Lamport Leaders Hold Successful Workshop

by Kevin Howard Dubrow

The Lamport Leaders Society of Baruch College held its 25th Sensitivity Training Workshop on February 2-4 at Deer Park Farm Hotel, Northville Heights, New York. The two themes of the workshop were: "Behavioral Skills" which dealt with exploration of one's behavior in a group; how others perceive me, how I see myself, with emphasis on personal growth; "Helper-Helpless Relationship" which dealt with examination of behaviors, attitudes, and reactions involved in the helper-helper problem-solving relationship. The workshop was supervised by Dr. Vinny, Dr. Jim Perrone, Morty Mintz, Steve Hornberger and Leon Vance.

The workshop provided a complete learning experience which ran from 6:00 A.M. to 10:00 P.M. each day. Aside from the theme-oriented groups, the weekend featured developmental groups also referred as Diagnostic Groups (Four Group - "D" Group) and Multidisciplinary Groups (also referred to as "D" Groups). The "D" Group can be seen as an experience in social creativity and learning. The individual becomes involved in forming a new part of the group, the individual helps mold the norms and rules. The group tests these new norms and rules, and provides interesting and learning experiences. The group is structured in a way that it handles situations and issues that arise during the weekend.

The weekend provided an opportunity for Lamport Leaders to participate in activities designed to help them discover and develop their potential. The activities included a variety of exercises, such as problem-solving, decision-making, and communication techniques. These exercises were aimed at enhancing the participants' ability to work effectively as a team and to improve their interpersonal skills. The workshop also emphasized the importance of understanding and respecting others' perspectives, which is a crucial aspect of effective group dynamics.

The workshop ended with a group discussion where participants shared their experiences and insights from the weekend. The feedback was positive, with many expressing a desire to continue working on their personal and professional growth. The leaders of the Lamport Leaders Society expressed gratitude to the workshop sponsors and highlighted the importance of such events in fostering a sense of community and shared purpose among the participants.

Baruch's Own Ticket Service

by Joyce Rosenzweig

Baruch College's new ticket service, Baruch's Own Ticket Service, offers students a variety of benefits over traditional ticketing systems. The service was launched in the basement of the Student Lounge section of the student lounge of the Oak Lounge. The service was designed to be student-friendly and to provide a more efficient and convenient way for students to purchase and manage their tickets for campus events.

The service has been well-received by students, who have praised its ease of use and accessibility. The ticket service is available online and on mobile devices, which allows students to purchase tickets from anywhere at any time. This feature is particularly useful for busy students who may not have the time to purchase tickets in person.

The ticket service also offers a variety of ticket options, including single tickets, multi-event passes, and season subscriptions. This flexibility allows students to choose the option that best suits their needs and budget.

The ticket service has been praised for its affordability, with prices that are lower than those charged by traditional ticketing agencies. This has made it more accessible to a wider range of students, including those with limited budgets.

The success of the ticket service has been attributed to the efforts of the staff, who have worked tirelessly to ensure a smooth transition for students. The staff has received positive feedback from students, who have praised their efficiency and responsiveness.

Overall, the ticket service has been a resounding success, with students expressing satisfaction with the service and its benefits. The Lamport Leaders Society of Baruch College has expressed its support for the service and looks forward to continuing to work with the staff to improve and expand the service in the future.

Treasurer's Proposals Debated At First Senate Meeting

by Neison Vasquez

The Student Government meeting on Tuesday, February 5, highlighted debates on two separate proposals by Treasurer Mitch Weinberg as well as signatures for vouchers and the other on the Fees Committee.

Mr. Weinberg proposed three resolutions to the Executive Board: the first to authorize all exams to be given by the registrar; the second to authorize all exams to be given by the registrar; and the third to authorize all exams to be given by the registrar. The resolutions were passed unanimously.

The second proposal was to authorize the Treasurer to allocate the necessary printing materials for the new student handbook. The proposal was debated and passed by the Senate.

In other action, the Senate denied a grant to a Baruch student strikin. The request was denied due to the lack of sufficient information provided by the student. The Senate also discussed the need for a new student handbook and agreed to allocate funds for its production.

The meeting was adjourned to the next scheduled Senate meeting on Tuesday, February 12.

Non-Profit 2 Prove It

As students of Baruch, we should receive the maximum benefits from the services on campus. They are here to serve us and be responsive to our needs. They are supposed to add to the student's experience with a high-quality experience better than those in the outside world; but do we get the benefits? Are we receiving services as they should of which there are many, such as the Stod, Bars and Reds, and the Student Government. If the books fail, a comment be formed. With the help of THE STARS, President Definitively trying to hide something.

Possible

Possible

A possible explanation for the situation is that we are not being told the truth. There is a possibility that the administration is trying to hide something. This is supported by the fact that the books are failing. It is possible that the administration is trying to hide something that is not being reported in the books.

REVIEW OF BOOKS

I mean that the college is trying to hide something. The administration and faculty have been trying to hide something. They say that the books are failing because of the economy. But what is the economy? It is a system that is supposed to be fair and equal. It is a system that is supposed to give everyone a chance. But what is the chance? It is a chance to make a living. Is the college trying to hide something? I don't know. But I think they are. And I think they should be told.

Shirley Chisholm Comes To Baruch

The Honorable Shirley Chisholm, one of the first women to be elected to Congress, will be the featured speaker at the Second Annual Shirley Chisholm Lecture Series to be held at Baruch College. In her address on "Women and the American Political System: A Personal View," Miss Chisholm will speak about the importance of women's participation in the political process and how she, as a member of Congress, has worked to improve the lives of American women and families. The lecture will take place on Tuesday, February 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Main Auditorium at Baruch College. The event is open to the public and admission is free.

