Golden Key
Inducts 365 New Members
By Celine Ruben-Salama
Contributing Writer

The annual induction ceremony for new members of the Baruch chapter of Golden Key National Honor Society was held on November 10th in room Four North of the 23rd street building. A record 356 students were inducted as well as several honorary faculty members, and two scholars were awarded. Most of the speeches at this well-attended event revolved around the importance of excellence in school and giving back to the community.

Roughly 200 of the new members attended the event, in order to receive their membership certificates, and as honorary members. Many brought friends and family, which caused the audience to spill over onto the balcony, and even for some people to stand. Baruch chapter president Jennifer Ding, was pleased with the turn out. “This year we set a record,” she said.

Membership to the national organization is life long, and by invitation only. It is extended to the top 15 per cent of juniors and seniors in schools that have a local chapter.

“Golden Key is more than scholarships, or a line on a resume,” said Bruce Webt, director of the Eastern Regional Division of Golden Key who was a guest at the event.

The Baruch Chapter, one of 300 worldwide, organizes charity service events such as New York Cares Day, Make a Difference Day, and repair much or all of the social decadence way in which they are perceived collectively.”

This poetry reading encouraged students from both colleges to sign up and compete lyrically for prizes, while also showcasing several other non-CUNY performers. To add to the poetry night, SEEK and BLMI also lined up several guests for the evening including a motivational speaker, two theatrical acts and a panel of judges for the competition.

The poetry night, set in the student lounge of the 360 PAS building (Rm. 1422) and hosted by Bisola Neil (SEEK president at Baruch), and Alex Mills (BLMI President), started rather late, in fact, closer to seven than the scheduled 6 PM sharp, noted on the invitation letter.

At first, the crowd grew蚁, however the delay seemed inconsequential once the show began. Roughly 200 of the new members attended the event, in order to receive their membership certificates, and as honorary members. Many brought friends and family, which caused the audience to spill over onto the balcony, and even for some people to stand. Baruch chapter president Jennifer Ding was pleased with the turn out. “This year we set a record,” she said.

Membership to the national organization is life long, and by invitation only. It is extended to the top 15 per cent of juniors and seniors in schools that have a local chapter.

“Golden Key is more than scholarships, or a line on a resume,” said Bruce Webt, director of the Eastern Regional Division of Golden Key who was a guest at the event. “Golden Key is more than scholarships, or a line on a resume,” said Bruce Webt, director of the Eastern Regional Division of Golden Key who was a guest at the event. The Baruch Chapter, one of 300 worldwide, organizes charity service events such as New York Cares Day, Make a Difference Day, and repair much or all of the social decadence way in which they are perceived collectively.”

This poetry reading encouraged students from both colleges to sign up and compete lyrically for prizes, while also showcasing several other non-CUNY performers. To add to the poetry night, SEEK and BLMI also lined up several guests for the evening including a motivational speaker, two theatrical acts and a panel of judges for the competition.

The poetry night, set in the student lounge of the 360 PAS building (Rm. 1422) and hosted by Bisola Neil (SEEK president at Baruch), and Alex Mills (BLMI President), started rather late, in fact, closer to seven than the scheduled 6 PM sharp, noted on the invitation letter. At first, the crowd grew anty, however the delay seemed inconsequential once the show began.

Winners of the Seek Poetry contest, from right to left. First place: Johnny Burrell, Jr. (Medgar Evers), second place: Nicole Yarde (Medgar Evers), and fourth place: Vanessa Wilikenko (Baruch). (Photograph: Adam Oleszewski)
prepaid wireless as low as 15¢ a minute.
what are you waiting for,
permission?
Planning a trip? Go the smart way, right from home.

Did you ever think about riding the Port Authority bus, taxi, shuttle, van service and limousine? You need to get to Kennedy, Newark International, LaGuardia or any of the other terminals. For all the information you need to get to Kennedy, LaGuardia and Newark airports by bus, taxi, shuttle, van service and limousine. Find out which ones are authorized by The Port Authority of New York and New Jersey. Get schedules and fares. And when you return, stop at the Ground Transportation Information Desk in the baggage claim area to make arrangements for the return trip. The Port Authority wants to help make your whole trip as safe and affordable as possible.

