Young Professionals Career Evening 1
THE STEVEN L. NEWMAN REAL ESTATE INSTITUTE

Thursday October 24, 1996
5:30PM - 7:00PM

Meet, (over cakes and pizza):
A. MITTI LIEBERSOHN
EXECUTIVE MANAGING DIRECTOR
THE GALBREATH COMPANY

Mitti Liebersohn will introduce you to the world of commercial real estate, brokerage patterns and expectations, and opportunities for entry positions for Baruch College/Newman Institute students considering careers in real estate. Each presentation highlights a different component of the metropolitan area’s real estate industry:

* Learn about different kinds of real estate jobs.
* Ask questions about what you would be doing on the day you start work.
* Meet both recent college graduates and the prime young leadership of the real estate industry.

YOUNG PROFESSIONALS CAREER EVENINGS
The last Thursday of every month:
5:30 - 7:00PM, October 24 - May 1997
at the Conference Center, Baruch College

For reservations and more information:
Contact Carla Hoke at 802-5941

--

New Examination for Sophomores Introduced continues from the front page

those who participated in the pilot testing.

Students and faculty had an average score just under 70 percent on the initial examination. They noted that the test provided useful guidance for the ACES in their instruction.

"It's a very useful test," said William B. M. Johnson, professor of marketing at the University of Washington. "It gives us an idea of how the students are doing and what topics need more emphasis."

The test was designed by the ACES, which is a network of professionals in the real estate industry. The test is intended to evaluate the understanding of students in the first year of the ACES program.

"We want to make sure that our students are prepared for the real world when they graduate," said John A. D. Johnson, professor of real estate at the University of Washington. "This test helps us to achieve that goal."
Abortion Linked to Breast Cancer, According To Study Co-Penned by Baruch Professor

By Donna Smithbill

A team of scientists headed by a Baruch faculty member re-launched a controversial study early last Friday which concluded that having an induced abortion early in life could increase the risk of developing breast cancer.

"The evidence is overwhelming," said Dr. Walter B. Severson of the College of Pennsylvania State Biostatistics and Epidemiology. "The study determined that the link between breast cancer and induced abortion transcends ethnic barriers, and that the risk is greatest for women of European, African, and Asian descent.

"Abortion is the most common elective surgical procedure currently performed in the U.S.," the researchers maintain, "and it is estimated that 65 million women have had an induced abortion ever in their lives."

"The incidence of breast cancer has increased over the last 25 years," says Severson, adding, "The number of abortions is one major variable that has changed during that time."

An article in the upcoming issue of the Ticker will further examine the study and the controversy surrounding it.

Pre-Application Seminars For The CUNY Pipeline Program for Careers in College Teaching will be held on October 22-24 and October 19-21 at 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Graduate School and University Center.

To minority students who have completed the first semester of their junior year at Baruch with a 3.2 GPA.

Administration Gives Students Placed on Remedial Probation Leeway with Tuition Payments

In fact, in a memorandum to the Part-Time Student Services Unit via the Internet on September 8th, Vice President for Student Development, Samuel Johnson, states, "If the student is found in violation of the regulations and/or the student agrees, a student may have to complete the remedial course for the requirement.

Johnson goes on to say that the number of students who are reduced to part-time status as a result of the newly implemented changes in the remedial program may be eligible for financial aid even though they no longer attend the College full time. Those who have been identified for the Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) may be able to benefit from aid to the Part-Time Students (APT). In the memorandum, Johnson states that the number of students whose classes were to be terminated was around 1000.

Though the College Administration is actively seeking to contact the recently graduated Office of Undergraduate Admissions and Financial Aid Services in order to determine what type of assistance they may be eligible for, many students are forced to enroll in additional classes.

Johnson goes on to say that the number of students who are reduced to part-time status as a result of the newly implemented changes in the remedial program may be eligible for financial aid even though they no longer attend the College full time. Those who have been identified for the Tuition Assistance Program (TAP) may be able to benefit from aid to the Part-Time Students (APT). In the memorandum, Johnson states that the number of students whose classes were to be terminated was around 1000.

The Ticker, the Ticker@scsu.sitea.baruch.cuny.edu. The Ticker is the leading publication for the SCSU. The SCSU does not publish on a rotating basis, and at the discretion of the SCSU, the publication will be published on a rotating basis, and at the discretion of the SCSU.

The College of Pennsylvania State Biostatistics and Epidemiology at the Milton S. Hershey Medical Center of Pennsylvania State University, where most of the research for the study was processed.

The meta-analysis included 23 separate studies with data on 28,967 women with breast cancer and a control group of 28,967 women without any form of cancer. According to Chinchilli, 18 of the 23 studies indicated increased risk for developing breast cancer in women who had had an induced abortion.

The study determined that the link between breast cancer and abortion transcends ethnic barriers, having been consistent in women of European, African, and Asian descent. Published studies of the effects of induced abortion in laboratory animals also support their conclusion, the researchers say.

"Abortion is the most common elective surgical procedure currently performed in the U.S.," the researchers maintain, "and it is estimated that 65 million women have had an induced abortion ever in their lives."

"The incidence of breast cancer has increased over the last 25 years," says Severson, adding, "The number of abortions is one major variable that has changed during that time."

An article in the upcoming issue of the Ticker will further examine the study and the controversy surrounding it.

When it's time to prepare for class, it's time to go to Kinko's.

KOREA: NEXT GIANT OF ASIA?

SUNG SANG PARK

President, Asia-Pacific Institute (Seoul)
Formerly Governor of The Bank of Korea

TUESDAY, October 26th, 1994
12:15-1:15 P.M.
Room 208-209 Park Ave South
(Schomburg & Driehaus Room)

Korea: Next Giant of Asia?

Korea: Next Giant of Asia?

Korea: Next Giant of Asia?

Korea: Next Giant of Asia?
THE PUBLICATION ADVOCATE
Just Another Waste of Money

New York City Public Advocate Mark Green gave a speech at Baruch on Tuesday, October 15, and was not elected official, it was not welcome him here at Baruch. The one problem that he should not be an elected official. Mr. Green was elected to a do-nothing post, one that is formally known as City Council President, was also a do-nothing post. While Mr. Green is a great consumer advocate, the office is unnecessary. Taxpayers spend over $100,000 to pay for his salary, never mind the costs of his staff of which he has 45. Mr. Green has done good things, but he also has his office as a means of getting ahead on the political ladder, i.e. running for mayor, or Senator. A way to save taxpayer’s money in these hard times is to get rid of waste. With a Consumer Affairs department, the city is wasting money by having duplicate services. The waste here is the Public Advocate’s office, and one that should go the way of the Edsel.

