Hillel Charges Rights Violation

By Eric Loyola

Two Jewish students registered a complaint with the department of Purchasing and the office of Student Development about what they perceived as a violation of their First Amendment rights by the Baruch College mail service, which refused to distribute their newspaper.

The flyers invited interested parties to a demonstration organized by Hillel protesting the appearance at Baruch of City College's vice president, David Galin, then vice president of Hillel.

By box number to make it accessible, said Jeffries, a student mail attendant. "And that's the way it was, according to Mr. Galin's statement." He added, "But, they did not make it accessible to students by sending over a copy of the publication." He said that he met with Mr. Galin and other college officials to discuss the issue. Galin also said that he was exercises his right of free speech just by giving his opinion on the issue, added, "It is our opinion that it was not inappropriate to send it through the College mail," Galin said, adding, "It was a joint decision and for whatever that was worth that's what we decided." In the letter to the mail office, Galin stated, "We believe that the refusal by the Baruch College mail service to distribute our flyer on the grounds that it was too controversial is quite simply censorship, and has no place on a college campus." Galin asserted that the action was not meant to isolate any particular group. He also said, "It is not as if it was any other group we might have done the same thing, but I can't speak for the president." Galin could not be reached for comment.

In his opening statement, Levin listed reasons why a forum on multiculturalism should take place at Baruch. "We say what we do, has great implications beyond this room," he said. He added that any issue surrounding multiculturalism could be discussed.

Professor Leopold Joffe was the central subject of the discussion. The speakers at the forum discussed whether or not the overall statements made by Joffe were anti-Semitic, what he meant to the future of multiculturalism and the question of who will choose emerging African-American leadership.

Joffe's statement was immediately questioned. "The statement that he made was not made. That is the problem. "So many things have been said about us for so many years," said Robert Ellis, the president of Black Leadership.

Continued on Page 7

Open Forum Turns Into Debate

Speakers Focus Attention on Jeffries

By Jonathan Loring

Black and Jewish faculty and students of Baruch College debated the issue of multiculturalism during a forum on Nov. 7. The event triggered a call by both groups for increased research on the issue and to reconcile intergroup differences.

Over 100 people attended the event titled, "Multiculturalism at Baruch and Beyond," which was co-sponsored by Arthur Levin, editor of the Black and Latino Faculty Caucus and Michael Wyschogrod, chairman of the Jewish Faculty Association.

In his opening statement, Levin listed reasons why a forum on multiculturalism should take place at Baruch. "What we say, what we do, has great implications beyond this room," he said. He added that any issue surrounding multiculturalism could be discussed.

Professor Leopold Joffe was the central subject of the discussion. The speakers at the forum discussed whether or not the overall statements made by Joffe were anti-Semitic, what he meant to the future of multiculturalism and the question of who will choose emerging African-American leadership.

The Joffe issue was mentioned the first time in Wyschogrod's opening statement. According to Wyschogrod, Joffe's speeches have become the flashpoints to the injustices that have been done to African-Americans.

"Why do we have to prove to you that Black Literature is offensive and anti-Semitic?" said Barbara Gautier, administrator to the D.S.S.G. on Nov. 7. The event triggered a call by both groups for increased research on the issue and to reconcile intergroup differences.

Continued on Page 4

D.S.S.G. Approves $700

For Aiwa Stereo System

By José N. Hernández

On Tuesday, Nov. 5, the Day Session Student Government held a meeting at which Chivon Thornhill, the chairman of the finance committee, suggested the D.S.S.G. buy a stereo to tape meetings and for recreational purposes.

Thornhill and other council members said that they had found audio equipment that suited their needs. The cost: $700. A debate ensued about the merits of the proposed purchase.

Geraldine Chacon, a lower council member, agreed with Thornhill's suggestion, but council Chairperson Sherele Pierre expressed reservations along with others concerned about the image the student body would be presenting if they went ahead with the purchase.

Pierre said, "Students are concerned with the money being spent, when they have no input." To which Thornhill replied, "We are they, referring to the widely perceived apathy of Baruch students.

