Minority Enrollment Up in New York State Schools

Minority enrollment in New York State colleges and universities rose by more than 8 percent between 1972 and 1980, according to a report by the State Board of Regents. Although total enrollment grew during the period, the number of degrees conferred on whites and minorities alike declined by four percent according to the report, "primarily because of greater than average attrition."

In 1972, minority students made up 12.5 percent of the State's college population. In 1980, that figure rose to 19.8 percent, a gain of 7.3 percent. Minorities made up 30 percent of the total population (ages 18 to 59) of the State in 1980. Other significant trends include:

- Black enrollment increased by 39 percent between 1972 and 1980.
- White enrollment increased by more than 36 percent during the same period.
- Native American enrollment went up 81 percent.
- Asian enrollment went up 9 percent.

The minority population ages 20 to 24 in New York State rose by more than 81 percent between 1970 and 1980. According to the report, more than half that increase was the result of migration into the state of blacks, Hispanics, and Asians, primarily from overseas.

DSSG Budget Approved by College Association COUNCIL OKS NOTE TAKING SERVICE

By Marilyn Zuckerman

The Student Council of the Day Session Student Government (DSSG) presented a draft of a proposed budget to the Bernard M. Baruch College Association on October 14. After reviewing the budget, the thirteen members of the College Association involved in reviewing the budget unanimously voted their approval.

For the most part, there has been little change in the allocations between this budget and the budget of the previous student government. As DSSG President Denise White explained, "Where money was utilized we didn't cut the sum, because it's better to have people utilize money constructively."

Apparently, when White and the vice presidents in her executive board were engaged in drawing up the budget, they found instances where they could not cut the sum, but, rather, raise it. Such was the case for the allocation of capital improvement renovation. Its allocation of $7,000 is higher than the $4,000 allocation made by the previous student government. Said White, "Even though there was money set aside for capital improvement, it's so costly to purchase anything in abundance that the money was never used." This means that improvement and renovation plans were never carried out last year and held over to this year. In addition to plans to buy a new conference table and chairs for the DSSG room, and lounge furniture for the basement of 360 Park Ave South, which White considered "one of the places that needs better facilities." DSSG plans to purchase a wide-screen TV so that students could watch TV during their free time. Increases in allocations were also found in the areas of personnel salaries and contractual services under the area of events.

White expressed hopes that her

The Baruch College Black and Hispanic Alumni Association has launched a campaign to gain official sanction from college president Joel Segall, and broaden awareness of the group's existence within the Baruch community.

In a press conference on October 6, Association Chairperson Joseph Reformann called attention to what he termed "an unyielding, discriminatory position" on the part of President Segall, one that "shows a lack of concern and sensitivity towards the Baruch Hispanic and black population." The press conference, held on the third floor of the Student Center, was attended by representatives from The Ticke and The Reporter, and seven members of the group.

"When we met with President Segall, he expressed his opposition to us forming as a separate alumni group on the grounds that it is discriminatory and racist," said Sellman. "That is a lot of hogwash, and a smokescreen to prevent us from realizing our objectives."

President Segall and the Baruch College Alumni Association have declined to recognize the group since June of last year, when Sellman announced its formation at an awards ceremony. Segall, in a letter of reply to one of the group's supporters, New York State Assemblyman Edward Griffith, said, "The Baruch College Alumni Association is opposed to the establishment of a separate, competitive, ethnically segregated entity, and I am opposed to the violation of the principles of equal access and non-discrimination to which Baruch College is dedicated." Segall advocates, rather, that "black and Hispanic alumni organize within the existing alumni association and work to achieve their goals through the standard democratic process," noting that the BCAA has elected a black president in two of the last five years.

President Joel Segall

Stephen Wertheimer, Baruch's Vice President for Development, echoed that sentiment. "If anybody wants to do something for the college, there is a perfect opportunity to do so within the existing association," he said. "They say they can't achieve their goals within the existing framework, but how do they know if they haven't tried to do so?"

The black and Hispanic alumni contend that the very nature of the existing organization prohibits any real participation on their part. "You may even have a black president, but his or her orientation is not towards the needs of the black people, who have been disenfranchised," said Samuel Farrell, a past president of City College's Black Alumni Association, and a member of the Baruch coalition. "That person must deal with the issues that affect every body," he added.

Farrell cited issues which he said the existing alumni association "cannot address."

"One is student financial aid," said Farrell. "They're not even thinking about that." Farrell also mentioned the need for a job data bank for black graduates, who he said encountered unique problems in

An extension of the principles of local banking to the governmental field through a system of Blat Requirements on Federal and State levels is an obvious solution. The inflationary monetary system has led to a misalignment of earnings with the price of goods and services. The Blat Requirement is a system where the government regulates the supply of money, similar to the way a central bank operates. The Blat Requirement would be based on the principle of the gold standard, where the value of money is tied to the value of gold. The Blat Requirement would be administered by a central authority, and would be used to regulate the money supply in a stable and predictable manner.