And we know your mother would approve.

The Bronx Horns - Carrying on the Legend of Tito Puente with Latin Jazz

By Kileighbone Wang Co-Sorcerer of the Week

The Bronx Horns, a jazz band that celebrates the heritage of Tito Puente, are more than a band of musicians. They are a family, a community, and a force for positive change in the world. The band is made up of four members: saxophonist Mitch Frohman, Andrew Wadworth, guitar player Mike Delmonico, and drummer Vincent DeRosa. Each member brings his own unique style and talent to the group, but they all share a common goal: to keep Tito Puente's legacy alive.

The Bronx Horns are well-known for their high-energy performances, which feature a mix of traditional Latin jazz and modern jazz influences. The band's music is characterized by strong, catchy rhythms, vibrant horns, and soulful vocals. Their sound is a blend of Latin and American styles, with a strong emphasis on the rhythms of Cuba, Puerto Rico, and the United States.

The band was founded by Mitch Frohman, who was born and raised in the Bronx. Mitch is a skilled saxophonist and composer who has been playing the instrument since he was a child. He was inspired to start the band by his love for Tito Puente, a Latin jazz legend who was also from the Bronx.

The Bronx Horns perform at a variety of events, including festivals, concerts, and private parties. They are also involved in community outreach programs, using their music to bring people together and to promote positive change.

The band's message is one of hope and inspiration. They believe that music has the power to bring people together, to teach us about the world, and to inspire us to be the best that we can be. The Bronx Horns are dedicated to keeping Tito Puente's legacy alive for future generations.

The band has received critical acclaim for their performances, and their music has been featured on several television shows and in films. They are also involved in the community, working with local schools and organizations to promote music education and to bring people together.

The band's members are all passionate about their music and about their shared mission. They believe that music is a powerful force for change, and they are committed to using their music to make a positive impact on the world.

The Bronx Horns are a true community band, and their music reflects the rich diversity of the Bronx and of American culture. They are a shining example of how music can bring people together and inspire us all to be the best that we can be.
STUDENT REDUCED FEE CERTIFICATE

This Certificate must be presented at the time of payment.

The patient care facility of SUNY State College of Optometry

General Eye Examination: $25

University Optometric Center
80Qpcs
33 West 42nd Street
New York, NY 10036

Between 5th and 6th Avenues
33 West 42nd Street
30Qpcs
EasyEverything
The world's largest Internet cafes

TICKER FEATURES NOVEMBER 20, 2000

Q2: It is no surprise to me that many students have caught smoking weed, they spend so much time in the courts, the politicians, and the media play with each other in the limelight. In the same vein, we the people are processing the events, understanding the things that are happening. The media is just a tool to promote sales and make money. The fact that the presidency hinges on 200 votes out of several million is really scary. The fact that people are taking it so easy, and not making a fuss about procedures in other states, shows that they don't have faith in the system.

Q2: The rest of the world is laughing at us. Recently we have had a lot of problems with the presidency, the Cotton withdraws, and many other issues. How does the world view America?
Attention All Students

Jean Louis David Salon
Paris Milan New York is looking for MODELS.

INTERESTED?

Please call the Training Center
Jean Louis David Salon
TEL 212 779-3555
Monday-Friday 10AM-6PM
(To schedule an appointment)
No Joy in Mudville

As per the agreement set forth by both parties, the most powerful leader in the free world, was to be chosen on Election Day, November 9 by “the will of the people.” At press time, the will of the people was still not served.

Two weeks after the people of the U.S. were given the chance to “choose” their new president, the will of the nation turned into the will of Florida.

With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, the will of the nation has once again become the will of Florida. As a result of the 2000 election, the will of the people was still not served.

10 years later, we are still waiting for the will of the people to be served.

Although Gore has the popular vote, this race continues because our ancient constitution mandates that a candidate must win the electoral college to become president.

The Electoral College, according to the good old constitution, is the body that elects the president. The vote is based on the number of members of Congress at a state.