THE ACE EXAM
A MISTRUST OF FACULTY AND STUDENTS

Do we need another test to serve as a validation of a student’s standing? The answer is no. The ACE Exam, soon to be given to students who have between 40 and 61 credits, will test students on critical thinking, essay writing, and comprehensive skills. We have something like that already. It’s called a base curriculum. You know, those 60 credits of Liberal Arts classes that we need for graduation. Why should we be re-tested on material that we already passed in class? Could it be that the administration does not trust our “highly superior” teaching faculty to teach us the material? Also, if we proved we passed the classes already with high grades, why do we have to prove it again? Then if a student fails three times they get placed in a loop that does not allow them to register or do they allow the students to graduate.

In the end the New York City Public Advocate will not help our faculty or students, but will hamper their efforts in achieving and providing a higher education.

EDITORIALS

EDITORIAL

Just Another Waste of Money

New York City Public Advocate Mark Green gave a speech at Baruch on Tuesday, October 15, and was not elected official, it was not welcome him here at Baruch. The one problem that he should not be an elected official. Mr. Green was elected to a do-nothing post, one that is formally known as City Council President, was also a do-nothing post. While Mr. Green is a great consumer advocate, the office is unnecessary. Taxpayers spend over $100,000 to pay for his salary, never mind the costs of his staff of which he has 45. Mr. Green has done good things, but he also has his office as a means of getting ahead on the political ladder, i.e. running for mayor, or Senator. A way to save taxpayer’s money in these hard times is to get rid of waste. With a Consumer Affairs department, the city is wasting money by having duplicate services. The waste here is the Public Advocate’s office, and one that should go the way of the Edsel.

THE ACE EXAM
A MISTRUST OF FACULTY AND STUDENTS

Do we need another test to serve as a validation of a student’s standing? The answer is no. The ACE Exam, soon to be given to students who have between 40 and 61 credits, will test students on critical thinking, essay writing, and comprehensive skills. We have something like that already. It’s called a base curriculum. You know, those 60 credits of Liberal Arts classes that we need for graduation. Why should we be re-tested on material that we already passed in class? Could it be that the administration does not trust our “highly superior” teaching faculty to teach us the material? Also, if we proved we passed the classes already with high grades, why do we have to prove it again? Then if a student fails three times they get placed in a loop that does not allow them to register or do they allow the students to graduate.

In the end the New York City Public Advocate will not help our faculty or students, but will hamper their efforts in achieving and providing a higher education.

EDITORIAL

Just Another Waste of Money

New York City Public Advocate Mark Green gave a speech at Baruch on Tuesday, October 15, and was not elected official, it was not welcome him here at Baruch. The one problem that he should not be an elected official. Mr. Green was elected to a do-nothing post, one that is formally known as City Council President, was also a do-nothing post. While Mr. Green is a great consumer advocate, the office is unnecessary. Taxpayers spend over $100,000 to pay for his salary, never mind the costs of his staff of which he has 45. Mr. Green has done good things, but he also has his office as a means of getting ahead on the political ladder, i.e. running for mayor, or Senator. A way to save taxpayer’s money in these hard times is to get rid of waste. With a Consumer Affairs department, the city is wasting money by having duplicate services. The waste here is the Public Advocate’s office, and one that should go the way of the Edsel.

THE ACE EXAM
A MISTRUST OF FACULTY AND STUDENTS

Do we need another test to serve as a validation of a student’s standing? The answer is no. The ACE Exam, soon to be given to students who have between 40 and 61 credits, will test students on critical thinking, essay writing, and comprehensive skills. We have something like that already. It’s called a base curriculum. You know, those 60 credits of Liberal Arts classes that we need for graduation. Why should we be re-tested on material that we already passed in class? Could it be that the administration does not trust our “highly superior” teaching faculty to teach us the material? Also, if we proved we passed the classes already with high grades, why do we have to prove it again? Then if a student fails three times they get placed in a loop that does not allow them to register or do they allow the students to graduate.

In the end the New York City Public Advocate will not help our faculty or students, but will hamper their efforts in achieving and providing a higher education.

EDITORIALS

EDITORIAL

Just Another Waste of Money

New York City Public Advocate Mark Green gave a speech at Baruch on Tuesday, October 15, and was not elected official, it was not welcome him here at Baruch. The one problem that he should not be an elected official. Mr. Green was elected to a do-nothing post, one that is formally known as City Council President, was also a do-nothing post. While Mr. Green is a great consumer advocate, the office is unnecessary. Taxpayers spend over $100,000 to pay for his salary, never mind the costs of his staff of which he has 45. Mr. Green has done good things, but he also has his office as a means of getting ahead on the political ladder, i.e. running for mayor, or Senator. A way to save taxpayer’s money in these hard times is to get rid of waste. With a Consumer Affairs department, the city is wasting money by having duplicate services. The waste here is the Public Advocate’s office, and one that should go the way of the Edsel.

THE ACE EXAM
A MISTRUST OF FACULTY AND STUDENTS

Do we need another test to serve as a validation of a student’s standing? The answer is no. The ACE Exam, soon to be given to students who have between 40 and 61 credits, will test students on critical thinking, essay writing, and comprehensive skills. We have something like that already. It’s called a base curriculum. You know, those 60 credits of Liberal Arts classes that we need for graduation. Why should we be re-tested on material that we already passed in class? Could it be that the administration does not trust our “highly superior” teaching faculty to teach us the material? Also, if we proved we passed the classes already with high grades, why do we have to prove it again? Then if a student fails three times they get placed in a loop that does not allow them to register or do they allow the students to graduate.

In the end the New York City Public Advocate will not help our faculty or students, but will hamper their efforts in achieving and providing a higher education.

EDITORIALS

EDITORIAL

Just Another Waste of Money

New York City Public Advocate Mark Green gave a speech at Baruch on Tuesday, October 15, and was not elected official, it was not welcome him here at Baruch. The one problem that he should not be an elected official. Mr. Green was elected to a do-nothing post, one that is formally known as City Council President, was also a do-nothing post. While Mr. Green is a great consumer advocate, the office is unnecessary. Taxpayers spend over $100,000 to pay for his salary, never mind the costs of his staff of which he has 45. Mr. Green has done good things, but he also has his office as a means of getting ahead on the political ladder, i.e. running for mayor, or Senator. A way to save taxpayer’s money in these hard times is to get rid of waste. With a Consumer Affairs department, the city is wasting money by having duplicate services. The waste here is the Public Advocate’s office, and one that should go the way of the Edsel.