PMS: Woman's Emotional Scegline

By Tacie Gordeno

Women, once a month, undergo physical and emotional changes as a result of menstruation. Many women, their menstrual cycles do not pass the 28-day cycle. These changes are temporary to a problem that is chronic. Further, the menstrual cycle is a fallacy. Men need yet to understand and experience the menstrual cycle.

WANTED

Thanks to our previous call for drivers, obsessive people who want to make the best of their Barcan campaigns should open their eyes to this paper have been filled. Since we’re a growth industry, there’s still plenty of room in the most exciting extracurricular activity on our beloved non- campus. If any of the jobs described below appeal to the go-getter in you, please visit Room 110 of the Student Center or call us at 725-7070/2.

WRITERS—Express yourself. Get your name in print. Find out how meaningful writing can be when you communicate to other students, faculty and administration.

NEWS—Deal with faculty and administration in a businesslike manner. EXPLORATIONS: Explore the trace-surs and colors of college life. ARTS: Respond to the cultural riches of the city. OP-ED: Argue your heart. SPORTS: Follow the action. Analyze the results.

ARTIST—Lay out copy and photographs. Draw illustrations, political cartoons and comic strips.

PROOFREADERS—Find mistakes in galleys and final printed copies. Help eradicate detail work.

TYPOGRAPHY—Type handwritten or clearly car-traced drafts to be sent to the printer.

FEES INCREASE: YES, BUT...

In view of the financial situation at the Student Center (Tucker, Sept. 27), it is clear that some action must be taken to insure its continued life. Since it has been running at a deficit, the Student Center has had to draw upon past surpluses in order to stay in business. Come next fall, the surplus will be exhausted.

The solution to this problem seems to be two alternatives: either the Student Center is to be closed down or some new services have to be provided. The position is again up for debate as the last of the ten-day session students, then the matter will be voted upon by that student body in a referendum, and the fee will be increased if a majority of those voting approve the increase.

Currently, full-time session students pay $25.50 per semester in student fees, of this amount, $15 goes to the Student Center. The proposal would increase this part of the fee by $50 per semester, a total of $75 per year.

With such a drastic increase in the Student Center fee, steps must be taken to insure that it will be used to operate the center and not as an additional source of money as has been proposed by some of the proponents of the fee increase. We would therefore reiterate our invitation to every interested student. The increase specifically earmarks part of the fee for capital expenditures on the Student Center.

SEX BEGINS WITHIN

Man's attitude towards sex is a reflection of his self-conception. In prehistoric time, sex was an animalistic function for survival—sex hunting and gathering. In the Middle Ages, marriage and sex were part of man's religious duties towards the church and community—sex among the flesh and blood of the body—pained, sculpted and dramatized man in god-like glory.

The Victorians, seeking to humble the over-sized Renaissance Man, put sex into the closet. Sex is interaction, love, conflict, communion, consumption: it is not self-gratification, but the essence of life.

The youth of the sixties, recognizing the individual only in his role in the community, put it back on display—to be shared by everyone and anyone. The man of the eighties stopped thinking and programmed sex into the routine data of his life.

Back on 'display—to be shared by everyone and anyone. The man of the eighties stopped thinking and programmed sex into the routine data of his life. If ever there was a referendum, and the proponents of the fee increase. We would have serious reservations against endorsing this increase in the Student Center. The proposal would increase this part of the fee by $50 per semester, a total of $75 per year.

Attention: Baruch Accounting Students!

The first 20 students from Baruch who enroll in the Conviser-Miller CPA Review for the November, 1984 CPA Examination will save $900 off the full course price of $999.

Before I describe all the benefits of this never-to-be-repeated offer, let me tell you why we are offering this special savings.

Although our course is the fastest-growing CPA Review in the country, many people still have not heard of it. They haven't seen our subject summaries, which are unbelievably clear in teaching you what you need to know to pass the Exam. They haven't heard our instructors, who are experts on the Exam and on the art of teaching.

We want to give you a chance to find out about the Conviser-Miller CPA Review. So, we are offering the first twenty students who sign up from Baruch a savings of over one-third off the full course price. Sign up now and you'll do more than save $300. You'll also get all the services only Conviser-Miller offers, like these:

- get your study materials now to use during college. You can exchange them for up-to-date summaries when you begin your Review.
- attend free Conviser-Miller "Early Bird" lectures before graduation.
- borrow tapes from our exclusive Tape Library, for additional at-home study at your convenience.
- attend classes
- and, of course, our unique free repeat guarantee.

To lock in your discount, you only need to put down $50. If you want to receive your books right away, send just $10. The balance of your tuition isn't due until you are ready to begin your Review.

