TRUCK SPRAYS OIL ON WALL OF STUDENT CENTER

By LINDA ZUECH

Heating oil was sprayed onto the front wall of the Baruch Student Center Building when a delivery truck made a spill from its fill ing on a delivery truck on Monday Feb. 9, according to Marilyn Mikulsky, director of Campus Planning and Facilities.

The truck, from the Mystic Bulk Transportation Company of Astoria, Queens, was parked in front of the Student Center and made a normal delivery to 132 E. 22nd St., across the street.

David Baricho, a representative from Mystic explained how the spill occurred. "There is a deck hose which connects the trailer to the pump. One side of the hose sucks the oil up in the truck and the other pumps it out under pressure. One of those hoses broke under pressure."

Baricho said that the oil is pumped under pressure of between 40 to 50 pounds. He said, "It may be 90 pounds or so, but the average is 20 to 40 pounds. However, the hoses are rated for 150 pounds per square inch."

Mikulsky said, "It (the hose) was under such pressure that it burst and sprayed not only the ground and sidewalk, but up onto the building."

A car parked in front of the building, belonging to Henry McLaughlin, director of security, was also sprayed. Daniel Kaufman, assistant director of Campus Planning and Facilities said the oil company should clean the car and the building at its own expense.

According to Baricho, "The fre quency of a spill of this kind is very rare. If, over the course of one season (October - April), where thousands of deliveries are made, a thing like this happened (it's) unusual."

Baricho said that Mystic has a contract with another company for cleanup in the event of a spill. The cleaning company uses cleaning solvents and high-pressure steam to get rid of the oil.

Baricho said, "We did the cleaning of the car, and the cleaning company did it again to make it doubly clean."

"When you are bending, and bending the hose over a period of time, sooner or later you may develop a weak spot. You don't know when the hose may break, like you don't know how many potholes you can drive a tire over before you get a flat;" Baricho said.

Mikulsky said that "people (from the company) came the night of the tenth (February) and used high-pressure water to clean the wall. However, we are dissatisfied with it (the cleaning job)."

According to Mikulsky, the company stated that it was too cold for the method they used to work properly and they would have to use another method.

Kaufman explained that there was no danger that the oil could have caught fire before it was cleaned up because, "Number six oil must be heated between 180° and 200° before it could burn."

(Continued on Page 9, Col. 2)
BLACKS, RIGHTS, AND THE SUPREME COURT

By EUSTACE FRANCES

Until recently I was just another black blogger with a law degree, but now, thanks to your generosity, I have the privilege to speak out for the American people who value their Constitutional rights, especially the right to vote and speak freely.

The Supreme Court, our highest court, is composed of nine justices appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. The Court has the power to decide important cases, and its decisions can have a significant impact on our lives.

Admission Requirements

To be admitted to the Supreme Court, you must have a law degree from an accredited law school. You must also pass the bar exam in your state. The Court has jurisdiction over cases that arise in the federal courts, as well as cases that come to it under a writ of certiorari.

The Legal Process

When a case comes to the Supreme Court, it is considered by a committee of the justices. If they decide that the case is important enough, they will hear it.

The Court usually meets four times a year, and each session lasts for about a month. During this time, the justices hear arguments on cases that have been appealed to them.

The Decision

After hearing the arguments, the justices will vote on whether to uphold or overturn a lower court's decision. The decision is then written by one of the justices and signed by the other justices.

The decision is then published in the Supreme Court Reporter, which is available online and in libraries and law schools.

Conclusion

The Supreme Court is an important part of our democracy. It is the ultimate arbiter of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights, and it plays a critical role in ensuring that all Americans are treated equally under the law.

---

LETTERS

KEEP COLEMAN

To the Editor:

The Ticker's front-page article had much to do with the resignation of Professor Robert Coleman. I agree that Coleman had a significant impact on the students of the Baruch College community. My experience as a student is that he is a sincere and caring person who always had my best interests at heart.

I have been following the developments surrounding Coleman's resignation, and I am concerned about the potential impact on the Baruch community. As a student, I believe that it is essential for the university to provide a supportive and inclusive environment for all members of the community.

I hope that the university will take action to address the concerns raised by this issue, and I am optimistic that a positive and constructive outcome can be achieved.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
OP-ED

Don't Let Sex Education Take A Backseat

By DIANA SCALERA

Nineteen people were stuck for approximately 40 minutes 11 inches above the ground as their elevator stopped at 17th Street Arcade, according to an official with the Department of Planning and Facilities.