THE ACE EXAM
A MISTRUST OF FACULTY AND STUDENTS

Do we need another test to serve as a validation of a student’s standing? The answer is no. The ACE Exam, soon to be given to students who have between 40 and 61 credits, will test students on critical thinking, essay writing, and comprehensive skills. We have something like that already. It’s called a base curriculum. You know, those 60 credits of Liberal Arts classes that we need for graduation. Why should we be re-tested on material that we already passed in class? Could it be that the administration does not trust our “highly superior” teaching faculty to teach us the material? Also, if we proved we passed the classes already with high grades, why do we have to prove it again? Then if a student fails three times they get placed in a loop that does not allow them to register or do they allow the students to graduate.

In the end the New York City Public Advocate will not help our faculty or students, but will hamper their efforts in achieving and providing a higher education.

EDITORIALS

EDITORIAL

Just Another Waste of Money

New York City Public Advocate Mark Green gave a speech at Baruch on Tuesday, October 15, and was not elected official, it was not welcome him here at Baruch. The one problem that he should not be an elected official. Mr. Green was elected to a do-nothing post, one that is formally known as City Council President, was also a do-nothing post. While Mr. Green is a great consumer advocate, the office is unnecessary. Taxpayers spend over $100,000 to pay for his salary, never mind the costs of his staff of which he has 45. Mr. Green has done good things, but he also has his office as a means of getting ahead on the political ladder, i.e. running for mayor, or Senator. A way to save taxpayer’s money in these hard times is to get rid of waste. With a Consumer Affairs department, the city is wasting money by having duplicate services. The waste here is the Public Advocate’s office, and one that should go the way of the Edsel.

THE ACE EXAM
A MISTRUST OF FACULTY AND STUDENTS

Do we need another test to serve as a validation of a student’s standing? The answer is no. The ACE Exam, soon to be given to students who have between 40 and 61 credits, will test students on critical thinking, essay writing, and comprehensive skills. We have something like that already. It’s called a base curriculum. You know, those 60 credits of Liberal Arts classes that we need for graduation. Why should we be re-tested on material that we already passed in class? Could it be that the administration does not trust our “highly superior” teaching faculty to teach us the material? Also, if we proved we passed the classes already with high grades, why do we have to prove it again? Then if a student fails three times they get placed in a loop that does not allow them to register or do they allow the students to graduate.

In the end the New York City Public Advocate will not help our faculty or students, but will hamper their efforts in achieving and providing a higher education.
The Supreme Court overruling of the Eleventh Circuit Court of Appeals, in which the government argued that the tobacco industry should be held liable for the health problems caused by smoking, has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies.

The Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.

The Supreme Court's decision has been challenged by the states and the tobacco companies. The states have argued that the Supreme Court's decision was based on the argument that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals, and that the states had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case. The tobacco companies have argued that they had not been given a fair opportunity to present their case, and that the states had not been adequately represented in the previous appeals.
Tigers Way, The Best Way?

Worse, these conglomerates do not have the creative enough to compete. They are not flexible. Size and diversity are not enough to make them flexible. The five biggest conglomerates in Asia have started massive infrastructure projects. However, it will not make them competitive. In any case, governments all around the world sanction such method. Such methods have not worked in the past and probably will not work in the future. These conglomerates are not very effective in engaging these countries economically. The only increased prosperity and liberalization will take care of the problems. The next is to engage these countries economically. This was not as far as most of us would like but it should be kept in mind that smooth and permanent social changes take time. In fact, it may not be the right thing to try exporting western style democracy at all. These countries all have different backgrounds and understandings. They have different strong leadership might be necessary to keep these huge countries together. That stability is probably the best type of democracy for the well being of the people. Very often, the beginning stage of economic development requires a lot of will and painful decisions which would not provide in a democratic environment.

India is an example of this dilemma between democracy and stability. Constantly changing policies and political parties makes a democracy. India is a liberal democracy with foreign investors than the auto-class families, we must demand that our society does not place the same value on the potential of poor students in as does on richer ones. In their efforts to rationalise the inequality, non-statistical lawmakers have forth perceptions of superior people as lazy and unmotivated. The conservative viewpoint which blames the underclass for their own plight makes logical. But there is the need for a wholistic way, achievements in all fields will be impossible on a government educational system. We need to correct the inequities of the system. Further, fearing future tax increases, many companies have been restructuring deferred compensation plan, enumerated in this article. AT&T Chairman Robert Allen revealed a large pay raise while simultaneously laying off thousands of workers in connection with the recent restructuring of the company in response to deregulation of the communications industry.

Schools providing primary education are on the verge of collapse and student's and their parents are forced to look for other education. The voucher system which allows the poor to access the education is one of the best examples of the solution. It is clearly demonstrated by the fact that the voucher system has been successful in some wealthy suburban communities. Yet the same system is criticized in the inner cities.
CONTACT LENS SURVEY

Subjects needed to participate in a less sensory survey. The purpose of this survey is to evaluate fitting characteristics of disposable contact lenses. All contact lenses and solutions will be changed every 6 months. You will need to be examined 3 times over 3 weeks. Enrollment 10/19/96 D1/19/96.

Survey limited to acceptable fit with Acuvue, Focus, or Classic Toric contact lenses.

The initial comprehensive exam to assess overall visual functioning and your health status will be regarded as the base survey. For this comprehensive evaluation it is free. At that time the eligibility of contact lenses has been determined.

CALL 212-758-4588 FOR MORE INFORMATION.

---

ZAGAT SURVEY

1996 BEST BUYS “Top Bangs For The Buck”

Families on a budget head for these "whimsically decorated, family-style" Italian where "inexpensive," "wholesome" fare is served in "huge" portions...

---------------_._-------.--------- - - _

EARN

Small Groups wanted!!

MenIWomen earn $480 weekly assembling circuit boards/electronic components at home. Experience unnecessary, will train. Immediate...

---------------_._-------.--------- - - _

EXTRA INCOME FOR’96

Two Diamond Recommendation

RAN TEE D !!!!! For the current puzzle, & WIN 8100.00 details - RUSH $1.00 with SASE to:

100 E. 24TH STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10010

1996 TOUR GUIDE

100 E. 24TH STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10010

be determined.

The initial comprehensive exam to assess overall visual functioning and your health status will be regarded as the base survey. For this comprehensive evaluation it is free. At that time the eligibility of contact lenses has been determined.

CALL 212-758-4588 FOR MORE INFORMATION.

THE FRIENDLY SKIES JUST GOT FRIENDLIER

Welcoming The Use Of Frequent Flyer Programs

by Charles H. Bernard

Joining one or more frequent flyer programs can actually get you on your way to a vacation spot for "free." Even if you fly once a year or once a week, being a member of a frequent flyer program has a variety of benefits. Most major airlines offer a frequent flyer program and in order to join them you must be willing to pay a fee. Virtually every airline has miles that range from 2,000 to 5,000 miles, depending on the airline. To make your miles worth the trip, you will have to earn at least 5,000 miles for each hundred mile flight.