Chisholm's career in politics began in 1968 when she ran for the House of Representatives as a Democrat and won a seat in Congress. She served two terms in the House before running for the Senate in 1972, where she was the first African American woman to serve in the Senate. Chisholm was known for her strong stance on civil rights and women's rights issues, and she was a vocal supporter of the Equal Rights Amendment.

Chisholm's legacy continues to inspire today's leaders, and her lecture at Baruch College offers an opportunity for students, faculty, and the wider community to learn from her experiences and insights. The Second Annual Shirley Chisholm Lecture Series is made possible by the generosity of the Shirley Chisholm Fund, which supports programs that promote women's leadership and political participation.

Attendants are encouraged to arrive early as seating is limited. For more information, please contact the Office of Events and Communications at 212-261-1001.

Baruch Bowlers Defeat NYU, Roll Into 1st Place

With the Eastern Intercollegiate Bowling Conference season approximately two thirds completed, the race for first place is shaping up as the most intense to date. By February 4, the standings are as follows: NYU Square 71-24, 353, Baruch 59-26, 316, Pace 76-12, 356, NYU Cats 74-14, 323, Baruch 61-24, 314. Baruch's victory over NYU on February 3 and high team series (723), while Pace has the high team game (209)

Individually, all of Baruch's six players are averaging better than 200. John Katsaros, who recorded a 278 and high game series of 286 and 264, is now averaging 230.32. Louis LeTourneur has pushed his average to 205.32 with a 207, 204, 203-644 series. Bram Friedman now holds the 12th position since February 1, and Paroff left the team with a 228-89 average, has raised his average to 230.19 with back to back series of 204 and 225. Ray Hockstein is holding steady at 197.32, while the individual average of the past few weeks has been Bob Zloti. Gasser. Stu has raised his average to 234.50 with 216, 231, 230-66 series of 216, 231, 230-66, which tied for league high game series.

Even though Baruch has had some close finishes. the team has been consistent enough to keep winning and break open the league as the season winds up. After losing 7 points from S. Francis College by a 274-240 margin on December 17, Baruch could only win the title with 7 points the following week from NYU. However, without the 63-84 loss, the Bears would have been 11-1 and tied for first place.

Playing some of its finest basketball of the season, the Statesmen led off from the opening set in defeating New York Tech, 35-27, at the 9th Annual Spring Tournament on February 7. After a four-set thriller with Eastern at Anne Adams Saturday night, Baruch went down to an 8-6 defeat at the hands of Roger Williams.

The split left Baruch with a 9-3 record. They have already matched last year's victory total with six games left on the regular season schedule plus the CUNY tournament.

John Adams and John Conboy, a pair of freshmen, paced the victory over New York Tech. Adams hit for 20 points and led off for five baskets. Conboy hit a season's high of 13 points, including 9 of 12 from the field and grabbed 19 rebounds.

Baruch also got significant contributions from Bill Friedman. Harry Jordan, Louis Blais and Jimmy Holman. Jordan had 12 points and led with 18 rebounds and Holman added 11 points. Blais and Holman ended up 14 rebounds and combined for 40 assists.

Baruch wound up with 35 assists, a career high, while New York Tech committed 28 break Tech's zone defense. 30 turnovers for the good inside shot. Baruch wound up with many easy baskets and hit 55 percent of its shots.

During the last half of the Statesmen 123-57 percent of their shots as they opened a 44-36 lead. They added 13 points to the first half. The Bears meanwhile ran up several runs at selling even during two point games. Adams led Baruch with 15 points

Cory Jordan shoots a layup against N.Y. Tech as John Adams looks on. Jordan's total average is 11.3 with 223 points.

“Zoo” Glazer cam.e up with 12 points and hit four of six three point shots in the victory over New York Tech. Jordan's total average is 11.3 with 223 points.

Baruch's defense forced turnovers. The Bears hit 37 percent of their shots after getting a second opportunity. Tech's high scorer was Jimmy Holman with 11 points. Baruch outscored the Bears on the bench, 24-10. Chicago also got significant contributions from Bill Friedman. Harry Jordan, Louis Blais and Jimmy Holman. Jordan had 12 points and led with 18 rebounds and Holman added 11 points. Blais and Holman ended up 14 rebounds and combined for 40 assists.

Both baskets came after the Baruch pressure defense forced turnovers.

Two steals by Jordan who added 11 points. Jordan made three threes in the second half. The Bears hit 43 percent of their shots in the second half. The Bears outscored the Bears on the bench, 24-10. Chicago also got significant contributions from Bill Friedman. Harry Jordan, Louis Blais and Jimmy Holman. Jordan had 12 points and led with 18 rebounds and Holman added 11 points. Blais and Holman ended up 14 rebounds and combined for 40 assists.

Baruch got the ball back on the last minute of the second half thanks to a steal and Jordan hit from deep in the corner.

After Tech came within five points, the Bears tightened up defensively and faded away. They led 27-4 in the first four minutes and Adams hit three big baskets and Robinson and Conboy hit one each. Four of the buckets came off feeds from Holman. With a minute left in the first half Baruch had regained their 13 point lead.

Roger Williams currently leads for first place in the MAAC tournament. They played their last regular season game and destroyed their easy victory.

Williams used his size to优势. Tech's lack of experience forced Baruch to attack its weaknesses. The Bears put up hitting just 33 percent of its shots in the first half. The Bears drew 17 fouls, while Tech drew 30 fouls in the second half. Baruch outscored the Bears in the second half, 55-22.

Baruch had regained its 13 point lead 64-51 after the Bears hit 32 percent of their shots in the second half and the Bears hit 31 percent of their shots in the second half.
