Betta Gama Sigma To Celebrate 40th Anniversary

According to Professor Leonard Latkin, President, the Betta Gamma Sigma Honor Society will be inducting approximately 100 new students and Professor Aaron Leneman and Dean Alvin Parr at its annual induction dinner to be held on May 7th. In addition, two charter members who founded this Betta Gamma Sigma Chapter will also be honored: Professor Austin L. Day and Max Zimering.

Electors to Betta Gamma Sigma is nationally recognized as the highest academic honor conferred on students of both sexes in American colleges and universities, and the eligibility requirements, which include scholarship, integrity, character and promise of professional development, parallel those for election to Phi Beta Kappa in Liberal Arts Colleges.

This year's honorees will be Mr. Raymond Brady, Editor-in-Chief of Lou'sReview (the national sports magazine published by Dun and Bradstreet), and WCBS Business Hour commentator. At the induction ceremony Mr. Brady will speak on "The Business Graduate—And The Next Two Years."

Mr. Brady's weekend business show, "Your Dollar", is carried on the CBS radio network, and is heard on stations across the nation. He has also appeared on WCBS-TV, interviewing prominent business leaders and financial figures on the stock market, and he has scored a number of "firsts" in revealing shortages that were cropping up in the economy.

Under his editorship, the circulation of Lou'sReview has more than doubled. The magazine is now read by 220,000 business men and women working in business and economics. Lou'sReview appeared in a variety of publications, including the Reader's Digest and New York magazine.

He frequently is invited to speak before professional and educational groups, and has appeared on many television talk shows.

Interview With Bonnie Levine

Interview with Ms. Bonnie Levine, General Student Body Representative, to the Curriculum Committee for the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences (CC-SLA).

I.P.S.- March 17: You served as a member of CC-SLA. What would you say are the most important parts of this body?

LEVINE: The most important part is the opportunity to discuss the topics covered in this body.

WBWM Holds Free Dinner For Two Contest

On Thursday night, April 30th, WBWM, the student-run radio station of the College of Law, will host a free dinner for two lucky winners. The winners will be chosen from a pool of all students currently enrolled in the College of Law.

To enter, all you have to do is call 212-894-5711 and ask for the "Free Dinner for Two" contest. The deadline for entries is Wednesday, April 29th, at 5:00 PM. The winners will be notified by phone on Thursday morning.

The dinner will be held at the Graduate Club on the campus of Baruch College. The menu will include a three-course meal, including appetizers, entrees, and dessert. A cash bar will also be available.

Good luck to all entrants! The College of Law is proud to offer this unique opportunity to its students.
The Knowledge

had the Knowledge and I always would. Since that day, I have used the Knowledge to gain access to...The Towering Inferno, The Conversation, Chinatown, Shampoo, Tommy, The Night That Made America Famous, Burger King. However, I have come to the realization that the Knowledge cannot be allowed to rest in any one man; it must be shared.

Once you have decided upon the event you wish to attend, heed this warning: make sure that you arrive one hour before the event is scheduled to start. Provided you obey these words, you are then ready to follow these essential steps which climb towards the Knowledge:

1. If you are alone, walk up to the rear of the line and work your way backwards, always keeping an eye out for an empty space in the line. A person standing in a double line, a place to stand where there is no specific width, is not making any noise. One or two of them are usually present at any line.

2. If you are with another person, approach each other and perform step 1, or:

3. If there are three people, two of you perform step 2d, while the third person performs step 1.

As soon as you have made the applicable decision, pass the Knowledge to the person in front of you. As soon as you are done, you must make your move.

4. Ignore: Step into the line and, once at your desired place, say these words to the people now behind you: "What time does the movie start?" When they reply, you must continue the conversation with small talk, such as: "Have you heard anything bad about this movie?" or "How are the seats in this theater?" After you have gained their friendship and respect, you will be a respected individual. However, there are those who will refuse to respect you if the Knowledge is not shown to them. One of the major discourses you shall live by when using the Knowledge is never to offend another's dignity. Should any objections be raised, do not yourself of your intentions, gracefully extend your apologies and proceed down the line in search of another name at the bottom to remain.