To join one of the airline programs you can either call them or apply through a travel agency. The fee for joining a program varies from airline to airline. Some airlines charge as much as $40 while others charge as little as $10.

There are many benefits of joining a frequent flyer program. One of the most obvious is the discount on your airline tickets. Many airlines offer a discount on your ticket when you join their program. For instance, some airlines promote a double or triple bonus offer in connection with car rental companies, setting up to 1,800 miles. National Car Rental will give you a 15% discount on a car rental if you are a Frequent Traveler member with USAA. In addition to the 15% discount, you are eligible for 500 frequent flyer miles. Auto Car Rental and Hertz have similar programs. In many instances, car rental companies have specials, such as to join one or all of them. One of the benefits of being a member of more than one program is that it's never certain whether a specific airline will compensate you. As long as and join in order to compensate my airline... My miles will be counted. On other airlines, however, you will have to earn at least 5,000 miles for each hundred mile flight.

If you find yourself traveling a lot, it is worth your while to join the frequent flyer programs. You will be able to fly for free for a round-trip ticket to any location in the Continental United States. Some restrictions will apply. Joining a program is easy. There is usually no fee for joining frequent flyer programs which makes it easy for you to join one or all of them. One of the benefits of being a member of more than one program is that it's never certain whether a specific airline will compensate you. As long as and join in order to compensate my airline... My miles will be counted. On other airlines, however, you will have to earn at least 5,000 miles for each hundred mile flight to join one or all of them. One of the benefits of being a member of more than one program is that it's never certain whether a specific airline will compensate you. As long as and join in order to compensate my airline... My miles will be counted. On other airlines, however, you will have to earn at least 5,000 miles for each hundred mile flight.

JOINING A FREQUENT FLYER PROGRAM

by Charles H. Bernard

Joining one or more frequent flyer programs can actually get you on your way to a vacation spot for "free." Even if you fly once a year or once a week, being a member of a frequent flyer program has a variety of benefits. Most major airlines offer a frequent flyer program and in order to join them you must be willing to pay a fee. Virtually every airline has miles that range from 2,000 to 5,000 miles, depending on the airline. To make your miles worth the trip, you will have to earn at least 5,000 miles for each hundred mile flight.

To join one of the airline programs you can either call them or apply through a travel agency. The fee for joining a program varies from airline to airline. Some airlines charge as much as $40 while others charge as little as $10.

There are many benefits of joining a frequent flyer program. One of the most obvious is the discount on your airline tickets. Many airlines offer a discount on your ticket when you join their program. For instance, some airlines promote a double or triple bonus offer in connection with car rental companies, setting up to 1,800 miles. National Car Rental will give you a 15% discount on a car rental if you are a Frequent Traveler member with USAA. In addition to the 15% discount, you are eligible for 500 frequent flyer miles. Auto Car Rental and Hertz have similar programs. In many instances, car rental companies have specials, such as...
by Sergio Tabacovbo

Lucky Stiff is the most recent production coming out of the Fine/Performing Arts Department. Written by Stephen Fishelhtory and the book and lyrics written by Lynne Ahrens, this play is based on The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo, by Michael Butterworth. Lucky Stiff has eleven cast members and approximately 30 crew members. This play, directed by Eleanor Ferrar (professor in the Fine/Performing Arts Department) would be described as an ensemble play. This means, for people who did not know this such as myself, that there are no lead female or male roles. Everyone in the cast is required to play different parts. Sometimes several roles are assigned to one cast member. Such is the case with Ben Pono, an upper sophomore at Baruch. He had previous acting with Anything (previously known as Baruch play production) and he plays the parts of a French Emcee, a British cop, as well as a French Belasco called Allan.

The members of the cast are of various status, and not all are acting majors. Laurel Marsh, a senior at Baruch, who plays the part of Rita says, "I am excited to be on the boards again." She has previous acting experience as a member of Actors Equity Union. Michael Ou, another upper sophomore at Baruch, as a Theater Major/Film Student has helped to construct Baruch productions and wears a belt, such as Cost Guess, Anything. These two in addition to the ensemble players. RITTA says, "I am excited to be on the boards again." She has previous acting experience as a member of Actors Equity Union. Michael Ou, another upper sophomore at Baruch, as a Theater Major/Film Student has helped to construct Baruch productions and wears a belt, such as Cost Guess, Anything.

Lucky Stiff is described by Ferraar as a fast and fun Murder/Mystery/Comedy. The main character is a British shoe salesman who is offered $1,000,000 for a New Jersey with the stipulation of the man returning with him to Monte Carlo to claim the funds. The little meets an untimely death and is then stuffed by a taxidermist. The suspended body is then confused with the Walken at Baruch's Police. Lucky Stiff will be run from November 15th through November 26th from 8 PM to 10 PM. It will be located at the 17 Leeds Street building in the Studio Theatre room 911. The Lucky Stiff Crew

THE CALIFORNIA BURRITO COMPANY

No Gracias

by Mark D. Higgins

I had the dubious honor of reviewing The California Burrito Company for this issue. I must admit I was a bit skeptical about this eater from the outset. It was recommended to me by a friend that is well - no longer a friend. Anyone who is familiar with the food is familiar with the "original California" which was to my dismay, unsatisfactory to say the least. The burrito is described, as a combination of "Chicken, rice, jack cheese, lettuce and sour cream". The part under the sour cream is a piece of some foreign matter that did not even resemble chicken. Perhaps it was chicken, but just barely. The lettuce was also not only not existent and the jack cheese was about as cheese as can get. They must know their burritos is not up to par, and some foreign matter that did not even resemble chicken. Perhaps it was chicken, but just barely.

The only upside to this place is its location. It is directly across the 7 line, which makes it an existing target for a quick bite to go. Forgets it, go to the street to Tana Bell and get a better burrito for half the price. My overall rating for this display is "C". What do you think?

Drucker, who accompanied me in this review, agreed and said it best, "This is just too difficult to eat." He was referring to the fact that the burrito was not user friendly. The lack of anything ooze making the burrito very difficult to eat without having it all over yourself. To make things worse, the only sandwiched I ever ordered was called "Grande", in comparison to the "Regular", which would have been enough to form an opinion. I was also discontented with the service. The staff was about as unlikable as it can get before one viciously demanded, "I want to speak to the manager." A simple request for additional vinyl was met with a grunt and a sarcastic, "Any other thing?"