If you have any questions, or if you want to catch part of a free lecture, speak to one of our student representatives, or call me here in our New York offices.

We still have a few openings for student representatives at Baruch. If you're interested in earning a free course and other benefits, call to arrange for an interview.

DSSG Budget

A budget would have a significant impact on the students at Baruch. "Hopefully, we can touch base with something that is important to each individual student," her personally prepared plans indicate an intention to have a student leader here at Baruch. "We can make a campus affairs budget so that the campus affairs council can hold events for the Baruch community to attend," she added. "On numerous occasions the campus affairs committee organizes events such as a brunch where food and beverages are given for students to enjoy.

While also expressing a desire to maintain some kind of personal relationship with the College Association, when asked about the expectations of the College Association accepting her proposed budget, she said, "I think the campus affairs committee will be turned into a microcomputer center where food and beverages are given for students to enjoy.

As for raising funds, and that students develop a rapport with the administration, the Session Student Government's executive board was not satisfied. Their main reason for not raising funds was that the campus affairs budget was not accepted.

但现在, the situation has changed. Their main reason for not raising funds was that the campus affairs budget was not accepted. And, they added, "On numerous occasions the campus affairs committee organizes events such as a brunch where food and beverages are given for students to enjoy.

Sexual Romanticism

By Joseph Spokas

There is both good and bad news for prospects in the field of sexual intimacy, looking for some type of commitment, and understanding the different types of marriage. The divorce rate, still one of the highest in the country, is still on the rise.

The most optimistic change in values during this decade, the baby boom generation--the 1970's and 1980's, epidemics, fighting people from casual sex, a superstition about sex in the media, and the simple fact that people "have already overcome the taboo." It is the most important factor cited by both Denne and Armstrong. Women were more open about sex, there was a large increase of women giving their opinion of the sexual relationship, according to the survey findings were found to strongly determine the woman's power in relationship. "I'm not going to be fake with you, "was a common refrain heard from native residents of the class in the past, said Davis. Davis now look forward to a dual identity.

Sexual Revolution

By Joseph C. Farmer

The "sexual revolution" that America has been experiencing is so new that we have not really had a chance to develop the necessary skills to understand and comfortably handle it. Sexual liberation is a new experience for a woman to develop.

One can make the particular characteristics of the sexual revolution. Feminism, once considered socially acceptable, has now become less acceptable, now that we have a clear understanding of the woman's role in society. Sexual liberation is a new experience for a woman to develop.

Men may be the best at the effects of this trend. However, in their own class in some of the others, the men are discovering that the woman is not who they thought she was. The men are realizing that the man is not who they thought she was.

The men are discovering that the woman is not who they thought she was. The men are realizing that the man is not who they thought she was. A woman who is a sexual being, and not just a "sex object," is a sexual being that can be recognized by her intentions and her own desire for intimacy.

The sexual revolution has also opened the doors to women's rights, as the idea of gender equality is starting to be accepted. Yet it is not the same as the women's rights movement, as it is more about respect and equality, and less about the issue of gender equality.

GERALDINE FITZGERALD AT BARUCH

By Carolyn Abramczyk

Edward Kennedy "Duke" Ellington (1899-1974), American composer, is in the halls of many schools. The bandstand, set against a backdrop of blue, is the "cornerstone of America's most brilliant jazz composer and considered one of the great composers of the 20th century."

The tradition continues under the direction of his mentor, Monk Ellington, whose Duke Ellington orchestra appeared at Baruch with the Maurice Doren dance group on October 23. Duke Ellington's music is said to be the "embodiment of the big band sound."

Duke Ellington formed a band in 1927. At the end of that year he met the great jazz trumpeter, Louis Armstrong, who was to serve as his mentor and influence his style. He continued to develop his musical ideas, and his music has influenced many other composers who followed.

For Art's Sake

By Linda Rodgers

When faculty or their own art galleries come to Baruch, the Student Center's Alley Lounge has its first student art gallery. The lounge has been used many times for art displays, and now it is the place for a student art gallery, which will open during the fall semester.

The gallery, which is run by the Student Center Art Department, is open to students who are interested in art. They can submit their work for display, and the gallery will feature one-man exhibitions. The gallery will also feature group exhibitions, which will be selected by a jury.

The gallery is open to all students, and there are no restrictions on the type of art that can be displayed. The gallery will be open during the academic year, and there will be an opening reception on October 25.

The gallery is run by a committee of students, who have been appointed by the Student Center Administration. The committee is responsible for selecting the exhibitions, and they will meet on a regular basis to discuss the gallery's activities.

The gallery will be open from 10:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Monday through Friday, and from 1:00 PM to 5:00 PM on Saturdays. There will be an opening reception on October 25, and the gallery will be open during the academic year.