MARCH IN APRIL

by GLEN PELLMAN

April is a time for change. After a long winter of religious observances, April sets the stage for a more relaxed, open attitude. There are many stressless activities that one can participate in during this month.

19 STUCK IN DISABLED ELEVATOR

by LINDEE ZUECH

The representative for the Lincoln Student Clubs attended the meeting held by the Student Activities Office to present the needs and information from the student perspective.

The Whopper/Delicious Delusion

By Diana Jefferson, "We didn’t give you a piece of the pie."

Letters

By Linda Zuech, "I am... the next time someone asks me where I am from I will say, "Nowhere."

THE COURTS

(Continued from Page 1)

THE ELLUSIVE QUICK "A"

To the Editor:

After completing almost five years at Barnard I thought I’d be able to sum up my experience here. It was also the last of the semester, before the final exams started. I was free from the hassle of choosing a major and of worrying about the future. I was able to enjoy the company of my classmates.

I was surprised to learn that the grades are usually late because there are so many of them. It was also surprising to learn that the grade distribution is not even.

John Smith

THE COURT

(Continued from Page 1)

OP-ED

Don’t Let Sex Education Take A Backseat

By DIANA SCALERA

Nineteen people were stuck for approximately 40 minutes 11 inches above the ground as their elevator stopped at 17th Street Arcade, according to an official with the Department of Planning and Facilities.

MARCH IN APRIL

by GLEN PELLMAN

April is a time for change. After a long winter of religious observances, April sets the stage for a more relaxed, open attitude. There are many stressless activities that one can participate in during this month.

19 STUCK IN DISABLED ELEVATOR

by LINDEE ZUECH

The representative for the Lincoln Student Clubs attended the meeting held by the Student Activities Office to present the needs and information from the student perspective.

The Whopper/Delicious Delusion

By Diana Jefferson, "We didn’t give you a piece of the pie."

Letters

By Linda Zuech, "I am... the next time someone asks me where I am from I will say, "Nowhere."

THE COURTS

(Continued from Page 1)

THE ELLUSIVE QUICK "A"

To the Editor:

After completing almost five years at Barnard I thought I’d be able to sum up my experience here. It was also the last of the semester, before the final exams started. I was free from the hassle of choosing a major and of worrying about the future. I was able to enjoy the company of my classmates.

I was surprised to learn that the grades are usually late because there are so many of them. It was also surprising to learn that the grade distribution is not even.

John Smith
TICKER TAKES

SEO ACCOUNTING INSTITUTIONS

Sponsors for Educational Opportunity (SEO) is in the process of being approved by the National Science Foundation. The program will offer scholarships to ten minority students who have not completed high school and are interested in careers in accounting. Students will be selected on the basis of proven ability to work in the program and the accounting industry.

LAWYERS SPEAK AT LIBRARY

Antone Kenny Berger Mendola & Tippett has announced that its 24-year-old Professor of Accountancy, Patricia O’Connor, will speak at the New York Central Library. Professor O’Connor has written two major books on the subject of auditing and has been a leader in the field of accounting education.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY

The New York University School of Law has announced that it will offer a new course in corporate finance, which will be taught by Professor John Ricardi. The course will be available to students who have completed two years of study in economics and finance.

TICKER TAKES

INTERNSHIPS

Sponsors for Educational Opportunity (SEO) has announced that it is offering internships to minority students who are enrolled in colleges and universities across the country. The program is open to students who are interested in careers in accounting and finance.

NEW YORK STATE

The New York State Education and Research Network (NYSERNet) has announced that it will receive a $430,000 grant from the New York State Education Department. The grant will be used to expand NYSERNet’s supercomputer facilities around the country.

PARSONS SCHOOL OF DESIGN

The Parsons School of Design has announced that it will be holding its annual Summer Program in New York City. The program will be held from July 1 to August 30, and will offer courses in fine arts, graphic design, photography, and film making.

WORLD DANCERS PERFORM

The Half-Moon Sword Dancers, who have performed in the New York City area since 1976, will perform several types of traditional dances and music at the New York Public Library in Manhattan. The performance will be held on Saturday, May 1, at 8:00 p.m.
POST OFFICE LOSES DIPLOMA-NOTIFICATION LETTERS

M. ANDREW KENNEDY

Many students from Baruch who are graduating this semester have reported that their diplomas, which they have worked hard for, have been lost. In some cases, students have been informed that a diploma notification letter was lost in the post office.