André Palmer, president of Inter-Varsity Christian Fel

Continued on Page 4

D.S.S.G. Approves $700

For Aiwa Stereo System

By José N. Hernández

On Tuesday, Nov. 5, the Day Session Student Government held a meeting at which Chivon Thornhill, the chairman of the finance committee, suggested the D.S.S.G. buy a stereo to tape meetings and for recreational purposes.

Thornhill and other council members said that they had found audio equipment that suited their needs. The cost: $700. A debate ensued about the merits of the proposed purchase.

Geraldine Chacon, a lower council member, agreed with Thornhill's suggestion, but council Chairperson Sherele Pierre expressed reservations along with others concerned about the image the student body would be presenting if they went ahead with the purchase.

Pierre said, "Students are concerned with the money being spent, when they have no input." To which Thornhill replied, "We are they," referring to the widely perceived apathy of Baruch students.

Continued on Page 4
Department of Speech
Presents
Wait Until Dark
by Frederick Knott

Live Performances
Tue., Nov. 19 through Fri., Nov. 22 - 8:00 P.M.
Sat., Nov. 23 - 3:00 P.M. and 8:00 P.M.

Studio Theatre
Room 911
23rd Street Building

Tickets: $4.00
Box Office: 11:00 A.M. - 5:00 P.M.
Reservations: 387-1345

Exploring Grad School Possibilities
Offers by the Placement Office of the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences on Thursday, November 21, 1991 at 3:00 p.m., in Room 911, 17 Lexington Ave.

Belle Zeller Scholarship
The Trustees of the Belle Zeller Scholarship Trust Fund announce that they will be available through the office of the Dean of Graduate Studies to graduate students who are students living in New York City.

Student Internships!
Positions in: Assistant Volunteer Coordinator, Assistant Publisher, Advertising Sales Intern, Associate Director of Fundraising, Editorial Assistant.

Career in College Teaching
Minority students who have completed their sophomore year at Baruch College are eligible to apply for the CUNY/Jams Doran Foundation Pipeline program.

Surviving In Today's Job Market
CAREER SEMINAR
Wednesday, December 4, 1991 - 6:00 P.M.
Learn Techniques To Find The Right Job!
135 East 22nd Street • Administrative Lounge, 3rd Floor
A light supper will be served. There is a $5.00 fee.
Reservations must be made in advance by contacting the Alumni Association.

An important message to all students from The Baruch College Alumni Association:
The Alumni Association Wants To Help Students Enhance The Quality Of Their Campus Life
Get to know us and learn to utilize our professional and financial resources dedicated to enhancing organized academic activities and functions.

Baruch Alumni are pleased to welcome the College's new president, Dr. Matthew Goldstein. We note that one of President Goldstein's chief goals is to forge stronger links between the college and the business community, one of the goals which has always been central to The Alumni Association's activities. We pledge our full support to him in this and all his other objectives for improving the standing of Baruch College in the community at large.

We want to hear from you. Stop by or call us at:
Room 907 (9th Floor) - 135 East 22nd Street • New York, NY 10010 • Tel: 387-1145

Baruch College
Dept. of Liberal Arts, Box 1201
17 Lexington Ave.
New York, NY 10010
387-1401

The Ticker
137 E. 22 St.
Box 442
New York, NY 10010

Next Issue: December 4
Ad Deadline: November 26
Hilled Charges Rights Violation

Continued from Front Page

However, he added, "the school has legal obligations to offer the use of its mail service for any purpose currently covered by law." Lipton indicated by saying, "The school has abided the right of Hillel, but which the censorship that was clearly improper."

Gurvitz countered that the service would be "a "Latin lover" as exemplified by the菲菲".

"The question is not whether the request is made for the service," he said, "but whether it is in the best interests of the population."

"I don't want to be a "Latin lover" as exemplified by the菲菲," said Lipner. "I want to be a Hillel lover." "You can't quote me out of context," he added. "I'm not going to go along with what you're saying." "The question is not whether the request is made for the service," he said, "but whether it is in the best interests of the population."

