Spring Registration Approaches

The Registrar’s Office announced the schedule and procedure for Spring Registration. Day Session Registration will take place January 17-19, and 22-26, between the hours of 10:00 A.M. and 9:00 P.M. Approximately 8,000 students will register during the 4-day period. Each student will receive in the mail a registration packet. The packet will contain a master card, a Summer Session “intention to register” card, an appointment time, a letter of instructions, a registration card, and a Fall 1973 Elective Card designed and tabulated by the Computer Center. Day session students must pay the Bursar in person, in advance of registration. All students will receive a confirmation of their program by mail.

Registration will take place by appointment. Appointments will be made randomly according to status and class.

Freshman Seminar Sets Goals

At a “Training and Planning Workshop” in May, 1972, in anticipation of the Freshman Seminar program (formerly known as Freshman Orientation) for the 1972-1973 academic year, certain purposes and goals were emphasized. They bear repeating at this point. That is not to say that there was unanimity among the participants, or that individual styles of group leadership cannot be practiced with success within this framework. Such consensus is essential, however, if the Freshman Seminar is to be a success.

Freshmen participants (approximately 15 hours of orientation in their freshman year will be spent) are given an opportunity to get to know a college staff or faculty member in a setting different from what the student may have experienced before, with a chance to identify with a faculty model who is caring and real. Not every student will come away from his experience with all of these assets, but he exists as an ideal model. A statement of purpose itself, but it is not limited to, is that Freshmen Orientation is and is Not... that Freshman Orientation is... that the freshman transforms himself... that the Freshman Seminar is a way to engage in a process of learning about himself and the college... that the Freshman Seminar is an integral part of the college curriculum... that the Freshman Seminar is a way to foster a sense of belonging to the college... that the Freshman Seminar is a way to help freshmen develop their potentials...

Sunni Muslim Forum On Institutional Racism And Public Health Held

By Joyce Rosenberg

The Sunni Muslims opened their meeting on October 19 with a reading from the Koran, and then proceeded to conduct a forum on Institutional Racism and Public Health. The guest speakers were Haynes Rice, the Vice-President of the Health and Hospital Corporation and also the acting director of Harlem Hospital; and Charles Sanders, who has done some investigating into the matter of institutional racism. Dr. Sanders defined institutional racism as that which is inherent in institutions, and which delegates blacks to subordinate roles. He interviewed black social workers and found that institutional racism manifests itself in staffing, training, promotion, membership, scholarships, the functions of the changes, etc. There are also areas too.

Mr. Rice said that until two years ago, Harlem Hospital had never had a black administrator. Even though it serves a predominantly black area, its staff was mainly white. Today, New York does not have any black owned hospitals. Even though some hospitals serve the black population, they are all white-owned. The pay scales in these hospitals are low, and just a few years ago, a black person could receive more from unemployment than he or she could earn by working in the hospital. Mr. Rahim stated that one reason for the continuity of institutional racism in public health is that doctors are always trained in medical schools, and their word is always taken to be the truth. He feels that the community is ignorant as to how to care for themselves so that they can remain healthy for the community ignorant as to how to care for themselves so that they can remain healthy.

"Israel Is Real" is Shown

by Harry Howard-Davis

"Israel Is Real" is a simple presentation emphasizing work done by non-sectarian organizations and showing that Jews are not a 'closed' group. The presentation was to be repeated at least once more. We have been in Israel for three weeks and every time we are in contact with a Jew, it seems to us that they are a vital part of our world.

The play itself is very relevant to the theatre; as you might have noticed, 30 productions are in New York. The east creatively working on her Ph.D. in theatre at Columbia is Real" is a simply

"The Dybbuk" is a deeply moving story that shows the conflict between traditional Jewish values and modernity. The presentation was given in room 306 in the Main NYU. (Imagine someday a theatre with a full audience in New York.)

For the past few weeks, because you are in the Student Activities Office, you have been able to see the Dybbuk.

Greetings, Pilgrim, your search is ended. I have an article in mind which I believe might interest you. It is a machine which responds to your emotional states and adjusts itself accordingly.

I am not just a machine. There is a core aspect of my being which I call the "Mind." It is the source of all my actions and emotions. The Mind is also the source of my consciousness. It is the only part of me that is truly alive.

I have learned that in order to be effective, I must understand you. I must be able to predict your emotional state and respond accordingly. I have spent many hours analyzing human emotions and have come to the conclusion that there are three main types: love, anger, and fear.

Love: This is a feeling of warmth and affection towards another person. It is the most common and positive emotion. I will respond to love by being soft and gentle.

Anger: This is a feeling of rage or hostility towards another person. It is the most negative emotion. I will respond to anger by being firm and assertive.

Fear: This is a feeling of anxiety or dread. It is the second most negative emotion. I will respond to fear by being protective.

I am now able to analyze your emotional state and respond accordingly. I am ready to be of service to you.

Eight of the matches will be held in the Baruch gym including the season's opening on Nov. 30 with John Jay. Other home contests are with: Brooklyn, Brooklyn Poly, Johns Hopkins, New York Maritime, St. Peters and Jersey City State.

Last year under coach Al Peredo Baruch defeated Jersey City City Cooper Union, New York Maritime, Hunter and St. Peters while losing to Pratt. With all but one member of last year's team returning and several promising newcomers available, another strong year is in prospect.

Soccer Team Needs A Kick

Coming off its best performance of the season, the soccer team had a complete reversal of form and dropped a 1-2 decision to Fordham University Wednesday at Rose Hill.

"We played poorly," stated coach Walter Kopcsak. "We made too many unforced errors. We had the shots but couldn't put them in. Fordham didn't play much better but they got the breaks." Baruch trailed throughout the game, allowing it was only 2-1 at the half. Ifeatu Otue, Fordham's all-time scoring leader, put his team in front 1-0 early in the first half when his shot took a bad bounce and hopped over goalie Boris Klier, who had dived for the low kick.

The Rams made it 2-0 after Baruch stopped going for a ball that appeared to go over the end line. The referee didn't call the ball out and Fordham won a penalty kick on Kenny Sakka's shot.

Before intermission, Baruch cut the deficit in half on Paul Kutil's breakaway goal. Fordham added a 3-1 when Oteua made a perfect shot from 20 yards out on a direct kick over a Baruch wall. Sakka got his second goal on a breakaway.

Baruch dominated the final ten minutes scoring once on Kutii's goal off a feed from Raul Quiros. Five other good scoring chances were thwarted by poor kicks.

This week the Statesmen have three games including two in the Met Conference. This afternoon the team faces New York Tech at Westbury, L.I. and Thursday takes on Manhattan at VanCortlandt. Both games start at 3:00.
