For Women Only - A Special Kudos

By Bob Guiliano

On Tuesday, March 16, CUNY and S.U.N.Y. will rally in Albany in a lobbying effort to pressure state legislators to increase state funding to CUNY.

Steve Gaynor, Baruch’s representative to the University Student Senate, spoke to President Wingfield about the significance of the rally. Wingfield agreed to send out a letter to instructors to refrain from taking attendance that day.

The demonstration, endorsed by CUNY’s and suny’s university senates, is in favor of the only plan that students, staff and faculty feel is worth fighting for. They propose that the board return to CUNY’s windfall funds that CUNY has lost on a legal technicality. They want full equity for CUNY, in state support, unlimited free access to the university, and the maintenance of the quality of the institution.

Day session student government will undoubtedly charter buses as it did for the Washington, D.C., rally last semester. Read the next TICKER for confirmation and further developments.

On December 15, 1975, the Board of Higher Education authorized four weeks of "payless furloughs" for all City University employees. The Board originally contemplated payless holidays with no reduction in work schedules. The Chancellor and the Council of Presidents have now recommended that "furloughs" begin the week of March 22 as the first of four separate one-week periods, during which the colleges will be closed. Staffs are mobilizing actions to stop the implementation of these plans.

The awards were presented to five outstanding women at Baruch. Dr. Gerald Etra of the Department of Biology, presented the award for scholastic achievement to Mrs. Linda Friedman, student in the pre-med program. Dr. Etra made note of the fact that although the pre-med program at Baruch is considered by many to be the college’s most difficult program, Mrs. Friedman had managed to maintain a 3.92 average. In addition to her schoolwork, she has served as an officer of the Health Sciences Society, she has served on the staff of both THE TICKER and THE REPORTER, and was a member of the Committee of Academic Standing of the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

Ms. Barbara G. Hering, Alumna and Senior Council (NBC) received her award from Mr. Martin Barnett, President of the Baruch Alumni Association. The award, Chairman Peter Guilmant, of the Department of Economics and Finance, presented Prof. Hedwig Reinhardt with the fifth award.

TICKER would like to extend its congratulations to these women, who are a credit to their sex and to this college.

ATTENTION

INCOMPLETE GRADES will convert to FAILURES on March 15. Students who don’t know their grades yet should stop in to make sure they didn’t receive an incomplete.

Grades will be mailed out March 9 by the Registrar’s office.

---

Baruch Crime

By RICHARD WARREN

Monday, March 1 — There was a fire in the 360 Building. Security believes it was an outside who committed the crime. They have a description of the offender and are confident they will catch him.

There was also a trouble in the 23rd Street Student Center, when guards asked a few students to stop smoking marihuana, and asked for their ID cards. A guard was allegedly threatened and police were called in. The student was let go with a warning that next time charges would be pressed.

Friday another fire was set, the fourth in five days. It was in the basement, in the 23rd Street Building, and was quickly extinguished. As of this writing, a fire has not been set on Monday.

---

Pinball Wizard

By Louis Corradi

Recently, the pinball machines were removed from the Student Center and questions arose as to why. In an effort to find out why this happened, TACKER members Jim Hedges and myself approached Mr. Peter Wronsky, director of the Student Center, who was in charge of the removal of the machines.

Mr. Wronsky was very cooperative and supplied us with both answers and a copy of his memorandum released on January 16: the first explanation as to why the machines were removed. Mr. Wronsky regretted the removal of the machines due to their unprofitable income which was being used to finance new programs for the Student Center, but said that he had no alternative because the machines are in violation of a City Code. A proposal is currently in front of the City Council to legalize the machines but until passed they can not be used.

Based on the City Council’s speed of passing amendments, I suggest that we start practicing our ‘Pong’ game.

We have determined that pinball machines are in violation of § 436-807 of the Administrative Code of the City of New York. There is presently a proposal to amend the Code to allow such machines (int. No. 877, November 14, 1975) which has been referred to the Committee on Consumer Affairs.

Until this amendment has been acted upon favorably by City Council, it is necessary for the pin ball machines to be removed. If you have any questions about this action, please come to my offices, Room 302 and I shall try to explain further.

---

Arsonist At Baruch

By Richard Warren

Police, the Detective Squad and Fire Marshals are working in conjunction with security to catch an arsonist who has struck twice in 3 days. Today's fire was in the balcony of 4 Norh, did minor damage to a seat, and was quickly extinguished by Security Lt. Williams.

