on the school administration of the Ticker Association? Please respond to this question.

To Dr. Koerner: It is a good idea to consult with the Student Senate for the betterment of the students and the faculty. The lack of consultation is a problem that needs to be addressed.

Sincerely,

FREDIE GREENBLATT

President

Editor

Editor-in-Chief

News and Features Editor

FREDIE GREENBLATT

MARGO JAFFIS

Circulation Manager

ROBERT BARRETT

Associate Editor

LINDA MALTULA

Executive Editor

ROBERT BARRETT

Associate Editor

FREDIE GREENBLATT

Managing Editor

ROBBIE MULLIN

News and Features Editor

JOHN SALADAYO

BUSINESS MANAGER

DONNA SULLO

DENTIC MICHIELSON

Advertising Manager

DENTIC MICHIELSON

NOREEN BALCH

Literary Editor

NOREEN BALCH

TUESDAY MAY 3, 1973

TICKER

"There are no easy answers, no good questions, no heroism. The world is a very dangerous place to live." —ROBERT BARRETT

LINDA MALTULA

Executive Editor

ROBBIE MULLIN

News and Features Editor

DONNA SULLO

BUSINESS MANAGER

NOREEN BALCH

Literary Editor

TICKER

"There are no easy answers, no good questions, no heroism. The world is a very dangerous place to live." —ROBERT BARRETT

LINDA MALTULA

Executive Editor

ROBBIE MULLIN

News and Features Editor

DONNA SULLO

BUSINESS MANAGER

NOREEN BALCH

Literary Editor

TICKER

"There are no easy answers, no good questions, no heroism. The world is a very dangerous place to live." —ROBERT BARRETT

LINDA MALTULA

Executive Editor

ROBBIE MULLIN

News and Features Editor

DONNA SULLO

BUSINESS MANAGER

NOREEN BALCH

Literary Editor

TICKER

"There are no easy answers, no good questions, no heroism. The world is a very dangerous place to live." —ROBERT BARRETT

LINDA MALTULA

Executive Editor

ROBBIE MULLIN

News and Features Editor

DONNA SULLO

BUSINESS MANAGER

NOREEN BALCH

Literary Editor

TICKER
First Annual Spring Day

4/26/72

Photos By: Michael Arganoff
Rob Mehlrad
Steve Hiller

Layout By: Michael Arganoff
Jake Jerkowitz
The TICKER

ASSOCIATION

will hold its semi-annual

TICKER

EDITORSHIP

ELECTIONS

on Friday, May 5th, 1972

4:00 pm in Student Center

Cafeteria

ALL ARE INVITED

TO ATTEND.

Anyone interested in running for the Editorship should send a letter of declaration to:

Dr. Morris Winokur, Tickei Faculty Consultant
c/o Biology Dept.

All declarations must be in by Wed., May 3rd.

No applicant will be considered unless a letter of declaration has been received

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Finance Society

The Finance Society will hold its last meeting for the Spring Semester on Thursday, May 10th, 12-1 P.M.

in the Faculty Lounge.

John Eisen

The man who taught Neil Bergman everything he knows

Folk Singer

Friday, May 5

Oak Lounge

12-2 pm
On Being a Lady Cabdriver— or How I Couldn't Hack It

by Victoria Daroca

No matter how independent a woman is, no matter how much she has achieved in her career, how much she has fought for her rights, how much she has strived to reach the top, there is always a sense of guilt and shame when she considers the idea of becoming a cabdriver. Even if she is a successful businesswoman, a renowned journalist, a respected artist, she still feels that she is betraying her principles and her values by taking up a job that is considered beneath her.

I have been a cabdriver for three years and during that time I have had to confront my own prejudices and biases. I have had to learn to accept the fact that I am not the only one who is capable of doing this job, but that there are others who are just as capable, just as strong, just as intelligent, just as determined.

I have also had to learn to appreciate the value of the job. It is not just a means of earning a living, but it is a way of life. It is a way of seeing the world from a different perspective, of understanding the struggles and challenges of people who are different from us.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.

I have been fortunate enough to have some wonderful coworkers. They have taught me a lot about life and about myself. I have learned to respect and understand the people around me, to see them as individuals, to see them as human beings.

But it has not been easy. It has been a struggle, a battle, a fight for my right to exist as I am. It has been a battle against my own misconceptions and biases, a battle against the stereotypes and prejudices that have been imposed on me.
LADY

BY KEVIN

... by deciding was

Considering

... She didn't

... "The

by

... and

... Then, the or

... and

... Then

... and

... They

... I

... from

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and

... Those

... and

... She

... and

... They

... and

... She

... and I SEE YOU
(But I Fib A Whole Bunch)
by LINDA MATULA

Spring '74 was planned and executed by a group of concerned and involved Baruchians. Yes Virginia, there are some concerned and involved Baruchians. The group was not a part of the so-called "elite" clique. No member of the group had any more "power" to get and keep the halls rolling than any other typical Baruchian has. Spring '74 happened, and it did so because a little money was applied. It didn't have a lot of money to do it with, either. It didn't have City's budget. It didn't have $2,100. African Action Society had to work with. It didn't have as much money as the French Club, or the Art Society, P.B.I.D.E., or the Martial Arts Club. It didn't have much money at all, Spring '75 did have something behind it that this columnist has spoken about previously. It had a world's supply of spirit. An estimated 4,000 students added to that spirit. Two well known bands, the New York Rock Ensemble and Buzzy Lythart, added to that spirit. Showgrass Landscaping added trees to that spirit. Pepsi-Cola added free refreshments to that spirit. Sparkling and Coca-Cola added to that spirit. Monsanto added a gorilla added to that spirit. And several stations and newspapers added their spirit to that spirit. None of the student editors, or the students, were all that far-fetched. It is a well known fact that even the more improbable ideas have been suggested. It is a well known fact that the student editors of this school have ever required as little money. Maybe some of you clubs just aren't meeting the needs of the student body. Maybe some of you club people should ask around and see how it's done. We know you all try to get more people interested in your events and, how you try and cut costs. We tell the time—It'll do a whole bunch.

For those of you who participated in the Spring Day activities, I have another group to invite you to. It's just as exciting, a little less noisy, and a lot more realistic. It's the Ticker Editor Elections. The event will be held Friday, May 5th. All are welcome to run for editor if they feel qualified. All are urged to attend the interviews. The semi-annual event is practically the only time you may have the chance to say what you want your voice (TICKER) to say. Don't be FOOLISH. It does matter who the editor of Ticker is. Importance of events does not play a supreme role in what gets printed in a paper. The Editor does. He determines what information you'll be getting, and what you won't. He can make your opinions heard. No matter how far-fetched it may seem, Ticker is a vital organ in this school. It is certainly worth calling about. Come to the Ticker office (M.T.) late Friday afternoon. Those of us who are not available from 10:00 to 4:00. We will see you there, where the elections are being held.

Student Senate Meetings

Tuesday
3:00 PM
4S

Thursday
3:00 PM
4S