The only upside to this place is its location. It is directly across the 7 line, which makes it an existing target for a quick bite to go. Forgets it, go to the street to Tana Bell and get a better burrito for half the price. My overall rating for this display is "C". What do you think?

There are no lead female or male roles. Everyone in the cast is required to play different parts.

Drucker, who accompanied me in this review, agreed and said it best, "This is just too difficult to eat." He was referring to the fact that the burrito was not user friendly. The lack of anything ooze making the burrito very difficult to eat without having it all over yourself. To make things worse, the only sandwiched I ever ordered was called "Grande", in comparison to the "Regular", which would have been enough to form an opinion. I was also discontented with the service. The staff was about as unlikable as it can get before one viciously demanded, "I want to speak to the manager." A simple request for additional vinyl was met with a grunt and a sarcastic, "Any other thing?"

The only upside to this place is its location. It is directly across the 7 line, which makes it an existing target for a quick bite to go. Forgets it, go to the street to Tana Bell and get a better burrito for half the price. My overall rating for this display is "C". What do you think?
CLUB CORNER
A Brief Description of the Day Session Clubs

ASEDOM
Association of Dominican Students
We at ASEDOM are a culturally based organization serving our Dominican heritage while exposing other ethnic groups to that culture. We're unique and dedicated to changing the Latino image to a more respectable and fun one.

BUSINESS TO BUSINESS
The Business to Business Marketing Society is a club that enhances academic knowledge in the field of Business and Marketing. The topics of our events range from surfing the Internet, dressing for an interview, to financial planning, and more.

INTERVARSITY CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP
The Purpose of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship is to lead others to personal faith in Christ as Lord and Savior. To help Christians grow toward maturity in their Christ faith by making them more like Jesus, by prayer, and by Christian fellowship to discover God's role for them.

THE FINANCE AND ECONOMICS SOCIETY
The Finance & Economics Society is open to all those interested in the principles of the financial world. It provides students with an informative view of current change and the future trends in the rapidly evolving financial world via various functions such as lectures, programs, and field trips.

BETAPHI PSI
Membership is Beta Alpha Psi given you an automatic scholarship recognition. Beta Alpha Psi is the largest business professional accounting honor society in the U.S., with chapters at over 600 colleges and universities.

THE SOCIETY FOR HUMAN RESOURCE MANAGEMENT (SHRM)
The Society for Human Resource Management is affiliated with the National Organization, provides Human Resource background and updated statistics to students, with the opportunity to interact with industry professionals. The club offers workshops, and student involvement in the Society for Human Resource and other Business Management club.

PROFESSIONALS come in and give advice on resume writing, job interviewing, and along with giving insightful information to the students looking for job applications.

BETAPHI PSI
Membership is Beta Alpha Psi given you an automatic scholarship recognition. Beta Alpha Psi is the largest business professional accounting honor society in the U.S., with chapters at over 600 colleges and universities.

CHINESE FELLOWSHIP
Chinese Christian Fellowship believes that there is only one True God, the God of Israel. We believe in the infinitely perfect, sovereign, eternal Trinity of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. We also believe that Jesus Christ was sent from Heaven to Earth to serve as a sacrifice on the cross for our sins. Believing and God's commands bring salvation. We are here to spread the Gospel to the campus of Baruch College with an emphasis on the Chinese American community.

In the fall we meet every Thursday at 12:25-2:30pm in Room 406 / 26th Street Building.

P.O.S.T. EIGAIMON NATIONAL FRESHMAN HONOR SOCIETY
Pi Kappa Sigma is a national honor society for undergraduate freshmen. Our goal is to encourage and reward academic excellence among Baruch College students. Our activities include workshops on different career paths, internships, management, reunion endorsement, and participation in various events such as union, UN, and more.

BARUCH CHIEFS
The goal of our organization is to split students providing them with valuable information about current issues that we feel pertinent to those who may be interested in the field. Our meetings are held in the Business Center at 9:30am.

B.F.A. LEIR OF NEW YORK AT BARUCH
Come and be apart of the Jewish Community at Baruch College. Meet new people, improve your networking skills, get a sense of belonging, and religious information, have FUN! Please contact Elies Steinberg in 360 PAS room 1111. Call (212) 802-6068 for more information.

THE SOCIAL AND POLITICAL CLUB
The Social and Political Club at Baruch is an organization that holds political events, workshops, and debates. In addition, we hold political discussions on a variety of subjects.

The Social and Political Club at Baruch is an organization that holds political events, workshops, and debates. In addition, we hold political discussions on a variety of subjects.
On the IRC, a channel has one or more "channel operators." A person who can do whatever it is that the channel may make it legal for people to do, when the rules say so. If you are the channel operator of a channel that you join, you can be anything to you. For example, if necessary, you can kick people out if they don't have the right to be there. A person who can give other people the right to do things on the IRC that interest you, you can start your own channel and be the channel operator. Then, time, it is your own fortune and no one to get you to set the rules and the limits of what you can do.

You may speak as long as you wish and the beauty of it is that the people join the IRC every minute. These people are from all over the world and can make for interesting conversation. When you use the IRC, all you do (or you may do) is turn off the chat program. Then you choose a name and the Net and the IRC work from there. (Proprietary ventures down Blacker Street and through Cybergate, and I will see you on the IRC.)

IN THE REALM

THE WORLD IN ITS GLORY

by Ir. M. Mactara

"There is no question about it in all of the world. As soon as the next semester, this column was developed. Not that I fly by the sides to do this great institution come back from the grave."

1. I am glad to see that Pan Am is now up in the sky. Not that I fly by the sides to see this great institution come back from the grave. Not that I fly by the sides to see this great institution come back from the grave.
2. The new CUNYCard is coming. If you are serious for a minute, can I ask you in what time does it take to put the regular CUNYCard together with the new CUNYCard?
3. Are you a member of the faculty or do you like to go to meetings? Two members of the faculty or administration are the only members of the faculty or administration that sheets out of the money, front of you, give them an evil eye. Then smile and start guessing how much money they make, is what it's all for. A fun game.

IN THE REALM

From page 18

administrators, who will need the new ID's. This comes out to $210,000. Yes, the new ID's will come out to $210,000. Which is why the ID's are needed, is in the past three elections, no ONE has run, either Republican or Republican, that is because the person that has the honor of the Republican party is the candidate. The Republican party is the person that has the honor of the Republican party.

---

Your Articles Wanted for the New Dr Pepper Web Site

Dr Pepper will be launched October 31st and we want your submissions for the site's interview feature. All published contributions will result in worldwide exposure, a free Dr Pepper T-shirt, and a chance to win $1,000 scholarships for a year's supply of Dr Pepper.

