NILES SPONSORS REGISTRATION DRIVE

Last week D.S.S.G. President Chris Niles and some volunteers successfully conducted a voter registration drive for the upcoming presidential elections. Niles felt that by staging this drive we could draw support from politicians in helping us fight against the termination of free tuition and open admissions.

360 PAS OPEN

At press time both the 360 PAS Building and the 26th Street Center were scheduled to reopen today. A story on last week's electrical fire which caused the temporary closing of these buildings appears in this issue.

Ticker Exclusive:

Thornhill Seeks U.S.S. Chair

By Richard Rodriguez

It was secretly disclosed sometime last week that former Day Session Student Government Treasurer Carlyie Thornhill, who is presently the D.S.S.G. Representative to the University Student Senate, will seek the office of the U.S.S. Chairperson. The official announcement is expected to be made later this afternoon at a U.S.S. press conference.

During the past nine months, voices of discontent have been raised against the incumbent chairperson, Maynard Jones. In a paper prepared by Carlyie Thornhill on behalf of D.S.S.G. at Baruch, he states:

"During the past nine months we have been witnesses to, and participants in the decline of the University Student Senate from its rightful position as the voice of the entire CUNY community. . . . No longer is it's inputs to decision making invited, or when tendered, respected."

In regard to the causes behind this decline, he further writes: "There is a total breakdown of communication between the U.S.S. . . . and the component student governments . . . in addition, 'The U.S.S. is seen as a dumping ground for malcontents of the respective colleges.' He continued by pointing out that there has been "a total absence of any (U.S.S.) program for the year."

There are at the present time, six candidates for the University Student Senate, comprising: Harry Tracey (Bronx Community); Al Greco (Queens), who is at this time undeclared; Ken Thomas (Queensboro); Richard Izzo (Brooklyn); Joseph Bigman (Queens); and, of course, our own Carlyie Thornhill.

Thus far, of all the candidates, Mr. Thornhill is the only person who has stated, in his position paper, concrete methods to restore the U.S.S. to an active, viable body, which can exert influence on the University administration: (1) commitment by the everyday rank and file student; (2) reinstatement of academic programs; (3) the restoration of Open Admissions and No Tuition; (4) U.S.S. assistance given to the Council of University Publications (COUP); (5) improvement of the CUNY Voice; and so on. All of these, as well as other significant recommendations, are a part of Mr. Thornhill's plan to provide an University Student Senate with the leadership it is so badly in need of, to accomplish University-wide goals.

After observing the Senate in its present pursuit of inactivity, the Ticker staff joins with other groups within the University in supporting Mr. Thornhill's bid for the Chair.

A Look Into Operation DAFT

By CHARLES ROTHMAN

Good news, fellow matrics! The Board of Regents passed new funding requests at the Wednesday night meeting, and with some extra money, your college can now better serve you.

The Regents approved a proposal for over $10 million in construction funds, along with $1.7 million in permanent improvement funds. This was a welcome addition to the college's budget, especially after years of cuts and restrictions.

The Regents also approved a proposal for a new Center for International Studies, which will provide students with opportunities for study abroad and international research. This will be a significant step forward for the college's academic programs.

In other news, the Regents approved a new program in environmental studies, which will give students the opportunity to study the impact of human activities on the environment. This is a timely and important addition to the college's curriculum.

Overall, the meeting was a positive one for the college, and we can look forward to seeing the benefits of these new funds in the coming years.

Language Departments Merge

By PHILIP V. DI VITO

At the recent meeting held on October 12th, the Board of Regents approved a proposal to merge the Language Departments at Baruch College.

The merger will take place effective immediately, and will result in a more efficient allocation of resources. The new department will be responsible for all language courses offered at the college.

This move is part of a larger effort by the college to streamline its administrative processes and improve the student experience. We look forward to seeing the benefits of this merger in the coming years.

For Your Own Good

By DEAN SELMA BERDICH

At the recent meeting held on October 15th, the Board of Regents approved a proposal to provide free tuition for all students.

The move is part of a larger effort by the college to increase access to higher education. The free tuition policy will be available to all students, regardless of their financial background.

This is a significant step forward for the college, and we look forward to seeing the benefits of this policy in the coming years.

Dear Editor,

I am writing to express my thoughts about the recent fire at 360 P.A.S. and the subsequent evacuation of students. I believe that this event highlights the importance of having well-organized emergency procedures in place to ensure the safety of all students.

Sincerely,

Niles And Thornhill

TICKER in its report on my book "To the Baruch College president and student body at Baruch."

All those who are familiar with the story about the fire at 360 P.A.S. at a dedicated Baruch College.