Yesterday there was another fire in the hall next to the auditorium, which burnt rubbish. Security Chief Max Linden warns "we won't hesitate to take immediate action against anyone one we find responsible for this."
Military Recruiting Fraud

By Bob Gellman

For over 500,000 college-age men a year, the only sign that America is at war is a TV commercial on a network in their dormitory. The government has spent over $700 million in recent years to try and sell the American youth on the idea of military service. The commercials are designed to show that the military has something to offer these men — an education, a career, a future. But many of these men are not interested in what the commercials are selling. They see the military as a means to an end, a way to get the education they need to get a job after they leave the service. They also see the military as a way to avoid the draft, which many of them believe is unjust. They want to avoid the service because they do not believe in the war or the government's plans for it. They also see the military as a way to escape the problems of their everyday lives. They see themselves as soldiers, not as part of the war, and they want nothing to do with it. They do not see the military as a way to make a career, but as a way to make a change in their lives. They see the military as a way to get the education they need to get a job after they leave the service. They also see the military as a way to avoid the draft, which many of them believe is unjust. They want to avoid the service because they do not believe in the war or the government's plans for it. They also see the military as a way to escape the problems of their everyday lives. They see themselves as soldiers, not as part of the war, and they want nothing to do with it. They do not see the military as a way to make a career, but as a way to make a change in their lives.
CUNY Tournament

By BRUCE J. MEYERS

Baruch met Brooklyn College in the quarter-finals of the annual City University Basketball Tournament at City College's Madison Gym, Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 3 p.m. The game was won by Baruch due to the playing players who have been making good things happen throughout the month of February. The final score was 72-68 with Scott Charney getting high scorer honors as usual scoring 16 points. Other players who were in double figures were Frank Matos with 11 points, Sandy Lanham with 15 points, John Steuer with 11 points and Maurice Vega with 10 points. This year Vega, who is only a freshman, but has been Baruch's assist record for a freshman but has broken the Baruch all-time assist record which was formerly held by Stew Barfield who had 104 assists in a season. Vega had 108 assists and in the opinion of this reporter he is Baruch's most promising player.

In other quarter-finals pairings the same day, top-seeded City College met Queens College at 1 p.m. Queens had to defeat Medgar Evers in order to be given the honor of playing City. Although Queens played good basketball in beating Medgar Evers 78-66, they were no match for the City Beavers who maintained a 4-point lead or better scoring 16 points. Other players who were in double figures were Frank Matos with 11 points, Sandy Lanham with 15 points, John Steuer with 11 points and Maurice Vega with 10 points. This year Vega, who is only a freshman, but has broken the Baruch all-time assist record which was formerly held by Stew Barfield who had 104 assists in a season. Vega had 108 assists and in the opinion of this reporter he is Baruch's most promising player.

The Sociology Society will present a film dealing with communal life in a small community in Virginia entitled "Grass Roots." Thrus., Mar. 4 12:15 p.m. Rm. 1233, AV No. 2 3rd St. Bldg.

The Sociology Society will present a film dealing with communal life in a small community in Virginia entitled "Grass Roots." Thrus., Mar. 4 12:15 p.m. Rm. 1233, AV No. 2 3rd St. Bldg.

Update by CARMEN PEREZ

The score of the game between CCNY and Baruch was 96-66 with CCNY picking up the win. They will now have a chance to become the number one team in the city if they beat York on Monday March 1. York beat Lehman in the semifinals to get into the final game. In the game against CCNY John Steuer was one of Baruch's high scorers with 18 and Frank Matos with the other high scorer. Andy Morrison scored 22 for the CCNY College Beavers.

Bernard Baruch College is pleased to announce the opening of a one-man art show of recent works by Michael Anderson. The exhibition is sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee of the Student-Faculty Program Board and will open on Wednesday, March 3, and continue through Wednesday, March 31.

Careers

 Bermudiana Hotel, 55 East 44th St., New York, N.Y. 10017

Bernard Baruch College is pleased to announce the opening of a one-man art show of recent works by Michael Anderson. The exhibition is sponsored by the Fine Arts Committee of the Student-Faculty Program Board and will open on Wednesday, March 3, and continue through Wednesday, March 31.

Military Recruiting Fraud

(Continued from Page 3) among young non-veterans. These statistics support soldiers' complaints about the lack of career training in the Army. A large number of soldiers were interviewed for a 1972 report prepared for the office of the Special Assistant for the Modern Volunteer Army. The interview disclosed that "The overriding complaint at the end of their tour is the lack of career training," and "Relatively few end their first term with a belief that they have improved their civilian career potential via skills training."

It is obvious that nowhere in the volunteer military recruiting system is there an opportunity for potential recruits like Jack Reed to learn about the realities of military life, including the civilian value of their military job training and the true significance of the "written guarantee." Part 2 — Next issue of Ticker

A film on communal life will be presented by the Sociology Society on Thursday, March 4, 12:15, Room 1325, AV No. 2, at 23rd St.

Career Opportunities

Wednesday, March 3 and 10 — Dr. Milton Ehrlich will hold a workshop on Career Opportunities and the field of Mental Health. Oppor unities for employment in Clinical Psychology, Psychiatry, Psychiatric Social Work and Special Education for the emotionally disturbed child will be explored in terms of the training requirements as well as the career outlook for the immediate future. All students are invited who are considering careers in the mental health field. 10:30 a.m.-11:30 a.m., in the North Lounge, Student Center.

To All Persons Desiring To Buy Baruch Class Rings

To All Persons Desiring To Buy Baruch Class Rings

BEWARE of rings presently being sold at Nor-Wood Stationery! They are not the officially designed Baruch Class Rings. Scholastics has been contracted to hold Ring Days on campus offering low discount prices in the very near future. Watch for future notices.

Senior Affairs Committee/ Scholastics