"I don't want to be a "Latin lover" as exemplified by the菲菲," said Lipner. "I want to be a Hillel lover." "You can't quote me out of context," he added. "I'm not going to go along with what you're saying."
From Jeffries to Crown Heights...

ANTI-SEMITISM in New York:
Is it on the increase?

How can tensions be reduced?

The Baruch Hillel Association invites you to hear

State Assemblyman Dow Hikind speak on this important issue

When: 12:45 PM, Thursday, Nov. 21
Where: 17 Lexington Ave., Room 1323
Refreshments will be served.
It was a talling moment. The woman stood before the crowd of over 200 students and faculty gathered for a Black Student Awards Gala. But she was not there to accept an award. She had been approached, she said, too. The future certainly did not happen on the official (or even unoffical) moments of change made by Leonard Jeffries, the Emmy award-winning professor who has been speaking out against our society for years. Jeffries is a man whose words are not easily forgotten. He has a way of making us think, to question our assumptions, and to see the world in a different light.

His speech was claro and straightforward. He spoke about the necessity of education, the importance of critical thinking, and the role of academia in shaping society. He warned us about the dangers of ignorance and complacency, and he encouraged us to be aware of the forces that shape our world. His words were a call to action, a call for us to stand up for what is right, to challenge the status quo, and to work towards a better future.

We must listen to Jeffries, he said. He is a man who has dedicated his life to understanding and telling the truth about our society. He is a man who has dedicated his life to speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. We must learn from his words, and we must act upon them.

It was an inspiring moment. It was a moment that will stay with me for a long time to come. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of education, and of the power of critical thinking. It was a moment that will remind me of the necessity of speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of being aware of the forces that shape our world, and of standing up for what is right.

The woman stood before the crowd of over 200 students and faculty gathered for a Black Student Awards Gala. But she was not there to accept an award. She had been approached, she said, too. The future certainly did not happen on the official (or even unoffical) moments of change made by Leonard Jeffries, the Emmy award-winning professor who has been speaking out against our society for years. Jeffries is a man whose words are not easily forgotten. He has a way of making us think, to question our assumptions, and to see the world in a different light.

His speech was claro and straightforward. He spoke about the necessity of education, the importance of critical thinking, and the role of academia in shaping society. He warned us about the dangers of ignorance and complacency, and he encouraged us to be aware of the forces that shape our world. His words were a call to action, a call for us to stand up for what is right, to challenge the status quo, and to work towards a better future.

We must listen to Jeffries, he said. He is a man who has dedicated his life to understanding and telling the truth about our society. He is a man who has dedicated his life to speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. We must learn from his words, and we must act upon them.

It was an inspiring moment. It was a moment that will stay with me for a long time to come. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of education, and of the power of critical thinking. It was a moment that will remind me of the necessity of speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of being aware of the forces that shape our world, and of standing up for what is right.

The woman stood before the crowd of over 200 students and faculty gathered for a Black Student Awards Gala. But she was not there to accept an award. She had been approached, she said, too. The future certainly did not happen on the official (or even unoffical) moments of change made by Leonard Jeffries, the Emmy award-winning professor who has been speaking out against our society for years. Jeffries is a man whose words are not easily forgotten. He has a way of making us think, to question our assumptions, and to see the world in a different light.

His speech was claro and straightforward. He spoke about the necessity of education, the importance of critical thinking, and the role of academia in shaping society. He warned us about the dangers of ignorance and complacency, and he encouraged us to be aware of the forces that shape our world. His words were a call to action, a call for us to stand up for what is right, to challenge the status quo, and to work towards a better future.

We must listen to Jeffries, he said. He is a man who has dedicated his life to understanding and telling the truth about our society. He is a man who has dedicated his life to speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. We must learn from his words, and we must act upon them.