R. P. Peter, in the current issue of Ticker, has written that the President of Baruch College, and also the rector of the Baruch College, have been reappointed for a second term.

I was glad to see that the Baruch College, and also the rector of the Baruch College, have been reappointed for a second term.

What is the reason for this reappointment?

I was glad to see that the Baruch College, and also the rector of the Baruch College, have been reappointed for a second term.

Writing about books

ERNST HOFFMANN

A much-celebrated Altis of the novel, Max Frisch's "Nils And Thornhill," was published in 1974, during which time he was still in his twenties. The novel was written in the form of a diary, in which the author deals with the daily life of a young man named Nils And Thornhill. The novel is set in Switzerland and deals with the theme of the changing face of society.

From Front To Back, "The Front" Was Great

By RICHARD WARREN

Several notable performers who are world-class in their particular fields have been acting for many years. Jack Lemmon, Walter Mathau, both of whom are also featured in this production, are superb. Their roles are very effectively played.

Bunny Mannowil:

"This One’s For You"

"Tryin’ To Get The Feeling."

He sings songs that the average person can relate to — songs of passion, feelings and heartache — not all that mushy. It’s worth it.

Roseanna Thompson

This was my first opportunity to see this talented young man and it was an absolute delight. I have never seen such beautiful singing a male voice ever. It was a moving performance. Thank you for this wonderful opportunity to see him perform. I hope he has many more opportunities in the future.

The Seven-Per-Cent Solution

By KAREN HENKIN

This film combines humor and suspense. It’s probably one of the most interesting films I have ever seen. The humor is well executed and the suspense is well developed. The film manages effectively to set the tone for the whole movie. It is a very enjoyable film.

I Did Not Want To Be Born

By ROBERTA THOMPSON

Infants do not ask to be born. They are helpless and defenseless. Many mothers and fathers who have been through the experience of giving birth to a child can attest to this fact. To bring a new life into the world is a great responsibility.

DaN Lewis

"The Front" was directed by John Sayles. It is a very interesting film that explores the lives of a group of people living in a small town. The acting is superb and the cinematography is excellent. The film manages to capture the essence of the characters and the atmosphere of the town.

"The Front" is a very moving performance. The actors do an excellent job of bringing their characters to life. It’s a film that will stay with you long after you leave the theater.

Intramurals And Recreation

By CHARLES ROTHMAN

An unprecedented thirteen exciting intramural tournaments, including basketball, tennis, swimming and volleyball, plus eight sensational recreational programs such as jogging, dancing and gymnastics have been scheduled by the Intramural and Recreation Division of the Physical and Health Education Department for the Fall 1976 semester. The different tournaments and programs are designed to allow all students to enjoy their favorite sports in an organized and supervised fashion.

Bonnie Kloc and Tom Giriani, the coordinators of the entire program, hope that every student will get involved in at least one activity. "We are trying to give the students something for the money that they pay," said Tom. He emphasized that the tournaments are open to everybody, with no restrictions.

The basketball tourney, consisting of as many eight-man teams as possible, will commence Thursday, Oct. 7. Although most teams will be organized on a random basis, a group may enter themselves as a unit. However, the applications must be submitted by today, Oct. 6. All tournament applications are available in room 708, where Tom and Bonnie will answer any questions.

"The intramurals are vor everyone, not just men," Bonnie noted. She stressed that "trying to get women involved is an important aim of this program." There will be men's and women's individual competitions in tennis (entry closing date: Oct. 7, handball (Oct. 8), and then shooting (Nov. 4), the famous Thanksgiving Turkey Trot (Nov. 16), swimming and badminton (both as soon as possible). In addition, volleyball (Oct. 14), one of the two new tournaments, and table tennis (Oct. 15), will be composed of co-ed teams.

Testing events such as weightlifting (Nov. 15) and touch O-War (as soon as possible) are among the remaining tournaments. Water lovers can dive in for water polo (as soon as possible). Although the volume of entries is greater than this time last year, the hard-working coordinators are hoping that the students - that's you - will ignore any shyness, apathy, or "that's too silly for me" attitude and enter the less familiar events. "All programs will be played," promised Tom. "We would like to see student voices demanding money be allotted, since the intramural program benefits more students than the intercollegiate sports program, which is budgeted." To this end, Tom and Bonnie have organized an Intramural Council, which is open to any student who wishes to participate and improve the intramural program.

Bonnie, a Baruch graduate, described the overall goal of the intramural and recreational program in one sentence: "We want to give everybody an opportunity to be the best possible while attending Baruch!"

The starting dates of the tournaments will be announced, but most will begin approximately two weeks after entry closing dates. Trophies will be awarded to the winners at each tourney, and an intramural luncheon is planned towards the conclusion of the term.