According to the Baruch Registrar's Office, students who have not received their diploma notification letters should contact the office immediately.

The Registrar's Office has been informed that some diplomas were not delivered to the post office, and this has caused delays in the delivery of notification letters. Students who have not received their letters should contact the Registrar's Office to ensure that their diplomas have been processed and are on their way.

Students are encouraged to check with the post office or their local delivery service to see if their diplomas have been delivered.

DIPLOMAS (Continued from Page 8)

After the incident the front entrance was propped open until the engineers arrived to make repairs. It was estimated that the front entrance was propped open for about five minutes.

The incident occurred on the day of commencement ceremonies, and the front entrance was propped open to allow the procession to enter the building.

The incident was reported to the police, and an investigation is underway to determine the cause of the propping open of the front entrance.

OIL SPILL

The same incident occurred the day before, on the day of Baruch's Commencement Ceremonies. The front entrance was propped open again to allow the procession to enter the building.

The incident was reported to the police, and an investigation is underway to determine the cause of the propping open of the front entrance.

BAD REPUTATION

The incident occurred on the day of Baruch's Commencement Ceremonies. The front entrance was propped open again to allow the procession to enter the building.

The incident was reported to the police, and an investigation is underway to determine the cause of the propping open of the front entrance.

BAD REPUTATION

The incident occurred on the day of Baruch's Commencement Ceremonies. The front entrance was propped open again to allow the procession to enter the building.

The incident was reported to the police, and an investigation is underway to determine the cause of the propping open of the front entrance.

BAD REPUTATION

The incident occurred on the day of Baruch's Commencement Ceremonies. The front entrance was propped open again to allow the procession to enter the building.

The incident was reported to the police, and an investigation is underway to determine the cause of the propping open of the front entrance.

BAD REPUTATION

The incident occurred on the day of Baruch's Commencement Ceremonies. The front entrance was propped open again to allow the procession to enter the building.

The incident was reported to the police, and an investigation is underway to determine the cause of the propping open of the front entrance.
Professor to Start Debating Team

By PHILIP J. DRAUGH

I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said David S. Birdsell, a new assistant professor of speech and debate, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too." He added, "It was a lot of fun." Birdsell recently received his doctorate in rhetoric and argumentation on the analysis of public policy questions and the construction of effective argument. He has been studying the art of public speaking for many years and is a member of the National Forensics Association. Birdsell is also a frequent speaker on the topic of public speaking and has given numerous talks on the subject. He is currently teaching the course "Public Speaking and Debate" at Baruch College.

Birdsell's background in debating was acquired through his involvement in high school and college debate teams. He has been active in debate for over 20 years, and his experience has prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

Birdsell's experiences with debate and public speaking have prepared him well to help students develop their public speaking and debating skills. "I came to Baruch to stay in an urban school," said Birdsell, "and they've obviously been thinking along those lines, too."

Birdsell's expertise in public speaking and debate is complemented by his background in political science. He has a master's degree in political science from the University of Virginia and a Ph.D. in political science from the University of Maryland. He has also taught at the University of Maryland and the University of Virginia, where he served as an assistant professor of political science.

Birdsell has been active in many public speaking and debate organizations, including the National Forensics Association and the National Speech and Debate Association. He is also a member of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association and the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.
You don't have to be of African descent to read Black History any more than you have to be European to study Western Civilization.

When some people think of racist they picture overt bigotry and hatred, the burning crosses, the shout, "nigger"—things our country has reaped by the box. For black managers, what gives them a disadvantage is deep-seated attitudes that may not even be conscious. We must banish ourselves to prove illegal behavior.

U.S.A. 1820 or U.S.S., 1827?

"Distances separate bodies, not people... sister, there are places between us deeper than the ocean, no distance."

—Antonietta Aquasolin, Point of Departure...

- The U.S. Constitution, when formed in 1787, regarded the Negro as only "three fifths" of a human being.

- It has been said that racial antagonisms—such as those characterized by Howard Beach, The Citadel and Cummins, GA—stem from part from a fundamental and often subconscious misunderstanding of peoples outside the "American Mainstream."

- Black History Month which traces its beginning back to Carter Woodson's Negro History Week at the turn of the century, provides an opportunity to celebrate African Heritage. To the extent that opportunity is exploited, a foundation of prejudice might be weakened.

- We hope that the material appearing on these pages will somewhat enlighten and inspire the reader to seek a broader understanding of the Black Experience.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON
1856–1915
Founder and President—Tuskegee Institute. Advocated in district education as a means of Negro advancement.