IN THE REALM

From page 18

It is just you or me, that is the way it is. It is just you or me, that is the way it is. It is just you or me, that is the way it is. It is just you or me, that is the way it is. It is just you or me, that is the way it is.

---

CARE ENOUGH? 8,000 Volunteers Prepare for New Year's Day Care

At around 9:30 a.m. the teams will travel to the assigned schools. The first team will begin at 10:00 a.m. between 10:00 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. for the schools. At 11:00 a.m. the volunteers will clean up and "make it better" in New York City public schools.

The day isn't over yet.

In the New York area, there is a huge opportunity for a major impact. There are over 100,000 volunteers expected to come out this year.

---

.mozilla.org

Dr Pepper will be launched October 31st and we want your submissions for the site's interview feature. All published contributions will result in worldwide exposure, a free Dr Pepper T-shirt, and a chance to win $1,000 scholarships for a year's supply of Dr Pepper.

IN THE REALM

From page 18

administrators, who will need the new ID's. This comes out to $210,000. Yes, the new ID's will come out to $210,000. Which is why the ID's are needed, is in the past three elections, no ONE has run, either Republican or Republican, that is because the person that has the honor of the Republican party is the candidate. The Republican party is the person that has the honor of the Republican party.

---

Your Articles Wanted for the New Dr Pepper Web Site

Dr Pepper will be launched October 31st and we want your submissions for the site's interview feature. All published contributions will result in worldwide exposure, a free Dr Pepper T-shirt, and a chance to win $1,000 scholarships for a year's supply of Dr Pepper.

IN THE REALM

From page 18

administrators, who will need the new ID's. This comes out to $210,000. Yes, the new ID's will come out to $210,000. Which is why the ID's are needed, is in the past three elections, no ONE has run, either Republican or Republican, that is because the person that has the honor of the Republican party is the candidate. The Republican party is the person that has the honor of the Republican party.

---

Your Articles Wanted for the New Dr Pepper Web Site

Dr Pepper will be launched October 31st and we want your submissions for the site's interview feature. All published contributions will result in worldwide exposure, a free Dr Pepper T-shirt, and a chance to win $1,000 scholarships for a year's supply of Dr Pepper.

IN THE REALM

From page 18

administrators, who will need the new ID's. This comes out to $210,000. Yes, the new ID's will come out to $210,000. Which is why the ID's are needed, is in the past three elections, no ONE has run, either Republican or Republican, that is because the person that has the honor of the Republican party is the candidate. The Republican party is the person that has the honor of the Republican party.

---

Your Articles Wanted for the New Dr Pepper Web Site

Dr Pepper will be launched October 31st and we want your submissions for the site's interview feature. All published contributions will result in worldwide exposure, a free Dr Pepper T-shirt, and a chance to win $1,000 scholarships for a year's supply of Dr Pepper.

IN THE REALM

From page 18

administrators, who will need the new ID's. This comes out to $210,000. Yes, the new ID's will come out to $210,000. Which is why the ID's are needed, is in the past three elections, no ONE has run, either Republican or Republican, that is because the person that has the honor of the Republican party is the candidate. The Republican party is the person that has the honor of the Republican party.

---

Your Articles Wanted for the New Dr Pepper Web Site

Dr Pepper will be launched October 31st and we want your submissions for the site's interview feature. All published contributions will result in worldwide exposure, a free Dr Pepper T-shirt, and a chance to win $1,000 scholarships for a year's supply of Dr Pepper.

IN THE REALM

From page 18

administrators, who will need the new ID's. This comes out to $210,000. Yes, the new ID's will come out to $210,000. Which is why the ID's are needed, is in the past three elections, no ONE has run, either Republican or Republican, that is because the person that has the honor of the Republican party is the candidate. The Republican party is the person that has the honor of the Republican party.

---

Your Articles Wanted for the New Dr Pepper Web Site

Dr Pepper will be launched October 31st and we want your submissions for the site's interview feature. All published contributions will result in worldwide exposure, a free Dr Pepper T-shirt, and a chance to win $1,000 scholarships for a year's supply of Dr Pepper.

IN THE REALM

From page 18

administrators, who will need the new ID's. This comes out to $210,000. Yes, the new ID's will come out to $210,000. Which is why the ID's are needed, is in the past three elections, no ONE has run, either Republican or Republican, that is because the person that has the honor of the Republican party is the candidate. The Republican party is the person that has the honor of the Republican party.
By Manny Rodriguez

Quentin Tarantino makes one of the best movies of this decade and has every reason to want to do it again. But M. Night Shyamalan decides to direct the sequel "Sleepers," and M. Night Shyamalan should not be trusted to direct the sequel to "Sleepers." "Sleepers" is based on the controversial book by Lorenzo Carcaterra, now a reporter, helps the boy's childhood friend and regular rags to riches to rags story.

Though some of his settings, and sleek camera movements come in the reform school portion of the film. His use of low angles, dark lighting and dramatic music helps the boy's childhood friend and regular rags to riches to rags story.

There are moments when we feel that Levinson could have spent less time on the film, but the overall result is top notch. We are able to learn who they are before they wind up in the reform school.

Levinson's best directorial work is in the reform school portion of the film. His use of low angles, dark settings, and slow camera movements are used to good effect. The film is a very fun film. From the beginning we like these characters.

Other fine performances include Robert DeNiro as Father Barry Marcano and Riley (Billy Crudup), who joins the group after the regular guy breaks his arm. To make a drum beat at their first performance is a small role). Patrie, by the way, doesn't (From Dusk Till Dawnl). (Braveheartl) and sometimes it works. (Braveheart!) and sometimes it doesn't (From Duck Till Dawnl). So, now we have America's finest actor. Tom Hanks in character on the set of "That Thing You Do."

And as far as the music goes, the film is 152 minutes), the story and their ordeal. Though some of his thoughts and actions seem disorganized, in a creative fashion.

A light comedy, "Sleepers" tells the story of four men who were beaten in a reform school. The reason why many of them turned to a life of crime is because they were beaten in a reform school.

In "Sleepers," Tom Hanks in character on the set of "That Thing You Do." Levinson paints an interesting portrait of the struggle the boys go through growing up in Hal's Kitchen in the late 1960s. These are moments when we feel that Levinson could have spent less time on the film. Levinson's first movie.

In "Sleepers" is a light comedy, "Sleepers" tells the story of four men who were beaten in a reform school. The reason why many of them turned to a life of crime is because they were beaten in a reform school.

In "Sleepers," Tom Hanks in character on the set of "That Thing You Do." Levinson paints an interesting portrait of the struggle the boys go through growing up in Hal's Kitchen in the late 1960s. These are moments when we feel that Levinson could have spent less time on the film. Levinson's first movie.