ART ROCKS MURMURS

We recently received an interesting little book to the mail, called "Let It Be:" by Carlos Winter. Problematic bug which fails many of her best-known authors. As if you were reading a paper of thousand dollars from home, the letters of a great nom de guerre of the narrative.

The most fascinating section of the book was a letter from Carlos Winter, the father of his two children's jokes. The final sentence of the letter: "Happy family," was followed by a smiley face. The letter was about his role in the family's life.

SOUTHERN ROCKERS

It's the Allman Brothers. Kiki Dee. The Band. Or even the kid who starts talking in class. But there's something about this band that makes most people feel like it's not that bad. And you know what they say - if you can't beat them, join them.

John Hall's vocals are a different story. His deep, throaty voice can turn even the most jaded listener into a fan. This is especially true when he's accompanied by Dickey Betts' slide. Together, they create a sound that's both familiar and new.

But the true star of the show is the guitar work. Betts' virtuoso playing comes across as both powerful and intimate. It's like he's playing directly to you.

The rhythm section, with Jana and Jace Betts, provides a solid foundation for the rest of the band to build on. Their work is essential to the overall sound of the group.

Of course, there's also the audience. The Allman Brothers Band has been playing for over four decades now, and their fans are as loyal as they come. They can be found sitting in the front row, cheering and singing along to every song.

That's the beauty of this band - they transcend barriers of age and gender. They can appeal to both seasoned fans and new listeners alike.

So next time you're in the mood for some good music, give the Allman Brothers Band a listen. You won't be disappointed.

As Intramural Basketball Ends First Round

By Joseph C. Fagan

It has been said that if you crave action and excitement during club hours, go to the college gymnasium, home of the Fall Intramural Basketball Association Tournament. October 6th and October 13th were no exceptions. The Gentlemen's Quintet, an ensemble of security and maintenance personnel, defeated the U.C.L.A. Bruins in a fast-paced game 47-45.

The Bruins, coached by varsity baseball assistant coach John Krochak, led by eight points in the first half. With the aggressive play of the game's high scoring freshman guard Antonio Parrish (28 pts.), and Herve Vis校友 (10 pts.) the game was almost in the bag. Late in the second half, Mike Green (25 pts., 5 rebounds, 6 assists) spearheaded the G.Q. to a win. Joe Kennison broke Mike's 100-yard freestyle record by swimming the event in 56.5 seconds. The old record of 56.9 seconds was held by Joel Komion. Baruch captured the men's 100-yard freestyle record of 1:21.63, held by vice-president Kirsten Van Kapel, by swimming it in a minute flat.

Baruch students are looking to make waves in intercollegiate waters by forming a swim team that is currently training for club and unofficial intercollegiate competition.

The club is planning an intramural competition for November 3rd during club hours. All students are invited to compete. The first intercollegiate meet is scheduled for November 16, against Queensborough Community College. Among those planning to compete for Baruch are David Sullivan and Elaine Morawek, each of whom broke Baruch College records. Sullivan broke the men's 100-yard freestyle record by swimming the event in 56.5 seconds. The old record of 56.9 seconds was held by Joe Kennison. Morawek lapped up the women's 100-yard freestyle record of 1:21.63, held by vice-president Kirsten Van Kapel, by swimming it in a minute flat.

Tom Cracovia, Intramural Director at Baruch, is at the helm of this project and will try to make things flow smoothly. Representatives of the team include Romain Piss, president; Kirsten Van Kapel, vice-president; David Sullivan, secretary; and Norbert Martinez, treasurer. These representatives will try to tread through the Baruch bureaucracy to form a budget big enough to form an official NCAA Division three team for the Spring semester.

Experienced swimmers interested in joining should go to room 610A in the 23rd St building. Practices are from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays and from 4:30 to 5:30 on Fridays.

Better Bowling

By Mike Jordan and Chris Polly

The Baruch Bowling team opened its 1983 season last Sunday, taking out of 30 points from Cooper Union. Although last year's team finished a strong third, there is more confidence in this year's team to reach first place. Last year, Queens College and Pace University were the only teams to do better than Baruch. Sunday, Oct. 9th, Mike Miller, a member of last year's team and Pete D'Amico each won a point by bowling 197 and 184 respectively. Newcomer Chris Polly beat out his man all 3 games for a total of 3 points by shooting a 201, 181, and 202. Clark Harris, another veteran, won the 2 games he bowled with a 203 and an incredible 269. Also, Doug York won all 3 of his games.

York is anchor bowler and coach. He has been referred to as an inspiration to the team. However, this is Doug's last year bowling since he is graduating. The team may ask Doug to come back next year to coach again. The team will have a better chance this year. From the results of last Sunday's game, this might be the best team since 1977 when Baruch was proud to have the championship team.