MARCUS GARVEY
1887–1940
Leading proponent of the Back to Africa Movement. Sought to raise
"Nigger" level of awareness and pride in our heritage.

HARRIET TUBMAN
1820–1913
One of the most famous "conductors" on the Underground Railroad. Guided over 300 slaves to freedom in the North and Canada.

SOJOURNER TRUTH
1797–1883
Abolitionist and writer. Actively opposed racism, privation, slavery, and demanded for working people and women's suffrage.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS
1817–1895
Self-educated editor and orator. Successfully combined a long and distinguished public career with newspaper editing and publishing.

Did You Know?
- Word "nigger" is derived from the Wolof word dugu, meaning to misbehave or lead a disorderly life.
- Word "tote" comes from rota or tuta, a word from the Western Congo and Angola meaning "to carry."
Director of Marketing Research Discusses Positions at Coca-Cola

By BILL MOBAN

Last semester the American Marketing Association sponsored a panel discussion at New York University with Coca-Cola’s Professor Experiments. The panelists were toàn từ các nhà nghiên cứu và giảng viên, và người quảng cáo - điều mà tạo ra nhiều ngành nghề. Sự thảo luận bao gồm các chủ đề về việc comprehend the tasks at hand.

Many heed to the part.

"It's the part. Driving is.

"It's the part. Driving is.

A number of researchers conduct marketing research at Coca-Cola, including those involved in brand development, packaging, and design. They also interact with various ideas to ensure the product is well known or if a new product can be introduced.

Marketing strategies are responsible for positioning and maintaining various levels of employees within the branch or region of operations. Coca-Cola companies also hire top talent to achieve its goals in different situations and develop advertising samples which will be released for the following year. The seller has the option of using this information in its own interests on management. Coca-Cola’s goal is to create a good relationship with the parent company.

Marketing strategies are responsible for positioning and maintaining various levels of employees within the branch or region of operations.

California Style
The Sights and Sounds in the City of Angels
By CHITRAN BALANDRAN

Many, five-lane freeways, fast. When asked about his plans for the future Albright said he loves teaching so much that he never wants to stop. He spent two months uptown, 30 days in Los Angeles and finally settled in Hoboken, N.J. Joseph and Dorothy also often go to New York and spend the week on their own. Joseph said it was too difficult to find an apartment where they could stay. "It’s just a part of the experience," he said.

I am very interested about the social sciences and how they relate to the future. Albright said he loves teaching so much that he never wants to stop. He spent two months uptown, 30 days in Los Angeles and finally settled in Hoboken, N.J. Joseph and Dorothy also often go to New York and spend the week on their own. Joseph said it was too difficult to find an apartment where they could stay. "It’s just a part of the experience," he said.

I am very interested about the social sciences and how they relate to the future. Albright said he loves teaching so much that he never wants to stop. He spent two months uptown, 30 days in Los Angeles and finally settled in Hoboken, N.J. Joseph and Dorothy also often go to New York and spend the week on their own. Joseph said it was too difficult to find an apartment where they could stay. "It’s just a part of the experience," he said.

I am very interested about the social sciences and how they relate to the future. Albright said he loves teaching so much that he never wants to stop. He spent two months uptown, 30 days in Los Angeles and finally settled in Hoboken, N.J. Joseph and Dorothy also often go to New York and spend the week on their own. Joseph said it was too difficult to find an apartment where they could stay. "It’s just a part of the experience," he said.

I am very interested about the social sciences and how they relate to the future. Albright said he loves teaching so much that he never wants to stop. He spent two months uptown, 30 days in Los Angeles and finally settled in Hoboken, N.J. Joseph and Dorothy also often go to New York and spend the week on their own. Joseph said it was too difficult to find an apartment where they could stay. "It’s just a part of the experience," he said.

I am very interested about the social sciences and how they relate to the future. Albright said he loves teaching so much that he never wants to stop. He spent two months uptown, 30 days in Los Angeles and finally settled in Hoboken, N.J. Joseph and Dorothy also often go to New York and spend the week on their own. Joseph said it was too difficult to find an apartment where they could stay. "It’s just a part of the experience," he said.
Politics

Continued from Page 33

The strategy is the post-war period. "Change is the only thing really necessary, the only way to that chess is easy to learn, but hard to life in general. To each his own.

To me living L.A. style! I have had myself completely clothed for a day or two now, and I have noticed a few differences. I won't go as far as saying that I am completely different, but I am definitely more relaxed.