It was an inspiring moment. It was a moment that will stay with me for a long time to come. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of education, and of the power of critical thinking. It was a moment that will remind me of the necessity of speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of being aware of the forces that shape our world, and of standing up for what is right.

The woman stood before the crowd of over 200 students and faculty gathered for a Black Student Awards Gala. But she was not there to accept an award. She had been approached, she said, too. The future certainly did not happen on the official (or even unoffical) moments of change made by Leonard Jeffries, the Emmy award-winning professor who has been speaking out against our society for years. Jeffries is a man whose words are not easily forgotten. He has a way of making us think, to question our assumptions, and to see the world in a different light.

His speech was claro and straightforward. He spoke about the necessity of education, the importance of critical thinking, and the role of academia in shaping society. He warned us about the dangers of ignorance and complacency, and he encouraged us to be aware of the forces that shape our world. His words were a call to action, a call for us to stand up for what is right, to challenge the status quo, and to work towards a better future.

We must listen to Jeffries, he said. He is a man who has dedicated his life to understanding and telling the truth about our society. He is a man who has dedicated his life to speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. We must learn from his words, and we must act upon them.

It was an inspiring moment. It was a moment that will stay with me for a long time to come. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of education, and of the power of critical thinking. It was a moment that will remind me of the necessity of speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of being aware of the forces that shape our world, and of standing up for what is right.

The woman stood before the crowd of over 200 students and faculty gathered for a Black Student Awards Gala. But she was not there to accept an award. She had been approached, she said, too. The future certainly did not happen on the official (or even unoffical) moments of change made by Leonard Jeffries, the Emmy award-winning professor who has been speaking out against our society for years. Jeffries is a man whose words are not easily forgotten. He has a way of making us think, to question our assumptions, and to see the world in a different light.

His speech was claro and straightforward. He spoke about the necessity of education, the importance of critical thinking, and the role of academia in shaping society. He warned us about the dangers of ignorance and complacency, and he encouraged us to be aware of the forces that shape our world. His words were a call to action, a call for us to stand up for what is right, to challenge the status quo, and to work towards a better future.

We must listen to Jeffries, he said. He is a man who has dedicated his life to understanding and telling the truth about our society. He is a man who has dedicated his life to speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. We must learn from his words, and we must act upon them.

It was an inspiring moment. It was a moment that will stay with me for a long time to come. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of education, and of the power of critical thinking. It was a moment that will remind me of the necessity of speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of being aware of the forces that shape our world, and of standing up for what is right.

The woman stood before the crowd of over 200 students and faculty gathered for a Black Student Awards Gala. But she was not there to accept an award. She had been approached, she said, too. The future certainly did not happen on the official (or even unoffical) moments of change made by Leonard Jeffries, the Emmy award-winning professor who has been speaking out against our society for years. Jeffries is a man whose words are not easily forgotten. He has a way of making us think, to question our assumptions, and to see the world in a different light.

His speech was claro and straightforward. He spoke about the necessity of education, the importance of critical thinking, and the role of academia in shaping society. He warned us about the dangers of ignorance and complacency, and he encouraged us to be aware of the forces that shape our world. His words were a call to action, a call for us to stand up for what is right, to challenge the status quo, and to work towards a better future.

We must listen to Jeffries, he said. He is a man who has dedicated his life to understanding and telling the truth about our society. He is a man who has dedicated his life to speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. We must learn from his words, and we must act upon them.

It was an inspiring moment. It was a moment that will stay with me for a long time to come. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of education, and of the power of critical thinking. It was a moment that will remind me of the necessity of speaking out against the injustices that we all, as members of this community, have seen and experienced. It was a moment that will remind me of the importance of being aware of the forces that shape our world, and of standing up for what is right.
Setting the Record Straight
Answering An Assault on Baruch Women

By Michelle Payne

I want to outline the most important features of a recent Baruch forum on rape, "Breaking the Shackles of Academic Slavery," as it was held on campus.