The Electoral College thus decided the outcome of the 2000 election. With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, it showed up last election but the outcome was what it is today.

Do you remember when the “will of the people” was still not served? In 2000, the will of the people was still not served.

Perhaps those senior citizens in Palm Beach County would have had an easier time voting if they knew that the vote was not counted.

The Electoral College, according to the good old constitution, is the body that elects the president. According to the good old constitution, the body that elects the president is the Electoral College.

The Electoral College thus decided the outcome of the 2000 election. With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, it showed up last election but the outcome was what it is today.

Despite the fact that the will of the nation has once again become the will of Florida, the nation’s will is still not served.

For 10 years, we have been waiting for the will of the nation to be served.

In 2000, the will of the nation was still not served.

Disaster serves to show us that it is time to move on to the 21st century.

I believe that disaster serves to show us that it is time to move on to the 21st century.

The will of the people was still not served.

As per the agreement set forth by both parties, the most powerful leader in the free world, was to be chosen on Election Day, November 9 by “the will of the people.” At press time, the will of the people was still not served.

Two weeks after the people of the U.S. were given the chance to “choose” their new president, the will of the nation turned into the will of Florida.

With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, the will of the nation has once again become the will of Florida. As a result of the 2000 election, the will of the people was still not served.

Although Gore has the popular vote, this race continues because our ancient constitution mandates that a candidate must win the electoral college to become president.

The Electoral College, according to the good old constitution, is the body that elects the president. The vote is based on the number of members of Congress at a state.

The Electoral College thus decided the outcome of the 2000 election. With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, it showed up last election but the outcome was what it is today.

Do you remember when the “will of the people” was still not served? In 2000, the will of the people was still not served.

Perhaps those senior citizens in Palm Beach County would have had an easier time voting if they knew that the vote was not counted.

The Electoral College, according to the good old constitution, is the body that elects the president. According to the good old constitution, the body that elects the president is the Electoral College.

The Electoral College thus decided the outcome of the 2000 election. With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, it showed up last election but the outcome was what it is today.

Despite the fact that the will of the nation has once again become the will of Florida, the nation’s will is still not served.

For 10 years, we have been waiting for the will of the nation to be served.

In 2000, the will of the nation was still not served.

Disaster serves to show us that it is time to move on to the 21st century.

I believe that disaster serves to show us that it is time to move on to the 21st century.

The will of the people was still not served.

As per the agreement set forth by both parties, the most powerful leader in the free world, was to be chosen on Election Day, November 9 by “the will of the people.” At press time, the will of the people was still not served.

Two weeks after the people of the U.S. were given the chance to “choose” their new president, the will of the nation turned into the will of Florida.

With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, the will of the nation has once again become the will of Florida. As a result of the 2000 election, the will of the people was still not served.

Although Gore has the popular vote, this race continues because our ancient constitution mandates that a candidate must win the electoral college to become president.

The Electoral College, according to the good old constitution, is the body that elects the president. The vote is based on the number of members of Congress at a state.

The Electoral College thus decided the outcome of the 2000 election. With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, it showed up last election but the outcome was what it is today.

Do you remember when the “will of the people” was still not served? In 2000, the will of the people was still not served.

Perhaps those senior citizens in Palm Beach County would have had an easier time voting if they knew that the vote was not counted.

The Electoral College, according to the good old constitution, is the body that elects the president. According to the good old constitution, the body that elects the president is the Electoral College.

The Electoral College thus decided the outcome of the 2000 election. With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, it showed up last election but the outcome was what it is today.

Despite the fact that the will of the nation has once again become the will of Florida, the nation’s will is still not served.

For 10 years, we have been waiting for the will of the nation to be served.

In 2000, the will of the nation was still not served.

Disaster serves to show us that it is time to move on to the 21st century.

I believe that disaster serves to show us that it is time to move on to the 21st century.

The will of the people was still not served.

As per the agreement set forth by both parties, the most powerful leader in the free world, was to be chosen on Election Day, November 9 by “the will of the people.” At press time, the will of the people was still not served.