The Thatchertones never had a majority.

Chess Club Changes

A Strategy For Day-To-Day Life

A Trip to Antigua

by ILLUSTRATION

New York is often stunning, dumping and delightful. The weather varies from sunny afternoons to heavy rains. The scenery ranges from mountains to flatlands. The people are diverse, from the rugged Yankees to the sophisticated Europeans.

The Thatchertones never had a majority.

Chess Club Changes

A Strategy For Day-To-Day Life

A Trip to Antigua

by ILLUSTRATION

New York is often stunning, dumping and delightful. The weather varies from sunny afternoons to heavy rains. The scenery ranges from mountains to flatlands. The people are diverse, from the rugged Yankees to the sophisticated Europeans.
Dueling Wenchens

Re-Run

The Kinks — "Dedicated Fidels" (MCA)

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

Rock 'n' Rebellion

A.P.P.L.E. — "Nature'sROCkV Tour of the World of Stars" (A&M)

I've always been fascinated by the way certain bands and artists can take the music of another culture and make it their own. This is exactly what A.P.P.L.E. has done with their tribute to the music of the Kinks. Their album "Nature'sROCkV Tour of the World of Stars" is a beautiful tribute to the Kinks' music, and it is a testament to the power of music to bring people together.

HOME SWEET HOME

Soda City, the Isabel Private Release

Soda City is a great album, and it is one of the few records that I have that I really enjoy listening to. The opening track, "Wipe All Our Borders Away," is a great song, and it sets the tone for the rest of the album. The song is about the need to break down borders and bring people together, and it is a reflection of the values that Soda City stands for.

MUSIC:

China Crisis — "What Price Paradise?" (A&M)

You've probably never heard of China Crisis, but you should look them up. They are a great band, and their album "What Price Paradise?" is a great album. The opening track, "China Crisis," is a great song, and it sets the tone for the rest of the album. The song is about the struggle to find meaning in a world that is constantly changing, and it is a reflection of the values that China Crisis stands for.

SUNDAY AND THE CROW — "Fire" (Mercury Records)

Gary Daly, the band's lead vocalist, gives it his all in "Fire," one of the best songs on the album. The song is about the need to fight for what you believe in, and it is a reflection of the values that Gary Daly stands for. The song is a powerful statement of the need to stand up for what you believe in, and it is a reflection of the values that Gary Daly stands for.

The Tickler

February 17, 1987

JOHN GRECO

Opposites do attract. For a lonely justice department investigator (Donna Wilkson), the discovery that a rather elusive feline (Thom Robyn) is also a loner seems fated to bring them closer together. What ensues is a phlegmatic and industrious pursuit of love through tribulations that are more humorous than biting. The result is a corny, but watchable, comedy in which sex is played second fiddle to the relationship between the two main characters. The chemistry between Robyn and Wilkson is very good and the supporting cast (including Charles Martin Smith as a has-been actor, Annette O'Toole as Robyn's mother and the always dependable Martin Landau as a fat cat) is excellent.

AS THE WORLD TURNS: THE CREEPING CRISIS

The Kinks — "Welcome To Sleazy Town," a deep blues number from the band's latest album, "Dedicated Fidels," is a great song. It is a powerful statement of the need for change and the need to fight against the forces of oppression. The song is a powerful statement of the need for change and the need to fight against the forces of oppression.

Paul Robins

"Dedicated Fidels" is a great album, and it is one of the best records I have ever heard. The opening track, "Dedicated Fidels," is a great song, and it sets the tone for the rest of the album. The song is about the need to fight for what you believe in, and it is a reflection of the values that Paul Robins stands for. The song is a powerful statement of the need to stand up for what you believe in, and it is a reflection of the values that Paul Robins stands for.

Proudly presenting Donna Wilkson, in her movie debut, simply acts out the role of the feline. Although she is not as well-known as her human counterpart, Donna Wilkson is a talented actress who brings a great deal of energy to her performance. She is a great actress, and her performance is a testament to the power of great acting.

The film is a great movie, and it is one of the best films that I have ever seen. The film is a great movie, and it is one of the best films that I have ever seen.

JOHN GRECO

January 18, 1987

The Kinks — "Dedicated Fidels" (MCA)

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.