The forum was planned by a group of students who accused the university of being complicit in the perpetration of rape on campus. They organized a series of events, including a panel discussion, a screening of a film, and a march on campus, to draw attention to what they perceived as a lack of action on the part of the administration to address the issue of sexual violence.

The forum took place on campus, with a large crowd gathered to listen to the speakers and participate in the activities. The atmosphere was charged with emotion and anger, as many people shared their stories of sexual assault and expressed frustration with the system's failure to adequately respond.

Several key points were made during the forum. Chief among them was the need for greater resources and support for survivors of sexual assault. Many speakers emphasized the importance of creating a campus culture that is more supportive and less judgmental, where survivors feel safe and heard.

Another important issue discussed was the need for better education and awareness about sexual assault. Many pointed to the lack of education on campus, particularly among faculty and staff, about the realities of sexual assault and the importance of taking it seriously.

Overall, the forum was a powerful statement of solidarity and a call to action for change. The organizers and participants hope that their efforts will contribute to a more compassionate and understanding campus community.

For more information contact
Adwas Wellad
Ask for the College Desk
561-745-7017

December 13, 1992 The Ticker

Macintosh Classic System
Macintosh LC System
Macintosh IIsi System

Now's the right time to buy an Apple® computer system. Because right now you can save big on Apple's most popular computers and computer accessories. And Macintosh is the right computer to help you achieve your best, through college and beyond.

What's more, you may even qualify for the new Apple Computer Loan, which makes buying a Macintosh even easier.

So come in right now and check out the big savings on Macintosh. But hurry—these special sales last only through January 5, 1993.
In the last New York City mayoral election, David Dinkins, in his victory speech, made it a point to thank the Jewish community of the city for its support and vote. This was a reference to the fact that Jewish voters supported Mayor Dinkins in a much higher ratio than did whites in general. In fact, the Jewish vote was crucial in giving Mayor Dinkins the electoral margin he needed to defeat his Republican opponent. In mentioning this, I am合agning to the fact that history supports Prof. Wyschogrod's statement that Jews are not slaves to the white but there is a strong bond among whites. I can only hope that credit will be given to the Jewish history and that, from such a bond, knowledge we will develop a greater sense of pride in the religious and national heritage.

Sharon Rosen

Is 'Jew' A Slur?

"Half "Jewy" by L. Edward Doherty (10/311)

"The term "Jewy" is an interesting question in the word "Jew" as an adjective or noun. The answer is that it depends. In most cases "Jewy" simply refers to a member of the Jewish faith, and is not a negative term. In essence, who is in favor of the Jewish heritage and traditions, I see it as a positive term. In the word "Jewy" taken as a negative aspect. While writing a newspaper of New York, I have come across many more Jews with the word "Jewy" and "Jewish". Conrad Rappele, Professor for the "Jewy" referential, its not to be a description but a description of what I have mentioned so far. Thus it is not open to debate. However, the term "Jewy" has been used in a very kind, negative, and demonstrable sense. It requires a serious check for a fellow colleague on Prof. Jeffreys part. It would have been better for Prof. Jeffreys to refer to Prof. Subrosa as the "the only Jewish" matter at City College, or something else along those lines.

Hilid Caplan

The Ticker is Just Sensational

To The Editor:

Tuition is like reading the New York Post, or researching a new topic. Past to day, The Ticker has presented an article that you are not interested in the truth of the matter. I thought you had one goal in sensationalism and another in news reporting. As the larger share of the material that are presented in The Ticker are from the representation of the actual events. All you are doing journalism! Your writers don't even take the time to attend the events they write about. News is supposed to be based on facts, not a vehicle for personal vendettas. I strongly suggest that The Ticker get a copy of a key and look at facts instead of personal motives. Report the news as it is, not the way they think it is. Reader's Own Writings

We would not print all the letters we have received because of time considerations. These letters which have not been printed in this issue will be run on our next issue on page 3.

National Ad Agency

An Absolutely FREE
All-Out Attack on The Senses

Hosted by DJ Roger Wilkes and Sherley Pierre

Get Into Calypso Jazz R&B Rap Comedy

November 14, 1982
6 p.m. - 10 p.m.

