Budget Talks Highlight Senate Meeting

After two previous meetings devoted to passing club budgets, the Senate again failed to complete this piece of business at its meeting of Wednesday, November 6.

The majority of the budgets submitted by Baruch organizations, which had already been approved by the Fees Committee, life were passed. Those clubs, however, that for one reason or another needed representation and had none, such as the German Club and Yavneh, were tabled until today's meeting.

The meeting began late because a quorum was not reached until almost a half hour after the meeting's 5 P.M. scheduled start. Due to secretary Robert Rodriguez's absence, the minutes from the previous meeting were not ready and their reading was thereby eliminated.

WCRB's budget was the first to be acted on. General manager Steve Katz, with two members of his staff, explained that the radio station wants to buy equipment, all of it portable, for expansion into the Freshman Center and the Main Building cafeteria. After a half hour discussion, the budget was passed.

The longest debate of the night, a full hour, was devoted to the Lamport Leaders. Freddie Greenblatt, representing the organization, asked for additional funds to provide scholarships for members of P.R.I.D.E. who, by prior agreement, would participate in the Lamport Leaders Workshop rather than conduct

Intercession Registration Definite

"Student Government accepts the fact that we cannot have registration this coming time except intersession," said Linda Matula, Chairman of Day Session Student Government, at a meeting last Friday, November 10th, in President Wingfield's conference room. "But," she noted, "no one is happy about it.

The meeting consisted of several administrators telling two students why registration could not be held December 4-14 as originally scheduled. The two students were Ms. Matula and Robert Bawer, Editor-in-Chief, Ticker; also invited but not present was Pauline Black, President of Evening Session Student Government. The Administrators were Vice President Bernard Mintz, who chaired the meeting, President Wingfield, Dean of Faculties William Monat, Dean of Business M. Lewis Temare, Registrar, and Mr. Rosenblum of the Computer Center.

The decision to reschedule the registration during the intersession was based on "good and sufficient reasons," stated Vice President Mintz. He said, the decision was not a unilateral one made by the registrar or anyone else, but came from a set of conditions. Mintz said that the Registrar's office is "totally and completely undermanned." The office just moved from part-time help to full-time help and all of the personnel will not be available until November 7th. These people have to be trained, and this is needed. A similar condition exists in the Facility

Student Barred From Faculty Negotiations

There is no student input in the contract negotiations between the Board of Higher Education and the Professional Staff Congress. The University Student Senate, the representative body of the students of City University, has been barred from any direct participation in the bargaining process.

The Senate has submitted thirty-six demands, basic to the development of student services on the campus to both the Board and the Congress. Accompanying these demands were both a twenty-page brief setting down a rationale for student participation, and a demand that a student observer be present at negotiations to make sure that student interests would be considered in bargaining.

In response, the Board has said that it has no objections to the presence of a student observer. However, the Congress has said that in its opinion student observers have nothing to do with the contract and therefore should have no part in the bargaining.

The Congress has supported its position by stating that in the past, the Senate has opposed the Congress. No mention has been made of the fact that the Senate has recently supported the Congress on two key issues: the imposition of class-size restrictions, and the establishment of a policy to announce reasons for the (Continued on Page 10)

Foreign Trade Society
Visits U.S. Customs House
by Alan Lehman
Twenty students and two faculty members of the Foreign Trade Society took a tour of the United States Customs House last Friday afternoon. The visit was arranged as a part of the program of activities during the College Newspapers convention, which the society hosted last spring. During the tour, the students were shown all the various functions of the Customs House, including the inspection and taxation of goods entering the country. This visit was particularly important to the students as they are studying foreign trade and its impact on the economy.

The honeymoon Is O-V-E-R

Part II
by Joyce Rosenberg

The honeymoon is over—ouch! I've never been so frustrated in my life. The first week of college was such a romantic adventure. We were in a world of our own, where nothing mattered except falling in love. But now, the reality of college has hit, and it's a shock. The academic workload is overwhelming, and the lack of time to spend with my new love has been a strain. We're both struggling to find a balance between our personal and academic lives. It's a tough road, and we're just starting to learn how to navigate it.