Two weeks after the people of the U.S. were given the chance to “choose” their new president, the will of the nation turned into the will of Florida.

With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, the will of the nation has once again become the will of Florida. As a result of the 2000 election, the will of the people was still not served.

Although Gore has the popular vote, this race continues because our ancient constitution mandates that a candidate must win the electoral college to become president.

The Electoral College, according to the good old constitution, is the body that elects the president. The vote is based on the number of members of Congress at a state.

The Electoral College thus decided the outcome of the 2000 election. With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, it showed up last election but the outcome was what it is today.

Do you remember when the “will of the people” was still not served? In 2000, the will of the people was still not served.

Perhaps those senior citizens in Palm Beach County would have had an easier time voting if they knew that the vote was not counted.

The Electoral College, according to the good old constitution, is the body that elects the president. According to the good old constitution, the body that elects the president is the Electoral College.

The Electoral College thus decided the outcome of the 2000 election. With a race-deciding 25 electoral votes, it showed up last election but the outcome was what it is today.

Despite the fact that the will of the nation has once again become the will of Florida, the nation’s will is still not served.

For 10 years, we have been waiting for the will of the nation to be served.

In 2000, the will of the nation was still not served.

Disaster serves to show us that it is time to move on to the 21st century.

I believe that disaster serves to show us that it is time to move on to the 21st century.

The will of the people was still not served.
Let the Truth Be Told: Baruchs Does Not Value Diversity

New York City is one of the centers of diversity in the United States. Many young people flock to it every year for the opportunities that are not necessarily available in their home towns. The opportunities are not only financial, but also educational. How many New Yorkers do not believe that their unalienable right to education is depicted with a black and orange hue?

By making a lot of noise about how much better he thought Baruch's administrators had to bear than the ones I have, he closed his notebook and told me, "With the election of Bill Clinton, Black and Latinos are no longer going to be the number one target in the United States. Baruch will never again be stigmatized by the effects of slavery. We have already lost several people to the effects of slavery, and the number of effaced people will very likely soar in the future."

Unfortunately, there were several factors that I could not see. One of these was the strength of the police force who was responsible for the security of the university. They are not only responsible for the security of the university but also for the security of the students, faculty, and staff who are housed in the university. The strength of the police force is not only dependent on the number of officers who are employed, but also on the quality of the officers who are employed. It is a common knowledge that the quality of the officers is not as good as the number of officers...

Racial Division and YOU!

About two weeks ago a police officer in Los Angeles shot a black man who was carrying a gun. The shot to the head killed the man instantly. The police officer was later cleared of all charges. This tragic event has sparked a lot of controversy among the community. However, the police officer did not deserve any prosecution.

Jury Pool Executions...Reply to Solution to Death Penalty

I truly believe that the entire issue of the death penalty is a human rights issue. I believe that the death penalty is not a solution to the problem of crime. It is only a band-aid that covers the problem. The real solution to the problem of crime is to address the root causes of crime. This includes addressing issues such as poverty, education, and unemployment. If we address these root causes, we will be able to reduce the number of crimes that are committed.

I believe that the death penalty is not a solution to the problem of crime. It is only a band-aid that covers the problem. The real solution to the problem of crime is to address the root causes of crime. This includes addressing issues such as poverty, education, and unemployment. If we address these root causes, we will be able to reduce the number of crimes that are committed.

Understanding The Electoral College

After the clinic that we operated was closed, the Department of Justice began a series of televised ads that attempted to explain the system. The ads were aired nationwide and featured a character named "Mr. Justice" who explained the system in a simple and straightforward manner. The ads were met with mixed reactions. Some people praised the ads for their clarity, while others criticized them for their oversimplification of the system.

The Elecical College was created to fill the gap left by the flag of the United States and the states. It was created to give the people a voice in the election of the president. The electoral college is made up of members from each state. Each state has a number of electoral votes based on its population. The candidate who wins the most electoral votes becomes the president.

The electoral college system has been criticized for a number of reasons. One of the main criticisms is that it does not allow for direct democracy. The president is not directly elected by the people. The president is elected by the electoral college, which is made up of electors who are chosen by the state legislatures. The electors are chosen based on the popular vote in each state. The candidate who wins the most electoral votes becomes the president.