WBMB Presents:

MUSIC MOSFEST

Baruch College

In the 23rd Street Auditorium

Lexington Avenue

issors

Annually from,

Compassion

Ad Society, American Marketing Association, B.B.C., Club Cornichon, SGSS, Phi Beta Sigma, B.B.D., Retail Trade Society, SCFB, SHRM, The Ticker, West Indian Cultural Club

Editor

national Ad Agency

NON-Smoking Research Positions

The Ticker, a leading research position

E. Advertising, a leader in research, is now seeking a Non-Smoking Research position. We offer competitive salary, benefits, and opportunities for growth. We are looking for an individual with a strong background in market research, consumer behavior, and quantitative methods. Experience in data analysis and project management is preferred. The successful candidate will be responsible for developing and managing research projects, analyzing data, and preparing reports. This is a full-time position based in New York City. Please submit your resume in strict confidence to: E. Advertising, Inc., 123 Main St., New York, NY 10001.
Golden Key Holds Awareness Week

By Richard Roberts

Last week was "Awareness Week" for Baruch's chapter of the Golden Key National Honor Society. The organization had information tables set up in the lobby of the 24th street Student Center, Room 302. To everyone in our meetings, activities, or community service projects.

Baruch College was one of the stronger chapters. They are included in a weekly party that started in September with a less than successful turnout. I remember the key to making a successful party is to advertise it long before the day of. It's indeed unfortunate that we are all still trying to get everyone to discuss what we've been doing. We need to be more active in the community. The atmosphere of the Voodoo Ray party is one of a dancer's atmosphere with the music, lights, and atmosphere that the students who meet the aforementioned requirements to participate. The list of names generated were based on the 25 percent of Baruch students who had completed at least 60 credits, with a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

He added, "We hope that the students who are eligible, but didn't receive an invitation, contact us so that we can send them the information." Kathy McNally, vice president of marketing affairs from the Baruch chapter.

One of the problems that the Golden Key students had throughout the week was that their tables kept getting shifted around. Manufacturers Hanover, one of the banks that may actually overlook students who are actually qualified," said Alondra Flores, vice president of communications at the Baruch chapter.

"Those students who meet the aforementioned requirements to participate. The list of names generated were based on the 25 percent of Baruch students who had completed at least 60 credits, with a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or higher."

"We were able to explain to the students what is needed for the Voodoo Ray party to be started again, but we still have a lot of work to do." He said, "With so many students in the national headquarters in Adams Hall, we need to advertise it long before the day of."

Even a member of Baruch's own American Marketing Association (AMA) told me that its members are doing great work in the community. The atmosphere of the Voodoo Ray party is one of a dancer's atmosphere with the music, lights, and atmosphere that the students who meet the aforementioned requirements to participate. The list of names generated were based on the 25 percent of Baruch students who had completed at least 60 credits, with a cumulative grade point average of 3.5 or higher."

Steve Michalski, president of the Baruch chapter, said, "The information tables really helped us a lot, because we were able to talk to the students and get their support for the金Key program, and also able to invite everyone to participate in any of our meetings, activities, or community service projects."

Baruch College buildings. From Monday, November 4 through Thursday, November 7, student officers and local manufacturers will be on hand to answer questions for prospective new members.

Some students, whose eligibilities were already pre-determined, were asked to join by mail. "We had a list of 60 eligible students that we sent invitations, but sometimes there are cross-spots in the mail or computers that may accidentally overlook students who are actually qualified," said Alondra Flores, vice president of communications at the Baruch chapter.

He added, "We hope that the students who are eligible, but didn't receive an invitation, contact us so that we can send them the information." Kathy McNally, vice president of marketing affairs from the Baruch chapter.
WHEN PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE, SOME PEOPLE WANT EVERYTHING.

(We think that perfectly reasonable.)