J.D.'s Speak
The Myth of 'The Jews As Sheep'
by Glenn Neubach Chairman

Thoughts of the Holocaust are so close that it is hard to believe there was ever a time when Jews lived in dignity. To me, the very mention of the word "Holocaust" brings to mind a time of horror and despair. I am haunted by the thought of the six million Jews who perished in the concentration camps. The tragedies of the Holocaust are still fresh in my mind.

When I discuss the murder of six million Jews, I usually break it down into two parts. First, the Nazi's extermination of the Jews in Europe. Then, the Nazi's extermination of the Jews in Asia. The first part is well documented and accepted by most people. The second part is not as well documented, but it is just as important.

I know that the Nazis were responsible for the murder of six million Jews, but I do not know the extent of their involvement. I believe that they were responsible for the murder of six million Jews, but I do not know the extent of their involvement. I believe that they were responsible for the murder of six million Jews, but I do not know the extent of their involvement.

I would like to relate one story of the murder of six million Jews. This story concerns the murder of six million Jews who were murdered by the Nazis. The story is told by a survivor of the Holocaust. The survivor is a man named Moshe. Moshe was a young boy when his family was sent to the concentration camp. Moshe was the only member of his family to survive.

The story of Moshe's family is one of many stories of the murder of six million Jews. It is a story that is not well known, but it is one that is important to remember.

For more information on the Holocaust, please contact the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum. They have a wealth of information on the Holocaust and they are dedicated to educating the public about this tragic event.

Baruch's A.M.A.

The Deed.

Professor Benfice underwent a drastic change during his tenure in the 1930's, said Prof. Peter Brandes. The man who once led the Jewish Community, I see it as a real exercise in brotherhood and unity. Someone once said that good things come in small packages. I would like to see the same thing happen in the political world. It is sad to see that, even if I come on in. Who says this isn't the line you've ever seen in a column, more, very deserving and well deserving. The end.

Soccer Team Ends Season

The soccer team wound up its second season of intercollegiate play Saturday by dropping a 1-0 decision to Kings Point. Earlier in the week the team rallied for three second half goals to defeat Hunter College, 4-3.

The split gave Baruch a 2-5-1 record in its first year in the Metropolitan Soccer Conference. Overall the team wound up with a 5-11-1 record playing one of the biggest schedules in the area. All 17 games were played on the road where most teams have difficulty winning.

With only two seniors on this year's squad and the prospect of getting a home field in Central Park next fall, the chances of the Statesmen posting a winning record in 1973 are good. Three of this year's losses were by one goal and four others by two goals.

The difference in the King's Point game was a penalty shot 30 minutes into the game. A bounding ball hit Baruch co-captain Henry Phanord on the arm in the penalty area. Phanord, normally a half back, was playing his first game at fullback replacing the injured Mike Mowbray. Haynes converted the free shot and that was to be the only scoring of the game.

Both teams had numerous scoring chances. "Their goalie saved the game," stated coach Walter Kopczuk. "He made four excellent saves—two on Andy Okas, one on Brian Knight and one on Paul Kutil. All were from 11 meters and in. We just didn't have a finishing touch." Kutil, Baruch's all-time leading goal scorer, missed another goal, when his shot hit the cross-bar.

Kings Point managed to split the Baruch defense several times. They got several breakaways.

However goalie Boris Kierer stopped them. "He played very well," stated Kopczuk. "He was heads up and showed good moves." Kutil, Ken Derrick and Phanord also came in for praise from the coach.

Baruch overcame a two goal deficit to defeat Hunter as Kutil scored twice and assisted on a third goal. Derrick, playing on the forward line for the first time, registered his first goal and had two assists. Knight picked up a goal and an assist.

Hunter took a 2-0 lead on goals by Teamsters and Daily. Kutil's first goal, on a rebound of a shot taken by Knight cut the deficit in half. Early in the second half the Statesmen pulled even as Kutil scored his 15th goal off a pass from Derrick. A penalty shot by Teamsters gave the Hawks the lead.

However after that Baruch took charge of the game. With 20 minutes left Derrick tied the score at 3-3 with an assist from Kutil. Nine minutes from the end Derrick centered the ball and Knight headed it into the net for the winning goal. It was his fifth of the year. The loss was in the seven league games for Hunter. Overall they have a 7-7-1 record.
