Starting Salaries For College Graduates

Slight Gains

Although the average starting earnings for graduates increased slightly this year, the differences are relatively few. While some women's wages increased modestly, men's saw a much sharper climb. This year's modest increases will be offset somewhat by inflation, which is expected to rise to about 4.5 percent.

Baruch's career placement director, Paul T. Rusch, said that while the overall trend remains positive, the increases are relatively few. While some women's wages increased modestly, men's saw a much sharper climb. This year's modest increases will be offset somewhat by inflation, which is expected to rise to about 4.5 percent.

Information compiled by the College Placement Council for its 25th Annual Survey of Placements shows that the average starting salary for men this year was $5,250, up from $4,975 last year. Among women, the average starting salary was $3,750, up from $3,600 last year.

The survey was conducted among 145 participating institutions in the United States and Canada, with data compiled by the Council's career services offices. The average starting salary for women this year was $3,750, up from $3,600 last year. Among men, the average starting salary was $5,250, up from $4,975 last year.

This year's modest increases are due to a combination of factors, including inflation, which is expected to rise to about 4.5 percent. In addition, the survey shows that the average starting salary for women this year was $3,750, up from $3,600 last year. Among men, the average starting salary was $5,250, up from $4,975 last year.

Registrations! Take it down and if it doesn’t work—well, try registered again! Although most of it is over, there are still many people who are yet to register. It is not late! It is not too late to register. The idea is the registrar’s dream come true, what with the many students who are yet to register and the help of the registrar. Please help the registrar by registering as soon as possible. 1. When calling for registration, be sure to have cash with you. 2. When registering, be sure to have your student card with you. 3. When registering, be sure to have your student card with you. 4. When registering, be sure to have your student card with you.

Dear Dean Sempore:

I am writing to express my concern about the opening hour of the Student Center being set too late. I want the Student Center opened at 8:00 A.M. and my reason is that this will save students a lot of time. They can then register before 9:00 A.M. and have a lot of time to complete work needed for the functioning of the Student Center.

Sincerely,

Robert Barrett

Castle's Burning

by Bob Matlock

It's been less than two weeks since college has started and already there are signs of a new life on campus. The Student Center is bustling with activity as students gather to socialize and enjoy the facilities. It seems as though the new semester is off to a good start.

Student Body Politick

by Andrew Frankenthal

The beginning of the end or the beginning of the new day at the Student Center was the student body meeting at which the new President, Stephen Hiller, was elected. The meeting was held in the Student Center at 8:00 A.M. and was attended by a large number of students.

“Into the Valley of Death - Reluctantly”

The decision not to allow students into the Student Center until 8:00 A.M. is causing a stir among the student body. Some students feel that it is unfair to them and that they should be allowed into the Student Center earlier.

The White World Discovers Black English

By Paul and Mildred Frizzell

Those of you who have listened to the radio programs of our Negro friends and neighbors, you will have noticed that they speak the language in terms of "they", "him", and "her". These words are used to designate the race of the speaker and are often accompanied by the word "black" or "Negro". The use of these words is a result of the influence of Black English, a variant form of the English language, on the speech of the white world. Black English is spoken by many people in the United States, and it is a phenomenon that has been studied by linguists for many years.

The term "Black English" was coined by a professor of linguistics, who was one of the first to study this phenomenon. Baruch Committee to End the War

To The Student Body

In the past the student body of this school has been known for its ability to set the student government of the Baruch Community. You might not be looking for anything like that, but you would be surprised at the possibilities of this school. And, if you do want a student government that can accomplish something, you are welcome to come up with 10 or 15 other students and have a try.

J.D.L. Plans Kibbutz

Visit. You may now or whenever you wish, come up to the J.D.L. house to see the new student club. It is a small club with a few members, but it is growing fast. It has a small library, a few tables and chairs, and a few other things. It is a good place to meet new people and discuss the problems of the Jewish community.

The J.D.L. house is located on the corner of 1st and 3rd Avenue. It is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. every day. It is a small club with a few members, but it is growing fast.