...and...
Movie Review

Gunning For A Hit

A synopsis grows in you, with "Year of The Gun"

The Gospel

According To Bruhn Kuhn

By Lisa J. McInnis

On Thursday, October 31, 1986, the New England
Television Network (NETV) presented its first-ever T.V. screening world premiere of "The Gospel According To Bruhn Kuhn," in four North in the Boston Common Hall.

This was a show which premiered as the exclusive before its premiere before the American Broadcasting Company (ABC), and netted two hours of viewing.

"Luke," the story of Jesus Christ as told by John Kuhn, made the life of Jesus even more real than before.

The production was a remarkable one, with the ability of the actors to bring their characters to life.

There was laughter in the show as well as tears.
In the Boston Common, it was a show that made the audience laugh to tears.

The story of Jesus Christ was told by John Kuhn, who brought the life of Jesus to life in a way that made the audience laugh to tears.

The Gospel According to Bruhn Kuhn

The Gospel According to Bruhn Kuhn

The Gospel According to Bruhn Kuhn

The Gospel According to Bruhn Kuhn

THEIR GUITAR MUSIC MAKES YOU THINK OF THE ENGLISH PUBS AND MEETING DIFFERENT TYPES OF MUSICIANS, THEY FINALLY FOUND LONDON BACK IN 1986. HANGING OUT AT THE KINKS. THIS SONG IS A TRUE HIT.

THEIR GUITAR MUSIC MAKES YOU THINK OF THE ENGLISH PUBS AND MEETING DIFFERENT TYPES OF MUSICIANS, THEY FINALLY FOUND LONDON BACK IN 1986. HANGING OUT AT THE KINKS. THIS SONG IS A TRUE HIT.

THEIR GUITAR MUSIC MAKES YOU THINK OF THE ENGLISH PUBS AND MEETING DIFFERENT TYPES OF MUSICIANS, THEY FINALLY FOUND LONDON BACK IN 1986. HANGING OUT AT THE KINKS. THIS SONG IS A TRUE HIT.

THEIR GUITAR MUSIC MAKES YOU THINK OF THE ENGLISH PUBS AND MEETING DIFFERENT TYPES OF MUSICIANS, THEY FINALLY FOUND LONDON BACK IN 1986. HANGING OUT AT THE KINKS. THIS SONG IS A TRUE HIT.
Riddle of the Week: Why was Bangkok the third base coach, then just three weeks later rehired as the manager?

(A) Buck improved greatly during the three weeks he was unemployed.

(B) The Yankees are using a new promotion system.

(C) George Steinbrenner is still running the team.

After Twins first baseman Kent Hrbek muscled Ron Gant off of first base for an out, several received offers to wrestle professionally. After the way he hit in the series just doesn't cut it any more.

World Series in 30 years, now back controversy has bad advice. At age 21, he would I've heard this problem before.

that he left they had not been emerged. Hockey teams can sis~

Josten's City University of New

Most Valuable Player Deborah

ship. Hunter was paced by digs in the match, and by

He's right! All managers un-problems. Scoring points has match, 13-15, 15-7, 15-9, to hard-fought" three game

Carmen Tieso, the finals, paced by Deborah

Baruch defeated Lehman in a hard-fought, three game match, 13-15, 15-7, 15-9, to advance.

Hunter coach Terry Wansart approaching the half-way point and must be separated from the pretenders:

49ers- Without Joe Mon-taño - their starting quarterback Steve Young is good but he can't pull rabbits out of his hat like Joe. Ronnie Lott and

Rogers Craig both defeated and therefore the team lacks leadership.

Bears- Their passing game is terrible. Defensively they don't scare many teams.

Giants- If Ray Handley

quite now and anyone except

Joe Walton takes over maybe they have a chance.

Redskins- They seem like the team to beat and should make it to the Super Bowl. All and they have no apparent weaknesses. Home field advantage and no playsoffs should make it easier.

Saints- The defense is good even but the offense will be the teams downfall.

Buccos- Take them out of Miami and they are very beatable. They have no running game.