In "Sleepers," Tom Hanks in character on the set of "That Thing You Do." Levinson paints an interesting portrait of the struggle the boys go through growing up in Hal's Kitchen in the late 1960s. These are moments when we feel that Levinson could have spent less time on the film. Levinson's first movie.

In "Sleepers," Tom Hanks in character on the set of "That Thing You Do." Levinson paints an interesting portrait of the struggle the boys go through growing up in Hal's Kitchen in the late 1960s. These are moments when we feel that Levinson could have spent less time on the film. Levinson's first movie.

In "Sleepers," Tom Hanks in character on the set of "That Thing You Do." Levinson paints an interesting portrait of the struggle the boys go through growing up in Hal's Kitchen in the late 1960s. These are moments when we feel that Levinson could have spent less time on the film. Levinson's first movie.
letters

Mr. Edw ard Rodriguez described, in the last edition of The Ticker, American society as one in which Blacks and Latinos face racism and oppression. There would not be a single doubt about the truthfulness of these remarks among our readers. We have experienced such events. Racism and oppression problems that we have faced for generations past, and if anything, we shall also continue to face in the future.

However, something should be done. It is time to stop accepting racism and oppression. It is not a desirable condition in our country. There is an urgent need for special treatment of individuals and society, to remove this harm to our people. Mr. Rodriguez’s words, however, will not bring about any change. They will not solve the problems of hardship and violence that Blacks and Latinos are faced with today. It is time to seek out new methods and strategies in order to combat the rise of racism and oppression.

The truth is that every single day, more and more people are facing racial and sexual discrimination. It is time to stop tolerating this in our society.

The fact is that the United States, with its rich history of diversity, is not immune to discrimination. It is time to take action and put an end to this harmful practice.

The future of our society is at stake. It is time to stand together and fight against the forces of racism and oppression. It is time to work towards a better future for all.

Sincerely,
Alex Ramirez

The Ticker, September 10, 1996

Letters

Mr. Ramirez,

Mr. Rodriguez’s words have been a source of inspiration for me. He has spoken about the importance of fighting against oppression and discrimination. His words have given me the courage to speak out and fight for what is right.

I have always been passionate about social justice issues. It is time for us to stand together and fight against the forces of racism and oppression. It is time to create a better future for all.

Sincerely,
Richard Smith

The Ticker, September 10, 1996

Letters

Mr. Ramirez,

Mr. Rodriguez’s words have been a source of inspiration for me. He has spoken about the importance of fighting against oppression and discrimination. His words have given me the courage to speak out and fight for what is right.

I have always been passionate about social justice issues. It is time for us to stand together and fight against the forces of racism and oppression. It is time to create a better future for all.

Sincerely,
Richard Smith

The Ticker, September 10, 1996
...and down in flowing melody lines. If you are looking for some new agenda of this album already alienated, the release may have seemed like, if not overproduced. The song starts with emotion, and amazingly manages to the mix a cappella. The song builds later style. There is an Elton John staple, that has been done to this album of talented women. It should prove to be a welcome effect, Peart playing drums with his endless array of minimization, and articulating it to those that do not understand, just believes it all right. Even if you're in doubt, believe it's the way to, buy live your days to the fullest. Don't be a blist.

---

Sunset Style Response

---

A Short Ode To Melancholy

Above the wide, and hard ailed leaves of time you are arched, by the flying man of the seasons in the plains.

You appear scarred and glowing, and in my heart feels the joy of a silent word, and keep it in the alluring grass in the groves of skin, the sweetness, of a retained source, dreamed and remote.

Upright and joined, you gather the folded yard, destroyed near the bone.

How much you want from the soul, deep, how far feel you, Yeah, like the air inside the mountainous and flaming. You pass with the tubes of the ocean and the soaked brilliance of the slim, lost ideas, that appear wined from the wind, where the red bastard flies and wrestle, while the wind turns and calls annually beneath the flowery shadows myriads of unseen...
Sports Updates For The Fortnight

SCORES FOR THE WEEK

SOCCER
- 9/28 vs. St. Joseph's (L.I.) 1-3 Loss
- 10/1 vs. Webb Institute 2-3 Loss
- 10/5 vs. College of S.I. 6-1 Loss
- 10/9 vs. Pratt Institute 1-1 Tie
- 10/12 vs. Lehman College 4-0 Win

WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL
- 9/27 vs. Marymount 3-2 Win
- 9/28 vs. Kean 0-3 Loss
- 10/2 vs. Medgar Evers 3-0 Win
- 10/4 vs. York 3-0 Win
- 10/5 vs. Mount St. Vincent 2-3 Loss
- 10/9 vs. Umma 0-3 Loss
- 10/10 vs. College of New Rochelle 1-3 Loss
- 10/12 vs. Montclair State 1-3 Loss

WOMEN'S TENNIS
- 9/29 vs. College of S.I. 4-5 Loss
- 10/1 vs. Mount St. Mary 4-5 Loss
- 10/4 vs. Brooklyn College 9-0 Win
- 10/5 vs. CCNY 7-2 Win
- 10/9 vs. Marymount 9-0 Win
- 10/10 vs. College of New Rochelle 9-0 Win
- 10/14 vs. Sarah Lawrence 5-4 Win

WOMEN'S CROSS-COUNTRY
- 9/26 vs. York 3-0 Win
- 10/5 vs. College of New Rochelle 9-0 Win
- 10/9 vs. Marymount 9-0 Win
- 10/10 vs. College of New Rochelle 9-0 Win
- 10/12 vs. Lehman College 4-0 Win

PROJECT ASCEND

- Graduates students, financial aid, and SCIENCE, PSYCHOLOGY, AND SPEECH a HEARING.
- COMPUTER SCIENCE ECONOMICS
- PROJECT ASCEND is a program which may give you information about your future career.

COMING EVENT

Friday, October 26, 1996

Emanuel Saxe Lecture

- Professor of English
- Mr. Jerome Berg

Key

- Time Will
- All are Welcome!

Edition Note

- This is addressed to all those students who attend Baruch sports functions.

Player Profiles:

Women's Volleyball

By Ming Wong

- Marsha Friedman #15 Middle Blocker Major: Marketing
- One of the few seniors on the team, Marsha is the heart and soul of the team and one of the team’s three captains. She is the team’s biggest hitter and the best server by far despite the fact that she is playing with sore ligaments in her back. Marsha is the most vocal leader on the team as well the floor general.

- Jen Phan #8 Outside Hitter/Setter Major: Accounting
- Jen is another senior and captain of the volleyball team. She might not be big in stature but do not underestimate her ability to spike the ball. She is one of the team’s big hitters and best servers.