When you call the Kinks, they are your only friends. They are still doing that the Kinks way: Flying in the face of all the disasters and sweeping the sparkles from their own success. The story behind the Kinks is not a story of success and failure, but of a long and winding road to the top. The Kinks have been around for over forty years, and they are still making music that is as relevant today as it was when they started.
Stupid Fashion

By PAUL FISSELL

1989 wasn’t a very prolific year as far as music went. ADCD certainly didn’t match Elvis’ live in-stadium appearance at Madison Square Garden or the Rolling Stones’ tour, and the releases weren’t as frenetic as the previous year. Yet the album sales were very respectable, and the hit singles were strong enough to prop up these records. In fact, the year was a bit more modest than the previous year. But what can you expect from a year that had no huge hits?

The biggest story was the death of Vincent van Gogh. The painter, who died on July 29, 1889 at age thirty-seven, was remembered as a master of post-impressionism. His paintings were highly sought after by collectors and museums, and his work is now considered to be some of the most important in the world.

In the end, van Gogh’s life was a tragic one. He was born in 1853 in the Netherlands and died in 1890 in France. He was a prolific painter, but he struggled with mental illness and poverty for most of his life. He painted over 2,000 works, including landscapes, portraits, and still lifes, but his work was not well known during his lifetime. It was his brother, Theo, who helped to promote his art and arrange exhibitions of his works.

Van Gogh’s work is now world-famous, and his paintings are exhibited in museums all over the world. His works include "Starry Night" (1889), "The Sower" (1888), and "The Starry Night Over the Rhone" (1888).

In the end, the story of van Gogh is a tragic one, but his art lives on. His paintings continue to inspire and move people around the world. His work is a testament to the power of art and the human spirit.
MADNESS

CRIN - People of the Lead (Eastwest Records)

One of rock's wildest paparazzi, David T. Cotton, is back with a brand new album. His band has renamed itself and has his new lead singer, a knife-wielding, iron-clad companion. The album, "People of the Lead," is a classic example of Cotton's style, combining elements of metal, punk, and rock. The music is energetic and the lyrics are intense, making this album a must-listen for fans of the genre. - Sal Trappey

---

Cocreate Roypert-Me and Men

John Greco

"The best work schemes of mice and men..."

The statement by Robert Burns is the scenes are those with just George and Len back with a brand new album. The songs range from the fast "C" and the final track on this album, "Pray for the Loud." The album is powerful, packed with energy, and sure to be a hit with fans of the genre. - Sal Trappey

---

Keep Away From Parents

Zebra-3 (Atlantic Records)

People are calling this a bad album, but if you're a musician, it's a nécessaire. The album gives great insight into the life of a musician and what it's like to create music. It's a raw and honest look at the world of music. - Sal Trappey

---

The Visitors Guide to New York

1. See the U.N.

You can see the United Nations in person. The entrance fee is quite reasonable, and the increased ticket prices are negotiated for by the visitors at the gate. The visitors at the gate also have a wide variety of shops and restaurants to choose from, including several excellent restaurants. - Sal Trappey

---

METAL

West Coast labels Metal Blade and England are going to be distributed by Capitol Records. The first five albums to be distributed are Laura Borden’s Merle To Sorrow, The Last Night Kids on the Giant and the Greats. The last three albums have been taken off the Capitol list. - Sal Trappey

---

 다른 뉴스였다

The year of 1986 turned out to be a huge one for heavy metal. Bands were getting signed left and right by the major labels. Underground bands were beginning to appear on the scene. Independent labels were beginning to flourish and the underground scene was becoming more visible. Heavy metal fans were excited to hear about the new releases from their favorite bands. - Sal Trappey

---

Another way is for fans of major labels to hear about the new releases from their favorite bands.

TOP 30 SONGS

1. "I Can't See Why" - Zebra
2. "California" - Journey
3. "I Can't Stop Rocking" - Van Halen

TOP 30 ALBUMS

1. "The Best of UFO" - UFO
2. "The Best of John Mayall" - John Mayall
3. "The Best of Lynyrd Skynyrd" - Lynyrd Skynyrd

COD

DISCOUNTS

BRAND NAMES

1. "One Way" - The Who
2. "The Best of Fleetwood Mac" - Fleetwood Mac

PAPER

.Orders Only

NEW YORK, NEW YORK

350 X 250 SIZES

BASE 11.0 SELL

- "One Way" - The Who
- "The Best of Fleetwood Mac" - Fleetwood Mac

BRAND NAMES

"One Way" - The Who
"The Best of Fleetwood Mac" - Fleetwood Mac
HELP SAVE AUDREY II.

March 17, 18, 19, 1987.
Watch for details.

FEED ME!