Chefs- They have a real chance.
The defense is excellent and so is the running game.

Bill- Definitely the team to beat. They have a lot of talent on both sides of the ball.

They seem to be on a mission to lose some games and feel less. Home field advantage throughout the playoffs should definitely be there.

Oilers- A very explosive team offensively. Suddenly, their defense has been great too. They have a good chance but can they beat the Bills at Buffish? Nahl!

Vince Gjice: center/forward

- Daniels described him as,

"new and improved." He will be the teams 3 point shooter and also plays well on the defensive end.

Coach Rankis along with assistant Rick Swillinger feel the team will be one of their better ones. The team is young and will improve as the season progresses. We're quite a team and last year, which makes us more flexible," said Rankis.

Seven veterans and five newcomers will try to improve on last year's 12-13 record. Rankis said, "each player has a role to fill. If they are all successful then we'll be very successful."

And, here they are.

Veterans:

Chuck Daniels: center/forward- The teams captain will don't have to lead the others. Re-

Bounding and blocking shots will be his main concern. Coach

Rankis calls him, "a great leader."

Kirk Devis: forward- He av-

erged 15.5 points per game and will be asked to do more of the same.

Bobby Holmes: guard/forward - On a team that will stress defense, he is one of their best. His smothering style can take as opposing player right out of the game. Jimmy Revasvin: point guard

- He set a record for assists and he is a freshman and will only get better. Coach Rankis describes him as a "passing point guard who uses his head." He will be the floor general.

Brian Skriloff: guard/forward

- He will be the teams 3 point shooter and also plays well on the defensive end.

Mike Resvanis: center/forward - Daniels described him as,

"new and improved." The big man will be counted on to give quality minutes, crashing the boards and blocking shots.

Cocho Freeman: guard - He sat out last season. His experience and unselfish attitude will be a plus to the team.

The Rookies:

Selvin Lowe: guard- He is the teams best finisher on the fast break. "Dynamic and enthusiastic" is how Rankis described him. He's also an excellent lapser.

Leen Walker: guard/forward

- He plays a very smart game and has picked up 30 assists.

David Sherman: guard- This transfer student is a very physical player who has been an outstanding player for the team.

Coach Rankis said, "he leads the team in floor burns."

Gary Slocum: guard - He has an excellent attitude and plays a heads up game.

Nick Kyriakopoulos: guard - Mentally and physically he's touc

h. Offensively, the team has some question marks. "I know we can score, but I'm not sure where it will come from. We do not have a pure scorer that's why we need everyone to contribute," Rankis said. Daniels on the other hand feels otherwise. "Everyone can score, it won't be difficult to know who all know our roles and limitations.

We will run and gun."

On defense, Rankis said, the team should shine. Last season Baruch held it's opponents at 4.48 field goal shooting which led the division. According to Revasvin the defense will be even better, "we take so many shots from the three point line. The best defense is a great defense. Keeping the other team from scoring is the key to best way to win." Some of the team practices are dedicated totally to defense and it definitely be the focal point of the team. Daniels added, "some days our shooting might not go, but the defense is a constant. You can play good D everyday, it all takes is everyone playing defense."

Being that the Baruch College gym isn't large enough, all home games will be played at

High School, 30 West

16th street. Coach Rankis sympathizes with his players. he says, "it's difficult to practice in our gym and then play our home games on a totally different court. The ball and backboards and backboards react differently but they get used to it and like all good teams they adjust." Revasvin doesn't feel it is much of a problem. He adds, "we get a nice size Baruch crowd at the games. It's strange to look around and see nothing but

Xavier banners, but you get used to it."

The team has set high goals for themselves. "We want to win the champion ship," said

Revasvin. According to Daniels the team has what it takes, "we're ready. We can play with anybody in the league." Coach Rankis agrees with them, "we're ready. We're ready. We can play with anybody in the league." Coach Rankis agrees with them, "we're ready. We can play with anybody in the league." Coach Rankis agrees with them, "we're ready. We can play with anybody in the league."