Another reason for the criticism of the electoral college system is that it can result in a president who is not the choice of the majority of the American people. This is because the electoral college system can result in a president who is not the choice of the majority of the American people.

However, the electoral college system has also been defended for a number of reasons. One of the main defenses of the electoral college system is that it can result in a president who is a compromise candidate. The candidate who wins the most electoral votes becomes the president. This can result in a president who is a compromise candidate, which can be beneficial to the country. The president who is a compromise candidate can be a president who can work with both parties to achieve meaningful legislation.
Electoral College (Continued from page 13)

When the Electoral College is in session, whose goals are to elect a president and to do so through a process of allocating a certain number of electoral votes to each state. The state’s electors then cast their votes for the candidate of their choice. The candidate who receives the most electoral votes (at least 270) is declared the winner.

The Electoral College is composed of 538 electors, one from each state and the District of Columbia. It meets on December 19, the day after the presidential election day, to cast its votes. The electors are chosen in each state before the election. The candidate who wins the presidential election in a state wins all of that state’s electoral votes.

The Electoral College is used in the United States to determine the presidency and vice presidency. The president and vice president are selected by the Electoral College, not by the popular vote. The president is chosen by the slate of electors from each state, with the slate chosen by the political party in the state. The candidate with the most electoral votes wins.

The Electoral College is criticized for being outdated and undemocratic. There have been efforts to reform the Electoral College, such as the National Popular Vote movement, which aims to pass a constitutional amendment that would change the Electoral College system to a national popular vote.

While the Electoral College is used in the United States, it is not the only system used in other countries. Some countries use a direct popular vote to select their president, while others use a combination of direct votes and elections to select their leaders.

The Electoral College is also used in other countries, including Canada, the United Kingdom, and Australia. In these countries, the presidential elections are held in the same way as in the United States, with the president and vice president being elected by the Electoral College.

Electoral College (Continued from page 13)

The Electoral College is used in the United States to determine the presidency and vice presidency. The president and vice president are selected by the Electoral College, not by the popular vote. The president is chosen by the slate of electors from each state, with the slate chosen by the political party in the state. The candidate who wins the presidential election in a state wins all of that state’s electoral votes.

The Electoral College is criticized for being outdated and undemocratic. There have been efforts to reform the Electoral College, such as the National Popular Vote movement, which aims to pass a constitutional amendment that would change the Electoral College system to a national popular vote.

While the Electoral College is used in the United States, it is not the only system used in other countries. Some countries use a direct popular vote to select their president, while others use a combination of direct votes and elections to select their leaders.

The Electoral College is also used in other countries, including Canada, the United Kingdom, and Australia. In these countries, the presidential elections are held in the same way as in the United States, with the president and vice president being elected by the Electoral College.

Electoral College (Continued from page 13)

The Electoral College is used in the United States to determine the presidency and vice presidency. The president and vice president are selected by the Electoral College, not by the popular vote. The president is chosen by the slate of electors from each state, with the slate chosen by the political party in the state. The candidate who wins the presidential election in a state wins all of that state’s electoral votes.

The Electoral College is criticized for being outdated and undemocratic. There have been efforts to reform the Electoral College, such as the National Popular Vote movement, which aims to pass a constitutional amendment that would change the Electoral College system to a national popular vote.

While the Electoral College is used in the United States, it is not the only system used in other countries. Some countries use a direct popular vote to select their president, while others use a combination of direct votes and elections to select their leaders.

The Electoral College is also used in other countries, including Canada, the United Kingdom, and Australia. In these countries, the presidential elections are held in the same way as in the United States, with the president and vice president being elected by the Electoral College.

Electoral College (Continued from page 13)

The Electoral College is used in the United States to determine the presidency and vice presidency. The president and vice president are selected by the Electoral College, not by the popular vote. The president is chosen by the slate of electors from each state, with the slate chosen by the political party in the state. The candidate who wins the presidential election in a state wins all of that state’s electoral votes.