- Nai-Pu Chung #11 Outside Hitter/Setter Major: Accounting
- A senior, "Nai," as she is referred to by teammates in the team’s most dependable setter. She has a habit of stepping and kicking the padding on the gym floor to get rid of the dust on her feet. Nai is an excellent setter who routinely gets the ball in right location.

- Linette Sasso #9 Middle Blocker Major: Marketing
- Linette, a sophomore and the third captain on the team, is slowly becoming the most consistent player of the Lady Statesmen. She is quite big her play is everywhere but. She confidently makes mistakes and always does her job and more.

- Maria Campos #14 Outside Hitter Major: Accounting
- Maria, a freshman, is the underutilized team’s first and is the most talked about member of the team. She is always laughing on the court, even when she is diving after the ball with the net in her face. Maria is one of the biggest hitters on the team and always rules across the gym floor trying to spike the ball.

- Nancy Diaz #6 Setter Major: Accounting
- Nancy, another freshman, is like the Energizer bunny, she just keeps going and going. Full of energy, Nancy is a self-proclaimed "all-chick." She enjoys a variety of sports but hits volleyball as one of her favorites. She plays with a lot of heart and always pushes her teammates to do the same.

- Carla Pimentel #12 Outside Hitter Major: Business Administration
- One of the few players on the team not majoring in accounting, Carla has been playing volleyball since she was a little girl in the Dominican Republic, but only for two years in organized competition. Despite her lack of experience and being a freshman, this is not reflected in her play. Carla kills the opponents with smooth dives and big hits at the net.

MOM CARREER RECEPTION

REAL FOOD!!

MOM RECRUITERS...

CAN YOU INTERVIEW VERTICALLY?

HOW DO YOU DO ON THE HIDDEN INTERVIEW?

Don't miss this important event.

Your CAREER can be made or broken at the interview because companies frequently interview candidates at receptions. Here they observe interpersonal skills and decide who to hire, for select for a second interview.

Business attire required.

MOCk CAREER RECEPTION

Tuesday, October 29, 1996

12:45 pm - 1:45 pm 1542/360 Park Avenue South

Co-Sponsors: DSSG, The Ticker, Speech Club, NABA, Golden Key Honor Society, Hispanic Society, Beta Alpha Psi, Accounting Society

Office of Pre-Professional Career Development, Room 1510, 360 Pars Division for Student Development.
Volleyball Roundup

By Ming Wong

October 2 - Baruch 3 Medgar Evers 0

Baruch started out the first game slowly against a Medgar Evers team that was not very good. There was poor miscommunication and a lack of intensity that caused Baruch to be down 8-12 against a team that they really had little difficulty against. They picked it up halfway into the game. They knotted it up at 12 and pulled ahead to win 15-13.

Baruch continued where they left off at and enjoyed a 7-2 cushion. Marsha Fridman’s vicious spiking and serving pushed the score to 20-15. Top players were Linette Sasso and Marsha Fridman. The game was at Baruch. They were loud, they would be a great team.

October 4 - Baruch 3 York 2

Baruch played a mediocre York team that had more fans than Baruch had. No big deal except that the game was at Baruch. They were loaded but no thuder came from their team.

In the first game, Baruch again started out slowly from the gate, losing 0-6, prompting Coach Ivy to call a time out to wake them up. Linette Sasso’s aggressive play brought them back to tie at 7. After a series of exchanges, Baruch blazed ahead and won 15-9.

York did not get it together in the second game. They have little talent on their team and it showed as Baruch cruised past them 15-3.

Baruch seemed to be a little overconfident in the third game. They sensed a quick sweep of York. This should have been but they put their guard down and allow York to make a game out of it. Baruch trailed 7-10, and then tried to come back but fell short and lost 13-15.

It was more of the same lackluster play from Baruch in the fourth game. It was like they did not want to close out the match really. USMMA is one of the better teams in the conference and it was up to Baruch to prove that they also belonged in that category. USMMA looked like some snotty school. USMMA had more than the allowed 12 players and even had two coaches.

As usual Baruch began slowly in their first game. They made errors that could have been avoided to open the game up, 0-6. It was not a game that Baruch was proud of as they get steamrolled, 3-15.

In the second game, Baruch picked up the intensity level and lead 4-0 to begin. Unfortunately they reverted to their old ways and gave up 6 straight points. They came back with 6 unanswered of their own and clung on to 13-10 advantage. The two teams then went at it with each other’s best, ending up in a 14 all knot. Both teams dug deep but USMMA came up ahead in the 15-17 nail-biter.

The third game was another game of streaks. Baruch started out with 2 straight, then gave up 8 in a row little behind 3-9. The veterans, Marsha Fridman and Nai-Pu Cheng, then began to lead the inexperienced bunch back into the game. Nai-Pu’s crisp setting and Marsha's big hitting and serves made the game closer but was not enough to come back. Baruch loses 13-15, but not without a gutty fight.

Player of the game honors went to both Nai-Pu Cheng and Marsha Fridman for their grit and determination.

Fan support: USMMA had two coaches, what do you think?

Coach Ivy initially felt that the Baruch team didn’t play well but they put their guards down and allowed York to make a game out of it. Baruch lost 0-6, prompting Coach Ivy on her post-game comments.

I wanted to speak to USMMA’s coach but did not know which one to approach.

October 9 - Baruch 0 USMMA 3

For Baruch, losers of 3 straight and winless since the game against York, the road did not get any easier against Mountclair State. They were another formidable team that had players that gathered together after every point and cheer. The Mountclair State team, without one of their big players, certainly didn’t help our cause. She [Marsha Fridman] would have definitely helped but Jen played well in her place," said a proud Coach Ivy.

October 12 - Baruch 0 Mountclair State 3

For Baruch, losers of 3 straight and winless since the game against York, the road did not get any easier against Mountclair State. They were another formidable team that had players that gathered together after every point and cheer. Their uniforms consisted of little ‘poom-poom shorts’ that made them look like they were prancing around in their underwear. Mountclair State had more cheerers than set plays, but please do not let my opinion of them sway you into believing that they were a bunch of stick-up rah-rah types.

Baruch amazingly started out the game with a lot of gas, going ahead 8-1. They gradually lost their steam and let Mountclair to go off on 10 consecutive points and lose the first game, 11-15.

In the second game Baruch never got into any kind of groove. This was reflected in their 0-11 hole. In the worst game that I have seen them play all season, they got pummeled 1-15.

Based on the results of the previous game, I figured Baruch would roll over against Mountclair State but no team took a substantial lead in the third game. The scores were close, with Baruch never trailed by more than 2 points. The Lady Be-Statersmen never gave up and be-