The Electoral College is criticized for being outdated and undemocratic. There have been efforts to reform the Electoral College, such as the National Popular Vote movement, which aims to pass a constitutional amendment that would change the Electoral College system to a national popular vote.

While the Electoral College is used in the United States, it is not the only system used in other countries. Some countries use a direct popular vote to select their president, while others use a combination of direct votes and elections to select their leaders.

The Electoral College is also used in other countries, including Canada, the United Kingdom, and Australia. In these countries, the presidential elections are held in the same way as in the United States, with the president and vice president being elected by the Electoral College.
By having a full roster on time, the Stateswomen can work on plays and conditioning. One of the hardest aspects of basketball is the conditioning. During games, players are literally running sprints up and down the court at lightning speeds. If a team is not in shape, it will usually lose.

The other part of basketball is the cerebral—players have to learn and get a “feel” for the game. By this I mean, players have to understand their roles and tempo-swinger in Trevor Brookins.

At press time, the defending CUNY champions are opening their season in the U.S.M.A. tournament against Kean College. This promises to be a tough match because Kean has added some mobile big men since last year. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!

In preparation for the season opener, the Statesmen played two scrimmages against Brooklyn College and Manhattanville. In the Brooklyn scrimmage, our defending champs were phenomenal, appearing to have not lost a beat from last season. The Statesmen won all three halves in convincing fashion, shooting over 50% from the arc, over 60% from the field and over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not a really good one and had no real size to match fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!

In preparation for the season opener, the Statesmen played two scrimmages against Brooklyn College and Manhattanville. In the Brooklyn scrimmage, our defending champs were phenomenal, appearing to have not lost a beat from last season. The Statesmen won all three halves in convincing fashion, shooting over 50% from the arc, over 60% from the field and over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not a really good one and had no real size to match fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!

In preparation for the season opener, the Statesmen played two scrimmages against Brooklyn College and Manhattanville. In the Brooklyn scrimmage, our defending champs were phenomenal, appearing to have not lost a beat from last season. The Statesmen won all three halves in convincing fashion, shooting over 50% from the arc, over 60% from the field and over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not a really good one and had no real size to match fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!

In preparation for the season opener, the Statesmen played two scrimmages against Brooklyn College and Manhattanville. In the Brooklyn scrimmage, our defending champs were phenomenal, appearing to have not lost a beat from last season. The Statesmen won all three halves in convincing fashion, shooting over 50% from the arc, over 60% from the field and over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not a really good one and had no real size to match fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!

In preparation for the season opener, the Statesmen played two scrimmages against Brooklyn College and Manhattanville. In the Brooklyn scrimmage, our defending champs were phenomenal, appearing to have not lost a beat from last season. The Statesmen won all three halves in convincing fashion, shooting over 50% from the arc, over 60% from the field and over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not a really good one and had no real size to match fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!

In preparation for the season opener, the Statesmen played two scrimmages against Brooklyn College and Manhattanville. In the Brooklyn scrimmage, our defending champs were phenomenal, appearing to have not lost a beat from last season. The Statesmen won all three halves in convincing fashion, shooting over 50% from the arc, over 60% from the field and over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not a really good one and had no real size to match fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!

In preparation for the season opener, the Statesmen played two scrimmages against Brooklyn College and Manhattanville. In the Brooklyn scrimmage, our defending champs were phenomenal, appearing to have not lost a beat from last season. The Statesmen won all three halves in convincing fashion, shooting over 50% from the arc, over 60% from the field and over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not a really good one and had no real size to match fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!

In preparation for the season opener, the Statesmen played two scrimmages against Brooklyn College and Manhattanville. In the Brooklyn scrimmage, our defending champs were phenomenal, appearing to have not lost a beat from last season. The Statesmen won all three halves in convincing fashion, shooting over 50% from the arc, over 60% from the field and over 80% from the charity stripe. In all fairness, the Brooklyn team was not a really good one and had no real size to match fairness, the Brooklyn team was not really over 80% from the charity stripe. Nonetheless, the Statesmen will be fine so long as they execute their offense and defend—the goal of every team!